PREFACE

In presenting to the public the result of my many years labor, I do so with diffidence, being aware of how far short I come to being an "experienced genealogist." This is not the work of such an one. It is a simple family record in detail, by one of the family—one who was curious to know the conditions, circumstances, characteristics and estates of those from whom we are descended. As such I trust it will be accepted by every member of the Newton name, to whom it is presented with grateful acknowledgments to every one who has so cordially assisted me by sending their family records to be incorporated herein.

The beginning of this compilation was inspired about 1885, by the compiler of the Montague Genealogy in his letters to my father, who was ill, and for whom I acted as amanuensis. He told me more then, about his Newton and Montague relatives than I ever knew, or ever cared to know.—I simply did not think of these people at all. I have found the same indiscrimination obtains in many families regarding whence they came.

The work has been prosecuted at intervals covering the years since then. There was no thought at first of ever printing my notes. As they grew in number and extent—and continued to grow as time went on,—we began to realize their value to the family as a whole. The burden of increasing years will not permit me to add to them or revise them. Imperfect though they may be, I shall like to see them securedly bound together.

My authorities are the printed Town Records of New England; Town Histories of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire; many genealogies of every name; published and unpublished records from the archives of New England and the United States; probate records at Boston, Cambridge, Worcester, Mass.; gravestones; old Bible records; unnumbered letters from elderly men and women whose memory has supplied many missing links; besides the younger members of the family, who have cordially responded to requests for knowledge of persons of the name now living. To all of these I hereby express my appreciation of and gratitude for their assistance. Their names are too many to give a complete list; and I cannot select from a list where all are worthy of mention.

It is written that: “It is impossible but that offences will come.” It would seem that the same must be true of errors in town records—so true is it that they are almost the rule instead of the exception. Except in cases where the true date, name or place has been discovered, these errors will be repeated in this genealogy even as they are in many other printed genealogies. The fault lies with the old-time recorder, not with the compilers. Where an error appears in this record I ask your clemency—“She hath done what she could.”

Several emigrants bearing the name of Newton came to America prior to the Seventeenth century, all of whom left sons to perpetuate the name. Of these the descendants of Richard Newton of Sudbury, Mass., are the most numerous.

In gathering data it was impossible at the moment to know from which emigrant the person descended; whether from Richard Newton of Sudbury, or from Rev. Roger Newton of Milton, Conn., or from Thomas Newton of Fairfield, Conn., or from Matthew Newton of Stonington, Conn., or from Anthony Newton of Milford, Mass., Thomas Newton of Boston, Mass., John Newton of Plymouth Colony, or the Newtons of Virginia. Descendants of all are scattered through every state in the Union. All were taken in and collated. Those not of the Richard Newton branch were traced no further—and yet their number grew and increased—more than 1,200 persons. I could not leave them out, either to be lost altogether, or to be confused again with the other branches; so they are given here as "Parts" of the book, although they are but fragmentary. Someone may, perhaps, be helped by finding them here. And they are Newtons, too,—why leave them out?

The sorting out process was a work of much time and concentration of thought.—An active imagination also was indispensable. Without it I do not see how anyone could place names in a town record. Following the example of many town historians, I have used my imagination to "suppose," and "perhaps," in several cases. I was told by a genealogist that it was better to give one's deductions when a case could not be proven than to say nothing; for the deductions were something to begin upon—to refute if wrong, to confirm if right.

While indebted to many others for information and facts, the work of compilation, search of records, copying, abstracting of historical matter, construction and arrangement of the material, has been wholly the labor of the compiler. She makes no apology for what may appear too lengthy an account in some cases, or too unimportant and trivial a matter in others: this being a Newton family record is the place to recount the merits or demerits of the members of it—at length or more briefly as the facts shall justify.

The labor of correspondence has been the means of forming a large circle of pleasant acquaintances—"Cousins" we call ourselves. This in itself has been the source of much pleasure. That through this correspondence many now know their descent (whether they ever see the notes in book form or not), from the immigrant ancestor, is a great satisfaction to the compiler; for I have made a point of furnishing this information to every family who had lost it, in return for their known family record.

The index of Part I, sections one and two, contains the Christian names of all Newtons mentioned, with a separate index of the surnames of their wives and husbands. The same is true of the indexes of Parts II, III, IV and V. Of sections three and four, Part I, and the whole of Part VI, there are no indexes. Being alphabetically arranged, each constitutes its own index.

In regard to the notes, I feel they add value to the book. People generally are quite as much interested to know the ancestry of mother as of father. Of course these notes are reprints, but being here they are available to the family concerned.

EXPLANATIONS AND ABBREVIATIONS

The compiler has adopted the system of giving to each son of Richard Newton a separate place—branches, so called, as: Branch of John, Branch of Moses, etc.; and in each branch the generations in their order; and to each name a number. The name holding a certain number in one generation as a child, will hold the same number in the succeeding generation as the head of a family—or wherever else he may be mentioned in the book.

The heads of a family are in large capitals, the children are in small capitals, the grandchildren are in italics, the great-grandchildren are in the same type as the text. In the notes the children are in italics. The names of children marked with a dagger (†) indicate there will be more of that number in the next generation.

Unless another State is mentioned after a town the State of Massachusetts is to be understood.

The usual abbreviations of the states, countries, years, months, days, are used: b., for birth; d., for death; m., for married; dau., for daughter; prob., for probably; sup., for supposed; C. R., for church record; T. R., for town record; P. R., for private record, are all readily understood. Brackets [ ] usually contain a "suppose" or a "perhaps" of the compiler and is a statement not wholly proven, but not always.

The indexes contain the names of all Newtons, by number. The wives and husbands of all Newton descendants are indexed by surname and found in number referred to, and in the notes below.

RICHARD NEWTON
FIRST GENERATION IN AMERICA AND CHILDREN

RICHARD NEWTON came from England. We do not know from what part he came, nor when he came, nor how he came, nor how old he was when he came, nor whether he was married before or after he came. But none of those things need trouble his descendants. They are questions that cannot fail of answers sometime, if the data is in existence. With genealogists searching everywhere for hidden things of this kind, some one of them will stumble upon data showing all those matters, I firmly believe. I cannot go beyond our own shores in this matter. I have tried to gather what is recorded of him since he came to America, and give it in its order. It is evident that he lived in New England sixty-two or sixty-three years. And during those years he was as much a factor in establishing the foundation principles which the colony—and this country—was built upon, as was any other one man of the time. It was a case where "all were of one mind."

Richard Newton probably came in the summer or fall of 1638, as did many of those who settled Sudbury. He evidently did not stop long in the then settled towns; but came to Sudbury with the intention from the first of settling there—settling a new town in company with people he was already acquainted with. This seems to me to have been the condition of things. He was not a young man in years, reckon them as we will. Taking the record of his death as a premise, he must have been thirty-six, 'seven or 'eight years old when he emigrated—a man in his prime for strength and energy.

It does not seem out of place, nor a useless reproduction of what is already in print, that I should give here a short description of the towns, the times, the people and the conditions of Sudbury and Marlborough, to which the descendants of Richard Newton will forever look back as being the home-place of our kin in America. The homestead—where the fathers and mothers of any civilized people have lived and brought up children—has come to mean a sacred place to those children through many generations. It is also well to have at hand a knowledge of their social environment—to know who were their neighbors, and the people among whom their sons and daughters were to choose their life companions.

It is not for genealogists, nor for historians, nor for those who have within reach all the here given facts; but for the various members of the Newton family who are not so favored—who are, many of them, far removed from the sources from which the data are gathered. They, I am sure, will commend me for this setting of the scenes in which our forefathers lived and moved, had their being, and incidentally founded this great country.

If length of years is conditioned upon right living in the eyes of the Almighty Father, then Richard Newton surely had much to his credit, for in the record of his death on the town books of Marlborough the registrar added to the date, "almost a hundred years old." The town clerk for the year 1701 was Isaac Amsden—either the father of that name, aged 45 years, or his son of the same name, aged 21 years, both of whom were intimately acquainted from the beginning of the settlement of the colony with Richard Newton, whose great-granddaughter, Hannah, had married Abraham Amsden, son of Isaac. It will be noticed that Isaac Amsden signs as witness on two of the deeds given below. He was no stranger to Richard Newton [see note to John Newton2], who calls him "my loving friend."

NEWTON GENEALOGY

Richard Newton died August 24, 1701. There can be no doubt as to the correctness of this date of death. His will was proved November 17, 1701. But it is the recorder’s say-so that he was “almost a hundred years old.” This expression usually means that a few months, weeks or days are lacking. Yet if a man were ninety-six years old, one would not be far wrong to say he was almost a hundred years old. I am not making an argument of this. I speak of it for the comfort of those of his descendants who wish to prove that our ancestor, Richard Newton of Sudbury, was Richard Newton, uncle of Sir Isaac Newton the great philosopher. Such an ancestor could not be if our Richard was born 1601; because Sir Isaac’s father, Isaac, was (born) baptized in 1606, the eldest of four sons, of whom Richard was the youngest.

And for the benefit of those who do not know it, let me say that Sir Isaac Newton, the philosopher, never married, and had no children. Thus will our tracing in that direction be vain. Yet some who should know better, have written to me that he was their ancestor. The “One authority places his birth in 1600” must be of the class “whose wish is father to the thought.” There is no evidence.

The territory of Sudbury, Massachusetts, was in part granted to the people collectively who formed the plantation and established the town, and in part to individuals. The grants to the former were allowed at three different times and were preceded by three different petitions. The first petition was by the inhabitants of Watertown, and was granted November 20, 1637. The other two were for small amounts to make up a deficiency in the five mile square granted.

These lands granted by the Court first had to be bought from the Indians. Cato (or Karto, Karte) was the Indian owner of that part of Sudbury first granted to the Englishmen. His house was on a hill, a little southeast of Sudbury Centre, about a mile west of Sudbury river, called Goodman’s Hill. The name “Goodman” was given him by the English. It is said he was an attendant on the preaching of Rev. Edmund Brown, the first minister at Sudbury, and was converted to Christianity. Other prominent natives there were of whom a few facts have been preserved. As a general thing the whites and Indians here lived on friendly terms prior to King Philip’s War, and it was mostly through other Indians that trouble came.

To a large extent the settlers of Sudbury came direct from England; only a small proportion of the early grantees are on the Watertown records. The Sudbury records show the names of fifty-seven early grantees who were there in 1638 and 1639. Some of these were passengers on the ship Confidence of London, John Jolson master, in April, 1638. About one-half are known to have emigrated from the south part of England. In all probability many of the others did.

The names of the original Proprietors of Sudbury to whom lands had been assigned in 1640, together with the ages of some of those who came in the ship Confidence, where they came from and when they first appear in America, are as follows:

In connection with the names of the settlers of Newbury it is appropriate to state something of their character. They were Puritans both in theory and practice. The whole trend of their conduct is indicative of self-reliance, though they recognized all proper authority. Their proceedings in town meeting, and the manner in which the records were kept, indicate that the education of a part of them, at least, was good for the times. As a religious people they in no way lacked what we ascribe to the historic Puritan. Their Christianity manifested itself in their steadfast adherence to the Christian faith, their reliance on God, and their love for His holy law. Industry was a prominent characteristic. From the minister down to the humblest citizen, each shared in the manual work of the settlement. They were young men, or in the prime of strong manhood, and those with whom, because of their prominence, we associate dignity and gravity, were comparatively young men.
The town was incorporated September 4, 1639. The name ordered by the Court, Sudbury, is that of an old English town in the County of Suffolk, near the parish of Bury St. Edmunds. It is not improbable that they and their minister, Rev. Edmund Brown, selected the home town of many of them for the new home town.

At first the land was held in common, except such house-lots and a few acres as were assigned at the outset, or such tracts as were obtained by special grants from the Colonial Court. But divisions soon came. Three divisions of meadowland were made in 1640—"the first divided according to discretion, the second by lot." In 1642 an addition of upland was divided "at their discretion" by the committee appointed, and the "Cow Common" laid out and apportioned.

In all these divisions and apportionments Richard Newton received his share. His house-lot was cast of and not far from the Sudbury river, and north of Mill Brook. Seven others had house-lots along a highway to the river, which highway is now discontinued to public travel. This is shown on a "Map of the First Roads and Houselots in Sudbury," drawn by J. S. Draper, for the "Annals of Sudbury," etc., to which I am indebted for much of the above.

Richard Newton became a freeman in May, 1645, and his name appears again in another list of men who took the oath May 26, 1647. [Col. Rec., Vol. II, pp. 75 and 162]

June 27, 1647, Richard Newton was debtor to the estate of Nathaniel Sparrow-hawke of Cambridge.

After a residence of eighteen years, more or less, in Sudbury, during which time we suppose all, or nearly all, of his children were born; where his church home was, and where he had no doubt prospered financially; we find his name among others of the town signed to a petition to the General Court for another grant of land. This petition is always spoken of as the "Petition for Marlborough," and is as follows:

To the Hon'ble Governor, Deputy Governor, Magistrates, & Deputies of ye General Court now Assembled in Boston

The humble Petition of severall of ye Inhabitants of Sudbury whose names are here under written.

Humbly Sheweth
That whereas ye Petitioners have lived divers yeares in Sudbury & God hath beene pleased to increase of Children who are now divers of them grown to mans Estate, & wee

* Freeman’s Oath—Before a member of the colony could exercise the right of suffrage, or hold any public office, he must be made a freeman by the general or quarterly court. The applicant must be of age, have a certain amount of property, and was required to produce evidence that he was a member of some Congregational church. "This regulation was so far modified by Royal order in 1644, as to allow individuals to be made freemen, who could obtain certificates of their being correct in doctrine and conduct from Clergymen acquainted with them." Later the requirements were further changed, and at the time (1688) of the revolution in England, the practice of making freemen ceased. The following is a copy of one certificate:

"June 9th 1677. Mr. John Holyoke of Springfield a member of ye church there in full communion; a household & above 24. years of age desires to be admitted to ye freedom of this Colony attested John Pynchon."

The "Freeman’s Oath" was the first paper printed in New England. It was printed at Cambridge, by Stephen Daye, in 1639, upon a single sheet, in the manner of a hand bill, and without date. It was in these words, as established in 1634:

"I (A. B.) being by God’s providence, an Inhabitant, and Freeman, within the Jurisdiction of this Commonwealth; do freely acknowledge myself to be subject to the Government thereof; And therefore do here swear by the great and dreadful Name of the Ever-living God, that I will be true and faithful to the same, and will accordingly yield assistance & support thereunto, with my person and Estate, as in equity I am bound; and will also truly endeavor to maintain and preserve all the liberties and privileges thereof, submitting myself to the wholesome Laws & Orders made and established by the same. And further, that I will not plot or practice any evil against it, or consent to any that shall do so; but will timely discover and reveal the same to lawfull Authority now here established, for the speedy preventing thereof.

Moreover, I doe solemnly bind myself in the sight of God, that when I shall be called to give my voice touching any such matter of this state, in which freemen are to deal, I will give my vote and suffrage as I shall judge in mine own conscience may best conduce and tend to the publick weal of the body, So help me God in the Lord Jesus Christ."

That this is a true Copy of an original Petition presented to ye' General Court May 1656: Left on file & thereto compared is Attest'd

I' Edward Rawson Secretar.

These men were not the least in ability in the town of Sudbury, and became prominent in the affairs of the newly granted town. At a General Court held in Boston, May 14, 1656, the petition for more land was granted—"a proportion of land six miles." "that there be a town settled with twenty or more families within three years, so as an able ministry may bee there maintained." May 31, 1660 (O. S.), on petition of the proprietors the town was incorporated, and it was ordered that the name of the plantation shall be called 'Marlborough.' The Proprietors were to pay for settling the plantation at or before the 10th of November, 1661, or lose their interest. The rates were: "four-pence an acre for each acre of their house-lots to the Minister" and nine pence an acre of their house-lots to town charges, and later "three pence per Pound upon cattle" for the minister.

November 26, 1660, at a meeting the proprietors proportioned and confirmed the land granted to each individual respectively "& to their Heirs and Assignes forever."

I will copy these names, and the acres of land given to each. They are those people among whom Richard Newton lived and died, and whose posterity his posterity have married and intermarried.

The amount granted to the thirty-eight parties mentioned for house-lots amounted to 993½ acres of their valuable uplands—lands that could be plowed and cultivated.

This distribution of land for house-lots shows who the proprietors were at the time the town was incorporated, and the quantity of land granted to each proves their relative interest in the township; and it exhibits another important fact, that every settlement at that day was regarded as incomplete until they had a settled minister among them. The setting apart of an equal number of acres for a blacksmith, also shows a just appreciation of a mechanic in a new settlement. And when that mechanic could work in iron, he was held in greater honor than one who worked in wood.—"for," said they, "anyone can saw off a board and drive a nail, but not every one has the genius to fashion useful implements of iron."

At a meeting of ye Inhabitants and Proprietors of this Plantation the 12 of ye second Month, 1690, It is ordered that Richard Newton have halfe an Acre of upland given and granted unto him to sett his house on (provided he hinder no another Lott) adjoining to ye west & South sides of part of his second division of upland, both wth being bounded or surrounded by the Highway is his, & his heirs & assigns forever.

Later is entered on the record the following explanation:

Richard Newton hathe halfe an Acre added to his House-Lott: but hee hath noe right to any land or other privileges for the said halfe Acre.

A recapitulation and final arrangement of each man's possessions in the town on April 6, 1665, shows that Richard Newton had at that date, House-lot, 30$\frac{1}{2}$ acres; of the 2d division of upland, 7$\frac{1}{2}$ acres; of the 1st division of meadows, 15 acres; of the 2d division of meadows, 12 acres; of the 1st division of Cedar Swamp, 15 rods. As it will be interesting to the descendants of Richard Newton to know more in detail about these lands of their ancestor, and for the benefit of those of us who have not access to the public records of them, I will set down here more at length:

Marlborough ("This is ye same hill wth is by ye Indians called Whippsupenick & by the english called Whiptafferage") is one of the best agricultural towns in the country. Very little of what is called good land lies level, but is intersected in various directions by hills, declivities and valleys. The high lands are moist, and less exposed to drought, than the intervals below them, and often retain their verdure in dry seasons when the valleys are parched. The southern part of the town, in which lay the lands of Richard Newton, and which in 1727 became Southborough, is moderately uneven and the soil productive. It is watered by numerous small streams and brooks.

Marlborough did not, in its central part, contain any large tract of meadow land; but by extending its borders so as to take in the valley of the Assabet river, a portion of the meadows on the Sudbury river and a large number of smaller meadows and swamps, the needs of the people in these respects were well supplied. The value the people placed upon these low lands appears by the fact that immediately after assigning the house-lots, they proceeded to divide the meadows, and set off a large portion of land to be held in common for a "Cow Commons"—thus they had their own hay, and the right of each to his portion of pasture for cattle.

The following from the town record is not out of place here, and shows how methodically all their proceedings were recorded, as well as gives the names of some of the meadows in which Richard Newton had a right.

In the division of the meadows "Every mans proportion for his first division of meadows is to bee halfe ye number of Acres granted to each mans House Lott."

At A meeting of the Inhabitants & Proprietors of this Town the 2d & 3d days of ye X month 1690
It is Agreed, conclud$^2$ & ord$^2$ that ye Meadows of this Town shall bee divided into Squadrions, & so laid out as may lie most convenient to every mans Habitation Inn Manor falls

| Long Meadow | 8

The second division of meadows was laid out by Ensign Thomas Noyes "the 27: of the V: month 1665" and lists made. Richard Newton got lot No. 7, in Cold Harbor Meadow, 4 acres; lot No. 10 in Middle Meadow, 4 acres; lot No. 31 in Chauncey Meadows, 4 acres. = 12 Acres.

In laying out Cedar Swamp the final agreement was "that each man should have half the number of Rodds here in the length of the Swamp that A man hath of Acres in his house lott, wch should rume to each man quite through the breadth of the Swamp," etc. This gave to Richard Newton "15 Rodds."

As early as April 5, 1661, the proprietors contracted to build frame for the minister's house. "On the 7th day of y' iiij month 1663" the town apportioned what each man was to pay. The rate of Richard Newton for the minister was 12s. 6d.

The minister was Rev. William Brinstead—a faithful and able pastor—and the people seemed happy under his ministry. But difficulties arose which grew out of the policy of the proprietors in regard to the forfeiture of the title to their lands and their grants, for taxes, which extended to their ecclesiastical affairs as well. They could not agree, and Mr. Brinstead left the place, going for a time to Plymouth. Thus the town was without a minister and church privileges for about two years, the people going to the Sudbury church on the Sabbath.

In 1664, Richard Newton and eight others petitioned the magistrates of the town for permission to establish a church and call a minister, setting forth their distance from Sudbury, of which church they were members, rendered it inconvenient to go there, and that many of the older and more feeble could not go at all. The petition was granted, but they seem to have progressed not much beyond, for they could not agree upon anything. In the same year (1664) seventeen of the inhabitants of the town asked the General Court to appoint a committee with full power to settle their difficulties. This application drew forth a remonstrance signed by eighteen of the inhabitants, who deny that there is any considerable difficulty and declare they "Never went about to destroy the Town Book, but only to rectify what was amiss in it." They declare they never went about to "root out their Minister." They allege that in point of "gravity," they are "able to balance or over-balance" the petitioners; that they pay nearly twice as much as the petitioners toward civil and ecclesiastical institutions and conclude by saying, "We are willing, with our persons and estates, to uphold the Authority of the Country; and do therefore desire the liberty of the law which gives towns power to transact their own affairs." Among those opposed to the appointment of the committee, and using this vigorous language, were Richard Newton and his son John Newton.

* The controversy was not settled for about ten years. On May 27, 1674, a New Town Book was finished wherein their orders and grants were recorded, and was accepted by all concerned. Meanwhile Mr. Brinstead returned to Marlborough, where he was settled October 3, 1666, with a salary of £40 and remained with them until he died, July 3, 1701.
Richard Newton's rate to pay the minister in the "7th day of iii month 1663" was 12s. 6d.

In the business of the town the name of Richard Newton, with others, we find signed to various papers. One paper is a bond securing Mr. John Alcocke against loss through change of lands, etc. This would indicate that he was a man of substance, and dependable. The bondsmen for towns are something more than mere names on a paper.

Marlborough, being a frontier town and situated on the road leading from Boston to the Connecticut river settlements, was regarded as an important point during King Philip's War, and was made a base line of operations. Thirty-seven soldiers of the colony were stationed there. October 1, 1675, at a meeting of the inhabitants, led by the minister, in order to care for the safety of the town it was agreed upon that in case of an attack by the Indians they would arrange for certain garrisons which should be established and maintained, to which the people might flee. At this meeting were twenty-five men, among whom were Richard Newton, his sons Moses and Joseph, and his son-in-law, James Taylor. The order for these garrisons and the apportioning of the ammunition of the town was signed by them and many others.

These garrison houses were eight in number. I do not know to which of them the Newton families were assigned.

The Indians attacked and destroyed property in many towns in this vicinity—in Lancaster, Groton, Medfield—and on March 26, 1676, it being a Sunday, they attacked Marlborough while the people were at church, and destroyed thirteen dwellings and eleven barns, besides fruit trees and fences.

The loss of the meeting house and the minister's house caused special distress. This was the time when Moses Newton was the hero of the day, as narrated under his heading.

On July 15, 1684, many citizens of Marlborough obtained, without the consent of the General Court, a deed of sale from the Indians of "5800 acres of land lying Whippenerager"—that is, in what was known as "the Indian Plantation" just north of the town and finally to become a part of Marlborough—which the Court declared to be "null and void." Among these fifty or more men were Isaac, Moses and Joseph Newton, sons of Richard, and Jonathan Johnson and James Taylor, sons-in-law of Richard Newton. [By this time Richard Newton was upward of 84 years old, or I suppose he would have grabbed some of that fair Indian land too.] They all held on to the land—divided and improved it, trying all ways to have the Court legalize their purchase. As no one brought suit, the Court did not act in behalf of the Indians; but did not legalize the purchase. This legalizing did not occur until 1719, when the Court annexed the territory to the town of Marlborough, and at the same time confirmed the titles by prescription.

"The Indian Purchase" will be referred to from time to time as we go on with the story of the Newtons. Thus it seemed well to give so extended a mention of it.

Meanwhile, Richard Newton was advancing in years far beyond the "threescore and ten" allotted to man. He had given of his property to settle his sons as they grew to manhood, and given portions to his daughters as they married and went from under his rooftop. While his needs and his estate grew less as he drew near the sunset of life, those of his children grew greater—which was just as it should be. So we find in a list of names headed:—"Taxes under Gov. Andros"—"Marlborough's Invoice in the year 1688," the following names:—

The whole number of males then taxed in Marlborough was 105, and the amount raised was £19. 3s. 3d. 4½.

Richard Newton was not taxed for more than his estate—he had passed the age for a poll tax.

The American Revolution is one of the most important events in the history of our country. As we have seen, the people of the Colonies had become accustomed to fighting their own battles, and they kept themselves prepared for the crisis, and when it came—the history of the world does not present a more grand and imposing spectacle than that of the rising of the people on the 19th of April, 1775!

Marlborough had four companies organized and ready. They all marched to Cambridge on that date as soon as hearing of the outrage committed on the Green at Lexington. In the Company of Captain Cyprian Howe, Ensign Uriah Eager, Sergeant Ebenezer Hager, was Adonijah Newton (son of Gershom, Jr.); absent from home 16 days.

In Captain William Brigham’s Company was Robert Horn, and Jonas Newton (son of Uriah, Sr.); in service 10 to 30 days.

In Captain Daniel Barnes’ Company was Paul Newton (son of Nathan), Nahum Newton (son of Micah); some of them in service 40 days.

Early in the season an army of eight months’ men was organized; Lieutenant-Colonel Edward Barnes, Captain Paul Brigham, Captain Daniel Barnes, Captain Amasa Crane, Captain Silas Gates. Among these men was Paul Newton (son of Nathan).

On the Worcester rolls, among the Marlborough men was Joseph Newton (son of Joseph).

On later rolls, the names of Josiah Newton (son of Josiah), 1777. Lieutenant Jonathan Wells. 1778. Dana Newton.

The most important list, because they were in the service the longest, were the “First Three Years’ Men” and the “Last Three Years’ Men.” Some of them were enrolled during the whole war and fought upon almost every battlefield. They generally received a small bounty on enlistment. Among the first three years’ men were Dana Newton, Jonah, also Jonas (son of Uriah), Joseph (son of Joseph), Jonathan (son of Uriah, Jr.), John (son of John).

Among the last three years’ men were Ephraim (son of Ephraim), John (son of John).

The town was called upon to supply its quota of three years’ men. The state of the currency was such the soldiers would not take it, and the town must find men. As a last resort they voted to give a bounty to each man of twenty steers, three years old, or in lieu of each steer, fourteen hard dollars, to be paid, etc.; later the steers were to be valued at fifteen dollars each. Thus it was that steers became legal tender.
PART I

RICHARD NEWTON, WIFE AND CHILDREN

1. RICHARD NEWTON1, in his will, calls John his "eldest son," and from the amount he bequeathed to him we would infer that John was getting the eldest son’s double portion, as was the English custom. The other sons he names, as I suppose, in the order of their births, Moses, Joseph and Daniel. The order in which he names the daughters would indicate that Mary was the eldest daughter, then Elizabeth, then Sarah. We will leave it that way. The order of their births given below is my conclusion from all the evidence I now have. The births of four, and the death of one, are given in the Sudbury records, where the family lived, approximately, from 1638 to 1656. The birth of Moses is given as occurring October 29, 1645, and also on March 26, 1646. There could not have been two children born at those dates. It might be the first date is for the birth and the second the baptism. As the Middlesex Records do not give the first date at all, and do give all the other dates we have of the children’s births, I follow that record.

Inasmuch as the birth of the son Isaac does not appear anywhere, I suppose he was born about the time of the removal from Sudbury to Marlborough. In the deed of 1684, Richard Newton mentions his son Isaac as "caring for my wife, his mother," signifying that his "wife Anna" was living in 1666 and 1684. The following deeds are interesting for many reasons. I have abstracts of them principally for any vital statistics they might contain, and not for the descriptions of the lands. That I here indicate where they may be found, may incite some one to a further search. I was told there was no paper with the autograph of Richard Newton. "His mark" on the will and on the deeds seems to be four perpendicular strokes of the pen, slightly curved at the top, bound together by one horizontal stroke at the top: \[\text{\textbackslash n\textbackslash n}\]. In two of the deeds the down strokes are three only.

I do not know how much land, in acres, Richard Newton possessed. By these deeds and by will he disposes of somewhere near 130 acres, more or less. But the will was written in 1693, and the deeds were all passed before that date.

Notice that Isaac Amsden, "my loving friend," is one of the executors of the will, and his son Joseph the other, while the son John, Sr., receives about all there is left. I suppose that was following the English fashion that yet prevails there, of giving the eldest son either a double portion or the whole estate.

I have not found that he was designated by any occupation other than "husbandman." All of the colonists were that to a greater or less extent. One writer styles him "Dea. Newton," but I find no church record of his holding the office. His son Joseph did hold the office. Richard and his son Moses may have, I do not know.

Copied from an old pamphlet, "Leaflet":
"A sermon delivered at Southborough July 17, 1827. The day which completed a Century from the Incorporation of the Town. By Jerobeam Parker, minister of Southborough. Printed by request." "John Marsh Printer, State St, Boston. 1827." The text is Ecclesiastes, 1:4. The sermon of course has a little history woven in and here is all of said history of interest to us. I copy it word by word.

Notwithstanding the usual changes and revolutions in human society, and the perpetual fluctuations of property, and after the lapse of nearly one hundred and seventy years it is evident from the great number of persons now living within the original bounds of Marlborough, who bear the names of the first proprietors, that their possessions in many instances are now in the hands of their descendants.

The descendants of Richard Newton, one of the original petitioners, have occupied the same farm, now within the bounds of Southborough, on which he lived and died, and where his great-grandson Solomon Newton now lives (1827), aged ninety-three years, and his descendants to the seventh generation. A rare instance in the History of families in this ever changing world.

This is all it speaks about any Newtons. Then in the back part of the leaflet, after the sermon, it gives the names of the original petitioners. In the list of deacons from 1730-1822 are "Gideon Newton chosen 1756," "Josiah Newton chosen 1800," Willard Newton, vice president at the dinner. Willard and Jeremiah Newton on committee of arrangements. Major Larkin Newton, assistant to Colonel Jonas Ball, director of the procession.

From old series No. 11,310. Copied out of Book 10, 391-392, in the probate office at East Cambridge, Mass., July 23, 1908, by Sumner F. Brown, of No. 18 Meacham Road, North Cambridge, Mass. He says of it: "The Richard Newton Will has no peculiarities of spelling but those you will notice and the professional handwriting of that time with curious e.s.t.h. and other letters makes the reading of it very slow at first. Capitals are where I put them and instead of paragraphs each or some of the separate bequests the "And" is written large. It is a handsome piece of work." And, also, "This will is well written in old style hand, some like German Text, on one large sheet of coarse rag paper, which keeps its color, size about ten by twelve inches. No paragraphs but written continuously from start to finish. Ninety minutes close work, and I think it verbatim et Literatim, et punctuatum."

From the following data, together with that at hand from the records of New England, it seems to me quite clear, that the wife of Richard Newton and the mother of his children was Anne, younger daughter of Henry and Elizabeth ( ) Loker, of Bures St. Mary in the county of Essex, England, Glover.

While I have not found the record of the marriage, nor the date of her birth, nor the date of her death as proof, the circumstantial evidence is so great that I am ready, tentatively, to accept the deductions here given as facts, until such time as further discoveries shall disprove them. I make no pretense of being authority on the subject. The evidence seems to point to the conclusion that Anne Loker was the wife of Richard Newton. I gather data, sift, deduce, arrange, and give you the result. Some one with wider knowledge will, I trust, come after me, who will solve all problems.

You will notice the will of Henrie Loker spells the name of the younger daughter, Ann and Anne. The records of Sudbury, Mass., give her name Anne, Amie and Amy. I suppose the last two forms were intended for Annie and Ann. It is not important. They spelled all words every way in those days.

For myself I am ready to believe that Richard Newton had no other wife than Anne Loker. I base this opinion upon the facts that there is neither the death of his wife Anne, nor the marriage with his wife Hannah upon the records of Sudbury or Marlborough, and that the name Hannah is many times another form of the name Anna. Neither is this important. He may have had a second wife.

"Hannah," the wife of Richard Newton is named in his will, and died at Marlborough, December 5, 1697. In the record of her death, she is styled "Hannah sr., w. Richard." In the deed of Richard Newton to John Allen, March 2, 1662, of lands in Sudbury, "Hannah Newton" signs with him. Later, July 2, 1661, the same is endorsed and signed by "Hannah Newton."

[Americans all know what English people do with the letter H.]

"Hannah, d. Richard and Anne," is the record of the death of their child.

"Daniel, s. Richard and Anne," born Dec. 21, 1655, is the latest mention of his wife, "Anne," until she signs with him to the deed to Peter Noyes, of land in Sudbury, October 1, 1666, where her name is written "Ann" and "Anna." Notice, this signature is after the signature of "Hannah," above in 1662 and 1664.

Dorcas daughter of Henry Riddlesdale baptized July 18, 1629.
Rebecca daughter of Edward Riddlesdale baptized Dec. 5, 1630.
The Henry Loker baptized in 1576-7 is apparently the father of Henry and John Loker, the emigrants to New England, as shown in his will, Register, vol. 63, p. 289. This family is called in the records Loker, Riddlesdale, and Loker alias Riddlesdale, E. F.]

These Lokers were probably near relatives, how related we have yet to learn. I copy them here that I may not leave out what might prove to be a clue to further knowledge.

The nuncupative Will of Lucie Riddlesdale als Loker of the hamlet of Bures St. Marie in Essex, Widow, 1 Feb. 1592-3. She willed and bequeathed her goods chattels first to the discharge of her debts, and the appurtenances of a child of hers called Henry, which was to be put forth apprentice, and the rest, by certain men of the parish indiscriminately chosen, she willed to be equally divided among all her children, her son Danvill to have the first and best part, said Danvill appointed executor.

Witnesses: John Colman, mynister their, and Mary Gosling. Proved at Sudbury 3 April 1596, and the commission issued to the executor named in the will. Inventory 20s. 17. 6 (Archdeaconry of Sudbury (Bury St. Edmunds), Bacon, 448).

It would not be hard to believe that this "Lucie Riddlesdale als Loker," was the Lucy Loker above, buried February 3, 1592-3; and that her son "Henrye" was the Henry Loker baptized February 7, 1576-7—our Henry Loker. Supposing this to be fact, her son Henry who was to be "put forth apprentices," would be of proper age—that is, sixteen years old, and Daniel, John and William above baptized might have been his brothers. Of course this is all my supposition. One cannot resist the temptation to theorize about these matters.

The Will of Henrye Loker of Bures St. Marie in the County of Essex, glover, 22 Feb. 1629. Body to be buried in the Churchyard of the parish of Bures aforesaid. To wife Elizabeth £12 and all household stuff during the term of her life if she remain single, but if she marry, eldest son Henrie, son John, daughter Bridgitt and youngest daughter Ann to have certain household goods [enumerated]. To son Henrie £12. To younger son John £10. To daughter Bridget 5s. and 20s., due from John Mathews of Bures, shoemaker, and to younger daughter Anne 5s., to be paid to said daughters at the several days of their marriage, or at the death of wife. Wife Elizabeth and two sons shall use my stock jointly together, and if either of said sons Henrie or John shall chance to marry and so depart asunder in the use of my stock, then the party so marrying, or by any discontent sooner departing, shall go away with half the portion so given them. Wife Elizabeth and eldest son Henrie sole executors.

Witnesses: John Isaac, John Parmaier.
Proved 15 April 1631 by the executors named in the Will. (Archdeaconry of Sudbury (Bury St. Edmunds), Colman f. 16.)

Inventory taken by the above, October 2, 55. Sum total £179, 6s. One house and land prised at 50s.

I consider this will of Robert Davis important in establishing the identity of Richard Newton's wife. It would seem that this will and the will of John Loker ought to be enough evidence. Robert Davis calls Henry Loker his Brother [-in-law, is intended], and John Loker mentions his "Sister Newton."

Again, the mention of "Joseph Newton £10, if he stay out his time," etc., would mean that having no son of their own, Davis and wife had contracted with Newton and wife that one of their many sons should live for a specified time with his aunt.

And yet, again, that his wife's sister's husband should be a witness to the will seems only natural.

Bury Saint Edmunds, now a city of 16,500 inhabitants, and Sudbury, now a place of 7,400 people, both in the county of Suffolk, England, and Bures St. Mary in the county of Essex, appear to have been in the Archdeaconry of Sudbury—an ecclesiastical district. The two counties lie side by side, separated by the river Stour, up which, about twenty miles from the head of the estuary into which it flows, lies the town of Sudbury. Many of the first settlers of New England came from this vicinity. It seems reasonable to suppose that Richard Newton and Anne Loker were not strangers to Sudbury in England.

Neither of them were what you might call "very young" at marriage. If Henry Loker, the father, was born 1577 and died 1631, he would be fifty-four years of age at death. He might have married in 1600 or thereabout, and his children all born before 1615. That we do not know. We do know that none of the children were married in 1631 when he died.

The sons were old enough to carry on their father's business, glover, after his death, and the older son was made one of the executors—showing that he was not a child.

In 1639 Robert Davis, aged 30, and his sister Margaret Davis, aged 26, came over on the ship Confidence, as servants of Peter Noyes; this would give their birth-dates, 1608 and 1612, respectively. I fancy Bridget and Anne Loker's birth-dates were not far from those two dates.

When Elizabeth Loker and her children came to New England does not yet appear. They were in Sudbury as early as the fall of 1638, and shared in the divisions of the lands. The names of the sons appear frequently on the records, showing them to have been active and enterprising citizens.

The home-lot of Henry Loker was on the Mill Road, Sudbury to Boston, not far to the west of the millpond. Not far to the east, and between him and the pond was the tavern of John Parmenter, Sr., probably the same John Parmiter who, in England, witnessed the will of Henric Loker, in 1630. Farther along to the westward was the house-lot of John Loker. It was next to the meetinghouse lot, and afterward the house and the orchard were bought by the town, from John and his "Widow Mary Loker"—(she had a life interest in part of the house) for the minister's house.
The following gives in brief form the family of Anne Loker so far as it is necessary here:

HENRY LOKER of Bures St. Mary, in the county of Essex, England, Glover; baptized there February 7, 1576-7; will dated February 22, 1630, and proved April 15, 1631; had wife ELIZABETH —— who with son Harry, was executor of his will. The widow Elizabeth Loker came to New England and died at Sudbury, Mass., March 3, 1648.

Their children were:

Henry Loker, born in England; proprietor at Sudbury, Mass., 1639; Freeman, May 10, 1643; died at Sudbury, March 24, 1647; Hannah Brewer, who died there February 4, 1679. He died there October 11, 1688.

John Loker, born in England; proprietor at Sudbury, Mass., 1639; took oath of fidelity, 1645; Freeman the following year; married Mary Draper. He died at Sudbury, June 18, 1653.

Bridget Loker, born in England; came to Sudbury, Mass.; married (1) Robert Davis, who died July 19, 1655; married (2) December 26, 1655, Thomas King (2nd wf.) at and of Sudbury. She died the "Widow Bridget King," in Marlborough, March 11, 1685.

Anne Loker, born in England; married Richard Newton, about 1640.

The will of John Loker of Sudbury, Mass., dated June 17, 1653, mentions his wife, unnamed, who may marry again; one child under twenty-one years named John Loker; his brother Henry Loker; his brother-in-law Robert Davis and sister Bridget Davis: and continues: "My will is that my house and lande shall be equally divided between my brother Henry Loker my sister Davis & my sister Newton and I doe hereby make my wife my brother Henry Loker & my brother-in-law Robert Davis to be my executors.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand the 17th day of June, 1653 this is the Mark or [?] John Loker set with his own hand in ye presence of Joseph Parmenter, Hugh Griffin." One of the appraisers was Robert Davis. The will entire is below.

John Loker and wife Mary (Draper) had born in Sudbury, September 28, 1653, a daughter, Mary Loker, posthumous child; who with the above son, John, Jr., were all his children. He died June 18, 1653.

There is no will of Henry Loker of Sudbury. In 1678, he deeded his whole estate, "for love," to his son and daughter Jacob and Elizabeth Moore [Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 10, p. 93], and Jacob Moore, in 1697, deeded the same 150 acres, to his eldest son Jacob, for a like consideration [same, vol. 47, p. 517]. Elizabeth, daughter of Henry Loker, married May 29, 1667, Jacob Moore, had twelve children, and died December 14, 1690.

THE WILL OF JOHN LOKER. (verbatim copy.)

As my brother & sister Danies were to have it till my Sonne come to the age of eightene yeares, And then it is to hee surrendered to the use of my sonne John Loker. And then after her Decease my will is that my house & lande shall be equally divided betwixtmy brother Henry Loker my sister Danies & my sister Newton. And I doe hereby make my wife my brother Henry Loker & my brother in law Robert Danies to bee my executors desiring them to see this my will & testament performed.

\text{SECOND GENERATION AND CHILDREN}

As an introduction to the second generation of Newtons in Marlborough and to prevent undue repetition of events in which all of the inhabitants were engaged, it seems fitting that I here give some account of conditions that obtained at, and subsequent to, the death of Richard Newton. I shall then be understood as I record the events in which the several persons were concerned, if I merely refer back to this, and thus escape the multiplying of words.

In "Queen Anne's War" the French and Indians made repeated incursions into the colony, killing and carrying away captive the inhabitants (1701-1713).

August 8, 1701, this occurred in that part of Marlborough now Westborough; and again on the 18th of August, now the part that is Northborough. The men and their families were in constant anxiety and danger. To protect the people of Marlborough the General Court made some provision for their defense, and the people had erected a considerable number of forts in different parts of the township to which they could resort in time of danger. Twenty-six forts, or "garrisons" and "garrison houses," as they were called, were designated and the families residing nearest each were so assigned. I will set down here only those garrisons that have to do with the Newtons and their relatives.

No. 5. Isaac Amsden's Garrison. It was southeasterly of the East Village, on the road to Southborough. "Deacon Newton," Thomas Newton and five other families.

No. 6. Isaac Howe's Garrison. It was on the Southborough road near the now Newton Railway Station. Moses Newton, Moses Newton, Jr., John Newton, Widow Johnson [née Mary Kerley], David Fay and James Caly.

No. 16. John Mathews' Garrison. It was in what is now Southborough. William Johnson and Samuel Ward.

No. 17. Daniel Rice's Garrison. It was two miles easterly of the meeting house. Widow Sarah Taylor. I think this was widow of William.

No. 23. Simon Maynard's Garrison. It was on the "Indian Plantation," Joseph Newton and four other families.

No. 25. Jonathan Newton's Garrison. It was in what is now Southborough. Moses Leonard (m. Mercy Newton) and four other families.

As near as can be learned from tradition, this was the general location of the garrisons in 1711, and thus we learn the neighborhoods in which the different families resided.

In 1701 the town and church at Marlborough had the misfortune to lose their minister, Rev. William Brimstead, who died on July 3 of that year. After his decease an unfortunate misunderstanding arose that greatly disturbed the town. It took the form at last in an opposition to the settlement of Rev. John Emerson of Ipswich to become their minister. The papers connected with this controversy have been preserved, but fail to show the grounds of opposition. The feeling was probably both personal and sectional. Whatever the trouble was, we are indebted to it for two lists of men, which must have comprised nearly all in the town at the beginning of the eighteenth century. Those who voted in favor of Mr. Emerson were mostly from the west and those opposed to his settlement were from the east part of the town. I will set down here only those we are interested, more nearly, in. Among those to sustain, were the names of James Taylor, Sr., Joseph Newton, Jr., and his son Joseph Newton [b. 1689, d. 1713, the only third Joseph there was at that date].

Among those opposed were: John Newton², Sr., and his sons John³, Jr., Zachariah³, Thomas³, and John⁴ (son of John³, Jr.); Moses Newton², Sr., and his sons David³ and Edward³; Daniel Newton, Joseph Newton, Sr., James Taylor¹ and his son James², Jr., and Jonathan Johnson.

November 19, 1717, Westborough was set off as a town. Twenty-five families and six young men were so set off. Among them were Josiah Newton³ (son of Moses²), Thomas Newton³ (son of John²).

October 20, 1744, Westborough was divided, the northern part taking the name of Northborough.

The Indian Plantation of 6,000 acres was annexed to Marlborough in 1719 thus restoring its depleted size.

The people of "Stony Brook," as the south part of Marlborough was called, applied to the town to be set off as a distinct municipality. After some delay a line was agreed upon, and the town joined in a petition "with the Stony Brook men for a confirmation of said township." The territory was set off and incorporated in 1727 by the name of Southborough. Six of the Newtons signed the petition, and they and several other prominent families were cut off with their lands from the old town into the new town. And not only that, but also a change of county has been made—Marlborough being in Middlesex County, and Southborough in Worcester County. Thus Southborough became the home town of this branch of the family, where Richard and his wife died and their deaths are recorded. Where they were buried is unknown to me, but I suppose the interment was in the "Old Common Burial Ground" in Marlborough.

In the French and Indian Wars, before 1755—from 1741-1756, inclusive, Marlborough men had seen service both at home and abroad. But the rolls are said to have been sent to England as vouchers, so no lists of the men are found here. Many of them, however, are known to have served. Among them were the following Newtons: In 1748, Gershom Newton, Jr., and Timothy Newton (sons of Gershom, Sr.); in 1754 Timothy* again; in 1755 Gershom*, Jr., again, and in the same year (1756) under Captain William Williams, at No. 4, Jonas Newton (son of Jesseiah), and this Jonas Newton was out again in the same company in 1760; also Archelaus Felton at No. 4, 1756, and in 1760.

In 1757 two companies from Marlborough marched to the relief of Fort William Henry. In that of Lieutenant Stephen Maynard was Micah Newton* (son of Joseph*, Jr.), again.

In 1758 and 1759, on the rolls for the reduction of Canada, are the names, among many others from Marlborough, of Daniel Newton* (son of Daniel*) and John Newton* (son of John*).

February 3, 1757, certain gentlemen in the easterly part of the town were desirous of being set off as a separate town and sent in a petition asking that they have returned to them "the money that we shall pay toward the settlement or gratuity of the minister" if they should be set off within three or seven years. Among the fourteen men who signed the petition were Uriah Newton* (son of Joseph*, Jr.) and Nahum Newton* (son of Joseph*, Jr.). The petition was not granted as to a division of that part of the town.

In 1757 (and before), on account of the "French and Indian Wars," the General Court required the whole people to be organized—the able-bodied for active and more distant service, the older and those exempt from other causes on an "Alarm List." In that year two large companies were organized in Marlborough, to each of which was attached a list of alarm men. In Captain John Weeks' company was Sergeant Micah Newton (son of Joseph*, Jr.), Uriah* (son of Joseph*, Jr.), Uriah* (son of Uriah*), David Newton* (son of Uriah*), and in the Alarm List of this company was William Newton* (son of Daniel*). In the other company under Colonel Abraham Williams was Caleb Newton* (son of Jonathan*, Jr.).

* Warnings.— The custom of "warning out of town" prevailed throughout the Province. When a person not an inhabitant came to town to reside, sometimes only for an extended visit, the person into whose family or tenement he came, was required to give notice to the Selectmen, of the name of the person or persons, the place he came from, his pecuniary circumstances and the time he came to town. Knowing these facts, the town authorities would in their discretion let them remain or order them to be warned out of town. The object of this was to prevent their gaining a settlement and becoming a public charge. No regard was paid to age, character or sex so far as the notice of coming was concerned; but in the warning, or "cautioning," a discretion was used.

There was a formality in the process of "warning out of town" which will appear in the following example.

"Middlesex, ss.
To Mr. Joseph Bacon, Jr., Constable for the Town of Marlborough, in said County: GREETING: In his Majesty's name you are hereby required forthwith to warn the several persons hereafter mentioned, forthwith to depart out of the town of Marlborough, viz., Abraham Carly and
2. JOHN NEWTON, Sr. (Richard), son of Richard and Anne (Loker) Newton of Sudbury and Marlborough, Mass., was born at Sudbury, October 20, 1641, and died at Marlborough, October 16, 1723, aged 82. He married at Marlborough, January 5, 1666, Elizabeth Larkin, daughter of Edward and Joanna (——) Larkin of Charlestown, Mass., where she was born 7-7-1641, and died at Marlborough, October 15, 1719.

John Newton, Sr., was a proprietor in Marlborough in 1669. November 26 of that year the inhabitants laid out their house-lots. John, with his father, had been in the township two or three years previous to this division, which was rather a confirmation than an original grant. His house-lot comprised sixteen acres.

In 1664 there appears to have been a disturbance in the civil and ecclesiastical relations of the town, in the perfecting or forfeiture of the titles to the several house-lots—grants for taxes—time for payment of rates, etc. Seventeen of the inhabitants asked the General Court to appoint a committee with full power to settle all their difficulties. John Newton and his father were among those opposed to the appointment of a committee, alleging: “We are willing, with our persons and estates, to uphold the Authority of the Country, and do therefore desire the Liberty of the law which gives towns power to transact their own affairs.”

John Newton, Sr., could claim all the rights in the lands of the town, as a proprietor, that went with sixteen acres. At the same time he did not share in the second division of upland. Against his name in that division are the words “none due.”

Of the first division of meadows, eight acres; second division of meadows, six and one-fourth acres, 24 rods; of Cedar Swamp eight acres; equal to 22 ¼ acres 24 rods. He did not share in Cold Harbour, Middle and Chauncey Meadows, as did his father. Of course at this time, 1663+, he was a young man just coming of age. His rate for the minister was 6 shillings 8 pence. John Newtont’s name is not among those who got the deed of the Indians, for the Indian plantation, in 1684.

During the Indian troubles that ended in 1713 his family was assigned to No. 6, Isaac Howe’s Garrison, on the Southborough Road.

Susanna his wife, and their children, viz. Mary, Moses, Joel, Martha and John: David Flint; Amaziah Knight and Jane his wife; Mrs. Abigail Arbuthnot, and Martha Parminter. And to make inquiry into, and from whence they last came to this town; hence fail not, and make return of this warrant, with your doing thereon, as soon as may be, unto the Select-men.

1688. Taxes under Governor Andros. John Newton, Sr.'s rate was, "for persons and estate," £00-11-05. [More than one poll.]

By the will of his father, John Newton, Sr., received the greater part of the lands granted to Richard Newton, together with their rights of commonage, and in the undivided lands; and also the homestead, tools, cattle, swine, etc., which, with his own property, must have been quite an estate for those times. Besides being a farmer, his father styles him "house carpenter." It was customary for a man to have some trade, as well as land. All were farmers.

While John Newton, Sr., appears to be a residuary legatee, his younger brother, Joseph Newton, Sr., was made one of the executors of their father's will, and not himself.

John Newton, Sr., made his will four years before his death. His wife was living at the time, but he makes no mention of her. She died the same year, aged 78. Neither does he mention his son Nathaniel and daughter Experience. He makes his grandson, Gershom Newton (son of his son Samuel), residuary legatee and sole executor; and Gershom, with his uncle, John Newton, Jr., gives bond in £100 each, for the performance of the trust. In his will, John Newton, Sr., signs with his mark. In his bond as surety for his son Samuel, he signs his own name. This last-named bond you will find under Samuel's heading, and it explains itself.

In the bond here given, Gershom signs for himself and John, Jr., signs with his mark. It seemed to be immaterial in those days which way a person signed.

John Newton, Sr., and his brother Moses were made freemen April 18, 1690.

The following deeds, given by John Newton, Sr., are selected for abstracting because they show the disposition he made of his lands, provided for some of those dependent on him and provided for the care of himself during his old age.

March 18, 1692-2, at Lancaster, there were enumerated in the settlement of the garrison for that town John Rugg, John Rugg, Jr., Joseph Rugg, and others.

§ William Johnson, one of the early settlers of Charlestown, Mass., was born at Canterbury, Kent county, England, in 1692; became an inhabitant of Charlestown in 1634; and was made Freeman of Massachusetts Colony, March 4, 1634-5. He was a Puritan; of good education, and brought with him from England a wife, and child, and means. He with his wife Elizabeth joined the Charlestown church Feb. 13, 1634-5, of which they continued members until his death. He was a man of energy and business methods. Within the first four years of his residence, he was assessed for ten separate parcels of land, which he cultivated—a farmer— "planter" he calls himself in conveyances. This was his leading business. Possessing a clay- pit, he was also a brickmaker—a secondary occupation. His house lot fronted 190 feet on the now Main Street of Charlestown, near the present Square, and was about 120 feet deep. On this lot stood the house in which all his eight children were born except the eldest, and in which he died. There were also on the lot two barns and two brick-making kilns. He held several town offices. His signature is that of a practical penman. He had but the one wife, Elizabeth Story, whom he married in 1659 (White Family quarterly, August 14, 1641. He died at Marlborough April 12, 1712, aged 71. By occupation he was a blacksmith, also farmer, and in the latter part of his life he taught the town school. He was well educated; his father also gave him a trade and made him a legatee in his will. He received his share in his father's and mother's estate in 1687, $20 in about "an acre and a half of land in the Eastfield," which in 1707 he sold to his nephew for $30. The records show seven conveyances of real estate to and from him.

Before his marriage he went to reside in Marlborough about 1662. There can be no doubt as to whose son he was, for the Records of the Selectmen of Charlestown make a note of the fact that Jonathan Johnson "came to town, to his father William's house, from Marlborough, April 15, 1676."

On settling in Marlborough he received from the town the house-lot of 30 acres that had been set apart for a smith in the first division. The lot was one of the most eligible in the village, being located directly south of the Old Common, "on a hill south side of the Meeting-house." Half of this he sold May 25, 1663, but bought it back, February 15, 1678-9. He was the first blacksmith in Marlborough. The following is the town's order and the conditions of his holding: At a meeting of the town March 29, 1663, among other matters, "It was ordered that Jonathan Johnson shall have the Thirty Acres of upland formerly granted to A smith with all accomodations[n] Ausable & suitable thereunto, on Condition yeth the 3d Jonath[an] doe dwell in this Towne seven years, & doe the Townes worke as A Smith, & also if he at y' seven years end leave[c] the Towne doe his endeavor to settle another Smith in his Roomes, both wth if hee doe the 3d Land & accomodacions shall be his, & his heirs & Assigns forever: John Ruddocke, Recorder." The rate he was to pay to the minister annointed May 7, 1663, was 6 shillings. Having sold half of his homestead, his portion of the other divisions—meadow and swamp lands—were proportionately smaller. Of the 2d division of uplands he had 33 acres, 1st division of meadows 7½ acres, 2d of meadows, 6 acres, of Cedar Swamp, 7½ acres; of Cold Harbor, Middle and Channeley meadows, of each, four acres = 51. He also bought in with others, without the consent of the Court, and thus illegally, some of the Indian reservation "Plantation." In 1688, his taxes under Governor Andros were for person and estate, 44s., 6d. In 1685 he bought of Prudence Russell, 20 acres in Marlborough. In 1694, he sold the same to T. Russell. His name appears on other legal papers, as witness, etc.

Jonathan Johnson, Sr., of Marlborough was funeral July 21, 1685. Jonathan Johnson, Sr., in his lifetime gave to his children and grandchildren portions of his property and disposed of the rest by will, making his wife and only surviving child, William, executors, and the latter residuary legatee. The will is dated March 18, 1711-12. No inventory was returned. The will begins by saying: "I recomend my Soul to the hand of God that gave it me hoping through the Death and merits of Jesus Christ, to obtain pardon of all my sins and to inherit Eternal Life, and my Body I comit to the Earth . . . nothing doubting but at the Generall Resurrection I shall receive the same againe by the mighty power of God."

He gives his homestead and all his personal property to his wife, Mary, "for her comfortable subsistance during her widowshead with free leave of acts of charity"; "with the advice and consent of the Minister and Deacon, to sell of the outland for her comfort: and if she should marry," then what he has given to her is to go to his son William, who "if she should be in want to take illial care of her." He says he had given to his son Jonathan, while alive, and his wife since his death, his portion: "but still, my fatherly love is so to his children," etc., when he names, he gives small sums. To his daughter Mary's husband he gives his "Coopering Tools," showing he had yet another trade, and "As to my dau. Mary Mathes, though she be dead yet I remember her:" and says he had completed her portion by a deed of land to her children, and appoints his son William trustee of this deed. To his grandson Joseph, Jonathan's youngest son, a lot of land. To granddaughter Hannah, who was living with him, £20. To Huldah Whitney, 65, if she remain with his wife till 18 years old. He "wills" his son William to take good care of his son Thomas while he lives.

The widow Mary Johnson survived her husband 16 years, and did not marry again. It is pleasant to think of her living quietly by herself in the homestead, "on a hill south of meeting house" and "the Old Common." The house was near the garrison-house of Samuel Ward, Sr., to which the family of Jonathan Johnson, Sr., was assigned.

It was not until after January 19, 1699, when the town voted to build a schoolhouse, that "Mr. Jonathan Johnson was employed as a schoolmaster several years in succession." At that date he was 58 years old. I like this kindly old man, who is my ancestor. Capable in so many lines—farmer, blacksmith, cooper, active and energetic in business during his prime; then studios and passive, and a schoolmaster; during the last thirteen years of his life, with his equally aged wife, gracefully waiting till their change come.

Since writing the above I have obtained a verbatim copy of the will of Jonathan Johnson. I will not re-write; but will give both as they are. The will shows the manner of the times, and the particular care that nothing be overlooked.

36. i. Mary^ Johnson, b. Sept. 9, 1661; d. at Marlborough, June 22, 1710; m. at Marlborough, Sept. 20, 1686, John Matthews (this name is spelled also Mathis, Mathes in the records), a physician. They resided in that part of Marlborough that was set off as Southborough. Five children were born to them in Marlborough. He m. (2) Dec. 3, 1713, Sarah Gardfield.

She had four children. He m. (2) about 1690, Hannah Rider, who bore him eight children. All of his children were born in Marlborough, where he resided. His lands were in what became Southborough and his family was assigned to No. 16, John Matthews' Garrison (this brother-in-law). I find nothing further of Hannah Rider. Mr. Johnson was slain by the Indians Oct. 12, 1708. They lived in Marlborough, where their nine children were born. During the Indian troubles, the family of Widow Mary Johnson was assigned to No. 6, Isaac Howe's Garrison. The children were:

56. 1. Timothy^ Johnson, b. May 18, 1700; m. 1713, Ruth Mathews.

63. 8. Joseph^ Johnson (twin), born March 2, 1707; m. 1730, Hannah Bruce of Mendon. This is the Joseph Johnson who is mentioned in the will of his grandfather and given a lot of land.

64. 9. Hannah^ Johnson (twin), born March 2, 1707.

4. MOSES NEWTON^ (Richard^), son of Richard and Anne (Loker) Newton from England, and of Sudbury, Mass., was born at Sudbury, October 29, 1645, or March 26, 1646. Both dates are given in the records, and as that there could not have been two children born at those dates, I have supposed the first date was the birth and the second the date of baptism. He died at Southborough, May 23, 1736. He married at Marlborough October 27, 1668, Joanna Larkin, daughter of Edward and Joanna (——)— Larkin^ of Charlestown, Mass., and sister of

* See note to John Newton^ for Thomas Larkin, son of Edward.

† William Kerley was early in the Colony and a man of prominence. Lands were assigned to him on Pever's Island, Nantucket, in 1642, and in Marlborough in 1657. He was for several years a Selectman; was appointed by the General Court to lay out a tract of land between Concord, Lancaster and Groton. He died in 1684. His will mentions his wife, Anna, dau. of Thomas King his brother Henry, to whom he gives his sword, belt and other arms and military books; his brother-in-law, Nathaniel Joslin, and his father-in-law, Thomas King.

§ Larkin. See note to John Newton^.
his brother John's wife. The date of her birth is not given; but it would be about 1645 or 1646, as she is placed in the order of her father's children. She was the mother of all of Moses Newton's children. She died at Marlborough, December 25, 1713. "Wife of Moses Sr."

He married (2) at Marlborough, April 14, 1714, Sarah Joslin, whom I suppose to be daughter of Nathaniel and Sarah (King) Joslin\(^\text{d}\) of Lancaster, and after the destruction of that town of Marlborough, whose will, dated 1694, mentions several daughters besides daughter Sarah, and sons Nathaniel and Peter. Peter's family was killed by the Indians, 1692. Nathaniel (the son) lived in Marlborough, and requests an administrator for his sister, Sarah Newton's estate, as below. She was probably born at Lancaster, and the town record of it was destroyed. Born about 1660.

To us who are not familiar with such documents, having no further need of them, the contract of marriage given below, of Moses Newton and Sarah Joslin, is interesting. Interesting, also, for its many signatures. Here Moses Newton signs with his mark. On the inventory of James Taylor's estate he signs his own name; as also here do his brother, Joseph Newton, Sr., and Nathaniel Joslin. Sarah Joslin seems to have had enough of "whether money movables Lands or whatsoever:" to require that the court appoint an administrator of her estate; and at the request of her brother, Nathaniel Joslin, Isaac Temple of Marlborough was so appointed. He calls him, "my Brother Isaac Temple." Isaac Temple and Martha Joslin, married 1699, in Marlborough, may be the ones, and probably were.

Sarah, "wife of Moses Newton, Sr.," died at Marlborough, November 4, 1723, aged 63. The following March 9, 1724, her brother asked to have an administrator appointed, and on June 1, 1724, Isaac Temple was appointed and gave bond in the sum of $100.

In regard to the present condition of these old legal papers, the copyst states of the marriage contract: "This was too faint for me to trace, and has been through the emery process, as it is all to pieces." Of the second paper—the request for administrator: "This was a small slip of paper and has been emery processed." Of the fourth paper—appointment of administrator: "This is a large sheet of good rag paper, and written in large hand on the upper half of the sheet." Number three paper is the bond of usual wording, the body of it omitted here. [See the Bond in administration of Edward Newton's estate.]

There was no inventory or other papers.

Moses Newton received his portion of his father's estate during the father's lifetime. It was probably part of the thirty acres granted to Richard Newton for a house-lot, and was what in the will is described as "bounded, Eastward with the land of my son Moses" of the land given to son John. The records also mention "lands granted to Moses Newton," and again, "Some plats of Land excepted Granted to Moses Newton sent a Liberty to make use of the stream of Stony Brook And the use of the Land about where his Iron works are."

I was glad to find this about the "Ironworks." Very many of the Newtons of the Richard branch have been blacksmiths, gunsmiths, etc., workers in iron. The genius for it seems something inherent. They called them "Smiths" in those days, and the ability to be a "Smith" was counted as an asset to the town one lived in.

What these Ironworks of Moses Newton, Sr., were I do not know. It was probably a smelter, or a blomary, or a foundry; something more than a blacksmith's shop. They did things in a small way in those days, but got the results they desired. What leads me to think the ironworks at Southborough was of the kind above mentioned is that it is said by the historian of Sudbury that within the present [1800] century, iron ore dug in the town was laden on boats at Old Town Bridge and taken down Sudbury river to Chelmsford.

Moses Newton, Sr., was of those who bought lands in the Indian Plantation and got illegal deeds. What his venture was in acres does not yet appear.

Some of this—34 acres of it, he sold in 1700, to Daniel Rice [see below]. In 1688, taxes under Governor Andros, Moses Newton, persons and estate, £00-06-04.

In the controversy over the settlement of Rev. Mr. Emerson, Moses Newton and his sons David and Edward were opposed to it. He became Freeman April 18, 1690. This of course carried church membership with it. In one mention of him which I have seen he was styled "Deacon Moses Newton." I do not know about that. In the Indian wars and troubles 1700-1713, Moses Newton, Sr., his son Moses, Jr., and John Newton with their families were assigned to Isaac Howe's Garrison, No. 6, which was on the road to Southborough, near the now Newton railroad station.

In the settlement of the "Garrison of the West Regiment of Middlesex, March 1692," there were stationed in Marlborough 113 men. Of these, twelve men were appointed to a group of Moses Newton and five other families.

Moses Newton and his wife, Joanna, were members of the church at Marlborough. They had their son Edward baptized in the First Church in Charleston, that being the church of her parents. The record there is: Baptized, 3-4-1676, "y son of Moses Newton & Joanna his wife, of ye ch of Xt in Marlborough." In regard to this wife Joanna, I desire to call attention to the fact that she was permitted to put her "mark and seal" to at least one of the deeds by which her husband conveyed his real estate. It was not then customary, I am told, nor needful, that the wife sign.

In King Philip's War, Marlborough, being a frontier town, was severely checked in its growth by the invasion of the savages. Though there were soldiers stationed there (some in the home of Moses Newton were billeted), yet so stealthy was the approach of the Indians, that the troops afforded little protection. After a while they were withdrawn. Within four days after the withdrawal of the troops the Indians again appeared. The following I quote from Mr. Packard's account of the town, as given in Barber's Historical Collection. The story is told in many other books; but in whatever phraseology the story runs Moses Newton is given credit for being the hero of the day. It is stated, that "on a Sabbath, when Mr. Brimstead was in sermon, March 20, 1676, the worshipping assembly was suddenly dispersed by an outcry 'Indians at the door.' The confusion of the moment was instantly increased by a fire from the enemy; but the God whom they were worshipping shielded their lives and limbs, excepting the arm of one, Moses Newton, who was carrying an elderly and infirm woman to a place of safety. In a few minutes they were sheltered in their fort with the mutual feelings peculiar to such a scene. Their meeting house, and many dwelling-houses, left without protection, were burnt. Fruit trees pilled and hacked and other valuable effects rendered useless, perpetuated the barbarity of the savages many years after the inhabitants returned . . . many left their farms until the scent of war was farther removed." Hudson, in his history of Marlborough, states that Moses Newton "received a ball in his elbow, from the effects of which he never fully recovered."

There are many deeds on record conveying lands to and from Moses Newton, Sr. Some "lots and parcels" he received from his father, some by grants from the proprietors of Marlborough and the Indian Purchase, and some by purchase from the other proprietors. I have taken from the records only a few of these deeds—those that he gave to his sons—making a specialty of them, as being somewhat historical of himself and of them. I give an abstract of them here, all in one place, where they can be the more easily consulted. He began to settle some of his lands on his sons in 1702, and continued to one after another the gifts until all had had a portion. In 1713 he made over his homestall (containing over 140 acres) to his two sons, Jacob and Ebenezer, who were then unmarried and living with him. In 1722 Ebenezer married a niece of his mother (who bore the same name) and in 1724, Moses, Jacob and Ebenezer made other deeds, dividing the property their father had given them jointly. Moses Newton was part owner of other lands in Marlborough, which were sold. Abstracts of two such deeds are here given.

First and last Moses Newton, Sr., was quite a large landholder for those times. Just the extent of his holdings is unknown to me. There was certainly the more than 250 acres he gave to five of his sons; and the more than 140 acres of homestead settled on the sons Jacob and Ebenezer; with the interest in "A certain lot of land, Quonsiganio Farm," acreage not given, and the part interest in the tract of more than 360 acres conveyed in 1725. As for the other deeds, they may be consulted.

* From the wording of the deed it is doubtful if this item is included in or in addition to the previous item.
Whether or not Moses Newton, Sr., was more than an ordinary sort of a man, I have no data at hand. That he was chivalrous, and ready to come forward in defense of his own rights and the rights of the community, is shown in his active defense against the Indians and his firm stand for political freedom. That he was a good citizen and had the confidence of his fellow townsmen is shown in the fact that he was elected selectman of the new town of Southborough, at its first meeting in 1727. That he had and transmitted many of the traits of character that are noticeable in his descendants now living, there can be no doubt,—we see and recognize them frequently. It is written that the evil men do shall descend to the third and fourth generation; but that their good deeds affect their posterity for a thousand years.

The year after Mr. Newton had given his homestead to his two sons, with the life interest for himself and his wife, his daughter Mercy died, leaving her new-born babe to her father to bring up, and she was with them during the remainder of his life. His wife died in 1723. In 1724 he made his will—twelve years before his death, and as many of widowhood. It is pleasant to think he had the little granddaughter, Mercy Leonard, to cheer and comfort during those last years.

CHILDREN.

67. iii. Moses², Jr., b. Feb. 28, 1639; m. Sarah Howe.

68. iv. David², b. March 12, 1672; m. Hannah Leonardson.

69. iii. Hannah², b. Dec. 20, 1673; d. at Marlborough, "wife of John Bellows, Dec. 11, 1719, aged 46." Where and when she married John Bellows the records do not show, but probably the time was about 1694. He was son of John and Mary (Wood) Bellows of Concord and Marlborough, and born in the latter town May 13, 1673. He married (1) Aug. 30, 1723, Sarah Johnson, by whom he had two children. The family lived in Marlborough, where all of the children were born. In the time of the Indian troubles, 1711, this family was assigned to the garrisons house of John Newton. The will of Moses Newton, Sr., mention "my Son in Law John Bellows," in 1721, and also, in another "Heen," gives to the "Children of my Daughters Hannah Bellows and Mercy Leonard Deed." Thus there is no question about this marriage. [Some have thought she married William Orvett, Jr.] Her ten children were:

68. 1. Hannah³ Bellows, b. May 12, 1635; "died young."

69. 2. Benjamin³ Bellows, b. Dec. 5, 1636; m. 1725, Edward Larkin of Charlestown.

70. 3. John³ Bellows, b. Sept. 26, 1638; m. 1714, Mary Wheeler of Concord; m. (2) Elizabeth Allen.

71. 4. Elna Cook³ Bellows, b. Feb. 12, 1701; m. 1727, Samuel Eddy of Oxford.

72. 5. Mary³ Bellows, b. Nov. 12, 1702; m. 1725, Richard Gleason of Oxford.

73. 6. Mercy³ Bellows, b. March 28, 1705; m. 1725, John Eddy.

74. 7. Hannah³ Bellows, b. July 25, 1708; m. 1725, Buhk.

75. 8. Joseph³ Bellows, b. April 24, 1711; m. 17—. Abigail Ward.

76. 9. Moses³ Bellows, b. June 9, 1713; m. 1740, Abigail Liscoom.

77. 10. Martha³ Bellows, b. May 31, 1715; m. 1744, Abraham Pike. John Bellows' children by 3d wife were: Sarah, b. Aug. 15, 1724, and Hannah, b. March 26, 1726.

78. iv. Edward³, b. March 26, 1676; m. Mary Leonardson.

80. vi. Jacob³, b. Jan. 24, 1681; d. at Southborough, August 31, 1736—three months after the death of his father. He probably never married. There is no record of his marriage. He would have been 55 years old. What became of his estate does not appear. There is no probate record of the settlement of it. He was made joint guardian with his father of Mercy Leonard, his sister's daughter. She had married in 1722—thus the guardianship ended before the death of his father. See the deeds of gift and the father's will for further record of him.

81. vii. James³, b. Jan. 5, 1683; m. (1) Mary Joslin; m. (2) Rachel Greeley.
CHILDRN OF RICHARD NEWTON 41

82. Mercy, born Feb. 16, 1685; died at the birth of her daughter, Mercy, which occurred at Marlborough Dec. 1, 1714. She married at Marlborough May 31, 1708, Moses Leonard, son of John and Sarah (Chandler) Leonard, of Bridgewater, Mass., probably born there, about 1677, and died at Barre, Mass., "at Moses Leonard," Dec. 10, 1775, "aged about 98." G. S. They lived in Marlborough, where their three children were born. He married (2), possibly at Marlborough, Aug. 8, 1716, Mrs. Hannah (Woods) Withersbee, who bore him two children, and died Sept. 7, 1751, Sarah Hall, "widow of Thomas Hall late of Dudley." She was living in 1770. While in Marlborough Moses Leonard lived in that part which became Southborough. In the Indian troubles his family was assigned to No. 25, Jonathan Newton's Garrison—brother of Mercy. After the death of Mercy, his wife, Moses Leonard bought land in Worcester and removed there in 1717, where he became prominent in the affairs of the town, and Ensign of militia. He was a person of energy and thrift, as the number of conveyances by him would indicate. In these conveyances he is styled farmer, yeoman, innholder, Gentleman. He bought in, and removed to, in succession, Brookfield, Hardwick, Leicester, Rutland (and its several "Districts") and last Barre, where he died. Their children were:

S3. 1. Moses Leonard, Jr., b. Dec. 1, 1706; m. (1) Harriet Ieeulah ————, who died 1780; m. (2) 1782, Mrs. Hannah (Gasquet) Rice; 10 children. He died 1788; res. Worcester, Barre and Warwick: farmer, "cordwainer"; active citizen.

S4. 2. Ezra Leonard, b. Sept. 19, 1711; m. 1737, Olive Smith, dau. of Benjamin of Roxbury and Hardwick. She died 1788, aged 87; 10 children. Res. Hardwick. He was a prominent citizen, and removed 1777, to So. Willbranum, where both he and his wife died. He died 1788, in his 87th year.

S5. 3. Mercy Leonard, b. Dec. 1, 1714; d. June 5, 1755, at Bennington, Vt. We seem to be more interested in this child of Mercy (Newton) Leonard, because the mother died at her birth and gave the child to Moses Newton, who brought her up, and had her with him until she married—a child, as it were, of his old age. She gives to her in his will about the same portion that it was then usual to give to a daughter when she marries, and provides that she shall be maintained from his substance, until she does marry. But he lived to see her settled in life. She married May 29, 1762, Samuel Robinson, Jr., son of Samuel and Sarah (Manning) Robinson of Can-

* Leonard, sometimes written Leonardson, Lennerdon and Lenner, is always written by the family Leonard. Solomon Leonard (prob. the son of Samuel) seems to have emigrated first from England to Leydon, Holland, with his father, and later to New England. He was in Duxbury before 1657. The bond given by his son to settle his father's estate was dated Oct. 27, 1672. He was an original proprietor of Bridgewater, Mass., and settled there. His wife was Mary ————, who survived him. The names, without birth dates, of his children, are all that can be found, namely: Solomon, b. abt. 1643, m. (1) Abigail Wood, m. (2) Deborah; John, b. abt. 1645, m. Sarah Chandler; Jacob, b. abt. 1647, m. (1) Phebe Chandler, m. (2) Sarah King; Josiah, b. abt. 1650, d. Delivered———; Samuel, b. after 1650, m. Mary ————; Mary, b. after 1650, m. 1673, John Pollard.

John Leonard (son Solomon), res. all his life in Bridgewater, Mass., m. about 1670, Sarah, dau. of Hosea Chandler, one of "the three sisters" who received a grant of 50 acres each in Talbot, 1660. He died 1696, leaving a widow, five sons and one daughter, who was the only minor. The children were: John, held his share in the homestead during life of his mother, and in 1710 conveyed it to his brother Moses; Enoch, m. Elizabeth Hooper; Moses, m. Mercy Newton; Jonas, m. (1) Maryam Washburn; m. (2) Abigail Washburn; Joseph, m. Hannah Jennings; Sarah, m. Thomas Washburn.

bridge, where he was born 1707. He went to England as agent for the New Hampshire grants in 1739 and died of smallpox in London, Eng., 1755. By this marriage she became the "mother of the six illustrious Robinson brothers of Bennington, Vt." She was herself "a remarkably intelligent and energetic woman"—one who could not fail to receive favorable comment. In these days she would have been a leader among women. After marriage they moved to Hardwick, where her oldest child was born and died. About 1739, the family moved to Hardwick, where for a quarter of a century Samuel Robinson, Jr., was one of the most prominent citizens: Selectman 10 years; Assessor 3 years; Town Clerk 4 years; Dea. of the church 1746, resigned and became Dea. of a new organization, the "Separate Church": Capt. in French war 1756 to 1759. He organized a company of families that removed from Hardwick to settle the town of Bennington, Vt., in 1761. In Bennington he was the acknowledged leader of the band of pioneers. He "seemed born to command." With parents of this character, it is not surprising that their children should possess qualities of mind that bring men and women to the front. Her children, born in Hardwick, were:

5. Deacon Joseph Newton² (Richard)², son of Richard and Anne (Loker) Newton from England, and of Sudbury, Mass., was probably born there some time between 1647 and 1652. He died at Marlborough, Mass., September 24, 1727. He married Katherine Woods, who died at Marlborough, January 26, 1716-17. She had four children. I suppose Elizabeth Woods, who married Josiah Newton³ (son of Moses²), was related to this wife of Deacon Joseph Newton. That she was brought up in his family is not impossible; that he gave her a marriage portion and remembered her in his will is sure. The parentage of either is unknown to me.

He married (2) at Marlborough, August 1, 1719, Ruth Stone. I suppose her to be daughter of John1 (Samuel2 Gregory3) and Rachel (Shepard of Concord) Stone of Cambridge, born there August 27, 1700. She was living September 2, 1727, and signed with the other heirs for the probating of her husband's will.

Joseph Newton, Sr., was very young when his father moved from Sudbury to reside in Marlborough. His father had five sons, all of whom may have been born before he left Sudbury. There would need to have been provided habitation before the family could remove into a wilderness. It is possible that the son Joseph was left behind with his aunt, Mrs. Bridget (Loker) Davis, when the family of his father went to their new home, and that later it was arranged that he should stay with her a specified term of years. Mrs. Davis having only the one child, could very well accommodate and make use of a boy in the family. When his uncle, Robert Davis, died, 1655, Joseph Newton could have been only a small child. [See under Richard Newton, for will of Robert Davis.]

As the second generation in Marlborough advanced in years and prepared to settle in life, the fathers gave them portions, and the town, grants of land. Thus we find, on the records, mention of lands granted to Joseph Newton and his father mentions in his will that Joseph, Sr., had received his portion and was to have but two shillings additional "and no more." But Richard Newton makes his son, Joseph, Sr., to be executor of his will.

On the records is a petition of Joseph Newton and Thomas Barrett, granted, for exchange of land with John Perry. Joseph Newton was one of those present at the meeting, October 1, 1675, to adopt measures for defense against the Indians, and to him was assigned some of the town's ammunition.

In 1684 Joseph Newton, Sr., was one who bought in, and received a deed in the Indian Plantation. Later his son was a proprietor of lands there—perhaps the same lands. July 21, 1685, Joseph Newton, Sr., of Marlborough and his brother-in-law, Jonathan Johnson, Sr., were made freemen. In the case of Joseph Newton this was certified to March 26, 1691.

The taxes under Governor Andros show Joseph Newton, Sr.'s, rate to have been for "persons and estate," £600 0s. 0d.

March 18, 1691-2, soldiers of the colony, 113 men, were sent for the protection of the town. Families were grouped. Seven families were grouped and eleven men quartered there. The families of Joseph Newton, Sr., his son Joseph, Jr., his two brothers-in-law, Jonathan Johnson, Sr., and James Taylor, Sr., his brother, Daniel, Sr., the Widow Fay and John Bellows were in this group.

In the controversy over the settlement of Rev. John Emerson as pastor of the church at Marlborough, Joseph Newton, Sr., was oppos'd, while his son Joseph, Jr., and grandson Joseph, 3d, were for it. [I think this last Joseph is a repetition of the name of Joseph2, Jr., as the third Joseph was born in 1699.] During the Indian troubles that ended 1713, Deacon Joseph Newton was assigned to No. 5. Isaac Amsden's Garrison, "on the Southborough road, near the now Newton railway station."

As a member of the First Congregational Church of Marlborough, Joseph Newton, Sr., was elected Deacon June 1, 1710, and continued in that office till his death.

Deacon Joseph Newton made his will April 18, 1726, more than a year before his death. Being then "in Bodily health and of Sound and Perfect mind and memory," he signed his own name to it. Many of the old wills are signed by the testator's "mark"; because the will is made so short a time before the death.
occurs, or from his feebleness due to advanced age; even when he can write very well. It was not then considered necessary for a woman to know how to write. And even if she could do so, her modesty was so great that she would not sign her name lest she should be thought vain or egotistical. Thus Joseph Newton's wife and daughters signed with a mark.

By his will, Deacon Joseph Newton makes his son, Joseph, Jr., residuary legatee and sole executor. He calls himself, "yeoman." He gives his dwelling house, barns, mills, and all other lands he possesses to his grandson, Jezzaniah Newton, son of Joseph, Jr., on condition he fulfills the trust regarding his wife, Ruth—these conditions clearly specified and her needs provided for. Otherwise all that he gives Jezzaniah is to go to Joseph Newton, the executor.

Jezzaniah had married January 5, 1725,—about fifteen months before this will was made—Deliverence Newton, daughter of John, Jr., and from the reading of the will, one would infer the young people were living in the house with Deacon Joseph Newton and his wife. Not necessarily as one family, but as occupying the same building as two families. They evidently found the arrangement congenial and desired to make it permanent. The mills mentioned might be cider mills or grist mills. He divides his moneys and household stuff between his daughters, and remembers the granddaughters who have at some time lived with them and served them, probably in their school days and teens, and the books mentioned in each case were mostly school-books: the same applying to Elizabeth Newton, wife of Josiah (son of Moses, Sr.).

Notice there is no mention of cattle, or stock of any kind, in the will. These had probably already been disposed of to Jezzaniah or others, by sale or gift.

There is no inventory with the will. I like this will. I think it was a shrewd proviso that the daughter Hannah divide the household stuff into equal parts, and then daughter Tabitha have first choice of them.

Deacon Joseph Newton was not so very old when he died—perhaps 74 would cover his years. We do not know.

Joseph Newton's will is interesting for the number of autographs. It was well written and has been well preserved. The papers in the Probate Court are the will, the petition to the court for probate, and the allowing of the will. There is no inventory of the estate on file, as I understand.

Note that in the following abstract of deed from "Joseph, Senor" to his brother Daniel, as also the deed of gift from Richard Newton (which sec) to his son Joseph, he is called "weaver."

J.R. J.P. 60 pi for probate.

In connection with the following deed, given by the then living children of Dea. Joseph Newton to "Benjamin Woods, trader," what apparently was the homestead of "our late teacher, James Woods of Marlborough." I would suggest that this James Woods,—"teacher" or "minister" in those days—may have been their grandfather, father of their mother Katherine Woods. (Will some one look into the matter?) Perhaps he was their uncle.

100. i. Hannah, b. Sept. 13, 1671; d. at Marlborough, April 5, 1748; m. Simon Maynard, son of John, Sr., and Mary (Gates) Maynard of Sudbury and Marlborough, born at Marlborough, Jan. or June 15, 1666, died there Jan. 19, 1747-8. They lived in Marlborough, where they had ten children. Hannah is mentioned in her father's will with special gifts and given one-half his personal estate. Children were:

2. Simon Jr. Maynard, Jr., b. March 4, 1685-6; is called "Sergeant"; settled in Shrewsbury; five children; m. 1718, Sarah Churchill.

3. Elizabeth Maynard, b. Sept 26, 1688; d. widow in Southborough, March 16, 1666; m. there Aug. 7, 1727; Robert Horn, who died in Southborough, Sept. 27, 1740. This is the Elizabeth Horn mentioned in the will of her grandfather, Dea. Joseph Newton, where she is given "one pewter platter only," and some books. Child:

1. Robert Horn Jr., b. Aug. 6, 1729, in Marlborough; m. there, Nov. 1, 1749, Thankful Moore, and had four children in Marlborough; viz:

4. Catherine Horn, b. Jan. 24, 1751; m. 1777, Jedediah Parker.

5. Tabitha Maynard, b. Feb. 2, 1750-1; died April 17, 1724.

6. Ephraim Maynard, b. Nov. 17, 1755; m. 1790, Nathaniel Falkner.

101. 3. Robert Maynard, b. Aug. 6, 1729, in Marlborough; m. there, Nov. 1, 1749, Thankful Moore, and had four children in Marlborough; viz:

5. Abigail Maynard, b. Oct. 7, 1760; m. (1) Sarah Brown; m. (2), Jan. 3, 1774, Mary Balcom, who was, I suppose, his cousin.

102. 4. Catherine Maynard, bap. July 25, 1714; d. Oct. 1, 1729, at Marlborough. This is the granddaughter Dea. Joseph Newton mentions in his will and gives "one Great pewter plate."

103. iii. Joseph, Jr., b. May 21, 1673; m. Abigail ..........

104. iii. Mary, b. Dec. 31, 1674; probably died young, though there is no record of her death. Her father does not mention her in his will and she does not sign the deed with the other heirs in 1719. She is married by the historian of Marlborough to David Brigham (an error), who married Mary, the widow of Edward Newton, as shown by the settlement of his Estate; which see under his heading. She was Mary (Leonard).

105. iv. Tabitha, b. Oct. 18, 1681; d. between 1727 and 1733; m. June 28, 1711, at Marlborough, Joseph Balcom, son of Henry and Elizabeth (Haynes) Balcom, of Charlestown, Mass., born about 1672, died at Sudbury, Sept. 17, 1715, a. 73. They resided in Sudbury, where their six children were born, viz:

John Maynard, called Sr. (of John 1), b. in England about 1630; came to Sudbury with his father in 1638, then aged 8 years. He died in Marlborough Dec. 22, 1711; m. in Sudbury April 5, 1658, Mary Gates (dau. of Stephen of Hingham, 1638), born ——. They had 9 children. I suppose the following to be children of this "John, Sr. and Mary": John Jr. (Ensign), b. Jan. 7, 1661, m. Lydia Ward; Elizabeth, 1661, m. Capt. Nathan Brigham; Simon, b. June 15, 1666, m. Hannah Newton; Zachary, 1668; David, 1669; Zachariah, 1672; Sarah, 1680; Lydia, 1682; Joseph, 1685.

John Maynard, from England, was in Sudbury in 1638, where he shared in the division of the Sudbury Meadows in 1639; was one of the petitioners for Marlborough, and moved there soon after 1637; Freeman 1644; m. in Sudbury June 10, 1640, as second wife, Mary AXBELL, by whom he had five children in Sudbury. Children of John: b. in England about 1639; Zachary, b. 1647, d. 1723-4; Mary and Elizabeth, May 26, 1649; Lydia, 1653. The father d. Dec. 16, 1672. See notes to Dea. Josiah Newton (Moses) and to Hezekiah Newton. See Marlborough and Southborough records for further notice.

Henry BALCOM, Blacksmith, admitted inhabitant of Charlestown 1665; d. 1685; inventory 1685, 2554; m. (1) ——; m. (2) 1666, Elizabeth HAYNES, dau. of Dea. Haynes of Sudbury. Children: Sarah, prob. by first wife, d. 1655; Hannah, b. 1658, d. soon; John, b. 1660; Elizabeth, 1672, m. Gershom Rice; Joseph, b. 17 (10) 1674, was of Sudbury in 1769, m. (1) Tabitha Newton, m. (2) Deborah Boice, Feb. 21, 1753. See note to Dea. Josiah Newton (Gideon).
CHILDREN OF RICHARD NEWTON 49

124. 6. Micah Balcom, b. March 4, 1723-4; m. (4 supr.), 1747, Thankful Smith.

6. ELIZABETH NEWTON (Richard), daughter of Richard and Anne (Loker) Newton, from England to Sudbury, Mass., was born, place not recorded, about 1650, more or less. She died at Marshfield, Mass., the "wid. of Jacob Dingley," and was buried at Marshfield, March 30, 1718. In 1683, her father mentions her in his will in this wise: "unto each of my two daughters, namely Elizabeth Dingley, scent>. . . . . I bequeath Two Shillings, and no more, because I have given a portion to each already, these shillings shall be paid. . . . within Two months after my decease." At this date she had been a widow for two years, and she continued in that condition the remainder of her life. She married at (I suppose Marlboro'), about 1668 or 1669, Jacob Dingley, Sr., son of John and Sarah (Chillingworth, (?) Dingley, of Sandwich and Marshfield, Mass., who was born —, 1642, and died at Marshfield, August 18, 1691. Where they resided during their married life and where their children were born, I have not obtained. Their children, as copied from the Maine Historical Register [Vol. 2, p. 120], together with what I have taken from the Marshfield records, are as follows. That four of the children should have been married at Marshfield, and the parents should have died there, would seem to indicate that town as the family home—between the years 1698 and 1727, at least. The children probably were born in one, or both, of those towns—Sandwich and Marshfield. I have tried to find the will of Jacob Dingley, but have not been successful.

THOMAS CHILLINGWORTH was probably the only male Chillingworth in New England in the seventeenth century. After a short residence in Lynn and Sandwich, Mass., he settled at Marshfield and was a Representative in 1648 and 1652. He was one of the men there able to bear arms in 1653. The administration on his estate was granted, March 1652-3, to his widow, Joanna. The inventory was taken by JOHN DINGLEY, Arthur Howland and John Russell, and was exhibited at Court June 7, 1653. Amount, £180. The will of Thomas Hampton of Sandwich, March 1657, gives to THOMAS CHILLINGWORTH, and to other names. His widow married (2) Thomas Dagget. She was buried at Marshfield September 4, 1681. Mr. Chillingworth had four daughters and no son: 1. Elizabeth, b. — — ; d. Sept. 28, 1665, unm. 2. Mehitable, b. — — ; d. May 2, 1681, Jn. James of Marshfield. 3. Mary, b. — — ; m. about 1663, Dea. John Foster of Marshfield. 4. Sarah, b. — — ; m. Samuel Sprague, "the last Secretary of Plymouth Colony." It is questioned whether she was the wife also of John Dingley, or whether another Sarah was. I do not know.

JOHN DINGLEY, born in England in 1638, is said to have been in Lynn, Mass., as early as 1637. The settlement of the town of Sandwich, Mass., was commenced by a number of families from "Saugus," the early name for Lynn, in 1637. The original grant was from the Old Colony of Plymouth the same year. There were fifty-six proprietors, who were given liberty to "claim the place to sit down on" and form a town, among whom is the name of John Dingley. August, 1643, in the list of all males at Sandwich, between the ages of 16-59 years, inclusive, able to bear arms, is the name of JOHN DINGLEY; as also his name in a Marshfield list the same year, forty-nine such men. The earliest list of freemen, taken about 1644—only eleven were of Marshfield—one was JOHN DINGLEY. June 7, 1653, JOHN DINGLEY with Arthur Howland and John Russell took the inventory of the estate of Thomas Chillingworth of Marshfield, Amount, £180. Also, inventory of the estate of William Haloway of Marshfield, taken (no date) by JOHN DINGLEY, Robert Carver and John Russell. Amount, 165, 150. JOHN DINGLEY, was buried at Marshfield, — — , 1668. The Maine Historical Register gives SARAH as the name of his wife. "Chillingworth," states one in Boston Transcript, newspaper. The children of JOHN DINGLEY, as here given are not in their order, and may not be all of them. I give them as I have found them in the above-mentioned authorities: 1. John Dingley, Jr., h. — — ; d. ("son of John"), buried at Marshfield, July 9, 1665. 2. Mary Dingley, b. — — ; m. at Marshfield Dec. 19, 1654, Lieut. Josiah Standish, and "lived and was buried at Duxborough July 1, 1665. This is the record of her marriage and death. The History of Bridgewater has that she married and died the same year. She is the daughter-in-law mentioned in the will of Captain Myles Standish, near whose grave and that of his daughter Lora he desired to be buried. Josiah Standish was second son of Captain Miles; lived awhile in East Bridgewater; moved to Duxbury about 1666, where he became a prominent citizen; and removed to Norwich, Conn. He married (2) Sarah Allen, and is mentioned in the will of her father, Samuel Allen of Brattleboro, as his sole heir. 3. Sarah Dingley, b. 1639; d. 1727; married at Marshfield, Nov. 4, 1658, William Ford, Jr., and had ten children. See below. 4. Jacob Dingley, Sr., b. 1642; d. at Marshfield, Aug. 18, 1691; married Elizabeth Newton, dau. of Richard as above. 5. Hannah Dingley, b. —; m. Josiah Keen.

The following is from the History of Marshfield, Mass. While not exactly in the Newton line the data is relative and may help some one: " Widow Ford" (widow of William Ford) came to New England in 1621, in the Fortune. She brought with her a son William Ford, b. 1601; d. 1676; m. Ann, who d. 1654. They had William, b. 1623; Richard P., ——; Rebecca, b. m. John Carver.

William Ford, Jr., b. 1635; d. 1721; m. Nov. 4, 1658, Sarah Dingley (dau. John), b. 1640, d. 1728. Their ten children were: John, b. 1650; Rebecca, b. 1652, m. Samuel Patten; Sarah, ——, m. James; Joseph, b. 1661; Mary, ——; m. John Whibley; Rebecca, b. ——, m. Porter; Joseph, ——, m. 1st Lois Stetson, m. 2nd Sarah Barque; Rebecca, b. ——; Experiment, ——; m. ——, d. y. Child, Anthony Snow.

Michael Ford (son of William) b. —; m. Dec. 12, 1667, Abigail Snow, who d. 1672; m. (2) 1683, Bethia Hatch. He had 19 children. By 1st w. Lydia, Hannah, William, Elizabeth, James, b. 1675, m. [Compiled by C. G. Hubbard, M.D.]

Elizabeth Dingley, dau. of Jabez Dingley of Marshfield, married June 8, 1601, Isaiah Bradford. They lived in Duxbury, where he died in 1689 in his 50th year. They had 10 children, of whom one was Newton Bradford, b. 1613, and died the same day. I do not know the relationship, but the names set one speculating. [See Bradford Family.]
Newton to his son John; which may have been some of her portion from her father.

James Taylor was one of those who bought in the Indian Plantation in 1684. His rate for taxes, under Governor Andros, was for person and estate, 04s. 02d. Inventory of his estate was £140, more or less. James Taylor always signs his name.

CHILDREN.

137. ii. James Taylor, Jr., b. April 22, 1674, at Marlborough; received 20 shillings

138. by will of his father; m. Elizabeth ———. They lived in Marlborough, 139. and had seven children born there; but their deaths are not on the record.

140. His name appears as one opposed to the settlement of Rev. Mr. Emerson,

141. and he had a grant of land. Children were:

143. 2. Otthaid Taylor, b. Oct. 19, 1688; m. 1725, in Marlborough, Mercy, Mary

144. Newton (179), m. (2) Dinah Woods.

145. 3. Sarah Taylor, b. Aug. 26, 1700; m. 1718, Benjamin Mills.

146. 4. Jnnty Taylor, b. May 5, 1701.

151. iv. Hannah Taylor, b. July 1, 1679; m. Abiel Lamb, Jr., of Framingham, in

152. 1699, and had four children born there. She is given one-third part of his

153. personal property by her father's will.

155. vi. Samuel Taylor, b. April 10, 1688; m. 1716, Hannah Grecy. They lived in

156. Marlborough, it would seem in the house of his father, who, after reserving a

157. room in his dwelling house for the wife, Sarah, gives all real estate and

158. one-third of personal, with the care of said wife, to this son Samuel.

159. Four children:

161. 2. Mary Taylor, b. Nov. 12, 1718.

162. 3. Hannah Taylor, b. March 22, 1721-2.

163. 4. Isaiah Taylor, b. March 17, 1724-5.

9. DANIEL NEWTON^ RE (Richard^), son of Richard and Anne (Loker)

164. Newton from England to Sudbury and later of Marlborough, Mass., was born

165. at Sudbury, December 21, 1655, and died at Southborough, Mass., November

166. 29, 1739.

167. He married at Marlborough, December 30, 1679, Susanna Morse, daughter of 168. Joseph and Susanna (Shattuck) Morse® of Groton and Watertown, Mass. She

169. was born at Groton, January 11, 1662-3, and died at Southborough, May 13,

170. 1729. She was his only wife, and the mother of eleven children.

171. Daniel Newton, Sr., lived in Marlborough, Mass. All of his children were

172. born there.

173. In the deeds given below he calls himself "husbandman" and "yeoman,"

174. which are words then used for farmer. In one deed he mentions "my interest

175. in the Grist Mill at Stony Brook."

176. In all these deeds he signs with his "mark & seal."

177. Daniel Newton, Sr., as a very young child, removed with his parents from

178. Sudbury to Marlborough, and continued to reside in the same place the rest of

179. his life, although the name of his part of the town became Southborough.

180. His father gave him his portion; he married and settled, and his children were

181. all born, except one, during the lifetime of Richard Newton, who, in his will,

182. adds no more to said portion except the legally required two shillings.

* For ancestry of Joseph Morse, see note to John Newton®

I do not find that he received from the town grants of land, more than the mention of "Land laid out to Daniel Newton for allowance for an Highway." I suppose they had taken some of his land for a road, and gave some other in lieu of it. However, he did have grants from the township, as the annexed papers show.

In the controversy over the settlement of Rev. John Emerson, 1702, he voted as opposed to it.

Taxes under Andros, 1688, his rate was for "person and estate" £00-03-06.

In the assignment of the families to their respective forts in the Indian troubles, ending 1713, his name does not appear, while three of his son's families are assigned to John Newton's Garrison. Perhaps one of them lived in the same house with him.

December 16, 1698, he bought of his brother Joseph ten acres of land.

February 18, 1706, he gave to his son Daniel, Jr., ten acres of the land that had come to him from his father and grandfather.

December 9, 1714, he gave to his son Benjamin, "upland, meadowland and swamp-land."

February 26, 1721-2, he joins with John Newton, his nephew, in giving twenty acres to his son Abraham, who had married Rachel, daughter of John Newton.

October 17, 1722, he signed two deeds, transferring to his sons Samuel Newton and Nathaniel Newton all of his personal estate for a sum of money, and all of his real estate for money and bonds. In this last deed he mentions "All grants from the township of Marlborough to me."

Thus it will be seen why there is no will of Daniel Newton, Sr., on record. Having disposed of his estate in 1722, he lived seventeen years afterward—long enough to use up the money received in exchange. And probably died in the family of either his son Samuel or Nathaniel.

He was born at Marlborough, Oct. 19, 1698, died ———. He married (2d) in Marlborough, March 24, 1736, Dinah Woods, I suppose dau. of Isaac and Mary (Fairbanks) Woods of Marlborough, born there Oct. 31, 1708. He had two children by each wife, born in Southborough. Children of Mercy were:

181.  2. Otho Has Taylor, Jr., b. Dec. 3, 1732; m. 1777, Mary Grays (1715).

Children of 2d wife were: Mercy Taylor, b. April 3, 1737; Abraham Taylor, b. Jan. 3, 1738.

10. ISAAC NEWTON (Richard), son of Richard and Anne (Loker) Newton from England and of Sudbury, Mass., was probably born either at Sudbury or Marlborough between the years 1650 and 1690. He died at Marlborough, Mass., Aug. 12, 1685.

He married Rebecca ———, who became his widow in August, and the birth of her child occurred four months afterward, December, 1685. It is supposed, and with reason for it, that the following record of marriage with her late husband's nephew is her second matrimonial venture, that is: Samuel Newton (son of John) and Rebecca Newton, both of Marlborough, were married at Concord, September 8, 1688, by Mr. Edward Bulkely, minister of Concord. At that date there was no other adult Rebecca Newton in Marlborough. By this marriage, two children were born, who seem to have been brought up by their grandfather, John Newton, Sr., (as they surely were provided for by his will), and their father and mother probably were given a legal separation. [See documents under Samuel Newton.]

Rebecca Newton married again, before 1698, Philip Pratt of Framingham, by whom she had two sons, namely: Jeremiah Pratt, born December 12, 1698, and Philip Pratt, Jr., born September 10, 1701, both born at Framingham.

Mrs. Rebecca Pratt probably was personal guardian of her daughter, Rebecca Newton, during her childhood. Jonathan Johnson, Jr., nephew of Isaac Newton, was made her legal guardian March 22, 1704, and rendered account of his guardianship to the Court and to her November 26, 1706, Rebecca Newton being present.

The quit claim of Rebecca Pratt and Philip Pratt to her daughter explains itself. Rebecca Pratt died at Framingham September 3, 1728. Philip Pratt died there February 12, 1739.

I cannot find that Isaac Newton received grants of land from the town at any time. This leads me to think he was much younger than his brothers. What lands he had seem to have come to him by gift and purchase. His father gave him seven acres, as mentioned below; which seven acres with three acres more acquired later is probably the land Richard Newton mentions in his will as the westward boundary of the land he wills to his son John; with this ten acres would go the "10 acre right in Marlborough," mentioned in Jonathan Johnson, Jr.'s account. In the same account "The Indian Lott 30 acres," would represent the share he obtained through the illegal deed from the Indians, in 1684, of their plantation. See page 8.

Thus the real estate that he desired to have go to "his child if it lived," would be: 10 acres at home with house and barns; 10 acres south of Stony brook; 30 acres Indian lot = 50 acres, and the 10 acre right in Marlborough.

That Isaac Newton died at Marlborough is evident from the fact that his nuncupative will is attested by his wife and by his sister. He probably died in his own home, although the records do not show it.

His posthumous daughter was born at Concord. The record there clearly gives her parents, "daughter of Isaac Newton (deceased)." From this birth in Concord, and the marriage above occurring there, I have thought Concord may have been the native town of Isaac Newton's wife. We lack her maiden name, therefore cannot trace.

She received from him his house and land by will, her cousin, Jonathan Johnson, Jr., appointed her guardian. THIRD GENERATION AND CHILDREN

11. JOHN NEWTON, Jr. (John, Richard), son of John and Elizabeth (Larkin) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there, June 5, 1667, and died in Southborough, Mass., January 27, 1754, when he in turn is called, "Sen."

He married in Marlborough, June 19, 1690 [T. R.], Hannah Morse [Mors.] daughter of Joseph and Susanna (Shattuck) Morse of Watertown and Groton, Mass., born in Groton, April 7, 1674, died in Marlborough, September 10, 1722.

John Newton, Jr., lived in Marlborough. His children were born there. In the Indian troubles following King Philip's War, his house was made one of the twenty-six "garrisons," No. 24; and to it were assigned the families of Enzoer Bellows, James Eager, James Newton, Benjamin Newton, Ephraim John Woods and Abraham Newton. The inference is that these families lived nearest to his garrison-house and could the more quickly gain refuge. No. 24 and No. 25 garrisons were in what is now Southborough.

John Newton, Jr., with his father, was opposed to the settlement of Rev. John Emerson in the Church at Marlborough, 1702.

John Newton, Jr., mentioned in his father's will, is given: "Item. I will to my son John Newton all my Rights to undivided lands in that tract of land in the Township of Marlboro, called without Cow-Conam land, to him & his forever." John, Jr., gives bond with Gershom Newton, the legatee and executor of the will, each £100; and John, Jr., signs with his mark. See will of John Newton, Sr., and the abstracts of deeds by which he conveys to this son about 125 acres, more or less. It was the custom in those times to give the eldest son a double portion in his father's estate, and it would appear that John, Jr., was not an exception to the rule.

In the following deed the three Newtons bearing the name of John, who were adults of this branch, are all mentioned. And the one we are considering calls himself not John, Jr., as we now naturally would, but names his father John "sen.," himself John "Secundus" (2d), and his son John "Jun.,".

His father having died in 1723, at the age of 52, it was probably John Newton "Secundus" who was one of the petitioners for the incorporation of Southborough—which became a town in 1727.

We must not confuse the John Newton "out of Boston," with those of this branch.

It is stated that Simon Rice resided and died in Westborough, Mass. It must have been that part of Marlborough that became Westborough; for the record of his death and of his family occur in Marlborough. Aug. 14, 1753, his widow, Grace, administered his estate. Inventory, 1785, 2. 5. They had four children in Marlborough. † Richard Barnes, aged about 10, came to this country with his mother, and grandmother, Agnes Bent, both of whom died on the passage. His mother, who was also Agnes Bent, had married for her second husband, Thomas Blanchard, who came with them from Penmon, Eng., to Boston, N. E. In 1635, in the ship Jonathan. He, Richard Barnes, went to reside with his uncle John Bent in Sudbury, with whom he removed to Marlborough in 1657. In the County Court held at Cambridge in 1652, he is plaintiff against Thomas Blanchard, for withholding the money (1200) given him by his mother, while she was a widow, and gained his suit. He and his sister, Elizabeth, had bequests from their grandmother. He settled in Marlborough and shared in the first division of the lands in 1666. In 1662 the place was owned by Dr. Barnes, his great-great son. Richard Barnes was one of the prominent men of the town. He married in Marlborough, Dec. 16, 1667, Deborah Dix, dau. of Edward and Jane (Wilkinson) Dix, from Eng., to Watertown, N. E. Explaining Bond on pages 26 to 63 of Newton Genealogy.

At a Court held March 3, 1690-1, Samuel Newton of Marlborough and Rebecca Newton, his wife, widow of his uncle Isaac Newton, were presented for living together incestuous and having two children, the marriage being within the line of affinity prohibited by the Laws of England, and they were forbidden to cohabit together. [See page 342 of the Records of the Mass. Court of Assistants.]

Except for the then Law this charge is ridiculous since they were not blood relations. Expresident Harrisons second marriage was just such a marriage I received the date too late to use. E. H.

12. SAMUEL NEWTON3 (John2, Sr., Richard1), son of John and Elizabeth (Larkin) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there December 23, 1668.
He was living April 13, 1719, the date of his father's will, where he is mentioned.
"Item: I give to my son Samuel Newton, Two Shillings."

He married at Concord, Mass. The record of the marriage there is: "Samuel Newton & Rebeckah Newton, both of Marlborough, were joyned in marriage by Mr Edw., Bulkeley Minister of Concord, Septemb. 8th, 1688." We are not positive who this Rebeckah Newton was; but there is every reason to believe she was the widow of Isaac Newton2, uncle of Samuel3 above. There was no other adult Rebecca Newton in Marlborough at that date. She became a widow August 12, 1685, and in the December following gave birth to Isaac Newton's posthumous child [see his will and the accompanying documents]. She married Philip Pratt of Framingham some time before 1688, or about that time; but there would have been time for the intervening marriage with Samuel Newton, and the legal separation that is foreshadowed and indicated in the bond given below. Of the two children she bore to Samuel Newton, the younger was not born October 25, 1690, at the date of the bond. What the trouble was does not appear.

As the wife of Philip Pratt, she lived in Framingham, where she had two sons, born, namely: Jeremiah Pratt, born December 12, 1698; and Philip Pratt, Jr., born September 10, 1701, who married in Weston, Mary Osland of Newton, and had six children.

This Bond is interesting in that it gives the signatures of John Newton, Sr., Moses Newton, Sr. (his mark), James Taylor and Samuel Philips. It would seem to indicate that Samuel Newton was not the model husband we hope he was, and had been cited before the grand jury. The term "reputed wife" also excites our curiosity. Perhaps it is only a legal form of those times. Whatever the trouble was, they are both well delivered out of it by this time, and all is well.

Rebecca Pratt died at Framingham September 3, 1728. Philip Pratt died there February 12, 1739.

There is nothing further on the Marlborough records about this Samuel Newton except the births of his two children. It seems to me not unlikely that the two abstracts from the Boston Probate Records, and the mention in Col. Thomas Westbrook's letters, following, may refer to this Samuel Newton. Some one else will probably find the names of those who were his heirs; either to prove or disprove the supposition.

Col. Thomas Westbrook was ordered by the Massachusetts government (Maine, then a part of Massachusetts, was spoken of as "down east"), to prosecute the Indians in Maine for "many breaches of covenant." The muster rolls of his soldiers contain many familiar names. All the letters are interesting, both to and from him; those in form of diary particularly so. He records in 1723, "The 9th Instant, ... This morning, before Day, Sam'l Newton, one of Capt. Ward's Company, Going aboard the Sweep in a Gundero, fell over board and was drowned." See also the following:

The two children of Samuel Newton and his wife Rebecca were probably brought up by their grandfather, John Newton2, whose will, and their portions in his estate, would indicate they had long been members of his family. See will of John2.

He married at Concord, Mass., May 24, 1698, Rev. Joseph Estabrooke officiating, Mary Axtell, daughter of Henry and Hannah (Merriam) Axtell² of Concord and Marlborough, Mass. She was born at Marlborough, August 8, 1670. I suppose she is the "Widow Mary Newton" who died in Southborough, March 13, 1741. The following list of papers, in the settlement of her estate, confirms the supposition—in that her children are also those of Zachariah Newton².

• William Axtell of Berkhamsted, Hertfordshire, Eng., died in 1637, leaving a will in which he mentions his wife Thomasine and sons John, William, Thomas, Daniel and Samuel. The record of St. Peter's Church, Berkhamsted, Eng., gives the baptism of Thomas, Jan. 26, 1619; the birth of Daniel, May 26, 1622. This is Col. Daniel Axtell, an officer under Cromwell, and one of the judges in the trial of King Charles I of England.

Thomas AXTELL came to New England about 1642 and settled in Sudbury, Mass. He bought there five acres of land Oct., 1645. This land joined that of Edmund Rice, who came from Berkhamsted, Eng., in 1638 or 39. Thomas Axtell took the oath of fidelity July 9, 1645. He died in Sudbury and was buried there March 8, 1646. His widow, Mary, married (2) in Sudbury, June 16, 1646, John Maynard (2d wife), who had one son aged about 6 yrs. and perhaps other children. He died Dec. 16, 1672, leaving a widow, Mary. They had one son and four daughters. I give an account of the children of Thomas Axtell, such as I find:

Mary Axtell, baptized in Berkhamsted, Eng., Sept. 25, 1639, is supposed to be his dau. and that she is the one who married in Sudbury, Sept. 19, 1656, John Goulding² son of Eliz. I don't know; Henry², Hannah², and twins, Mary² and Lydia²; born in Sudbury, June 1, 1644.

Henry AXTELL (Thomas) was, I suppose, born about 1640 or 41. He moved to Marlborough, at the time of its incorporation, 1660, and drew his land in the first division. He was slain by the Indians, April 26, 1676, upon the road between Sudbury and Marlborough. His widow, HANNAH, married July 16, 1677, William Taylor of Concord. Henry Axtell married in Marlborough, June 14, 1665, HANNAH, daughter of George Merrian of Concord. His children were: Henry³, b. Aug. 8, 1670, m. Zachariah Newton; Thomas³, b. Aug. 8, 1672, m. Sarah Barker, who died ——; Daniel³, b. Nov. 4, 1675, moved to South Carolina, where he ——; 1755; Sarah³, b. Sept. 28, 1675.

John Taint and Sarah Newton married in Marlborough, January 4, 1740-1, she then aged 42 years, and the daughter Mary, unmarried, aged 36 years; Joshua then married, and aged 38 years. The daughter Elizabeth is not mentioned in the will.

Zachariah Newton lived in Marlborough. His children were born there. He died before the division of the town, when his lands were set off to Southborough. His father's will (1723) gives "to the Children of my son Zachary Newton, deceased, a Cellar swamp, lying & being within the Township of Westboro' in Middlesex, aforesaid."

In the controversy in the church at Marlborough over the settlement as pastor of Rev. John Emerson of Ipswich, Zachariah, like a majority of the voting Newtons, was opposed to it.

Mr. Newton left no will and the administration of his estate was given to his widow, Mary Newton, she giving the usual bond, which is in printed form [see bond in the case of Edward Newton²]. The papers in the case in probate court are two, viz.:

No. 1. Bond of Mary Newton, widow.
No. 1 is the usual printed form of Bond. Mary Newton, Widow of Zachariah gives bond as Admx, with Thomas Axtell, as Surety, for £300—under date of May 25, 1718, recorded in Vol. 15, 184.

CHILDREN.

235. i. Sarah†, b. Nov. 2, 1689; m. at Marlborough, Jan. 4, 1700-01. "John Taint of Southborough." Her mother’s will shows this. They are cited to appear when the will was allowed. She is appointed executrix by the will. See above. I find no further record of either of them. It has been accepted, and repeated in print, that this Sarah was the wife of Pelatiah Rice; which is an error—in the light of the will of the widow of Zachariah Newton. Sarah Howe, born July 12, 1699, daughter of John and Rebecca Howe of Marlborough, was the wife of Pelatiah Rice and may have been Mrs. Sarah Newton, a widow, at the time of her marriage, Jan. 11, 1728 (aged 29), to "Pelatiah Rice of Westborough." The record is clear in both towns as to the name of this wife—Sarah Newton. She died at Northborough, Jan. 24, 1784, aged 84. That is, she was born six months before Jan. 24, 1700. He died there April 7, 1758, aged 80. John Howe, in his will, in 1752, mentions all of his eleven children, one being Sarah, wife of Pelatiah Rice. See Hist, Marlborough, page 383.

236. ii. Elizabeth†, b. Oct. 23, 1701; m. I suppose, 1725, John Green. The marriage is recorded in the First Church of Marlborough, and not on the town records. There were Gooms in Sudbury.

238. iv. Mary†, b. Oct. 2, 1705; unmarrried in 1741. She and her sister, Mrs. Sarah Taint, were given the home place by will of their mother.

25. THOMAS NEWTON† (John‡, Richard†), son of John and Elizabeth (Larkin) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there December 27 or 29, 1674, and died at Westborough, Mass., November 2, 1746, aged 72. In record of death he is styled "Ensign" Thomas Newton.

He married at Marlborough, August 17, 1698, Record Ward, daughter of Increase and Record (— — —) Ward† of Marlborough-Westborough-Northborough, Mass., born at Marlborough, January or June 9, 1672, and died at Westborough, November 4, 1746, two days after the death of her husband. "They were buried in one grave."

Mr. Newton lived at Marlborough, where his children were born. In 1717 this part of the town was set off and became Westborough. He was an active citizen of the new town, being elected one of its Selectmen for the years 1718, 1719, 1722, 1725, 1729. He is mentioned in records of church affairs there 1725—the church founded October 28, 1724.

In the Indian troubles of 1676 and thereabout, Thomas Newton’s family was assigned to Isaac Amsden’s garrison house, No. 5. In the controversy in relation to the settlement of Rev. John Emerson in the Marlborough Church, Thomas Newton was one of those who opposed it, 1702.

His will was probated in 1747, Westborough, No. 43,443.

*Increase Ward† (Rev. Wilt†), b. 1644, d. 1690; res. in that part of Marlborough now Northborough. His farm was on the river and he had a sawmill. By wife, Rebecca, he had children. She died 1728. He was son of Dea. William Ward, the immigrant, who was in Sudbury and a proprietor there in 1639; and second wife, Elizabeth. He died 1687. She died 1700, aged 87.

His will, dated April 11, 1757, was proved May 5, 1757. In it he left his property to his wife, to his wife and children, probate at Shrewsbury.

FOURTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

180. JOHN NEWTON, III (John, John, Richard), son of John and Hannah (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there June 13, 1692, and died in Southborough, November 15, 1763—that at which time he is called "John, Jr."

He married in Watertown, Mass., January 3, 1716-17, Hannah Parkhurst, daughter of John and Abigail (Garfield) Parkhurst of Watertown, where she was born April 17, 1690. She died in Southborough, February 24, 1754.

John Newton III lived in Marlborough, where five of his children were born; and was set off to Southborough in 1727, where the three others were born. He was one of those who voted, in 1702, in opposition to the settlement of Rev. John Emerson over the Marlborough Church.

There is no Probate record of the settling of his estate in Worcester County, or in Middlesex County.

In 1746, being then 54 years old, Mr. Newton would seem to be living in Leicester—or he may have been only visiting there—either way, he dated from 1746.
Leicester the gift of a Bible to his son "John Newton," and spells his own name in the same way. The inscription is given under John Newton, his son.

CHILDREN.

252. i. Dixah, b. Jan. 21, 1717-18; d. in Southborough, Widow Mixer, April 6, 1813, aged 96. C. R.; m. in Southborough, July 5, 1733, as his second wife, Benjamin Mixer (181), son of Benjamin and Rebecca (Newton) Mixer of Marlborough-Southborough, b. in Southborough March 23, 1715, d. there April 30, 1800, C. R. They lived in Southborough; no children by this marriage.

253. iii. Azariah, b. Feb. 5, 1719-20; m. Sarah Jones.

256. v. Amos, b. April 17, 1727; m. (1) Prudence Fellows; m. (2) Mrs. Jane (Larned) Gilson.

259. viii. Patience, b. Feb. 2, 1732-3; m. in Marlborough, Jan. 11, 1767, Benjamin Wilder of Lancaster.

224. PHINEAS NEWTON, (John, John, Richard), son of John and Hannah (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there, October 5, 1707, and died at Willbram, Mass., July 12, 1779.

He married, probably, at Marlborough—the marriage being recorded in the church there, in 1730-31, Patience Howe, daughter of John, Jr., and Deliverence (Rice) Howe of Marlborough, where she was born March 28, 1714. She died February 5, 1759, and is buried in Ellington, Conn., which was then a part of the town of Windsor, Conn.

He married (2) at East Haddam, Conn., March 12, 1760, Mary Cove or Cone, who was living July 1, 1778, and is mentioned and provided for in his will of that date. She seems to have been a widow with an invalid daughter, "Hannah," when he married her. He had no children by this marriage.

Mr. Newton certainly lived in Leicester for twenty years after marriage—ten of his children were born there. Two other sons, Paul and Phineas, he mentions in his will, which two were probably born at Windsor, Conn., where he was as early as 1757, when being styled as "of Windsor." On August 31, 1757, he bought lands in South Hadley, Mass.—in a part of the town called the "Crank." By deed, dated March 26, 1760, Simeon Willard of Springfield, Mass., conveys land "in the Second and Middle Division of the outward Commons so called on the East side of Connecticut River in Springfield" to "Phineas Newton of Windsor and Colony of Connecticut." He probably removed to Springfield about the time of his second marriage, and on June 3, 1760, bought more land in the "Crank." In April, 1761, still "of Springfield," he conveyed land in South Hadley, to his son Francis Newton, of South Hadley. March 21, 1763, "Lient. Phineas Newton was appointed on Committee to set off Willbram as a precint from Springfield." It is very probable that his home and

Dec. 9, 1724, aged 77; by will dated June 29, 1723, he gave his homestead to his son John, Jr. (all of his other living children were six daughters); m. (1) Jan 17, 1671, Frances Woods, who d. lands were in the part of Springfield so set off, for from that time until his death he was a resident of Wilbraham.

The town records of Wilbraham furnish the following of him:

May, 1765. Occupied Pew 19, in Wilbraham Church.

Mar. 29, 1768, 1770, 1771, 1772, chosen Juror for the Superior Court.

In the Name of God, Amen, I Phineas Newton of Wilbraham in the County of Hampshire, & State of Massachusetts Bay in North America, Gent, being a present under the Exercise of bodily Intimacies by Reason of old age yet of sound mind & Understanding do make and ordain this my last Will & Testament in the following Order Viz.—first, I recommend my soul to Almighty God & my Body I remit unto the Earth by decent Burial at the Discretion of my Executor hereafter named, hoping & trusting in ye Mercy of God thro Christ Jesus my Redeemer for the remission of my sins & eternal Salvation both of Soul & Body at the resurrection of the just— and as to my Worldly Estate both Real and Personal after my Debts & funeral Expenses are paid I give bequest & dispose of the same as followeth.

Aug. 3, 1779. Will approved and Executor accepted his trust.

Children.

269. vi. Francis, b. March 24, 1731; m. Elizabeth ——.

261. ii. Phoebe, b. March 13, 1733; living 1778.

262. iii. Ruth, b. Aug. —, 1734; living 1778.

263. iv. Artemas, b. April 5, 1736. On a list of soldiers from South Hadley, Mass., who were in the French War, in the campaigns of 1756, 1758 and 1754, is the name of Artemas Newton, and against his name on one list is the word “Died.”

264. v. Ezra, b. Sept. 12, 1737; not mentioned in father’s will.

265. vi. Vashti, b. Sept. 23, 1739; not mentioned in father’s will.

266. vii. Millcrom, b. Oct. 24, 1741; not mentioned in father’s will.

267. viii. Silas, b. Sept. 26, 1745; see will of his father above. There was a Silas Newton of Brookfield, who saw much service in the War of the Revolution, who may have been this man. I am sure of nothing of him beyond his birth at Leicester and his father’s will.

268. ix. Deliverance, b. Jan. 21, 1748; was living 1778 and with her sisters Ruth and Phoebe given bequests in her father’s will. [I conjecture that none of them were married at that date, as it was customary to designate a daughter by her married name in a will. He must have provided for them before he died, because they were given very little by the will.]

269. ix. Timothy, b. May 3, 1750; m. Sarah Dunton.

270. xi. Paul, b. ——, 175—; mentioned as “my fourth son now living,” and bequeathed 50 acres of land in Ludlow (town adjoining north of Wilbraham) and one third of wearing apparel in the will of his father. I suppose he is the Paul Newton who married at Hadley, Mass., Abigail Ingram, born April 15, 1752, daughter of Elisha Ingram of Hadley, and his wife, Elizabeth Smith Lewis, who was daughter of Dea. Ichabod Smith, and widow of Noahiah Lewis of Farmington, Conn. He was a soldier of the Revolution. Abstract of service in part: Paul Newton, Wilbraham, Private in Capt. Isaac Colton’s Company, Col. David Brewer’s regiment, enlisted May 10, 1775, served 23 days. Also—other items that I did not copy—the last date was at Roxbury Camp, Nov. 15, 1775. I suppose he had children. The Ludlow town records might show that.

271. xii. Phineas, b. ——, 175—; mentioned in his father’s will as “my youngest Son,” to whom he bequests and whom he makes sole and only executor. The records of Wilbraham show that he married Sarah Shaw. Since no other disposition was made of the homestead by the will, we can suppose their father had already made it over to this son and the daughters. The register’s office would show any such deeds.

272. Stephen Newton (John, John, Richard), son of John and Hannah (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there August 15, 1716. He married (1) at Leicester, Mass., January 20, 1736-7, Mary Witt, daughter of Jonathan and Lydia (Mathews) Wills of Marlborough, where she was born September 17, 1715. She was admitted to membership in the Congregational Church at Belchertown, No. 134, from the church at Ellington in 1750. "Mr. Newton’s first wife, Mary, died 1781 aged 68." Church record.

She was admitted, No. 281, to the Congregational church at Belchertown in 1779 from the church at East Bridgewater, the "Second wife of Stephen Newton. She was widow Lydia Cary, recommended to this church by letter from Rev. John and Samuel Angier, dated 1781. These were colleague pastors, father and son." Church record.

Stephen Newton lived in Windsor, Conn., the first decade of his married life and had five children born there. The first two of those were baptized in the church at Rutland, Mass. I suppose that some years previous to 1720 he settled in Belchertown, Mass., and probably died there. There was no Stephen Newton, head of a family in the United States in the Census of 1790. Nor does he appear in the Probate Court of Worcester County.

CHILDREN.

272. i. MARY, b. Nov. 8, 1757, baptized April 9, 1758, C. R.
273. ii. JAMES, (or Jonas), b. March 18, 1740; d. Nov. 3, 1756. Aged 13 yrs. 7 mos. 10 days.
274. iii. OLIVER, b. April 2, 1742; m. Rebecca —.
275. iv. SARAH, b. Nov. 20, 1745.
276. v. ASA, b. April 13, 1748; Asa Newton was a soldier in the Revolution. "Newton, Asa, Belchertown. Private in Capt. John Cowles’ Company, Col. Woodbridge’s regiment; marched April 29, 1775 in response to Alarm of April 19, 1775. Served to April 30, 11 days." Asa Newton married and had a family. I have nothing further of him or them except what is recorded in the First United States Census, 1790, which shows the following: "Asa Newton of Belchertown, Mass., head of a family consisting of himself, three males upward of sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and six females." A large family to leave out of this record.

278. GERSHOM NEWTON (Samuel, John, Richard), son of Samuel and Rebecca (— Newton) Newton, of Marlborough and Concord, Mass., was born at Marlborough, December 17, 1690. Gershom Newton died at Southborough, January 22, 1756, the only Newton of the name who died in that town.

Gershom Newton was brought up by his grandfather, John Newton, and was appointed sole executor and residuary legatee of the latter’s estate [see will of John Newton, proved 1725]. As John Newton makes no other disposition of his homestead, it probably then was, had been, and continued to be the home of his grandson Gershom. Later, this part of Marlborough was set off and became the town of Southborough. He left no will. He had probably disposed of his real estate in his lifetime, only a small personal was disposed of by the Court after his death. The list of papers in the case follows:

* JOHN WILLS, b. in Lynn, 1640; d. 1755; m. twice; record of family imperfect; left several daughters and sons John and Thomas.

JOHN WILLS (John), b. —; m. 1676, ELIZABETH BAKER, res. Lynn, where their children were born: ELIZABETH, 1677; JOHN, 1679; MARY, 1681; JONATHAN, b. —; SARAH, b. —; SAMUEL, b. —; THOMAS, b. —.

PAXTON WILLS (John), b. —; m. Marlborough and set off to Southborough; m. Feb. 8, 1713, LYDIA MATHEWS, dau. of John and Lydia. Children were: MARY, b. Sept. 17, 1713; JONATHAN, 1718; OLIVER, 1720; DAVID, 1723; SARAH, 1727; LYDIA, 1730.

ZEKE LEDOUX (Es., recomposed), JONATHAN, b. 1721, Bridgewater; m. (1) 1741, MARY DUDLEY, dau. of Matthew. She d. 1748. He m. 1749, LYDIA PHILLIPS, dau. of Thomas. Six children. One dau. m. in Bridgewater, and the "rest of the family went to Brookfield and Ward in Worcester County." I suppose the above Lydia (Phillips) Cary to be the "Widow Lydia Cary," who m. (2) Stephen Newton.
He married—where, does not appear; but the marriage is recorded in the first Church of Marlborough as having occurred —. 1714, to Elizabeth Angier, who was probably related to, or connected with, Rev. Samuel Angier of Cambridge and Watertown. I have not traced her lineage. She had eight children, all born in Marlborough. I have no record of her death.

In 1721 Gershom Newton and wife are mentioned in the records of Framingham as being there.

Gershom Newton married (2) in Southborough, March 3, 1744, "Mercy Newton", as given in the court record, as also in the record of the births of her children, who were born in Southborough. Which Mary or Mercy Newton, maiden or widow, is unknown to me. She was probably much younger than Gershom at date of marriage. She was the mother of three children.

Three sons of Gershom Newton were soldiers in the French and Indian Wars: Gershom, Jr. in 1748 and 1756; Timothy in 1748 and 1756; Jason in 1757.

CHILDREN BY FIRST WIFE.

277. ii. GERSHOM, Jr., b. April 24, 1715: m. Jerusha Bruce.

278. ii. ANNE, b. July 29, 1717: I suppose this is the Anna Newton who at date of marriage was of Shrewsbury and married there Dec. 25, 1743, Daniel Garfield, Jr., born April 16, 1722, in Shrewsbury. He was admitted to the church there in 1712. Children:

280. 2. Elizabeth Garfield, b. Feb. 27, 1747; d. next year.

281. 3. Elizabeth Garfield, b. April 7, 1749; d. 1750.

283. iii. MIRIAM, b. April 29, 1720; d. m. at Southborough, Jan. 3, 1741-2, her cousin, Jotham Bruce, son of Elisha and Silence (Newton) Bruce of Southborough, born at Worcester, April 13, 1729, died at. They lived in Southborough, where their children were born.

284. i. Hoseah Bruce, b. May 5, 1742.

286. 3. Persis Bruce, b. May 7, 1747.

288. 5. Rebecca Bruce, b. May 7, 1752.

I do not feel sure that I am right about this family. Yet everything points the way I have recorded it. There must have been three Gershoms born; for one died in 1750, and two were living in 1790. The one living in Lanesborough, 1790, was probably his grandson.

237. JOSHUA NEWTON, SR. (Zachariah, John, Richard), son of Zachariah and Mary (Axtell) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there, October 13, 1703. He died and his estate was administered in 1742, case No. 43,258 in Probate Court. No will.

He resided in Marlborough-Southborough. His children were born in Southborough.

The marriage, "consummated by Joseph Wilder Esq." of Joshua Newton and Mary Temple occurred at Lancaster, Mass., October 21, 1729. The mother of his children is named Mercy in every case. [For a confusion of dates, see "Some Temple Pedigrees, 1900," by L. D. Temple.]

The History of Shrewsbury, by A. H. Ward, has the following:

Temple, Richard, whose wife was Mary, was living on house lot, No. 35, in 1729; his wife Mary, died here, Dec. 10, 1733, aged 57. His daughter Mary, was admitted to this church in 1728, married —— Newton of Southboro, and was dismissed to the church there in 1743. Nothing further on record here concerning him or his.

See also the note under same as to Temple ancestry, Concord.

I am inclined to think there was no "Nathanial Newton" who married a Mary Temple—these names being combined by an error of the copyist.—The marriage of Nathaniel Wilder and Mary Beaman being the one immediately preceding in the record, 1729, the eye could easily become in error.

CHILDREN.

297. i. BERAH, b. Nov. 4, 1730; was living in Southborough in 1750; had a household there as is evidenced from the following statement: "Elizabeth Manning from Marlborough, warned from Southborough, May 11, 1750; now at Beriah Newton's.' There is no person of the name in the U., S. Census, 1790.

300. iv. JOSHUA, Jr., b. Sept. 28, 1734; m. Mary Bellows.

301. v. ANNA, b. May 1, 1736; d. same day.

302. vi. ZACHARIAH, b. March 19, 1737 [int. in Hardwick Nov. 25, 1761]; m. Hannah Goodnow. I find nothing further of his family. He lived in Dudley—seems to have settled there, for how long does not appear. He was one of five men there, for whose relief the town voted May 3, 1789, to abate the ministerial tax of 3s. 1½d. They were probably members of another church and paid to support it. The custom was that taxes must be paid to support some church. Mr. Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. Abstract of service:

Newton, Zachariah. Sturbridge. Nine months men mustered for Worcester County, engaged for town of Sturbridge, mustered July 6, 1779; descriptive list; term nine months; age 39 years, height 5 ft. 8 in., complexion dark, residence Sturbridge. Last date of this service, marched to Springfield July 8, 1779, delivered to Lieut. Storey.

The U., S. Census 1790 shows only two men of this name who were heads of families, and they were residing in Maryland.

240. THOMAS NEWTON (Thomas, John, Richard), son of Thomas and Record (Ward) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there September 7, 1700, and died ———.

Thomas Newton, at marriage, was called of Shrewsbury. His wife was admitted to the church there in 1742. He lived in the northern parish, near to Lancaster. Six children are recorded in Shrewsbury: four of them were baptized in Grafton church.

Thomas Newton was in Sunderland 1742, and in Deerfield 1756. His estate was not settled by Probate Court of Middlesex or Worcester counties, Mass.

241. OBEDIAH NEWTON† (Thomas†, John†, Richard†), son of Thomas and Record (Ward) Newton of Marlborough and Shrewsbury, Mass., was born at Marlborough, January 6, 1703, and died in Grafton, Mass., May 11, 1755, aged 51. G. S. there, in the old cemetery. His estate was administered without a will, in Grafton, in 1755. Case in Probate, No. 43,348.

He married about 1724 or 25, Abigail ———.

The township of Shrewsbury was incorporated December 15, 1727, ten years after it was granted as a township. The town was settled mostly by people from Marlborough, Mass. At the first town meeting after that date Shrewsbury included what is now Boylston, most of West Boylston, a small part of Sterling, Westborough and Grafton. In 1741, Obadiah Newton, who had settled in the town, together with three other families and their farms, were set off and annexed to Grafton. Thus we find a record of the births of his children in the towns of Shrewsbury, Westborough and Grafton, and baptisms of some of them in Grafton.

The death of his wife, Abigail, does not appear, and he may have had a second wife, Ruth— for in the baptism records at Grafton some of the children are credited to "Obadiah and Ruth," namely: John, Jonas, and the first Thadens. There is an error somewhere.

315. iv. Ruth, b. April 5, 1733, in Shrewsbury; bapt. in Grafton May 20, 1733, C. R., 4; m. in Shrewsbury, Oct. 25, 1750, Phineas Parks of Sutton. They lived in Sutton. Their first four children's births are on the town records; the baptisms of the last five are on the Sutton church records.

CHILDREN:

ABNER NEWTON (Thomas, John, Richard), son of Thomas and Record (Ward) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there March 21, 1708, and died there July 30, 1750.

He married in Westborough, Mass., March 29, 1731, C. R. Vashti Eager, daughter of James and Tabitha (How) Eager of Marlborough, where she was born January 14, 1733. She married (2) in Hopkinton, Mass., April 10, 1753, Benjamin Wood.

Abner Newton lived in Westborough, Mass. His children were born there. He seems to have taken an active part in the affairs of the town; is so mentioned as early as February 5, 1729. He was the town treasurer for the years 1739, 1746, 1747. In 1748 he was one of the building committee to build a new church. On February 6, 1753, the town voted to sell no "pew-spots" to non-residents; "Widdo Vashti Newton" had "inhind seat on right hand, next to woman's door," showing she lived there at that date. She married (2) the following April.

The estate of Abner Newton was settled in Westborough, in 1750, without a will. Case No. 43,925 in Probate Court.

He was by trade a cooper; resided in Westborough and Sutton. He and his wife conveyed lands, "which was our father's, Abner Newton, of Westborough," to Benjamin Wood and John Wood. Their children were:

331. 1. Abraham Batcheller, b. March 26, 1752.
332. 2. Abner Batcheller, b. Sept. 15, 1753.
335. 5. Benjamin Batcheller (Capt.), b. Nov. 7, 1762; m. in Westborough, May 29, 1789, Elizabeth "Rissey" Cary of Boston; resided in Sutton, and had a son Lewis, who m. Sophia Newton (646).

340. iii. ARNOLD, b. Oct. 27, 1757, at Westborough [int. there April 15, 1758], m. Susanna Harrington. [Perhaps she was daughter of George and Hepzilah (Fiske) Harrington of Watertown, born there Jan. 9, 1755-6.] Abner Newton was in Northfield in 1767, and in Deerfield in 1768. I suppose he was the Revolutionary soldier mentioned on the rolls as:

Abner Newton. Private, Capt. Noah Lankton's Company, Col. John Ashley's (First Berkshire Co.) regiment, entered service Aug. 17, 1777, discharged Aug. 20, 1777, service four days on expedition to Bennington.

* JAMES EAGER is of William's, b. Sept. 21, 1694; m. 1713, TABITHA HOW, dau. of Thomas and Sarah (Gosnort How), res. Marlborough; had there three children: Vashti, 1713; Hephzibah, 1715; Jana, 1720. See also notes to Uriah Newton and John Newton.
FIFTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

253. AZARIAH NEWTON² (John¹, John², John², Richard¹), son of John and Hannah (Parkhurst) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born at Marlborough, Mass., February 5, 1720, and died at Milford, Mass., November 1, 1794, aged 75.

He married at Milford, by Rev. Amaziah Frost, who certified to the marriage February 29, 1746, Sarah Jones, daughter of Deacon Nathaniel and Priscilla (Corbet) Jones. She died July 17, 1808, probably at Milford, where she was living in 1794 to enjoy the use of one-half the estate of her late husband.

Mr. Newton was a farmer in Milford. He and his wife were received into the Congregational Church at Milford, April 5, 1747—the year after their marriage. They apparently continued to reside at Milford for the remainder of their lives, yet the First United States Census, 1790, does not mention a Newton in that town, while both Amaziah and his son Ichabod were both living there, heads of families at that date.

The following abstract of the will of Azariah Newton mentions three children. I have not the records of the town of Milford, which probably contain fuller mention. Milford was incorporated as a town in 1780—it was formerly a part of Mendon. Perhaps Mendon may contain the births of these children.

Azariah Newton was surety, with Samuel Jones, on the bond (£3000) of the widow of his son Ichabod, 1778.

Probably Samuel Jones was a near relative of the wife of Azariah Newton.

254. JOHN NEWTON³ (John¹, John², John², Richard¹), son of John and Hannah (Parkhurst) Newton of Marlborough-Southborough, Mass., was born at Marlborough, October 5, 1722, and died at Southbridge, Mass., April 9, 1820, aged 98 years 6 months. Burial and monument at Oak Ridge Cemetery, Southbridge.

He married at Newton, Mass., December 14, 1752 (also recorded at Framingham, Mass.), Abigail Eames.
NEWTON GENEALOGY

She died at Southborough, February 14, 1805, aged 78. C. R. (or February 19, 1805, in her 76th year. Fam. Bible.) Four children.

He married (2) April 14, 1808, at Southborough, Mrs. Sarah Johnson, who lived there October — 1811, aged about 65. C. R.

Mr. Newton continued to reside in Southborough until after the death of his second wife, when he went to live with his daughter, Mrs. Ames, in Southbridge, where he died.

The name of this John Newton appears on the rolls of the men from Marlborough, soldiers in the French and Indian wars for the years 1758 and 1759—service in the reduction of Canada. As a soldier of the Revolution, the Revolutionary Rolls contain his name in the following service:

The first United States Census, 1790, finds John Newton head of a family in Southborough, which consists of himself and one female.

His estate was administered at Southbridge, without a will, in 1829. The case in Probate Court, No. 43240.

The following is a copy from an old Bible, printed in 1739. The writing, I am told, "is so poor and so many blots and the spelling so bad," that it is difficult to read. The old fashioned way of forming the letters and the reckless spelling of the olden times always is difficult to read. The inscription is:

"This being a gift given to John Newton from his honored father, John Newton, to remember him by: And as it is the word of God, I with the same [spirit?] (faded?) from my heart, that the blessing of God may accompany the same to him and also to his posterity throughout this evil and troublesome world; and that he may be [agreed?] (faded?) in trying for immortal Glory in the end; which is the hearty prayer and wishes of the giver, John Newton.

Leicester, May, the first day, 1740?"

The giver is John Newton\(^1\) to his son John\(^2\). The Bible is the treasured property of his descendant, Mr. Newton E. Putney of Southbridge (No. 400).

He married———[I suppose the marriage to Southborough, December 29, 1756, of Amos Newton and Phoebe Johnson, to be a first marriage of this Amos, but have no proof of it. Neither her birth nor her death are known to me, nor where they lived. By the mention here, some one may see it and make plain].

He was freeman 1634; was one of a committee of six "to Consider of some things tending toward a body of Lawes," 1638; petitioner for the town of Woburn, 1640; rem. to Woburn where he was selectman 1644 and '45; constable 1644 and '45; died in Woburn, March 1, 1646. His wid. had an annuity during widowhood from his estate. His son, ISAAC LEARNED6, imp. 1623, Bernemsey parish, County Surrey, England; only child; went with his father from Charlestown to Woburn; m. 1646, Mary Stemars, d. Isaac (she m. His children were: Mary6, 1647; Hannah6, 1649; William6, d. unm. 1654; Sarah6, 1655; Isaac7, 1655; Benjamin6, 1657; last three b. Chelmsford. The son ISAAC kinton, March 27, 1759). She was daughter of Isaac and Elizabeth (Jones) Larned of Oxford, Mass., where she was born November 29, 1736. She died in Southborough, March 9, 1814.

This Amos Newton, Jr., and his wife, Jane, seem to have lived their married life in Southborough. Their children were born there. In 1790, at the date of the First United States Census, he was the head of a family in Southborough, which consisted of, besides himself, one male under sixteen years, and two females.

From the will, the inference is that he had no children except those by wife Jane.

1. Polly Hyde, b. April 18, 1802.

3. Anna N. Hyde, b. July 1, 1809.

4. vi. Stephen, b. March 21, 1787; m. Sally Fay.

260. FRANCIS NEWTON (Phineas1, John2, John3, Richard4), son of Phineas and Patience (Howe) Newton of Marlborough and Leicester, Mass., was born at Leicester, March 21, 1731-2, and died April 18, 1781, aged 50.

He married Elizabeth ————. She was born about 1756, and died April 16, 1820, aged 84.

Francis Newton and his wife Elizabeth were admitted to the Congregational Church at Bedebertain, Mass., in 1756, and removed from that town in 1761. In 1770 his name appears in Hadley, Mass., in a "List of Inhabitants of Hadley in 1770, and the parts of the village and town in which they resided: their polls and valuations." From a valuation made 1770 and sent to Boston: "Francis Newton, 1 poll, £29. 8. East side of Main street, beginning at the North end."

The History of Hadley gives the names and marriages of five children. In the First United States Census, 1790, the mother, Elizabeth Newton, in Hadley, Mass., is given as the head of the family—she was a widow then—and her family consisted besides, of one male under sixteen years, and one other female.

Francis Newton, a soldier of the Revolution, on a list of men from Col. Cushin's Regiment, mustered by Thomas Newhall, muster master for Worcestor County, to serve at Rhode Island "until the 1st. of Jan. next" (year not given) in Capt. Newton's Company. [I suppose this to be this Francis Newton,?]

CHILDREN.

1. Elizabeth, b. about 1761; d. at Hadley, Mass., Dec. 26, 1799; m. at Hadley, Nov. 6, 1783, Moses Kellogg, Jr., son of Captain Moses and Mary (Sheldon) Kellogg of Hadley, where he was born Feb. 6, 1751, and... where he died Jan. 14, 1826, aged 65. Both are buried at Hadley, where they resided. Their children were:
ii. Eleanor, b. ———; m. 1783, Jonathan Cooke, Jr., son of Jonathan and Ruth (Goodman) Cooke of Hadley, where he was born Oct. 17, 1759. He was called "Doctor"; removed from Hadley.
iii. Tryphena, b. ———; d. in Hadley, June 19, 1805; m. there Jan. 3, 1790, Solomon Cooke, son of Lieut. Noah and Keziah (Parson) Cooke of Hadley, where he was born Feb. 11, 1764, and where he died June 21, 1831, aged 67. They lived in Hadley. Their children born there, were:
2. Elizabeth Cooke, b. May 4, 1792.
6. Parsons Cooke, b. Feb. 9, 1796; grad. Williams College 1822; pastor of Congregational Church at Lynn, Mass.
1. Charles Russell, b. April, 1799; m. Cordelia Smith, dau. of Justin.
2. Lucy Russell, b. about 1801; m. (1) Zenus Cook of Hadley; m. (2) Capt. Parker of Montague.

4. Levi Russell, b. ———; m. (1) Salome Cowles of No. Leverett; m. (2) Sarah Smith of Heath; m. (3) Celinda Stowell of Petersham.
5. Orrin Russell, b. ———; m. Fanny Smith of Heath, sister of Sarah above.
6. Tryphena Russell, b. ———; m. Caleb Dexter Dickinson of Amherst.
8. Caleb Russell, b. about 1813; d. April 4, 1883, aged 70; m. Harriet Shattuck of No. Amherst; m. (2) Ellen A. ———, who was born Feb. 21, 1822, and died Jan. 30, 1886. He died in Montague, Mass.
9. Francis, 26th. b. 1784; m. Abigail Dickinson.

He married —- "Thaddeus Newton of Willbridge Intends marriage with Sarah Demmon of Windsor Goshen the same is Lawfully published March 16th, 1776. James Warriner, town Clerk," is the record of his marriage intention—record of marriage not given.

Mr. Newton moved about some during his long lifetime. I have noticed that those men who had been soldiers were not content to live and die among their native hills. On July 21, 1779, in a conveyance of land by him and his brother Paul to their brother Phineas Newton of Willbridge, he was "of Becket," Mass. By later deeds, we find him living 1781-2, in Murraysfield: 1781, in Chester; 1787, in Norwich: 1794-5, Montgomery. These towns are in nine children. One was AMOS HYDE, b. 1742; d. 1815; m. Sallanna ———; Rev. Newton, and had eight children. One was BENJAMIN HYDE, b. 1772; d. 1829; m. 1802, MARY NEWTON.

Hampden and Hampshire counties, Mass. After 1795 he removed to Wayne County, Pa., where he spent the remainder of his life. He was engaged in the manufacture of lumber. This would account for his removals from place to place and the many purchases of lands—timber lands. The old Newton homestead, the Newton sawmill, the Newton Cemetery, were in Buckingham, Wayne County, Pa., "on the banks of the Delaware" is the statement. Thaddeus Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. The Massachusetts Archives at the State House in Boston contain the service rolls of several of his enlistments. Abstracts are here given. I am always pleased to find a descriptive list. The Newtons are much alike.

WAR SERVICE OF THADDEUS NEWTON.

Private (in same company and regiment as above), enlisted Sept. 21, 1777, service 8 days in the Northern Department. Sept. 28, 1777, reported to have left camp without leave. Roll sworn to at Westfield and Murrayfield. Company marched from Murrayfield to reinforce army under Gen'l Gates. Also.

On Descriptive List of men raised in Berkshire County, agreeable to resolve of June 9, 1779, to serve in the Continental Army for the term of 9 months, returned at Springfield, July 16, 1779, in Capt. Porter's Company, Col. Ressiter's Regt. Age 29 years, Stature 5 ft. 8 in., Complexion light, engaged for the town of Becket. Also.

His name appears on a Warrant to pay officers and men, on a Roll bearing date Nov. 9, 1786, of Capt. James Black's Company, Col. David Mosley's Regt., service on an Alarm at Northampton.

Much is lacking in the record of his children, and it is to be regretted we have nothing further of his wife. The oldest child was born at Wilbraham, the others probably in Hampshire County, Mass.

CHILDREN.

452. i. Ezra, b. April 24, 1777; m. Mary Carr.

456. v. Artemas, b. Oct. 1, 1788; m. and had a daughter

458. vi. Louisa, b. about 1790.

274. OLIVER NEWTON (Stephen, John, John, Richard), son of Stephen and Mary (Witt) Newton of Windsor, Conn., and Belchertown, Mass., was born at Windsor, Conn., April 2, 1742.

He married (1) Rebecca ——, born about 1736. In 1764, she was admitted to membership in the Congregational Church at Belchertown (the 189th member), and died at Belchertown—"First wife of Oliver Newton." C. R., January —, 1771, aged 35.

He married (2) Mary —, 1771, Widow Elizabeth Marsh, who was born about 1742, and who died in New Braintree, Mass.—"Betsey, wife of Oliver, May 15, 1823, aged 81"—is the record. From the use of the word "widow," it would seem that her husband was living in 1823.

Oliver Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. Abstract of service:

Newton, Oliver, Ware. In list of men drafted from Hampshire County, served 9 months at Fishkill, in Capt. Bruckinbridge's Co., Col. Porter's regiment. Age 35 years.
Ware joins Belchertown on the southeast. It would appear that Mr. Newton settled in Ware, and his church affiliation was with Belchertown. The First United States Census, 1790, found him in Ware, Hampshire County, head of a family, the other members of which were, one male under sixteen years, and five females.

I can give here but one child by each wife.

CHILDREN.

She was admitted to membership in the same Congregational church at Belchertown with her husband in 1771, and d. at Belchertown in 1773, aged 31.

460. ii. ELECTAe. b. ------: baptized at Hardwick, Nov. 12, 1775.

277. GERSHOM NEWTON, JR.8 (Gershom4, Samuel3, John2, Richard1), son of Gershom and Elizabeth (Angier) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there April 24, 1715, and died February 27, 1800. He married at Marlborough, September 25, 1741, Jerusha Bruce, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Townsend) Brucee of Marlborough, where she was born October 29, 1721.

Gershom Newton, Jr., and his brother Timothy were soldiers in the French and Indian War in 1748, and Gershom again in 1756. He was in the Crown Point expedition, in Capt. Ebenezer Newell's, Roxbury, Company, March 27, 1755, till December 17, 1755.

He was taxed in Framingham, 1757. Perhaps he lived there for a time, as also in Southborough; but the record of his children is in Marlborough.

In the First United States Census, 1790, a Gershom Newton is credited to Lanesborough, Berkshire County, Mass., head of a family, i. e., one male and one female. Another Gershom Newton at Marlborough, Middlesex County, Mass., head of a family, which, with himself, consisted of four males above sixteen years of age, and one female. This last was Gershom, Jr. 8 I have not found the other.

CHILDREN.

289. TIMOTHY NEWTON8 (Gershom4, Samuel3, John2, Richard1), son of Gershom and Elizabeth (Angier) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there May 4, 1725. The First United States Census, 1790, Timothy Newton was head of a family in Northborough, Mass., which consisted of himself and two females; who was probably this Timothy8—but may have been his son, Timothy6. There is no probate record of the estate of Timothy Newton8 in Massachusetts and I find no record of his death.

*SAMUEL BRUCE8 (Roger, John). See note to Samuel Newton8, b. March 21, 1691; m. 1720 or 1721. ELIZABETH TOWNSEND, res. Marlborough and Southborough and had five children: Jacobu, b. Oct. 20, 1721; m. 1744. Gershom Newton8 (s. Gershom); Sarah, b. 1723; Joseph, b. 1726; Samuel, b. 1729; Roger, b. 1734.
The town records of Marlborough state that he was a soldier in the French and Indian wars of 1748 and 1756, together with his brother Gershom, Jr.

He resided in Marlborough-Southborough, where his children were born. The record is quite clear as to the parents and birth dates of the four children—the mother of each not at all uncertain.

Timothy Newton⁵ was probably married when he served his first term as a soldier—as long before as 1746; I do not find the record of this marriage. His wife was Hannah ——, and their son Timothy's birth is recorded in Southborough. There may have been other children, not recorded, between the dates of this and his second marriage—at least sixteen years.

Timothy Newton⁵ married (2) at Marlborough, Mass., March 22, 1760, Sarah Morse, who was the mother of three children born there. She was probably living in 1790 with him in Northborough, and was one of the "two females" recorded in the United States Census. I have not been able to trace her parentage. Why Lydia Morse (daug. of Samuel and Lydia (Newton) Morse) should be given as this wife and mother, in the Morse Genealogy, I do not know.

CHILDREN.

463. i. TIMOTHY, b. Oct. 7, 1747, at Southborough.

464. ii. MIRIAM, b. July 29, 1761, at Marlborough; m. intention in Northborough June 28, 1779, Antipas Bowker, Jr., son of Antipas and Esther (Rice) Bowker of Northborough, where he was born Oct. 18, 1758. The Bowkers lived in Marlborough, Westborough, Northborough and Shrewsbury, where several generations of this ancestry may be found. See also Rice Genealogy for Esther Rice ancestry. Child:

465. i. Hannah Bowker, b. Oct. 5, 1770. So is the record at Northborough.

466. iii. SAMUEL Morse⁶, b. Oct. 20, 1766, at Marlborough.

470. iv. JASON⁷, b. April 1, 1769, at Marlborough.

293. JASON NEWTON⁸ (Gershom⁴, Samuel¹, John², Richard³), son of Gershom and Elizabeth (Angier) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there February 2, 1756.

He married at Mendon, Mass., "by Rev. Frost, January 9, 1757, Hannah Warren of Mendon," perhaps daughter of Samuel and Hannah (Beard) Warren. Marriage also recorded in Framingham. Her descendants state that her son Jason received a United States pension, which after his death in 1842 was transferred to her. She would have been of great age at that date.

Jason Newton, then of Framingham, Mass., was in the French and Indian War. His name appears on the roll in Capt. Henry Eames' Company, April 26, 1757.

Jason Newton, wife Hannah and child, Abigail, from Framingham were "warned out" of Mendon, February 19, 1759. He probably settled in Mendon about this time. One child at least, and perhaps others, was born there.

Before 1775 he had removed to Lanesborough, Berkshire County, Mass. The following entry in the Index to the Revolutionary War Archives is probably his service in that war:

Jason Newton is recorded in the First United States Census, 1790, as being head of a family in New Ashford, Berkshire County, Mass., the other members of which were one male under sixteen years, and three females.
CHILDREN.

471. i. Abraham, b. ———; baptized at Framingham, May 14, 1758.
472. ii. Samuel, b. (prob. in latter part of 1759) at Mendon, Mass.; baptized in the church at Milford (a town adjoining), by Rev. Frost, Jan. 27, 1760. He married March 18, 1784, Sarah Sherman. He was a soldier of the Revolution from Lanesborough, having moved to that town. An abstract of service is:

After the war Mr. Newton removed, as did also his brother Jason, to Ira, Rutland Co., Vt., where he was residing when the first United States Census was taken in 1790, his family consisting of besides himself, one male above 16 years, one male under 16 years and two females. His relatives say he had no children; also that he and his brother Jason were Revolutionary and War of 1812 pensioners.

473. iii. Jason, b. ———, 1762; m. (1) Ruth Chase; m. (2) Lydia Collins; m. (3) Susannah Hewett.

294. LEVI NEWTON (Gershom, Samuel, John, Richard). son of Gershom and Mercy (Newton) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there October 13, 1746.

He married in Sutton, Mass., October 26, 1769, "both of Worcester," Elizabeth Woodward. The marriage is also recorded in Worcester. There are Woodwards in both of those towns, whose daughter she may have been. (See 2084, 2124, 4257.)

Levi Newton and wife "Betsey" had one son born in Sutton. There were probably other children.

In the first United States Census, 1790, the family of Levi Newton at Sutton consisted of himself, two males under sixteen years, and three females.

CHILD.

474. i. Levi, b. April 17, 1775, in Sutton; m. Polly Col.

299. JOSIAH NEWTON, JR. (Joshua, Zachariah, John, Richard), son of Joshua and Mercy or Mary (Temple) Newton of Marlborough, and Southborough, Mass., was born at Southborough, September 29, 1731. He died there and his will was filed May 19, 1774.

He married at Southborough, March 11, 1761, Mary Bellows, daughter of John Bellows, Jr. [see White Family Quarterly, Vol. I, p. 71.]

Joshua Newton, Jr., was a soldier in the French and Indian War. His name appears on the roll of Capt. John Buck's Company, mustered March 2, 1757, fifty-five men. They were then at Northfield, Mass.

In Joseph Holt's journal of the march of Capt. Ebenezer Jones's Company in the expedition to Canada, under date of July 20, 1758, a contact was had with the enemy, when many officers and men were killed, whom he mentions by name, and the name of Joshua Newton of South Berwick, missing. South Berwick is in Maine. If this was Joshua, Jr., he was not killed; for he appeared soon after to be married.

He lived in Southborough, where his children were born.
In 1770 a return of the number of polls in his household shows only one—himself. He was a farmer.

The following is a list of papers in the settlement of his estate and a verbatim copy of his will:

395. LEVI NEWTON (Thomas1, Thomas2, John3, Richard4), son of Thomas and Anna (Wilson) Newton of Shrewsbury, Mass., was born there, February 17, 1728, and died probably in Deerfield, May —, 1803, in the 76th year of his age.

He married (prob. in Sunderland), August 2, 1751, Lucy Billings, daughter of John and Mary (Chapin) Billings5 of Sunderland, Mass., where she was born August 9, 1731. She died in Deerfield, Mass., November 20, 1802.

Levi Newton lived awhile in Montague and removed in 1753 to Deerfield, where he spent the remainder of his life. His children were probably born in those towns. This order of them is not correct. He was a soldier of the Revolution, in the campaign against Burgoyne, in Capt. James Stebbin's Company, Col. D. Wells' regiment. Enlisted September 23, 1777, discharged October 18, 1777; Northern Department. Roll dated at Deerfield. His son, too, was a soldier of the Revolution.

In the First Census of the United States, taken 1790, his family consists of himself, one male under sixteen years of age, and one female.

CAPT. BENJAMIN WILLARD of Grafton (I suppose to be the son of Major Simon Willard of Shrewsbury, May 26, 1794, aged 68. She is described as being of average size, straight and dignified in person. She was amply provided for in her second widowhood with means for her comfortable support.

Marshall Newton settled in his native town of Shrewsbury, Mass., where he was a man of property; his hands being on the north side of the public road leading from Worcester to Boston, easterly from the Shrewsbury Congregational church. He was bred a gunsmith. He had good business talent and was an excellent mechanic. He was a speculator in wild lands, and owned several rights of land in Sherborn and Bridport, Vt., in the early grants there. In politics he was a decided Whig, and ever on the side of personal freedom. He named one son Liberty, and furnished three sons for the Revolutionary army. He was a soldier of the French and Indian War—a Lieutenant in Colonel Williams' regiment. He had children by both wives, all born in Shrewsbury, Mass. He died intestate and his estate was administered in 1785 at Shrewsbury. Case in Probate, No. 45295.

He received a pension in recognition of his services in the Revolutionary War. Mrs. Eunice Holland received a United States pension as a widow of a Revolutionary soldier. Her niece, Catherine Newton, lived with her for eight years. Mrs. Holland died at the home of her nephew, Sir Isaac Newton, in Wardsborough, Newfane, Vt.; and is buried there. He married at Shrewsbury, May 19, 1739, Abigail Parker, daughter Stephen, Jr., and Abigail (——) Parker of Roxbury and Shrewsbury, Mass., born in Shrewsbury, April 29, 1740, and died ——.

He married about 1761, Sarah Wallace, daughter of William and Eleanor (——) Wallace of Worcester, Mass., where she was born May 16, 1744.

On April 6, 1762, John Newton and wife from Marlborough were warned from Worcester—"now at the house of David Cunningham." Warrant returned May 10, 1762. It would seem that John Newton and his wife Sarah had come to Worcester with a view of settling there—her native town, and were stopping for a time with her sister, the wife of David Cunningham. It was the custom to "warm-out" every stranger from the town.

Mr. Newton soon became a citizen of Worcester and his seven children were born there. No deaths in this family on record in Worcester. Where they moved to does not appear. No settlement of his estate there.

He married in Westborough, Mass., January 31, 1753, Elizabeth Claflin, daughter of Cornelius and Elizabeth (Caryl) Claflin of Wenham, Mass. She was born September 3, 1739. She died, probably at Deerfield, Mass., ---, 1814, "aged 82."

Alpheus Newton was a farmer. He was in that town as early as 1778. Petersham and New Salem are adjoining towns.

Alpheus Newton and his son Alpheus, Jr., were soldiers of the Revolution. The following may be, in part, the service of either father or son. I cannot determine which is which in this case:

SIXTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

342. ICHABOD NEWTON,8 (Azariah, John, John, John, Richard), son of Azariah and Sarah (Jones) Newton of Marlborough and Milford, Mass., was probably born in that part of Mendon that later became Milford; the date of birth we can approximate by the record of his baptism in the Congregational church there, by Rev. Amaziah Frost the first pastor, on April 5, 1747. He died at Milford, February 5, 1778.

He married at Milford, Rev. Amaziah Frost officiating, January 12, 1769, Rhoda Chapin, daughter of Josiah and Rachel (——) Chapin. She was born 1752, and died at Hopkinton, Mass., September 28, 1839, aged 87. She survived her husband and was appointed administratrix of his estate. About or before 1788, she married (2) Benjamin Singleterry4 of Hopkinton, where they resided. He died there February or March 18, 1812, aged 66. Consumption. By him she had: Daniel, born May 1, 1789, died March 10, 1847; Palsey, a farmer in Hopkinton; Nauney, born March 15, 1792.

Mr. Newton was a farmer in Mendon and Milford. He seems to have lived all his life in those towns; his children were born there; the settlement of his estate was at Mendon. The following abstract of administration and copy of the report of the Probate Court explain themselves.

It is not stated what illness caused the death of the father and three of his children within two weeks.

4 Richard Singleterry was one of the sixty-eight original settlers of Salisbury, Mass.; freeman 1638; at a meeting, and paid rates 1656; widow, Susannah, who was 46 in 1662 and he was 63 in 1662. They had Jonathan, 1659; Eunice, 1661; Nathaniel, 1664; Lydia, 1668; Amos, 1653. Nathaniel, Amos and Benjamin Singleterry were freemen of Haverhill, Nov. 8, 1677. Later persons of the name are found in Ipswich, Sutton, Framingham and Hopkinton. I do not know how our first Ebenezer Singleterry is related; but suppose he was a grandson of Richard of Salisbury, Mass.

Ebenezer Singleterry, m. at Framingham, April 5, 1715, Joanna Newton,5 dau. of John. Their son Ebenezer Singleterry, b. Framingham, 1715; m. in Hopkinton, 1741, Dorothy Smith; res. Framingham, and had there Ebenezer, 1742, prob. d. y.: Dorothy, 1744; Ebenezer, July 8, 1745; Daniel, 1747; Nathan, 1749; Zipporah, 1752.

Ebenezer Singleterry, b. 1743; m. River, widow of Ichabod Newton. They resided in Hopkinton, where they died. Two children as above.

I set down the following marriages to keep them in this connection, although I cannot surely place them: Joanna Singleterry m. 1710, Jonathan Rugg. Joanna Singleterry m. 1751, Dea. James Brewer of Sudbury. Joanna Singleterry m. 1734, Richard Smith of Hopkinton, all in Framingham. (See the Rugg note to John Newton.)

473. JASON NEWTON, Jr. (Jason², Gershom¹, Samuel⁰, John, Richard⁰), son of Jason and Hannah (Warren) Newton of Framingham, Mendon, Lanesborough and New Ashford, Mass., was born in Mendon probably in 1782. The record in the old family Bible is: "Jason Newton died June 7, 1842. Age 80." The headstone at his grave in Ira, Vermont, adds "in the 81st year of his age." That is, he was born before June, 1762.

He married (1) in Lanesborough, Mass., in the beginning of 1781, Ruth Chase, who died at the birth of her only child, August 10, 1811.

He married (2) Lydia Collins, who died between 1794 and 1796. She bore him six children.

He married (3) Susannah Hewett, who had by him eleven children. "She died a year or two before he did."

Jason was a soldier of the Revolution, serving several enlistments. In his old age he was a pensioner of both that war and the War of 1812. Some of the former service is as follows:

Jason Newton. Name on Descriptive list of men from Berkshire County in 1779 to serve in Continental Army. Age 15 years. Status 5 ft. 6 in. Complexion light, engaged for the town of Lanesborough; reported delivered to Capt. Bailey.

Sometime after his first marriage Mr. Newton removed from Lanesborough, Mass., to Clarendon and Ira, Vt., settling in Ira, where he continued to reside.

476. NATHAN NEWTON (Joshua3, Joshua1, Zachariah3, John1, Richard1), son of Joshua, Jr., and Mercy (Bellows) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there May 13, 1764. He died at Andover, Maine, September 29, 1832, aged 68.

Nathan Newton married at Marlborough, Mass., May 9, 1784. Anna Brigham—so is the record. The descendants of Nathan Newton have a very imperfect knowledge of him, his marriages and children. They all agree that he had three children by a first wife, whom some of them name as "Dorothy Dunn, born February 15, 1771."
The grandson of Nathan Newton asserts that the second wife was "Dollie Morse of Rumford, Maine," but he is so uncertain as to much that he gives me that I am inclined to accept as correct the marriage recorded in Northborough, Mass.—that is, of one of his marriages [there may have been three]:—"Nathan Newton and Dolly Wood, married October 6, 1794." There is a bit of evidence which points to this being his second marriage, namely: Nathan Newton's youngest son very earnestly desired to name his first child (so she tells me) Dorothy Wood; but his wife would not have it so—she did not want the child nicknamed "Little Dollie." They compromised on the name, Cynthia Wood. It seems to me that the father wished to name the child after his mother—Dorothy Wood—"Dolly." Whatever the maiden name of Nathan Newton's last wife may have been, his widow, "Dollie," after his death, sometime, went to live with her eldest son, Lambert Newton, in Noble, Noble County, Ohio, where she died, February 26, 1859; burial at Haskinsville, Ohio, about four miles from the home of Lambert Newton, near Caldwell, Ohio.

I do not find the parentage of either wife; and Dolly Wood may have been a widow, born Morse. I merely suggest it—no proof.

It is stated by his descendants that Nathan Newton came to Andover, Maine, from Duxbury, Mass. At what date they know not, nor whence to Duxbury, but it is known that he lived the remainder of his life at Andover, Maine, and died there.

The record of his children is imperfect. The order of their names here given is not correct. No one seemed to know how they came.

The following from "Worcester County Warnings" I give in this connection because of the similarity of names, and the date, and the town, and that perhaps the name Nahum might be incorrectly written for Nathan. I do not know who they are else. Namely: "Warred from Northborough, September 9, 1790, Nahum Newton, yeoman, wife Anna; children, Aaron Beam, Holesworth, Polly, Winthrop; from Southborough. Notice given to the Selectmen by Dea. Paul Newton."

The First United States Census, 1790, shows Nathan Newton at Northborough, head of a household, consisting of himself, three males under sixteen years, and two females.

He married, January 29, 1789, Abigail Parker of Deerfield, born about 1768. She was living in Rush County, Ind., in 1850, aged 82.

John Newton was in Deerfield in 1775. He was a soldier of the Revolution from there, a Minuteman in the Company of Capt. Jonas Locke on the Lexington alarm, April 19, 1775; served a short term in Capt. Timothy Child's Greenfield Company, in Col. David Field's regiment, service four days on alarm at Bennington August 14, 1777; Capt. Joseph Stebbins' Company marched there, but arrived after the battle; was at the capture of Burgoyne, and out at other times. He was first sergeant in "Alarm List and Train-Band" of the town in 1787-92. He removed first to Cherry Valley, N. Y., in 1794, and afterward moved to Ohio and Kentucky. He was living in St. Omar, Ind., in 1855, and died there in 1839. There may have been other children. The only one I have found is:

Mr. Newton lived at Great River, in Deerfield, Mass. He was a soldier of the Revolution; a Minuteman in Capt. Jonas Locke's Company, Col. Williams' regiment on the alarm at Lexington, April 19, 1775; out fourteen days; was out in Capt. Child's Company, February, 1777; and again in Capt. Sheldon's Company, July, 1777; and with Capt. Stebbins' Company, September, 1777, in the Burgoyne campaign. They arrived at Bennington after the battle, and saw the British prisoners confined in the Meeting house. He marched under Capt. Stebbins to Fort Edward, where he was with a small party which surprised a British outpost across the river, capturing the stores. Other expeditions are recorded in which he took part; his final discharge was November 22, 1779.

He married in Grafton, Mass., September 2, 1771, C. R., Mary Winchester, daughter Joshua and Mary (Whipple) Winchester of Grafton, where she was born June 6, 1751. She died, probably, at Croydon, N. H.

Phineas Newton of Spencer and Widow Rachel Commins, intention of marriage May 27, 1782, in Leicester, may be a second marriage of Phineas, Jr.

Phineas Newton, Jr., was a soldier of the Revolution. He served a long time and through many enlistments, beginning May 12, 1775, private in Capt. Joel Green’s Company, Col. Eleazar Learned’s regiment, residence Spencer. The last date, March 18, 1780, mustered out. Spencer was a part of Leicester until 1775. At date of first marriage he was “of Sutton.”

He was assessed by the selectmen of Leicester 8s. to build bridges. After the Revolution he probably moved to Croydon, N. H., where his father had gone about 1770, for the First United States Census, 1790, shows Phineas Newton, Croydon, N. H., his family consisting of himself, four males under sixteen years, and five females. The History of Newport, N. H., has the following:

743. i. PHINEAS NEWTON, grandson of Phineas Newton, married Sept. 21, 1805, Sabra Ball; resides at Newport, N. H.”

He married in Grafton, Mass., February 23, 1773, Mehitable Whitney, daughter of Joshua and Mehitable (Wilson) Whitney of Spencer, Mass., where she was born July 17, 1756.

She married (2) ——— Williams, who died, and she married (3) ——— Hanks, and removed to Ohio.

Obediah Newton lived in Spencer, Mass.; his children were born or baptized there. He lived for a time in Leicester and Stockbridge, Mass. He was a soldier of the Revolution, serving many enlistments. The service roll states that his residence was Spencer; enlisted for that town; term three years; mustered May 10, 1777; also private Capt. John Holden’s Company, Col. Thomas Nixon’s (6th) regiment; other service—a long list, the last date being April 1, 1780.

Jonas Newton lived a few years after marriage in Hubbardston, Mass., where two of his children were born. The First United States Census, 1790, shows Jonas Newton head of a family at Hubbardston, consisting of himself, one male under sixteen years, and two females. Removed, probably to Vermont.

CHILDREN.

1773. 2. Hannah, b. March 12, 1789.

531. DANIEL NEWTON 12 (Marshall1, Obadiah1, Thomas2, John2, Richard1), son of Marshall and Eunice (Taylor) Newton of Shrewsbury, Mass., was born there March 13, 1752. He died at Shoreham, Vt., February 24, 1834, aged 80.

Mrs. Newton survived his husband. They were buried at Shoreham, Vt., and have gravestones with inscriptions.

Before the War of the Revolution, in 1773 or '74, Daniel Newton was sent, with others, to commence the settlement of Shoreham, Vt., on the lands granted to his father. At the beginning of the war they buried their tools and returned to Shrewsbury. After the war he dug out his tools and went on with his work. He married his cousin, who shared with him the hardships of pioneers. But they lived to enjoy the results of their labors, in the fruitful fields, and civilizing influences about them. He was active in promoting town improvements, establishing schools, building roads, erecting public buildings. He was forward in founding the Academy of Shoreham, which was incorporated in 1811 and named for him. He was a man of influence, and a Christian. He was administrator of his father's estate, and as such on October 16, 1783, presented a claim against the town of $10 with interest for eighteen years, which was allowed.

He was a soldier of the Revolution. When Ethan Allen's party came through the town in May, 1775, he was surveying lands for the town and chopping on his land. He set his ax against a tree and joined the party, and was left with Seth Warner on the Vermont side, so did not assist in the taking of Fort Ticonderoga, but was with Warner at the capture of Crown Point. He first joined the American Army, as a servant to Gen. Artemas Ward (a neighbor and a relative, his grandmother being Record Ward), in Philadelphia. He served through the war. On the rolls his name appears: "Daniel Newton, Shrewsbury, resided in and enlisted for Shrewsbury; men raised to serve in Continental Army for 6th Worcester County regiment as returned by Capt. Asa Rice. Also joined Capt. Ward's Company, Col. Wesson's regiment, term three years. Mustered June 7, 1777. Also other services. Continental Army pay accounts for service from May 28, 1777, to Sept. 21, 1779. Reported discharged."
When he returned to Shoreham, Vt., seven years after he left there, he found his ax where he had left it. He took it up; the blade fell from the helve, cutting him on the ankle. He died at an advanced age, leaving no children.

533. MARSHALL NEWTON3, JR. (Marshall2, Obadiah1, Thomas3, John2, Richard1), son of Marshall and Eunice (Taylor) Newton of Shrewsbury, Mass., was born there January 13, 1757, and died at Newfane, Windham County, Vt., December 15, 1833, aged 76 years 11 months.

He married in Shrewsbury, Mass., December 28, 1786 (int. in Shrewsbury, July 1, 1786), Lydia Newton (2127), daughter of Solomon3 and Hannah (Hastings) Newton of Shrewsbury, where she was born August 3, 1765, and died at Newfane, Vt., May 16, 1839, aged 74. Burial beside her husband, at Newfane, in the cemetery on the hill, easterly of the old county seat.

Marshall Newton, Jr., learned the blacksmith's trade. At the age of eighteen years he entered the Continental Army to become a soldier of the Revolution. He served term after term until he had spent seven years engaged in that war. After the war, in the first granting of United States pensions, Marshall Newton, being a man of property, was not included. He felt the injustice; he had given seven years to the government; he had since then been frugal and industrious; he had paid heavy taxes to support the government; but for all that he was denied an equal standing with those who had been idle, with the poor, and with the dissipated. He did not want the money; but the principle was wrong. Later a pension was granted him, but did not reach him until a few hours before his death; $80 per year. His name appears on the army rolls in the following connection: Marshall Newton, Jr. Shrewsbury. Enlistment agreement June 2, 1775, to serve until December 31, 1775, unless sooner discharged. Also, private in Capt. Job Cushing's Company, Col. Jonathan Ward's regiment, and other services. In these engagements he was under Gen. Artemus Ward, in the right wing of the army occupying Roxbury and Dorchester. He was at Dorchester Heights on March 4, 1776, in the night scene of fortification. Private in Capt. Asa Rice, Col. Job Cushing's regiment, marched July 27, 1777, discharged August 29, 1777; marched to Manchester, discharged at Bennington, Vt. Private, Capt. John Maynard's detachment, Col. Job Cushing's regiment, marched September 29, 1777, discharged October 18, 1777; marched to Stillwater. Another roll covers the two latter dates. Private Capt. Ebenezer Ingsalbe, Col. Job Cushing, enlisted September 12, 1777, discharged November 29, 1777, northern department. Roll sworn to in Worcester County. Private, Capt. Seth Newton's Company, Col. Abijah Stearns' regiment, enlisted April 1, 1778, discharged July, 1778; served at and about Boston. Roll endorsed, "Guards att Roxbury." Private, Capt. John Drury's Company, Col. Ezra Wood's regiment, enlisted June 6, 1778, discharged February 10, 1779. Pay order signed by him, dated at Shrewsbury, April 12, 1779. Marshall Newton. Shrewsbury. 9 months men. Capt. Rice, Col. Job Cushing, mustered July 19, 1779; also descriptive list, 23 years, 5 ft. 9 in., complexion light—many other items; last discharge January 8, 1781. Marshall Newton, Leicester. Private, Capt. John Cutler's Company, Col. Luke Drury's regiment, marched from home August 20, 1781, discharged November 28, 1781. Residence Leicester. Enlisted for the town of Leicester, regiment raised for three months.

While he was with the army, a portable forge was part of the equipage, and some of the time he was detailed as blacksmith to use it, shoeing the horses, mending wagons, etc. He was never wounded, but had some thrilling and desperate experiences; in the battles of Long Island, White Plains, "in the Jereys," at Saratoga.
After the war, Mr. Newton was in Shrewsbury awhile. In 1784 or ’85 he went to Shoreham, Vt., engaging in surveying of the township into lots; thence to Newfane, Vt., where he bought six acres of land and set up a blacksmith shop and gave close attention to business. He began to build his house in 1786, moved into it within two years, but did not complete it for several years. In this house all of his children, except the eldest, were born; here he lived and died. The house still stands and is habitable.

Mr. Newton was a person of good business capacity; versatile, he could adjust his mind and the labor of his hands to the needs of the community; fashioning tools of every description; bartering them for produce, furs and other things; dealing in real estate, etc., all the time without leaving his anvil. He purchased large tracts of land on the Green Mountains that are still in the possession of his family. He accumulated quite a property, from which he was ever generous and hospitable. He called himself a Presbyterian, but there being no Presbyterian church there, he cordially supported the Congregational church of the town. He was a liberal contributor to the Academy and to all public improvements. The first school in the place was opened in his house.

The First Census of the United States, 1790, states that his family in Newfane, Vt., consisted of himself, one male above sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and three females.

He was above medium height, rather corpulent, weighing nearly two hundred pounds, and generally in good health. He served the town as one of its selectmen for the years 1789, 1797 and 1810.

534. MAJOR CALVIN NEWTON\(^25\) (Marshall\(^26\), Obediah\(^27\), Thomas\(^28\), John\(^29\), Richard\(^30\)), son of Marshall and Hannah (Willard-Roberts) Newton of Shrews-
Calvin Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. The Roster of the S. A. R. states that he was a private in the Massachusetts Artillery. In a descriptive list he appears as of Shrewsbury: the list as returned by Justin Ely, Commander, by Brig.-Gen. John Glover at Springfield, July 9, 1789; age 18, stature 5 ft. 9 in., complexion ruddy, engaged for the town of Shrewsbury; arrived at Springfield July 8, 1789. Marched to camp July 9, 1789, under command of Lieut. Jackson of the Artillery. Also, six months service returned by Brig.-Gen. Patterson, dated Totoway, October 25, 1789; other services; the last discharge, December 11, 1789, having then served five months, fifteen days, including travel home (150 miles). Later he was Major in the Vermont State Militia. He was a Revolutionary pensioner.

After his marriage he continued to reside in Shrewsbury. Both he and his wife were admitted to the church there in 1790. The First United States Census, 1790, has: “Calvin Newton. Shrewsbury, Mass. Two males above 16 years, three males below 16 years, seven females.” Of course, as he had only two children at that date, he probably had another family in the house with him—he being set down as the head of all. He is set down on the town records October 1, 1798, as occupying, but not owning his house. He was assessor for Shrewsbury for the years 1794, 1795, 1796, and held the two offices, Selectman and Treasurer, for the years 1797 and 1798. Six of his children were born in Shrewsbury. In 1798, he moved with his family to Brattleboro, Vt., where his youngest four children were born. In 1807 he removed with them to Ticonderoga, N. Y., where they lived for a while, then moved to and settled in Shoreham, Vt., where he became the Town Clerk. His handwriting on the books there is remarkably good.

Major Calvin Newton, like so many of the Newton name, was a blacksmith by trade—and a fine mechanic. He helped to iron the first steamboat built by Robert Fulton. He was a strictly honest, hard-working and conscientious man. He and his wife united with the Congregational church in Shoreham, Vt. He died and is buried in Shoreham by the side of his eldest son and his daughter Eunice, where also lie his brother Daniel and wife.

855. LIBERTY NEWTON* (Marshall, Obeliah, Thomas, John, Richard†), son of Marshall and Hannah (Willard-Roberts) Newton, of Shrewsbury, Mass., was born there, May 8, 1766, and died by his own hand in Champlain, Clinton County, N. Y., October 1, 1822. He married at Shoreham, Vt., about 1790, Cynthia, or Asintha, North, daughter of Abijah and Tryphania (Grant) North of Shoreham, Vt., who came there from Goshen and Farmington, Conn. She was born April 30, 1768, and died June 19, 1826, at Champlain, N. Y. I suppose.

* Rev. John Byington m. (1) Priscilla Ferris, who bore him one child, Caroline Priscilla. b. March 25, 1821. This wife died at Charlotte, Vt.
While he was only a boy during the whole of the war, his family state that "he served several enlistments in the Revolution." In 1789 he went to Shoreham, Vt., where he met and married his wife, and where he settled for a time. He was a blacksmith by trade, and a superior mechanic and workman, and a fine pennman. In 1801 he removed to Ticonderoga, N. Y., and built a forge at the upper falls. The First United States Census, 1790, shows Liberty Newton at Shoreham, Addison County, Vt., his family consisting of himself, one male above sixteen years, and three females. This would indicate that he had married and set up a household before the census taker came that year.

The last two decades of his life brought sorrow to himself and to all of his friends; for he became through drink a dissipated man, brought about by business reverses and mental aberration. September 5, 1865, he signed "Articles of Separation" from his wife, and the children were scattered among relatives and friends. Finally, he made a chain, in the shop, with which he hanged himself. Cynthia, his wife, after the separation, lived for a time with her brother Nathaniel North of Shoreham, then moved to Champlain, N. Y., where her brothers Abijah and Lemuel North were early settlers.

One of her granddaughters writes in 1895:—"As to my grandfather Newton, there is no doubt he was a dissipated man and took his own life; but his children considered him insane, or partially so, for several years before his death. I should judge from what I have heard of his habits, he wandered about the country, as the demented often do. Had he lived in these days he would have been confined in an asylum. But my mother loved her father and ever cherished his memory most tenderly. She always said he was a kind and indulgent father, very fond of his children, until the dark days came. He was in good circumstances in her childhood and youth. She said he was a very generous man; ever ready to help a friend in trouble. In an unfortunate moment he went bail for one of his friends, who repaid him by running away and leaving him with the bonds to pay; which swept away his entire property. After this he became very despondent and soon commenced drinking. Grandmother blamed him and this didn't help matters. Grandmother had the best judgment and was an excellent financier—that trait runs in the North family. I am sure my mother loved her father quite as well as she did her mother, notwithstanding his faults."

The First United States Census, 1790, shows Liberty Newton head of a household, which consisted of himself, one male above sixteen years, and three females. These people are not necessarily one's wife and children. They were probably a family to work for him in shop and farm.

She was called "Adaline" by the family, "She had extremely light hair, and was a famous beauty." Upon the separation of her parents she went to live with her uncle Daniel Newton in Shoreham, Vt., and remained there until her marriage, after which event she and her husband journeyed on horseback to their new home in Champlain, Vt. Their children, all born in Chazy or Champlain, Vt., were:
516. WILLIAM WALLACE NEWTON 6 (John 5, Obadiah 4, Thomas 3, John 2, Richard 1), son of John and Sarah (Wallace) Newton of Worcester, Mass., was born there October 11, 1768, according to the town record; 1789, private record. He died April 28, 1841, "at Preston, N. Y.," is one statement; another is that "he died somewhere in Pennsylvania, on his way home after going down river with a raft of lumber. He was buried where he died; but there is a stone in the North Afton Cemetery, N. Y., telling when."

Too little is positively certain about William W. Newton, his itinerary and his life. His posterity know of him prior to his coming to New York State, except that "he came from the east" and settled in Bainbridge, Chenango County, N. Y., where he was a farmer. They have an idea that the oldest of his twelve children was born somewhere in Connecticut, and the others before he came to New York.

He married, about 1790, Lydia Wells, of whose birth and marriage as little is known by her descendants, although she was living in 1852. She was born in 1774, and was the mother of his twelve children. After his death she married (2), "we think in Preston, N. Y.," (Chenango County) a Mr. Stafford, who probably died there. He died and she went to live with her son, Thomas Newton, in Bainbridge, N. Y., where she spent the remainder of her life.

The First United States Census, 1790, shows a William Newton and wife heads of a family at Sutton, Mass.—no other members in it—who might have been this man. There was no other of the name who so nearly conforms with his then conditions—i. e. a very young couple, just married. A record of his children has been preserved in the family. It gives me pleasure to place it here.

774. REV. EPHRAIM HOLLAND NEWTON* (Marshall, Jr. Marshall, Obadiah1, Thomas2, John3, Richard4), son of Marshall, Jr., and Lydia (Newton) Newton of Shrewsbury, Mass., and Newfane, Windham County, Vt., was born at Newfane, Vt. [at the home of his aunt, and was given the name of her husband], June 13, 1787. He died at Colila, a village in the town of Cambridge, Washington County, N. Y., October 26, 1864. Burial beside his wife in Woodlands Cemetery, at Cambridge, N. Y.

He married at Shoreham, Vt., January 29, 1815, Huldah Chipman, eldest daughter of General Timothy Fuller and Polly (Smith) Chipman* of Shoreham, Vt., where she was born May 14, 1789. She died at Jackson, N. Y., November 20, 1853. An excellent and devout woman. She was a lineal descendant from John Howland of the Mayflower.

* John Chipman, the immigrant, was "ye only son & heir of Mr. Thomas Chipman Late deceased at Branspottor about five miles from Dorchester in Dorsetshire in England," the said Thomas Chipman owning lands thereabout that were entailed to him and his heirs, the ownership being contested by relatives of the said John Chipman after the death of his father, at which time John Chipman was in America and he "Supposeth his age to be about thirty seven years; it being now May Twenty & one year Since he came out of England." (Quoted from an old document.)

John Chipman was "born about 1614, came from Barnstable, Co. Devon, Eng. in July 1621": settled in Barnstable, Mass., where he was selectman, deputy, and elder. He died there April 7, 1708. He m. 1st in 1646, Hope Howland, b. at Barnstable Jan. 30, 1629, d. there Jan. 8, 1683-4, daughter of the immigrants, John Howland and his wife Elizabeth Tilley, of the Mayflower, 1620. The youngest was Benjamin Chipman, b. 1702.

Samuel Chipman, succeeded to the original estate in Barnstable, which, never conveyed otherwise than by inheritance in the male line, was in 1801 occupied by his descendant of the fifth generation.

Barbara Chipman, b. March 24, 1702; d. there, a deacon of the church, in 1759. He m. at Barnstable Feb. 20, 1727, Elizabeth Hambleton (whom I suppose was the dau. of Isaac Hambleton and wife Elizabeth Howland, and born at Barnstable Oct. 1751). He m. 2d Oct. 31, 1751, Mary Chipman. He m. 3d, Alice Howland. A son by first wife was:

Thomas Chipman, b. 1757; d. ; m. May 7, 1759, m. Bethia Fuller, b. at Chester, Core, ——; d. at Shoreham, Vt. Their son.

General Timothy Fuller Chipman, b. Feb. 1, 1761, at Barnstable; d. at Shoreham, Vt. May 17, 1830; m. May 24, 1788, Polly Smith, b. at Shoreham, Vt. Their daughter Huldah, b. May 11, 1790, m. Rev. Ephraim Holland Newton.

"Stephen Smith was one of four brothers, who settled on the Lake road, from which it took the name of "Smith Street. They emigrated from Nine Partners, Dutchess County, N. Y., to Spencertown, N. Y., thence to Manchester, Vt., from there to this town." [Hist. of Shoreham, Vt., by Rev. J. F. Goodhue.] Stephen Smith married Martha Whipple and had eleven children. The fourth child was Polly, who married at Shoreham, Vt. May 24, 1786, Timothy F. Chipman.

For an account of "Nine Partners" (or nine proprietors), see vol. 32, pp. 340, 424, of N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg.
The following sketch of this excellent man I copy from the History of Newfane, Vt., but have very much condensed: "He spent his early youth in labor with his father in the blacksmith's shop. He had a special fondness even then for books, and determined to acquire something more than a common school education, and even as he worked his book lying near enabled him to commit much to memory. At nineteen he taught school in Marlborough, Vt., with success. He fitted for college at the school in Newfane, and entered Middlebury College, October 6, 1806. April, 1810, he united with the Congregational church at Middlebury; entered Andover (Mass.) Theological Seminary, November, 1810; completed the course 1813, and was licensed to preach. His first labors were at Marlborough, Vt. On March 16, 1814, was ordained and installed over that church, where he continued till January 1, 1833—a successful ministry, when many were added to the church. He became pastor of the Presbyterian church at Glens Falls, N. Y., February 28, 1833, continuing there about three and one-half years. November, 1836, to August, 1843, he was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Cambridge, N. Y. In July, 1843, he was elected principal of Cambridge Washington Academy, which post he filled acceptably until August, 1848. Having a fondness for natural science, Dr. Newton early in life gave his attention to mineralogy and geology. He gathered about 10,000 specimens, which in 1857 he presented to the Theological Seminary at Andover, Mass. His Library of about 1,000 volumes he presented to Middlebury College. 1860 to 1862, he occupied the pulpit at Marlborough, Vt,—the one where his labors began. About this time he was elected to the State Legislature of Vermont. While in this service he was attacked with a severe fit of sickness, from which he never wholly recovered.

"From his Alma Mater he received the degree of D.D. He was a man of great industry. In business and as an accountant, he was proverbially accurate. He was a devoted and faithful minister of Christ. His life was filled with usefulness. In the 'Old' and 'New School' controversy, he espoused the 'Old School' side. He was spare in person, rather tall, of a grave countenance, sometimes wearing a shade of sadness. But he was cheerful and pleasant in conversation and intercourse, with a vein of humor."

Mr. Newton's children were all born at Marlborough, Vt. The house which he built there in 1814, and in which all of his children were born, is still standing, 1912.

bride and Coila, a village of Cambridge, N. Y., where their children were born. In 1857, Mrs. Stevenson removed to Pittsfield, Mass., and erected a house on the corner of West Homansonic and Elizabeth streets, where she lived to make glad the hearts of all who knew her for the many years that remained, her two widowed daughters tenderly caring for her. She was early in life a member of the Presbyterian church—later a member of the United Presbyterian and, at Pittsfield, of the Congregational church—always an active and hearty worker therein. It would please me to incorporate here the fine memoriam of her published in pamphlet form, but space will not permit. She joined the Daughters of the American Revolution, in 1897, the Peace Party Chapter of Pittsfield, in its beginning. She was quite an enthusiastic helper to me in giving data for this Newton record. Her children were:

1131. 2. John McAllister Stevenson, Jr., b. Aug., 31, 1846; res. Pittsfield, Mass.; m. Hattie Under. She is a member of the D. A. R.; in 1906 9 was Recent of her Chapter. Children:

1153. v. Ephraim Hollam*, Jr. (M.D.), b. Jan. 7, 1825; d. in Byram, Mass., Sept. 27, 1874. He studied medicine with Dr. William Nelson in Cambridge, N. Y.; went to Ohio about 1853; from there went South, and entered the Confederate Army as surgeon, "from policy not principle." He was very nearsighted; was fond of music; played the flute and piano; was a fine pianist; not married. His remains were removed to the family lot of his father in Woodlands Cemetery, Cambridge, N. Y.

He married at Newfane, Vt., December 25, 1815, Patty Bartlett, eldest daughter of Capt. William and Azubah (Gleason?) Bartlett of Newfane, Vt., where she was born July 11, 1791, and where she died at her home in Wardsborough, November 28, 1848; "only a few weeks after the death of Aunt Eunice" (Mrs. Holland).

Sir Isaac Newton was so christened. His burial stone is so inscribed. He settled in that part of Newfane, Vt., that later became Wardsborough. The house is still (1906) standing—owned by a man in Boston. Here Mr. Newton's children were born. In 1891 not one of these ten children was living in Vermont.

Mr. Newton took an active part in the civic affairs of the town, and evidently was held in good repute by his fellow townsman, since they elected and reelected him to be their Selectman for the years 1831, '36, '38, '39, '40; Moderator of the Annual Meeting in 1833; and Town Clerk for the years 1849 and 1856.

*Perhaps the following may be the correct descent of Patty Bartlett. I give it as a suggestion to start some one for the proof or disproof of it. I think it correct: Henry Bartlett of Marlborough and Mary Bush of the same place were married there Dec. 6, 1682, and had there seven children. The second was

Jan. 15, 1761. They prob. remarried soon after marriage from these towns as there is no further mention, and their eldest daughter "Patty" [or Martha] was born at Newfane, Vt., July 11, 1791.

He married (2) at Wardsborough, Vt., December 14, 1836, Nancy Tufts, daughter of Rev. James and Sarah Tufts of Wardsborough, Vt., born May 11, 1811, and died at Newfane, Vt., December 22, 1896.

Mr. Newton resided in Newfane, Vt., where his children were born. The house that he built is occupied by his daughters, the Misses Fanny and Mary Newton, who have always lived there.

Three of Mr. Newton's sons were soldiers in the Civil War.

Mr. Newton was a trusted citizen of his town and vicinity. I quote the following from the History of Newfane, Vt. It is a good record for any man to leave behind him in his home town. It is written of him: "He had more than ordinary intelligence and good sense. He was modest and unobtrusive in his deportment; exceedingly practical in his views; respected for his judgment. He was for forty years honored with the most important municipal offices in the gift of his townsmen. He represented the town in the General Assembly two years [1847, 1856]; was high sheriff of the county one year, and for six consecutive years was elected and served as Assistant Judge of Windsor (Vt.) Court. At the time of his decease he was Treasurer and Deputy County Clerk. During the last years of his life he was largely engaged in the execution of responsible trusts growing out of the settlements of estates. From his own ample means he distributed his charities with a liberal and open hand. He was greatly respected while living and sincerely mourned at his decease."

The years he was Selectman were 1847, 1850, 1851, 1852, 1853, 1855, 1860. During these years he was Moderator of the Annual Meeting in 1849, '50, '59, '61, '63; Constable, 1859, '41, '45, '46, '47, '48; Town Clerk, 1867 and 1868.

He finished his term of enlistment. His eyesight was affected and he became blind. He went into the National Soldiers' Home at Washington, D. C., where he spent the winters, carousing with books in the summers. There he died, Sept. 29, 1900.

In a letter to a friend he writes: "I was captured in that disgraceful surrender at Harper's Ferry, Sept. 15, 1862." His regiment was paroled and ordered to Chicago to guard prisoners; where it remained until April 1, 1863, when it was ordered East and exchanged at City Point, Va. These sisters are worthy daughters of their father; energetic, good mental capacity, enterprising, public spirited, progressive. At the Centennial Celebration in Newfane, I find the name of Miss Fanny Newton on the committee of arrangements. "Cousin Mary is quite a literary woman. Just now is, and for some time has been correspondent to the Brattleboro Vermont. Herald. They live in the house their father built when the present Newfane was Fayetteville. Newfane was on the top of the hill—three miles straight up. There is little left of the old, busy, little village on the hill except the little marble stones with numbers on them, and where the Court-house stood is a larger marble on which is the key to the numbers. One stone marks the site of Luke Knowlton's house (he was brother-in-law of Col. Ephraim Holland, who married Emma Newton); another the site of the church; and so on. I am proud to say that it was the nice thought of Cousin Mary Newton to mark these sites, as most of the buildings were taken bodily down the hill to the valley of Fayetteville and the others were entirely destroyed."

Y., was born March 5, 1791, and died at Bainbridge, Chenango County, N. Y., January 30, 1866. He married in Connecticut, October 4, 1810, Abiah Miller, whose parents moved from Connecticut to Ohio. She was born February 2, 1789, and died February 8, 1875, at Collinsville, Hartford County, Conn. She had nine children.

Mr. Newton lived, a few years before his marriage, and after, in Simsbury, 1809, and Granby, 1812, Hartford County, Conn. About 1813 he removed to Bainbridge, Chenango County, N. Y., where he settled and lived the remainder of his life. The first two children were born in Connecticut, the others in Bainbridge.

The following sketch, written by his granddaughter in a letter to me, is both interesting and tells much of genealogical value; and should be preserved here. She writes: "We know very little except of GrandFather, Capt. John Newton, as he was always called. The first we know of his early life—after he finished school—he went into a clergyman's family for the winter to finish his studies, taking mathematics, bookkeeping, English composition, vocal and instrumental music. Flute and clarionette, specialties. For years afterward he was a vocal teacher and very proficient in that branch. Later he went to Connecticut, where he married and remained until their oldest child (my mother) was 3 years of age, when they returned to Bainbridge and resided until the close of his life. He was one of the leading business men of the town. The same is true of his membership in the Episcopal church. He owned large tracts of land which he cultivated; had a saw-mill and carried on a large business in lumbering; had a flour-mill, which he operated. He was not a mechanic or a carpenter, but he certainly was a builder, for there are now six houses standing of his building—had built. Yet all through his active, busy years, he kept up his music, being chorister in his church until nearly seventy years of age—repeatedly resigning and as often recalled. His eldest daughter, my mother, when sixteen years of age was sent away to learn instrumental music. He had an organ built expressly for her. She was the first organist in the town, and played the first church organ in the town; her father being chorister. When my mother married her next sister took her place, and when she married and removed to Green, her next sister took the place—and so on until four daughters had officiated for a time. By that time my eldest sister, Amy Pearsall, who inherited her mother's and grandfather's musical talent, was installed organist, and after her, my sister Emily, until her leaving for Salt Lake, as a Missionary under Bishop Tuttle—grandfather being chorister the while, resigning, and being recalled on account of his superior talent.

"My grandfather was Captain of the Military Company of the Town. At Military drills every year, it was my pride to see him in his three-cornered hat, epaulets and sword, mounted on his gay horse, giving orders to his men; while we little urchins hung over the gate eating gingerbread and molasses candy. They were great days, those general training days.

"My grandfather's brothers were all prosperous agriculturists."

* George Graham, b. in Dublin, Ireland, m. 1792, Elizabeth Skinner. They lived in Stonestown, Somerset County, Pa. When he came to America is unknown to the family. His son, George Graham, Jr., m. Ellen Findlay Murdock.
Registrar of the Ohio Society of Sons of the Revolution; a member of the Mayflower Society, through descent from John Howland and Stephen Hopkins. He died of heart disease, suddenly, while sitting at his desk. Funeral from Grace Episcopal church, College Hill, Cincinnati, Ohio, December 11, 1897. His widow and his daughter live at the home in College Hill, a suburb of Cincinnati (1912).

In reply to my desire for further information regarding the life and work of her father, his daughter writes: "My father did not graduate from Williams College, but came West to Section Ten, as Northwestern Ohio was then called, to his brother Silas Chipman Newton.

"In 1850 he walked across the plains to the gold-fields of California; was in the mines making a living as he could for two years. Then, as he was ill, he went on a ‘tramp schooner’ that plied up and down the Pacific Coast—became so fond of the sea that he took longer voyages, to Lima, and Valparaiso—living on shore a few weeks until his money was used up, then on ship again to earn more. He served as cook or seaman or able seaman, or anything. He sailed around the Horn, and was in Rio Janeiro some months. Then, suddenly, he decided to go home; shipped on the old man-of-war 'Massachusetts.' He was at home a few months, then went to Troy, N. Y.; studied law and was admitted to the Bar; then went out West to Omaha, which he helped to lay out—for he was in the Land Office. He drifted back to Cincinnati, where his brother Chipman had now settled, and went into a hank; was in a County Clerk's office for a while; but found his natural vocation finally in the Library, which he loved as a child. And among those books he died. I don't think I have given you all his occupations. He used to say he had 30 different ones during his career."

1408. i. ELLEN HULIHAN b. May 29, 1808, at Cincinnati, Ohio; never married; resides with her mother at 5997 Belmont Ave, College Hill, a suburb of Cincinnati, Ohio. In reply to my questions, she writes of herself thus: "As you know, my father was librarian of a city library for twenty years, and a man of great learning; but he did not send his one child to school. I have had books around me, and have heard them talked of all my life, and consequently have read a great deal, and have written a little myself. I paint a little, garden, embroider, do church work (I am an Episcopalian), like to cook, and keep house. In short "a Jack of all trades, master of none." It is only just to add, that Miss Newton is an efficient helper in many lines of social uplift; as is instanced in the prominent places accorded her by those with whom she is associated. She is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and of the Ohio Mayflower Society, organized April 25, 1898—charter member; through descent from John Howland, Stephen Hopkins and John Tilly. BRANCH OF MOSES

THIRD GENERATION AND CHILDREN

65. MOSES NEWTON³, J.R. (Moses², Richard¹), son of Moses, Sr., and Johanna (Larkin) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there February 28, 1669. There is no record of his death; but that he survived his wife is the inference to be drawn from the record of her death, which is written "wife" and not "widow."

He married at Marlborough, December 11, 1695, Sarah How, daughter of Isaac and Frances (Woods) How* of Marlborough, where she was born January 28, 1675. She died in Southborough, December 4, 1733, "Wife of Moses."

I suppose this is the Moses Newton who married in Southborough (where they both resided), October 31, 1743, Mrs. Rebecca (Newton) Mixer, widow of Benjamin Mixer, who died in 1728. She was cousin of this Moses Newton, being daughter of Isaac Newton², son of Richard¹. See her number (182).

Moses Newton³, Jr., probably lived all of his life in Marlborough-Southborough. He already owned lands there as appears from the deed below, when in 1703 he received in his father's lifetime, by deed of gift, his portion of the estate.

In the settlement of Shrewsbury, Mass., there appears to have been the usual petition for the grant, signed by those who became original proprietors. The original petition, or a copy of it, cannot be found. It was probably destroyed in 1769, when the State House, with numerous files of valuable papers, was burned. There is, however, extant the order for the committee to lay out the "several House lots in said lands, in number and quantity as set down against each Grantee's name, respectively, upon and with the following conditions and provisos, and not otherwise." One condition was that the said petitioner should settle at least one family on each farm within six years. The committee sat at Boston October 23, 1717. Lot No. 17 was granted "to Moses Newton, fifty-one acres and an half, 51½," December 30, 1718. Several years later the proprietors required an account of these house lots, the quantity of meadow and so forth allotted to each, to be entered on their book. The following is a copy of "Lot No. 17, Granted to Moses Newton, Dec. 30, 1718. This 17th Houselot in Shrewsbury contains in it 59 acres, and hath a 50 acre right belonging to it, &c. and is situated East from Ashans hill, and is bounded Easterly by the town line, Westerly by the 18th House Lot [John Shattuck, 58 acres], Southerly and Northerly by undivided land. The Swamp within the Lot is estimated as 2½ acres of valuable meadow. He hath to make up his division of meadow, 2½ acres of meadow and swamp near the South East part of Rocky Pond. This Lot (17) is now, Jan. 31, 1729, in the possession of Aaron Newton," who was a son of this Moses Newton³; and another son, Elisha Newton, in 1765, held "in right of 17th House Lot, next his own land." Thus it would seem the grant was a foresight of Moses Newton³ for the purpose of providing for his sons.

*How, Howe. John Howe of Sudbury, Mass., was one of the petitioners in 1657 for the grant of Marlborough. He lived first in Watertown, where he was in 1639. He was admitted freeman in 1687, and his wife, Mary, died about that time. He opened the first public house in Marlborough. He was a man of energy, justice and impartiality in his dealings; a good citizen and a prominent man in the community. He is supposed to be descended from the Hoves of Warwickshire, Eng. He had eleven children. One was Isaac Howe. b. Aug. 8, 1648; d. Dec. 9, 1724; m. Jan. 17, 1671, Frances Woods, who d. May 14, 1718; and by m. (2) Dec. 2, 1718, Susanna Sibley of Sutton. He had eight children. The second was Sarah², b. Jan. 28, 1673; m. Moses Newton² (Moses³).

There is no Probate record of the settlement of his estate either in Middlesex or in Worcester counties. He was living as late as February 17, 1721, as shown in the abstract of deed below.

The family of Moses Newton, seated in Marlborough, where all the children were born.

The following deed is interesting in connection with the ancestry of Moses Newton's wife and her mother. The three Ansldens are brothers, and one of them married Hannah Newton. See note to John Newton.

It is supposed I saw the statement as though written by John Ward Dean, she was the daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Gale) Garfield of Watertown, born July 6, 1688. If so, she would have been several years the elder. I suppose he was the Isaac Newton of Stafford, Conn., whose pedigree is much searched for.

He married at Marlborough, March 11, 1696-7, Hannah Leonard, daughter of Isaac and Deliverance (——) Leonard; of Bridgewater, and perhaps of

*John Winsel, Sr. of Sudbury, and an early proprietor and prominent man of Marlborough; will proved 1678; m. Mary Parmenter; and had in Sudbury, John, Jr., 1641; Frances, b. DELIVERANCE ———. Their children, born in Bridgewater, were: Isaac, b.
Worcester. She was born at Bridgewater, March 15, 1680, and died, possibly at Easton, April 22, 1753, aged 73.

She married (2) —— Nathaniel Manley (son of William of Easton), who died April 21, 1753, and had five children by him, namely: Ichabod, 1709; Hannah, 1711; Rebecca, 1714; Elizabeth, 1716; Mary, 1720.

David Newton's hands, consisting of his homestead of twenty acres, with dwellinghouse and a "shop," were in Marlborough, where his three children were born. He made his will the day before he died, signing with his mark. May 26, 1702, the will was probated and the widow Hannah, admitted executor. It seems that "the providence of God" did "so order it yt She Should Marry againe," and probably, Moses Newton Sr., who was made overseer of the will, had much to do in the bringing up of the children. Inventory, 594, 60.

David Newton was one of those opposed to the settlement of Rev. John Emerson as pastor.

The capture of David Newton's will and inventory states that they were filed "26: May 1702" and recorded in vol. 10, page 459. This will and probate were copied (they were traced) for me by Mr. Summer F. Brown, who describes the paper: "This Will and probate, all on one sheet of decked edge erasce unruled paper, folded in middle to make four pages. The will & probate on front page, second blank, third with the Caption & record & other memoranda, & fourth with the inventory, or rather the Will & Inventory on the inside 2 pages—Will right, Inventory left."

Some of his hands were his by deed of gift from his father a short time before. [See an abstract of the deed under Moses Newton².] Not land granted to Moses Newton², but purchased by him—in part.

1583. 3. Thankful, b. Oct. 30, 1701; d. at Bridgewater in 1779; m. there in 1724, Jonathan Washburn, son of Jonathan and Mary (Vaughn of Middleborough) Washburn of Bridgewater, Mass., where he was born in 1700, and where he died in 1766. They resided at Bridgewater, where their daughter was born. He sold his house and lands to this daughter and her husband in 1755.

1584. 1. Rebekah Washburn, b. prob. between 1726 and 1735; m. Aug. 8, 1769, Ebenezer Pratt (2d wife), son of Dea. Solomon and Sarah (Johnson) Pratt of Bridgewater, born there in 1731. He settled in Middleborough, Mass.

78. EDWARD NEWTON* (Moses, Richard), son of Moses, Sr., and Johanna (Larkin) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there March 25, 1676 (1675 Middlesex Rec.); died at Marlborough, April 8, 1704.

He married at Marlborough, December 23, 1700, Mary Leonard, daughter of Samuel and Abigail (Wood) Leonard of Bridgewater, Mass., born ——, died at Westborough, wife of David Brigham, December 1, 1748. She married (2) in Marlborough, October 21, 1709 [Nov. C. R.], as his second wife, David Brigham, son of Thomas and Mary (Rice) Brigham of Marlborough, where he was born April 12, 1678. They had four children born in Marlborough; then removed to Westborough and had there two more. He died at Westborough, Mass., June 26, 1750. His will is dated June 14, 1748.

Edward Newton seems to have been comfortably settled in Marlborough when he died, without making a will, at the early age of 29 years. His house and lands, worth £69, together with the "movables" of his estate, made a good beginning for a young man at that period of time. Of his life we know only that he was one of those opposed to the settlement of Rev. John Emerson, and what the papers in connection with the administration of his estate convey. These papers are many, and all are interesting; interesting not only as they pertain to this estate, but as showing with what carefulness and precision legal affairs were then performed—even as now.

* John Washburn was one of the early settlers in Duxbury, Mass. He had an action in court in 1632; was taxed in 1632; purchased land in 1634; was among the first freemen of Duxbury. He and his son John were original proprietors of Bridgewater; settled in East Bridgewater and died in 1670. His sons, John and Philip.

John Washburn, b. 1621; d. Dec. 12, 1685, m. Abigail (reputed) Washburn; b. Bridgewater; d. 1700, res. Duxbury and Bridgewater; m. Elizabeth Mitchell, dau. of Experience Mitchell, who came 1623 in the ship Ann. They had eleven children. One was John and another was Jonathan.

Jonathan Washburn, b. ——; m. about 1683 Mary Vaughan, dau. of George Vaughan of Middleborough. They had nine children, one was Jonathan, Jr.

Jonathan, Jr., b. 1700; d. 1760; res. Bridgewater; m. 1724 Thankful Newton, dau. of David and Hannah (Leonard) Newton of Bridgewater.

3. David Brigham (Thomas, Thomas), b. 1678; m. 11. Deborah How, who died Oct. 11, 1708. She had John, 1704; d. 1705; m. Susanna; res. Shrewsbury; David, 1705; Daniel, 1706; d. 1714, s. p. He m. 12. 1709, Mrs. Mary (Leonard) Newton. He was a surveyor in Marlborough in 1714, but on division of the town in 1717 was thrown into Westborough, where he held town offices; six years selectman, seven years overseer of leather. As one of the privileged class he was voted a pew in the meetinghouse. He settled on a wild tract of about 600 acres of land, including the present hospital grounds and several adjacent farms in Westborough and Northborough. His house was about sixty rods from where the present Isaac Aymon is. His house was burned there in 1737. His will, dated June 11, 1748, six months before the death of Mary, his 2d wife, ratified deeds of land previously given to his children, and giving his wife room in the house and life use of movables, which were to be equally distributed among his children and his "son-in-law" (stepson) Edward Newton, at her death; his son Josiah to be executor. The children were: silica, 1710; Jonathan, 1712; Deborah, 1714; Eliz., 1715; Capt. Joseph, 1718; Maj. Josiah, 1721, who m. Mary Newton (dau. of Dea. Josiah).

Samuel Leonard (son of Solomon), b. about 1645 or before, prob. at Duxbury, Mass., was living 1723. "Planter," he is styled; res. Bridgewater; m. (1) Abigail Wood; m. (2) Deborah. The children were: Mary, b. ——; m. Edward Newton; Mercy, m. Richard Adams; Elizabeth, m. Thomas Clark; Samuel, m. Lydia, —— by 2d, Deborah, had Abigail, m. Isaac Reed; Phebe, 1703. [For Solomon Leonard, see note to Moses Newton*]
These papers will be found in the Probate Court at East Cambridge, Mass., old series. The gentleman who copied them for me has traced many of them and described all of them, thus presenting them to our eyes almost as the originals. The many signatures are of much interest. Those to the inventory are John Newton² and Jonathan Johnson³, Jr., cousins of Edward Newton³.

BRANCH OF MOSES

of names tells us who were the neighbors of Jonathan Newton as late as 1711. They were all more or less closely connected with the Newton family.

He was a farmer, like everybody else, to a greater or less extent, in those times.

He had distributed his property among his children and his wife during his lifetime, as his will would suggest. I do not know that Nathan Newton, the son who was made sole executor, then resided with his father, but at one time he resided in the "garrison house."

This was known to Sophia Newton, granddaughter of Nathan, who so reported to me. Nathan may have been living in the house with his parents at this time and in charge of the farm. A "garrison house" was always selected on account of its being larger, more central, and more easily defended than those about it. There were fruit pickets inclosing the houses, which soon perished after the use for them was gone. Near to this garrison house was the house of John Newton, Jr., to which many other families were assigned, and both were in what became Southborough.

As Mr. Newton does not provide for his wife by will, we suppose he had already done so while living, in the same way that he had given to his children. And now, the will seems principally to have been made to ensure that his unmarried daughters shall have a roof-covering by right always in their father's house. The widow, Bethia, died the year after her husband. She, too, seems to have given away all while living, as there is no settlement of her estate.

The papers of the Administration and the will are here given:

97. DEACON JOHN JOSIAH NEWTON* (Moses*, Richard*), son of Moses and Joanna (Larkin) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there November 19, 1688, and died in Westborough, Mass., February 9, 1755.

He married in Marlborough ——, 1716, C. R. 1, Elizabeth Woods.

The will of Deacon Joseph Newton†, dated April 18, 1726, has the following: "The will of Deacon Joseph Newton, dated April 18, 1726, has the following:

"Then, I give Elizabeth Newton the wife of Joseph Newton one pewter Plater only having already advanced her portion for [a gift, crossed out] her service Done to me before her marriage. Also she is to have all the Books having her name written in them." It seems to me this Elizabeth Woods may have been a near relative of the wife of Deacon Joseph Newton†, Katherine Woods, and lived with them before marriage as one of the family. The daughters of Deacon Joseph are so designated in the will.

Deacon Josiah Newton* married (2) in Westborough, Mass., December 8, 1739, C. R., Ruanaham Maynard, daughter of David and Hannah (———) Maynard* of Marlborough, where she was born December 20, 1706. She died ——.

In 1757 Deacon Josiah Newton bought for £377 "six-tenths of one whole share that is already botted out, or to be botted out; there being twelve shares or whole proprietors" in Lundstown, now Hardwick, out of which property he gave farms to his sons Silas† and Timothy‡.

He died February 9, 1755, aged about 67, in Westborough, leaving what was then a large estate, valued at £328. 4s. 7d. His widow, Ruanaham, survived him.

In the division of Deacon Newton's estate in 1755 a share was assigned to Elizabeth, wife of Silas Warren, apparently the eldest daughter, and a share to his daughter Mary, wife of Asa Brigham.

Deacon Josiah Newton* was a tanner.

His children were born in Westborough, six by first wife and ten by second wife. Their names are also recorded in Hardwick. When and where the two wives died does not appear.

Deacon Newton seems always to be identified with Westborough. I doubt if he ever lived in Hardwick—though he bought land there. His will was exec Deacon Josiah Newton\(^3\) lived in Westborough, Mass., where for many years he was a prominent citizen. His land and that of Thomas Newton\(^2\), son of John\(^2\) (Richard\(^1\)), were set off from Marlborough, and they both took active part in church and town affairs.

On the 18th of November, 1717, the westerly part of the territory of Marlborough, then known as Chauney, was incorporated with other lands, and received the name of Westborough. Subsequent additions were made to this tract from Sutton in 1728, from Shrewsbury in 1762 and 1763, and from Upton in 1763. In 1766 the Second Precinct of Westborough was made the District of Northborough, and in 1775 this was set off as a separate town.

Westborough was incorporated November 18, 1717; the church organized October 28, 1724. Northborough was incorporated October 29, 1741; the church organized May 21, 1746. Southborough was incorporated July 6, 1727; the church organized October 24, 1759.

At the time of the incorporation of Westborough, there were in the town twenty-six families and six young men. A month after the incorporation, on January 15, 1718, it was voted to build a meeting house, Thomas Newton\(^2\) being one of the building committee. He was chosen to be one of the selectmen 1718, '19, '22, '25, '29. Josiah\(^3\) was chosen selectman 1726, '33-'34, '35-'36, '39, '52-'54, and his son Barnabas\(^1\), 1757-'58. Later their descendants, Daniel Fay Newton, 1848-'49, '54, '68, '72-'74, and Otis Newton\(^1\), 1851, '52, '58, held that office, as well as town clerk and town treasurer. Josiah\(^1\) was treasurer 1755, '56, '48, '50, '52, '53. Abner\(^1\), son of Thomas\(^1\), was town treasurer 1759-60. Barnabas\(^1\), son of Josiah\(^1\), town treasurer 1779-'81.

At a meeting October 28, 1724, the evangelical church in Westborough was organized with twelve members. Josiah Newton was the moderator of the meeting (1724) to call a minister. The first minister was Rev. Ebenezer Parkman. He recorded on the fly leaf of his church record the names of the first inhabitants of the town, among whom are Thomas\(^1\) and Josiah\(^2\) Newton.

Thomas\(^2\) was one of the original members of the church. Other early members of the name were: Josiah\(^3\), April 4, 1727; his wife, Rukannah, February 14, 1713; Vashti, wife of Abner\(^1\) (Thomas\(^2\)), February 22, 1736; Elizabeth, September 6, 1741, and Barnabas\(^1\), April 11, 1739 (she was dismissed and he died); and Eunice, the wife of Barnabas\(^1\), April 11, 1739, the same date as his.

In February, 1728, an earthquake having given opportunity for the minister to warn the people, the meeting was called to consider charges against Josiah Newton\(^3\), "Military Clerk," and afterward Deacon. Josiah Newton\(^3\) was elected Deacon, June 8, 1738.

February 5, 1729, the town gave "the vacant room behind ye front Gallery to" [seven men, one being Abner Newton\(^1\)], "as far as ye south window, to build a pew" (in the meeting house), "they making a good seat before their pew for ye Boys, and mending ye glass and barring ye casement of sd window." In 1748-'49 Deacon Josiah\(^3\) and Abner\(^1\) Newton were on the building committee to build a new meetinghouse.

February 6, 1753. Voted to sell no pew-spots to non-residents. The price ranged from $1. 6. 8. to $5. 12. 9. Deacon Josiah Newton\(^3\) had the "first on left of pulpit." "Widdo Vashy Newton" had, "in hind seats on right hand, next to women."

He was born in Westborough, Dec. 2, 1721; lapt. in Marlborough, April he and his wife were admitted to the church in 1745. He was the first captain of the South Militia Company in the town and removed about public worship, and May 27, 1751, the houses of "old Warren and goodman Hammond" were ordered searched for quakers. He appears to have agreed in religious sentiments with Dr. John Clark of Newport and others who were all probably Baptists. His wife, Martha, died

Mass., were:

Nov. 6, 1782, and he died Dec. 15, 1797, aged 82. His will, dated Sept. 30, and proved Dec.

Jan. 30, 1723-40. He was brother of Eunice Bond, wife of Barnabas Newton above. They lived first in Westborough, then in North Brookfield and finally in Brookfield. From this marriage came a numerous posterity of worthy people. Henry Bond in his History of Watertown gives the names of seventy-one grandchildren, and 198 great-grandchildren. In their naming the name Newton occurs many times. Thomas Bond was a soldier of the French war, Aug. 1, 1754, in Captain Fay’s Company.

Their children were:

1. Eunice Elizabeth Bond, b. March 29, 1766; was living, 1852, with her son Thomas D. Gilbert, in Templeton; m. Nov. 4, 1790, Humphrey Gilbert, a farmer of North Brookfield. Ten children.

99. Ebenezer Newton3 (Moses5, Richard), son of Moses and Joanna (Larkin) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there July 26, 1692, and died at Southborough, Mass., November 16, 1765.

He married at Marlborough, Mass., October 25, 1722, Joanna Larkin, daughter of Edward5 and Mary (Walker) Larkin6 of Charlestown, Mass., where she was born March 19 or 25, 1688-9, and died at Southborough, Mass., January 29, 1745-6.

Ebenezer6 lived in that part of Marlborough which was set off in 1727 as the town of Southborough. The births of the first three children occurred in Marlborough; the births of the last three in Southborough.

Ebenezer Newton was his father’s youngest son. When he became of age, the deeds show that his father gave to him, and to his brother Jacob, jointly, the homestead and all lands and rights then held by Moses, Sr., except a piece of meadow. Neither of the young men were then married; had probably always lived with their parents, who were now advanced in years and willing to give over into younger hands the management of their affairs.

In the fall of 1722, Ebenezer married, and in the spring of 1724 there was a readjustment, in order that there might be two families in the house, instead of only the one and all things in common. The two deeds show how this was accomplished by gift and exchange. Up to this time they had apparently lived in Waltham, Feb. 18, 1742; m. Barnabas Newton3 (s. Josiah2); Josiah, b. in Mendon, 1741; m. 1801, Hepzibah Pratt; res. Westborough, res. to State of New York, and later to Beacon, Ohio, thence to Randolph; Lydia5, b. Mendon, 1727; m. ——— Wettick; Elizabeth6, b. Westborough, 1732; d. 1756; Lucy5, b. Westborough, 1735.

in the house as one family; as shortly before, Moses, Sr., had made his will, wherein he says: “my two sons Jacob and Ebenezer (who now dwell together)” —and besides these sons, there were Moses, Sr., his wife and their granddaughter, Mercy Leonard. Ebenezer’s wife was a granddaughter of his mother. [See note to John Newton?]

I do not find the court settlement of his estate, if there was one. See Moses Newton² for the deeds.

FOURTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

1489. ISAAC NEWTON,² of Stafford, Conn. [It seems to me that this is the eldest son of Moses Newton² (Moses², Richard²), born in Marlborough, Mass. “[Aug. 21.] ———” (prob. 1696), who married December 8, 1719, Grace Garfield, and then is not again mentioned on the records of either Marlborough or Southborough, or the surrounding towns. He simply disappears from that vicinity. It is not unreasonable to suppose that he knew of the trail down into Connecticut and so on to New York City, that soon after his marriage he followed that trail as far as Windsor, Conn., and finding that place to his mind desirable there for several years. Later, when the town of Stafford had advanced in population enough to become desirable as a place of residence—there may have been a “boom” in town lots—he took up land there.]

The first records of the town of Stafford, Conn., were in 1720. “In 1720 Stafford was laid out as a town in the Colony of Connecticut.” “Isaac Newton’s name occurs on the Stafford land records in 1740, 1749 and 1752.” “On March 21, 1752, is recorded the sale of land to his son Moses.” “In 1748 Isaac Newton appears on the records as a buyer of land, therein described. Later his son Moses had some land transferred to him by his father; and thereafter there is a record of births, marriages and deaths, which can be traced down to some of the family now living.”
There are a number of deeds to and from Isaac Newton in the records of East Windsor, Conn., the dates of which would probably determine whether the father or the son Isaac Newton was the maker or receiver of the deed.

Some of these pieces of land lay near the Somer line, as some are described as being in both towns—East Windsor and Somer. Thus father or son Isaac must have lived somewhere in the Ellington Parish.

It is stated that Isaac Newton, Sr., of Stafford, died in 1771, also that his grandson Isaac (son of Moses) died May 19, 1771. I have not seen the record. Unless there were two deaths recorded, I fancy the full date is that of the grandfather, and there was no grandson (s. of Moses) Isaac.

I have found nothing further of the wife Grace Garfield. And as none of the children of Moses of Stafford have the name it is possible she died and Isaac had a second wife—name not yet known—all is my conjecture, not proof.

In regard to the children, there are only three of whom we may be reasonably sure; and there were probably others.

In regard to the then use of the "senior" and "junior," it did not follow that the persons were father and son. Names were so many times repeated that there were several living of the same name. Sometimes cousins, uncle and nephew, were so differentiated.

CHILDREN.

1597. i. Moses1, Jr., b. -----; m. Persis Bellows.
1598. ii. Amos1, Jr., b. -----; m. Prudence Bellows.
1599. iii. Isaac1, b. -----; m. Sarah Leavitt.

"The will of John Bellows, Jr. (John ———), filed August 13, 1752, gives legacies to his wife Sarah, , , to his daughter Persis, wife of Moses Newton of Stafford, Conn.; to his daughter Prudence, widow of Amos Newton; to his daughter Mary, wife of Joshua Newton of Southborough." The children of John Bellows, Jr., and wife Sarah, born in Southborough and married there, were: 1. Persis, born September 1, 1727; m. May 13, 1747, Moses Newton, Jr.; 2. Prudence, born July 8, 1729; m. April 26, 1749, Amos Newton; 3. Mary, born -----; m. March 11, 1751, Joshua Newton; 4. Jonathan, born August 7, 1731.

Thus it will be evident that Isaac Newton of Stafford and his children were far from being strangers to the Newtons and Bellows of Southborough—and farther along there is other evidence. But because we do not certainly know the parentage of this Isaac Newton, I shall not separate the families of his sons, but give the several generations all here in a bunch.

1597. 1. MOSES NEWTON2 of Stafford (Isaac1), styled "Jr.," was probably born between 1720 and 1725 in Connecticut. He married at Southborough, May 13, 1747, Persis Bellows, daughter of John, Jr., and Sarah Bellows of Southborough, Mass., where she was born September 1, 1727. [I suppose this is John Bellows2 (John1) and second wife Sarah Johnson of Marlborough.]

Moses Newton was a blacksmith and is so designated on the deed in the Stafford Land Records of March 21, 1752, by which some land was transferred to him from his father, Isaac Newton, the tract of land being in Stafford township, Conn.

Moses Newton, with his son John, made guns that were used in the Revolutionary War.

It would seem that Moses Newton did not return to Connecticut immediately after his marriage, but resided in Southborough until after the birth of the two oldest children, which are recorded there. The third child, born in May at Stafford, and the execution of the deed there in March, 1752, would indicate the removal of the whole family from Massachusetts to Connecticut about that time—they were now making a permanent home. Their children were:

1600. i. REUBEN, b. Feb. 27, 1748, at Southborough, Mass.

1601. ii. Jeremiah, b. May 9, 1750, at Southborough; d. at Stafford, Conn., Aug. 22, 1753.

1602. iii. John, b. May 18, 1752, at Stafford, Conn.; d. there Aug. 29, 1753.

1604. v. Patrick, b. "Jan. 25, 1754" [the error may be only in the record of the month, and the two sons twins]; d. March 29, 1761.

1606. vii. Moses, b. Dec. 19, 1758; moved to New York State.

1609. x. Nathan (twin), b. Dec. 12, 1767; d. ———.

1610. xi. Mary (twin), b. Dec. 12, 1767; d. Feb. 26, 1838; m. Asa Hewit, b. Oct. 16, 1761, d. July 15, 1824, at Keeneville, Pa., where they resided and had children. One was

1611. 1. Polly Hewit, b. March 26, 1803; d. Dec. 10, 1873; m. Marsen Keep (Marsen); Mathew; Mathew; Samuel; John Keep of Springfield, Mass., 1830; see Keep Gen.; born Oct. 1, 1802; died Aug. 7, 1875; was a farmer in Keeneville, Pa., where they had eleven children. The first was

1614. 1. Abner Newton Keep, b. 1824; d. ———; m. 11th Maranda Ammon of Hayfield, Pa. [a descendant of Roger Ammon, the French Huguenot of Salem, 1639, also of John Howland and Elizabeth Tilly of the "Huguenot"]. He m. (2) 1858, Katherine Stook of Attleboro, Conn. He had eleven children. The sixth was 1615. 1. Sallie Lucinda Keep, b. Aug. 18, 1809; d. Dec. 25, 1882, Frank Eugene Best, son of Samuel and Lucinda (West) Best [who were descendants of Conrad Best, German immigrant, 1728, and Francis West of Duxbury, 1639], born Dec. 6, 1859. Mr. and Mrs. Best compiled the Keep Genealogy, 1880, and the Amidon Genealogy, 1901.

1611. xii. Ruth, b. "(date gone from record") ; d. March 15, 1813.

1612. xiii. Isaac, b. "(no date") ; d. May 19, 1771.

1603. 4. JOHN NEWTON (Moses); born July 25, 1754; d. November 30, 1821, and was buried at Ellington, Conn. He married November 20, 1777, Ruth Bradley of Tolland, Conn., who died February 10, 1823, and is buried at Ellington. Mr. Newton was a blacksmith and assisted his father in making guns which were used in the War of the Revolution. He was a soldier of that war. A letter now in the possession of his great grandson, Charles H. Newton, was written July, 1776, by John Newton to his son John, Jr., then in Camp at Cambridge, Mass., in Capt. Pease's Company of minutemen—private in the Connecticut militia. In the list of men in "Connecticut Men in the War of the Revolution," there is the service of "John Newton, Smith's Company, enlisted July 29, 1776, Col. Bradley, discharged Jan. 14, ——— Private."

Mr. Newton bought land in Ellington, Conn., and settled there. The First United States Census, 1790, shows John Newton head of a household at Ellington, Conn., the other members being two males under sixteen years and four females—Children:

1613. i. Rebecca, b. March 30, 1778; d. at Hardwick, Mass., "Aug. 12, 1857, aged 38." He married at Hardwick, being then "of Petersham," Feb. 8, 1800, Hannah Freeman, daughter of Elip and Mary (Kee Freeman of Hardwick, where she was born Nov. 11, 1778. She died there Jan. 17, 1812; had three children. He m. (2) Prudence, "Prudentia" Caswell, a sister of Eleanor Caswell of Bolton, Mass. She had two children, and died in Bolton after Sept. 9, 1817, when she assented to appointment of administrator.

The children, all very young at the death of their father, were:

2. Harriet Jane, b. about 1812; d. Aug. 9, 1818, aged 6 years.

5. Robert, b. July 27, 1817: d. in Bolton, Mass., Feb. 4, 1846, "almost 86 years old." He was born a month before the death of his father. As a small boy he lived in Petersham, Shutesbury and Hardwick with his widowed mother; being in strained financial circumstances, she sent him, in 1833, to live with her brother, Eleanah Caswell, a comb manufacturer in Bolton, where he lived for five years. He married in Bolton, April 21 or 28, 1844, Emily Sawyer, daughter of Dea. Daniel and Rachel (Hewett) Sawyer of Bolton, where she was born June 26, 1825. She died there Dec. 15, 1874. About this time, or afterward, Mr. Newton bought a small farm at "Bolton Farm," a local name thereabouts, where he lived all the rest of his life. His children, born there, were:

1. Edward Sawyer, b. Feb. 12, 1842; d. ---, 1878.

2. Charles, b. Jan. 9, 1846; was living in 1890 in Hudson, Mass.

1. Gers B., (Dr.), b. ---; was living at Suffield Springs, Conn. Nov. 24, 1806, and died before June 19, 1807.

2. John Clark, b. ---; m. May 24, 1811, Mary Jane Chapman, daughter of Warren H. and Susilla (Benton) Chapman of Clayton, Ill. She was born Nov. 25, 1813. They had nine children, born at Clayton, Ill., five dying in infancy.

Mr. Newton is a member of the "Sons of the American Revolution," No. 1722. His children are:

1. Charles Albert, b. ---.

2. Anna Laura, b. ---.

3. Mabel "Grace," b. ---.

1621. iv. Hannah, b. Feb. 15, 1784, at Ellington, Conn.; d. Aug. 8, 1872, buried in Suffield, Conn.; m. Oct. 13, 1810, John Bonker King. They have a granddaughter, Miss Emma C. King, who has kindly contributed data for this family.
1598. 2. AMOS NEWTON\(^5\) (Isaac\(^4\)) is also styled "Jr.," on the records of Southborough, there being others of the name in that town, who were settled there, while he seems not to have been settled anywhere. He married at Southborough, April 26, 1749, Prudence Bellows, daughter of John, Jr., and Sarah Bellows of Southborough, where she was born July 8, 1729. She is mentioned in her father's will [see above] filed August 13, 1772, as "Widow of Amos Newton," which is the only date I have indicating the period of his death. He was probably about forty-five years old when he died. Their first child was born in Southborough; the second at Stafford, Conn., and so recorded on the Southborough records. About this time his family was with him in Massachusetts. The Worcester County Warrant books show that in April, 1752, Amos Newton, wife and two daughters from Stafford, Conn., were warned out of Southborough. Warrant returned to the Court, August 18, 1752. His children were:

1604. 1. HANNAH\(^6\), b. March 12, 1750, at Southborough.
1605. 2. MARY\(^6\), b. Jan. 27, 1752, at Stafford, Conn.

1599. 3. ISAAC NEWTON\(^2\) (Isaac\(^3\)). We have far from enough data regarding this son of Isaac Newton of Stafford. Dr. H. O. Allen, town clerk of East Windsor, Conn., states: "There are a number of deeds in the records of East Windsor, to and from Isaac Newton, but as Stiles' History says his father's name was also Isaac, I am in doubt as to which Isaac is meant in each case." He must have lived somewhere in the Ellington Parish, near the Somers line, as some of the pieces of land are described as being in both towns." The following dates are from East Windsor, Conn. He married April 19, 1758, Sarah Levett. Their children were:

1618. 1. ISAAC\(^2\), b. June 26, 1759. [See below.]
1619. 2. SARAH\(^2\), b. June 9, 1761.
1620. 3. MARIA\(^2\), b. June 14, 1763.
1621. 4. AMOS\(^2\), b. Oct. 21, 1765.

1628. ISAAC NEWTON\(^6\) [whom I suppose is the son of Isaac\(^5\) (Isaac\(^4\) of Stafford), born June 23, 1759 (see above)] moved from East Windsor, Conn., to Randolph, Vt., where he owned land and where he had children, and probably died before 1809.

In Book I, page 91, of Land Records at Randolph, Vt., is record of a deed from Jonathan Brown of Springfield, Mass., dated June 6, A.D., 1785, to Isaac Newton of East Windsor, Conn., recorded September 23, 1785, of one-half of an original lot of land, one-half of lot 24, which would be about 100 acres. There is also a deed of thirty acres, dated February 22, 1792, when Isaac Newton's residence is given as Randolph, Vt.

The records show that Lemuel Newton of Batavia, Genesee County, N. Y., deeded this same land by two deeds, one in 1809 as of Randolph, Vt., and the other in 1811 as of Batavia, N. Y.; so he probably left Randolph between those two dates.

It is known by his descendants that Isaac had three sons (whose posterity is here given), John\(^7\), Lemuel\(^7\) and Isaac\(^7\); but whether there were other children they do not know.
An old Bible, with family records, now in the possession of Mr. Ernest C. Newton of Little Rock, is authority for data regarding this son John. To Mrs. Helen A. Wolcott we arc indebted for the knowledge gained of the posterity of the son Leamli; and Isaac, I suppose, is the Isaac Newton of Pomfret, Vt., mentioned in the Chandler Family, and by Mrs. Dyke (1907) as having lived in Randolph, Vt. Who is the wife of Isaac Newton, from East Windsor, Conn., to Randolph, Vt., was does not yet appear. Children:

1651. i. John, b. Aug. 2, 1755; m. Anna Cole.
1652. ii. Leamli, b. March 16, 1758; m. Nancy Taggart.
1653. iii. Isaac, b. ———; of Randolph and Pomfret, Vt. Children:

1654. 1. Dr. Ogden B. ("son of Isaac of Pomfret"), b. ———; m. Sarah Chandler.
1655. 2. (Perhaps Isaac of South Pomfret, Vt.

1651. JOHN NEWTON6 (s. of Isaac6 of East Windsor, Conn., and Randolph, Vt.), born August 2, 1755, probably at East Windsor, Conn.; died September 24, 1831, at Darien, Genesee County, N. Y.; married at Randolph, Vt., February 10, 1789, Anna Cole (whose parentage is not traced), born October 15, 1781; died September 12, 1875. Mr. Newton moved from Vermont to New York State about or before 1810. Of his eight children, the first three were born at Randolph, Vt.; the fourth and fifth were born in New York State, town not given; the sixth in Pembroke, Genesee County, N. Y.; the seventh and eighth in New York State, town not given; and the father died in Darien, N. Y. This gives the inference that his itinerary in New York was confined to Genesee County. His children were:

1656. i. John, Jr., b. June 29, 1802; d. Sept. 25, 1818, in New York State; m. March 23, 1857, Lydia Newton (Mr. 1656), dau. of Leamli and Nancy (Taggart) Newton of Batavia, N. Y.; b. Sept. 5, 1838; d. June 1, 1857, at Alden, N. Y. (She married 2d July 27, 1858, Sheldon Eastland.) Children:

1656a. 1. Milt, h. ———.
1656b. 2. Lucinda, b. ———.
1656c. 3. Geo., b. ———; was living in 1905 in Alden, N. Y.
1656d. 4. George, b. ———.
1656e. 5. Charles, b. ———.
1656f. 6. Lydia, b. ———.

1657. ii. Anna Maria, b. March 16, 1805; d. Nov. 8, 1841; m. Sept. 14, 1821, Chauncey Lasuer, who was b. Jan. 11, 1802; d. June 21, 1871. Their eight children were:

1657a. 1. Hannah Lasuer, h. ———.
1657b. 2. Delia Lasuer, h. ———.
1657c. 3. Mariette Lasuer, h. ———.
1657d. 4. George Lasuer, h. ———.
1657e. 5. John Lasuer, h. ———.
1657f. 6. Philetus Lasuer, h. ———.
1657g. 7. Corp Lasuer, h. ———.
1657h. 8. Celestina Lasuer, h. ———; m. Celestia Newton, dau. of Milt6 (1875).

1658. iii. Isaac, b. June 2, 1808; m. June 17, 1832, Odel Lewis. They had three children:

1658a. 1. Lucy A., b. ———.
1658b. 2. William Henry, b. ———.
1658c. 3. Infant dau., b. ———.

[William Henry (1658a) has a son Charles, living in Buffalo, N. Y., 1914.]

1659. iv. Phineas, b. Aug. 21, 1810; d. Sept. 27, 1859, probably at Girard, Pa. He m. at Alexandria, N. Y., Oct. 3, 1839, Orena Gary, daughter of Aaron and Phoebe Gary. She was born in New York State, Feb. 13, 1815, and died Nov. 21, 1891. All of their four children were born in New York State; the second and third in Cattaragus County; probably the home place was somewhere there. Children:

1659a. 1. John Maria, b. May 28, 1841; m. June 3, 1862, at Erie, Pa., George Spanbling, son of John Spanbling of Girard, Pa. He died several years before 1914, and Mrs. Spanbuling was living with her daughter, Mahelle, wife of Dr. Watson, at No. 5 Park Place, Ashtabula, Ohio. Her five children were:

1883a. 2. Chara Spanbuling, b., 1866, at Girard, Pa.; m. Dill Benjamin, and was living in 1914, at Ashtabula, Ohio.

1884a. 3. Inez Spanbuling, b., 1883, at Yankee Springs, Mich.; d. at Conneaut, Ohio, 1902.

1888a. 3. Oliver Lawson, b. April 27, 1845, in Cattaraugus County, N. Y.; d. at Freeport, Mich., Oct. 6, 1909; a well-to-do farmer in Freeport. He married at Yankee Springs, Mich., Nov. 27, 1873, Ruby Trask, who was living in 1914 in Freeport, Mich., with their son, Ray C. Of their four children, the first two were born at Yankee Springs, and the last two at Freeport, Mich. Children:

1889a. 1. Ray C., b. —, 1877.

1890a. 2. Neila Y., b. Sept. 9, 1879.

1891a. 3. Edith C., b. Sept. 12, 1881.

1892a. 4. Oliver Levant, b. Sept. 18, 1886.

1894a. 1. Ernest Chauncey, b. Jan. 8, 1875, at Middleville, Mich.; m. at Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 28, 1901, Daisey Morledge, dau. of Roger Burcham and Julia A. (Shaw) Morledge of Columbus, Ind., where she was born Aug. 29, 1874. They reside (1914) in Little Rock, Ark., where their children were born, and where he has been for the past six years, and at the present time is superintendent of mails in the Little Rock postoffice. It is to this Mr. Newton, who has contributed the data, that we are indebted for this record. Mr. Newton was educated in the Little Rock University; is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Little Rock; a Republican, and resides 202 West Seventh St., Little Rock, Ark. His children are:

1897a. 3. Helen Margaret, b. May 25, 1909.

1900a. 2. Orza Joanna, b. Sept. 11, 1877, at Prairieville (now Almyra), Ark.; m. at Little Rock, Ark., May 11, 1897, William L. Meredith, son of David M. and Callie D. Meredith of Little Rock, Ark. Mr. Meredith is a carpenter and contractor at Shreveport, La., where they are (1914) living, and where their children were born, viz.:

1901a. 1. Ernest David Meredith, b. Feb. 27, 1908.

1652. LEMUEL NEWTON* (son of Isaac* of East Windsor, Conn. and Randolph, Vt.) was born March 16, 1778, probably at East Windsor, Conn., "and died April 20, 1861, in Darien, N. Y."", writes Mrs. J. N. Cleveland.

He married at Royalston, Vt., August 11, 1807, Nancy Taggart, daughter of "Joseph and Lydia (Jones) Taggart, who moved from Hillsborough, N. H., to Royalston, Vt., and later to Stockbridge, Vt., where they are buried. The Tag-gates are of Scotch-Irish descent. Nancy Taggart was born in Hillsborough, N. H., January 29, 1784; married in Royalston, Vt., Lennel Newton. They went to Holland, N. Y., where she died January 2, 1859"—is the statement of their granddaughter, Mrs. Jennie Taggart Dike. She died in Yorkshire, N. Y., is another statement.

Mrs. Helen A. Wodcott writes: "My grandfather, Lennel Newton, . . . I remember seeing him only at long intervals while I was a child. He was one of the early settlers of what was known as the Holland Purchase, in western New York. I have an impression that my grandfather was in the War of 1812."

"My father used to speak of his uncle Isaac, who, I supposed, was grandfather's brother." "I found a letter in an old Bible, from Isaac Taggart, [brother of Nancy Taggart] his wife's brother, dated Stockbridge, March 23, 1857." He, too, would be "Uncle Isaac" to Levi Newton."

Either by purchase or inheritance, or both, Lennel Newton came into possession of lands in Randolph, Vt., which he later sold—see record of deeds above—and removed between 1809 and 1811 to Batavia, N. Y. The family were first in Darien, N. Y. (same county), awhile in 1810, for their oldest child was born there. His five children were:

1861. LEVI NEWTON* (s, of Lennel), born 1810; married in Attica, N. Y., May 8, 1831, Rachel Cooley, who was born there November 7, 1812, and died January 11, 1900, at Batavia, Ill. He died at Batavia, Ill., June 29, 1879. From the following record of the marriages and deaths of his children it would seem the family moved from New York State to Batavia, Ill., about or before the year 1863, and made that place the family home. Their children were:

1652. i. DON CARTER,* b. Aug. 26, 1852, at Alexander, N. Y.; settled in Batavia, Ill., where he d. Oct. 8, 1863; m. Oct. 27, 1853, at Benningham, N. Y.; Mary M. Pringle. Their four children all born at Batavia, Ill., were:

The date of her death is not given. He married (2d) July 25, 1863, Maggie Powers, and had three more. Children were:

1681. 4. John,* b. April 21, 1871; m. April 17, 1885, J. Worth Curnahan.

1671. iii. EARL COOLEY,* b. Oct. 24, 1858, at Middlebury, N. Y.; settled in Batavia, Ill., where he d. Jan. 31, 1891. He m. there Jan. 20, 1861, Mary E. Wilson. Their children, born at Batavia, Ill., were:

1682. 1. Ed.* b. Oct. 29, 1861; m. at Batavia, Ill., 1885, Flora Peckham.
1683. 2. Wilson,* b. July 31, 1870; m. 1893.
1684. 3. Harry,* b. Sept. 26, 1875; m. —.
1687. 6. Essie,* b. March 14, 1885; d. same year.

1653. ISAAC NEWTON of Pomfret, Vt., once lived in Randolph, Vt. How much of a family he had is unknown to me, but one son is given in the Chandler Family, namely:

1717. 1. Charles, b. Jan. 30, 1821; m. at Franconia, N. H., Sept. 4, 1843, Eliza Hart, dau. of William, and had one child. He was a shoemaker. While moving lumber in Lowell, Mass., where he afterwards kept a saloon, he had his foot crushed by the saws.

1719. 3. Maria, b. —; d. 1825; m. Warren Huntington of Franconia, N. H., a peddler. Two children.

1655. ISAAC NEWTON of South Pomfret, Vt., once lived in Randolph, Vt. He was engaged in the "Manufacture of and a dealer in Fine Carriages and Sleighs." He wrote to me July 29, 1907, saying when he had a little time he would send a record of his family as far back as he could. I regret his failure to do so. I had the impression that he was a man well into years. [I suppose he is somehow related to Dr. Ogden B. Newton, perhaps the father was Isaac?, brother of John? and Lennel Newton?]

1192. ELISHA NEWTON?, (Moses?, Moses?, Richard?), son of Moses, Jr., and Sarah (How) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there October 28, 1701. It is said of him and his wife: "Their deaths are not on record, but each are said to have lived to be about 90"; if so he died about 1791.

He married at Shrewsbury, Mass., December 26, 1728, Sarah Tomlin, then of Westborough, daughter of Isaac and Mary (Wait) Tomlin* of Brookfield and Marlborough, Mass. She was born at Marlborough, April 15, 1708, and died about 1789. She was admitted to the church at Shrewsbury in 1744. Mr. Newton was "of Shrewsbury" at date of his marriage. He probably was arranging to settle there before that date and was improving some of the land taken up—"granted" to his father, Moses Newton, Lot No. 17, as well as some of his own. This appears from the fact that he received a portion of the lands laid out in "1765. To Elisha Newton, in right of 17th House-Lot, next his own land." His brother Aaron had been occupying this House Lot, granted to their father in 1718, since 1729, and he also may have done so. His twelve children were all born in Shrewsbury.

* ISAAC TOMLIN: 1st from Brookfield, Mass., to Marlborough, where he married, Dec. 19, 1700, Mary Wait of Marlborough. He died at Westminster, June 24, 1745. They had in Marlborough: Isaac, Jr., b. 1657; d. 1739; m. Martha Newton (dau. of Thomas, John*); Hezekiah, b. 1699; d. 1769; Hannah, b. 1702; d. 1718; Maria, b. 1705; Sarah, b. April 15, 1708; m. Eldred Newton (Moses?, Richard*); Ralph, b. 1701; Lydia, b. 1717. ISAAC TOMLIN, Jr. (Isaac), b. 1657; d. 1739; res. in Westminster, where he died; at Marlborough, Sept. 26, 1721, MARTHA NEWTON, dau. of Thomas* (John*). She died 1722; m. Dec. 1724, Mary Jenison, who d. 1725; m. Dec. 1728, Jemima Weeks in and of Marlborough. They had "Isaac, Jr., bap. June 9, 1729, C. R." in Marlborough, prob. child of Martha, 1st wt.: Isaac, 1730; Martha, 1731; John, 1734; Silas, 1736; d. 1737; Mary, 1737; d. 1740. By 2d wt., Mary, there were three children, apparently at one birth, namely, Lydia, Ralph and Sarah, b. Jan. 3, 1722, C. R. See note to Thomas* (John*? Richard*).

1720. ii.  Eliaha, Jr., b. Feb. 7, 1729-30; m. Sarah Miles.

1721.  iii.  Ezekiel, b. May 9, 1733; m. Persis Wheelock.

Mercy was a widow in 1744, for the record in Shrewsbury has intention of marriage of "Wid. Mercy Baker and Ezra Pond of Hubbardston, June 1, 1774."  The following may be the birth record of their son.  In Hubbardston:

1.  "Pond, — son of Ezra, May 18, 1729, P. R."  See note.

1724.  vi.  Timothy, b. May 17, 1737; m. Huldah Wheelock.

They lived a few years in Shrewsbury, Mass., where three children were born, then moved to Brookfield, Vt., where she died.  He married (2) in 1772, Hannah Sanderson, and lived many years in Brookfield, Vt., where he died May 12, 1808.  His children were:

1.  Barnei Bigelow, b. Sept. 11, 1762; m. (1) 1794, Nabby Pride of Norwich, Vt., and had seven children; m. (2) 1808, Lois Griswold, b. at South Hadley, Mass., Jan. 23, 1779; d. Aug. 24, 1799, aged 91.  He had a large store at Brookfield, Vt., until 1808, when he sold out and engaged in farming.

7.  Ludovica Bigelow, b. ———, 17——, in Vermont; m. Stephen Pride.

1730.  xii.  Mary, b. Sept. 24, 1747; d. "Feb. 20, 1792, in her 45th year," Gravestone in Shrewsbury.  She married at Shrewsbury, Nov. 20, 1765, Asa Mixer, son of Maj. Joseph and Mary (Bull) Mixer of Watertown and Shrewsbury, born in Shrewsbury, April 5, 1746, married (2) Dec. 24, 1768, Ruth Munry of Worcester.  The family resided in Shrewsbury, Mass., where the births of eight children are recorded.  A. H. Ward, in the history of that town, gives the baptism of three more.  Asa Mixer moved from Shrewsbury after 1788 to Oxford, Mass., where he was living in 1818, having passed his 100th year.  Children were:

1.  Daniel Mixer, b. May 20, 1768; m. in 1783, Lydia Wesson of Gore, and had five children.  He died and his widow, Lydia, m. in 1818, Samuel Smith.

2.  Sarah Mixer, b. May 14, 1769; m. in 1790, Abijah Nelson.  They lived in Leicester some years and he died in Shrewsbury March 15, 1814, aged 72.  No issue.

4.  Mary Mixer (twin), b. Oct. 5, 1771; m. 1791, Lemuel Harris.  They lived in Shrewsbury, where she had born eight children.

5.  Elizabeth (Betty) Mixer, b. May 18, 1774; m. 1793, Daniel Baird, Jr., of Worcester, where they lived and three children were born.

6.  Sally Mixer (twin), b. Nov. 25, 1776; m. in 1799, Asahel Allen, son of Israel, 2d, and Thankful of Shrewsbury.  [This Israel Allen was a soldier at the battle of Bunker Hill.]

7.  Asa Mixer (twin), b. Nov. 25, 1776; m. in 1797, Daniel Smith of Worcester, where twins Asa and Daniel were b. 1798.

1495. AARON NEWTON (Moses, Moses, Richard), son of Moses and Sarah (How) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there, September 7, 1707, and died ______.

"He was living in the North Parish of Shrewsbury in 1760, and died before 1769." His will was allowed July 7, 1777.

He married at Marlborough, Mass., January 28, 1729, Eunice Newton (225), daughter of John and Hannah (Morse) Newton of Marlborough (No. 11), where she was born September 1, 1709. She died after 1777, as per his will.

In 1729 Aaron Newton and wife Eunice were living in Shrewsbury on House Lot No. 17, the lot of fifty-nine acres granted to his father, December 30, 1718. It was in the possession of Aaron Newton, January 31, 1729. [His bounds are described under Moses Newton, his father], and he seems to have moved to it and settled there at date of his marriage. Other lands in Shrewsbury were laid out at divers times in right of the several House lots, and to Aaron Newton a portion, in 1744, in right of 17th House Lot. In 1765 his brother EliDark also had lands granted by Shrewsbury in right of the 17th House Lot, as had also Eli Keyes, Jr. Aaron Newton was, perhaps, set off to Lancaster in 1768. His children were born in Shrewsbury.

In 1760 Aaron Newton, Edward Newton, with seven other men, were appointed highway surveyors, and Aaron to repair certain other roads.

In 1764 the town refunded, with interest, the amounts persons were taxed too much on their money in the years 1758 and 1759, and Aaron Newton, having been thus taxed in 1758, $900, 10s. 1d., was refunded 2s. 2d.; taxed in 1759, $900, 11s. 10d., was refunded 2s. 6d.

There is mentioned in the History of Holden, Mass., the names of "Aaron Newton," "Widow Newton." In his will he is described as Aaron Newton of Holden. It is stated that the town of Holden was taken wholly from the original town of Worcester and incorporated in 1744. In 1804 and 1808 portions of it were annexed to Paxton and West Boylston. In 1851 and 1838 further changes occurred in the bounds between Holden and Paxton. How and when he became a citizen of Holden is unknown to me; but there it was, in 1777, that his estate was settled. As he had no sons this is the end of his line of the Newton name.

The name of Aaron Newton of Shrewsbury and that of Isaac Newton of Southborough are on the lists of the Partners in the Land Bank scheme of 1710—both as having paid assessments. Uriah Newton of Marlborough was also a partner. Another, Aaron Newton of Eastown (I cannot place him), was also one of the partners.

1765. ii. Lucy, b. May 28, 1731, at Shrewsbury; d. at Boylston, July 28, 1811, aged 81; m. at Shrewsbury, Oct. 25, 1749, Daniel Ball. He died at Boylston, March 5, 1813, aged 93. They lived in the North Parish of Shrewsbury, which became Boylston. Their children, born in Shrewsbury, were:

1768. 3. Aaron Ball, b. Nov. 1, 1753.

1769. 4. Daniel Ball, Jr., b. ——— 6, 1756; prob. m. Sept. 8, 1778, Lydia Smith.

1770. 5. Lucy Ball, b. Feb. 4, 1758.

1771. 6. Sarah Ball, b. May 1, 1760.

1772. 7. Nathan Ball, b. Aug. 5, 1762.

1773. 8. Thankful Ball, b. March 9, 1765.

1774. iii. Preston, b. July 1, 1733. This daughter is not mentioned in her father's will. She may have died soon after birth, and probably did die before the will was made, which gives "to grandson Thaddeus Raymond, Jr." This would indicate that she had married a Raymond. Her niece, Eunice Glazier, had married, 1768, William Raymond, Jr., as above, and the term "grandson" would apply to a child of hers as well.

1498. AMOS NEWTON, Sr. (Moses, Moses, Richard), son of Moses, Jr., and Sarah (How) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there April 16, 1714, and died at Southborough, Mass., May 18, 1755, C. R.

He married his second cousin (the date and place of marriage unknown), Azubah Newton (47494), daughter of Ephraim and Christian (Ripley) Newton of Marlborough-Southborough, and Leicester, Mass. She was born in Marlborough, April 1, 1713, and died at Southborough November 9, 1776, "wife of Amos Newton, Sen." In the administration of her father's estate, Amos Newton, Sr., was appointed administrator and declined to serve. Her brother Nahum also declining to serve, declares: "I hereby certify that Amos Newton of Southborough, who married the eldest daughter of Ephraim Newton, late of Leicester."

* Jonas Ward, Jr., was perhaps son of Jonas Ward from Worcester to Shrewsbury, son of Richard (Obediah), William of Sudbury in 1629. They lived in the North Parish of Shrewsbury. Their children were: Jonas, b. Aug. 15, 1756; m. ———. John Newton of Putney, Vt. (see No. 1891); Eunice Glazier, b. Sept. 8, 1772.

1 See Ephraim Newton (Daniel, Richard) for Azubah.
etc. [see Ephraim, No. 157.] While Azubah was not the "oldest daughter" born to her father, she was probably the oldest then (1741) living. This proves who the mother, "Azubah," of Amos's children was. The will of Mary\(^1\) daughter of Ephraim\(^2\), gives to "sister Azubah Newton," earrings; "to brother-in-law Amos Newton\(^2\)," all residue of estate and appoints him executor.

He married (2) at Southborough, February 5, 1778, Thankful Bellows, daughter of James and Thankful (——) Bellows\(^5\), of Hopkinton and Southborough, Mass., born at Southborough, May 14, 1734, died there November 7, 1807. Abstract of her will follows:

Thankful Newton, Southborough.
Will filed December 1, 1807. Gives to Betsey Price, daughter of Lot Price, 3342 A.
To Hannah Leonard
To Carrie Newton, wife of Charles Newton, 10.
To Amos Hodeman, son of Eleazer Hodeman. Silver buckles.
To Joanna Bond, wife of William Bond, 13.
To Sally Leonard, daughter of Solomon Leonard,
To her brother James Bellows, residue.
Appoints Abner Parker, Executor.

The mention of her brother, James Bellows, and the above near relatives, indicate which Thankful Bellows she was. In the will of her husband, Amos Newton, she is given only certain household goods. She had probably been provided for during his lifetime. No children.

Amos Newton, Sr., lived in that part of Marlborough that became Southborough, and his children were all born in the latter town. He is styled "Sen." probably to distinguish him from the son of John Newton of the same town, who is "Amos, Jr." In 1790 (U. S. Census), his family comprised himself as head, one male below sixteen years, and two females.

An abstract of the will of Amos Newton\(^4\), Sr., follows:

Amos Newton, Southborough. 43914 A.
Will allowed July 7, 1795.
To wife, Thankful, certain household effects.
To grand children, heirs of son, Solomon.
To Carrie Newton, wife of Charles Newton.
To grandson, Alpheus Newton 1566—17—4
To grandson, Daniel Fay 4
To granddaughter, Dorothy Fay, furniture

1499. EZEKIEL NEWTON, JR. (Moses, Moses², Richard¹), youngest son of Moses, Jr., and Sarah (How) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there May 3, 1716, baptized at the church there June 24, 1716, and died at Southborough "August 30, 1800, aged 84."

He married at Shrewsbury, Mass., January 9, 1738-9, Hophzibah Newton (1712), daughter of Jonathan² and Bethia (Rice) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., where she was born November 1, 1716, and where she died April 19, 1776.

Mr. Newton is styled "Ezekiel, Jr." on the town records, probably to distinguish him from the son of Daniel, Jr., and Sarah Newton, who was Ezekiel, Sr., and born 1707. At record of their marriage they are recorded as "both of Southborough." Mr. Newton continued to reside in Southborough, where his seven children were born.

The First United States Census, 1790, shows Ezekiel Newton, head of a household at Southborough. The other members were one male above sixteen years, one male below sixteen years, and two females.

1804. EDWARD NEWTON* (Edward¹, Moses², Richard¹), son of Edward and Mary (Leonard) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there October 5, 1701, and died after October 18, 1765, and before the end of the year, at Shrewsbury.

He married at Marlborough, Mass., November 1, 1723, at which date they were "both of Hopkinton." Mass. Elizabeth Allen, daughter of Elnathan and Mary (Rice) Allen* of Hopkinton and Shrewsbury, Mass., born about or between 1698 and 1700, and was living in 1765.

* Walter Allen was of Newbury, Mass., 1640; removed to Watertown prior to 1662, at which time he was a proprietor, and was one of a coroner's jury, July 19, 1663. In conveyance
Edward Newton was about three and one-half years old when his father died. In 1709, his mother married again. She having been made guardian of the children, and administratrix of their father's estate, cared for them and it until she was discharged by the Court, and the property was turned over to the children. [See the papers concerning settlement of estate of Edward]. This would indicate that he had something to start with when he became of age; and he married soon afterward. The family probably lived in Hopkinton awhile and then moved to Shrewsbury about the beginning of 1727 or before. The births of four of his children are recorded there on the town records, and two were baptized there. Edward and his wife were admitted to the church at Shrewsbury in 1736—they lived in the North Province of the town—and were dismissed in 1741 from that church to form a church in the west part of Lancaster.

In 1768 the families of Edward and his sons Samuel and Edward, Jr., were set off to the town of Lancaster.

The will of Edward Newton is dated October 18, 1765, in which he mentions his wife Elizabeth, sons Edward, Jr., and Ezekiel, and daughters Martha Newton, Mary, wife of Daniel Perry, and Esther, wife of John Britton.

He died before the end of the year 1765, since his will was probated that year, and the estate settled at Shrewsbury. Case in Probate Court, No. 4314. This would be before he was set off to Lancaster as above.

He is mentioned in the will of his father as one of the children to whom had been given his "full portion in time past," and was to receive only one shilling more, in silver money. There is no probate settlement of his estate. That he owned land in Southborough is shown in a deed given by him October 8, 1772, to Ezra Newton's, his son, conveying ten acres for 26 pounds, 13 shillings, 4 pence. Also another deed in which his land bounded with that of Joseph Arnold. See Ezra Newton's, his son.

There is no probate record of the settlement of his estate. Mr. Newton lived in Southborough, Mass. His children were all born there. The First United States Census, 1790, shows his large family to have dwindled down to himself and two females. These last were probably his wife and their daughter Hannah, or a grandchild.

1523. NATHAN NEWTON (Jonathan, Moses, Richard), son of Jonathan and Bethia (Rice) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there June 23, 1723. "He removed to Vermont and died at advanced age"—may or may not be true. But he must have died before 1811, to leave his wife Lydia a "widow."

He married at Marlborough-Southborough, Mass., June 5, 1750, Experience Stow, daughter of Thomas and Hannah (Johnston) Stow of Marlborough, where she was born February 24, 1727. She died in Southborough, May 3, 1755, aged 28. Three children.

Nathan Newton lived in Southborough. His children were all born there. The First United States Census, 1790, shows him to be the head of a family there, which then consisted of himself and two females; these latter being probably his wife and daughter Lydia.

Bond states that this family later moved to Vermont; but there is no such tradition in the family.

Nathan Newton was given tools of various kinds in the will of his father, but nothing of much value, and was made sole executor of the will. His brothers and

He returned from Connecticut and settled in Marlborough, Mass., before 1684, when he bought land there and also was one of the proprietors of the Indian plantation. He became a prominent man in the town and was the ancestor of the Stows of Marlborough. He married Elizabeth Stow, who may be the "Wid. Elizabeth Stow" who died "Jan. 15, 1736-7," at Marlborough. Their children, born at Marlborough, were: Samuel, 1680; Thomas, 1682; Mary, 1684; Thankful, 1687; Rachel, 1698; John, 1696.

"an aged woman," Dec. 1655. He died Jan. 10, 1658-9; will dated Jan. and proved April 8, 1654. Inventory, £555. 14. Ten children. The seventh was William, b. 1652-3.

William Hager, Jr. (William), b. Feb. 12, 1657-8; d. May 8, 1731; m. in Watertown, March 30, 1657, Sarah Benjamin ( dau. John, Jr. John), who d. Oct. 22, 1745, aged 82. They lived in Watertown and had eight children born there. The fourth was Ebenezer, 1698.

Ebenezer Hager (William), b. Aug. 13, 1698; m. Watertown, Feb. 23, 1729-30, Lydia Barnard, dau. of John (a. of John, John) and Elizabeth (Stone) Barnard of Watertown, where she was b. 1676. They removed to Marlborough, thence to Framingham, and later returned to Marlborough. Four children: Ebenezer, 1728; Lydia, 1730; Nathaniel, 1733; Thaddeus, 1741. sisters are mentioned as having received “their full portions in time past. To some of them I have given lands to others household goods or money according to my ability.”

Nathan Newton’s granddaughter, Sophia Newton, with whom I have corresponded, writes that her grandfather lived in one of the “garrison” houses. Since Jonathan Newton’s house was one of the “Garrisons,” we suppose that Nathan Newton lived in the house with his father, and was so living when the father died and named Nathan executor of his will. The will does not mention Nathan among the children to whom he had given their “full portions,” and the articles he does give would not now be considered of much worth—“my chest, my gun, all my chairs, three iron wedges, an iron bar, an iron stake, an iron Beck horn, all my Cart irons, one meet tafe, one of my Cider pails, my half bushel & half my meal troughs, . . . all myilder barrels & bogsheds, two augurers & a hand saw”—yet in these days such tools and articles were of real value. It is possible that Nathan was to inherit his mother’s portion, and that it was so understood.

The descendants of Nathan Newton have no knowledge of his removing to Vermont in his last years—though he may have done so. There is no probate record of his estate in Massachusetts—if he had an estate.

The three sons of Nathan Newton were soldiers of the Revolution.

CHILDREN BY FIRST WIFE

1805, iii. Polly, b. July 30, 1754; m. Martha Newton (2630).

1807, iii. Sarah, b. May 24, 1759; m. Lovisa Newton (2698).

1808, iii. Lovisa, b. April 15, 1755; her name is properly Lovisa and is so given in her death record at Southborough. She died there July 10, 1790 [T. R. 1789]. She married there February 26, 1778, Joel Brewer, son of Peter and Elizabeth (——) Brewer of Southborough, where he was born July 21, 1722. “He was a sort of cousin.” They lived in Southborough, where their eight children were born. After the death of Lovisa, Joel Brewer married (2) the widow of his brother, Nathan Newton, Jr., and had two other children. I will speak of these under Nathan Newton, Jr. The children of Lovisa were:

1. Joel Brewer, Jr., b. Nov. 17, 1782; m. Lydia Tozer; d. May 27, 1824.

2. Lovisa Brewer, b. May 29, 1781; m. 1801, Luther Fay.

1524. ELNATHAN NEWTON* (Jonathan, Moses, Richard†), son of Jonathan and Bethia (Rice) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there July 15, 1724. He died at Marlborough, N. H., “August 12, 1792, in his 69th year.”

He married at Southborough, Mass., June 19, 1750, Jemima Joslin, daughter of Abraham and Jeannine (Snow) Joslin of Marlborough, Mass., where she was born July 29, 1729. She died his widow, at Marlborough, N. H., April 16, 1801, aged 71.

Elathan Newton moved about some after his marriage. His oldest child was born at Holden, Mass. May 10, 1768, he went, with wife and children, Jeannine, Elizabeth, Asahel, Anna, Elathan and Bethia, from New Braintree, Mass., to Oakham, Mass., and was “warned out.” They were probably on a move to their permanent home, for the family is not mentioned on the records of either town. Then they removed to and settled in Marlborough, N. H., where they spent the remainder of their lives. The historian of Marlborough, N. H., writes of him: “Elathan Newton came from New Braintree to Marlborough in 1771, he is supposed to have emigrated from Southborough, Mass. . . . He settled on the farm since owned by Moses Putney, in the southeast part of Marlborough. His children were all born in Massachusetts. . . . His son Luke (supposed to be the same as Zeneth) resided on the farm with Elathan, his father, was joint owner with him and came in full possession of the place on the death of his father.”

Elathan Newton was one of the many citizens of Marlborough, N. H., who on April 12, 1776, signed as a member of the Committee of Safety, pledging their lives and fortunes to oppose the British.

As a soldier of the Revolution, Elathan Newton’s name appears on the payroll of Capt. James Lewis’ Company in Col. E. Hale’s regiment, one of twenty-six men who marched June 29, 1777, to reinforce the garrison at Ticonderoga. At this date he would have been fifty-three years old, which is rather aged to go a-soldering; but his son Elathan would be only thirteen years old, which would be too young for him. Robert Converse and Priscilla Park, other men who were of the same age, and who also married Newtons, were out in the same company, so I think it was Elathan, the father.

Three of the daughters were married in Keene, N. H. Perhaps the family lived there for a time. The First United States Census, 1790, shows Elathan Newton (whom I suppose to be the son) head of a household at Walpole, N. H., the members of which, besides, were three females.

Elathan Newton, mentioned in his father’s will, received his portion during the lifetime of the father.

The names and birthdates of his children are all given in the history of Marlborough, N. H.

CHILDREN.

1880. i. JEMIMA*, b. May 10, 1751, at Holden, Mass.; d. ———; m. in Keene, N. H., by Rev. Aaron Hall, June 7, 1778, Stephen Woodward of Marlborough, N. H.

1818. ix. SBAS, b. April 9, 1769.

1526. ANDREW NEWTON, SR. (James, Moses, Richard), son of James and Rachel (Greeley) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there Aug. 27, 1716, and died at Southborough, Mass., February 10, 1796. C. R.

He married Mehitable Bellows. She died in Southborough, January 12, 1794.

The historian of Framingham, Mass., which town lies directly east of Southborough and marches with it, states that Andrew Newton was born "on Fiddle-Neck"—a local name of part of that country; that he "had a forge, and a grist-mill on Hopkinton river near the Southborough line. Children recorded in Southborough." Three children are so recorded. There are none recorded in Framingham. The records of the town show no Newton births earlier than 1758—just one then—and not again until one in 1772.

We may, however, confidently believe that Andrew Newton was a blacksmith and a miller. His descendants say of him: "He lived in the valley of the Deerfield river, Mass. He had a farm, grist-mill, distillery, tavern and store, but lost everything in a big law suit over water rights." They are not clear about this ancestor. His property was probably all on Hopkinton river, and it was his son James who went to the Deerfield river vicinity.

CHILDREN.

1819. i. MEHITABEL, b. Nov. 7, 1743.
1820. ii. ANDREW, Jr., b. Oct. 23, 1748; m. Sarah Merrett.
1821. iii. JAMES, b. Aug. 24, 1751; m. Ruth Nelson.

1537. JACOB NEWTON, (James, Moses, Richard), son of James and Rachel (Greeley) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there March 6, 1723.

He married at Southborough, Mass., April 24, 1744, Susannah Bates. There were families of the name of Bates in Charlestown and in Weymouth. I do not know her ancestry.

Mr. Newton resided in Southborough. Three children were born there. No deaths of any member of this family do I find.

1852. i. LUCY, b. Sept. 21, 1744.
1853. ii. ZEBULON, b. Oct. 11, 1746.

enlisted Aug. 20, 1777; discharged Nov. 29, 1777; service in Northern department, eight days, 152 miles travel home. He married at Southborough, July 1, 1741, Lucretia Bellows, dau. of Joel and Abigail (——) Bellows of Southborough, born there May 22, 1723. I have found nothing further of this family from the towns hereabout. Her pedigree is through Jotham', Isaac', Isaac', John Bellows of Concord, 1665, and Marlborough, Mass., and wife Mary Wood (dau. John'). It is possible that after the war of the Revolution, Jesse Newton removed to Vermont, and was the Jesse Newton enumerated in the First United States Census, 1790, as head of a household at Westfield, Orleans County, Vt., the whole family being, himself, five males under sixteen years, and five females.

1558. JOSEPH NEWTON* (James', Moses', Richard'), son of James and Rachel (Grecley') Newton of Marlborough-Southborough, Mass., was born at Marlborough, July 15, 1728, and died [at Hubbardston, I suppose]. ———, 1795.

He married at Southborough, December 29, 1756, Experience Drury, daughter of John and Susannah (Goddard) Drury of Framingham, Mass., where she was born May 7, 1738. She died at Hubbardston, Mass., July 26, 1816, aged 78 years. C. R. "Widow of Joseph."

Mr. Newton resided in Southborough, where his eight children were born. After 1773 the family moved to Templeton, and in 1777 removed thence to Hubbardston, Mass., where they continued to reside.

At the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, Joseph Newton at Hubbardston, Mass., was head of a family there, which consisted of himself and three other males above sixteen years, and four females.

His tomb is in King's Chapel Burying Ground, in Boston. He resided in Sudbury and Boston. His wife was LADIA RICE (daughter of Edmund) from Eng. in 1628, who died April 5, 1675, aged 47. He m. 1896.  ii. Joseph, b. March 4, 1759. I think this is the Joseph Newton mentioned in the History of Marlborough as being one of those men on the rolls of other towns in Worcester County, who were soldiers of the Revolution. There are several rolls bearing his name and he may be the person in each case, as there was no other Joseph Newton of suitable age. He was a long time in the service—several enlistments. I copy here only two—the date on the descriptive roll, and the age, come as near as most of the printed figures do in other known instances. His service in part was:

He died at Heath, Mass., where the family resided. They had ten children. He was a descendant of Robert Kinsman of Ipswich, Mass., 1631. See Kinsman Family.

1543. DEACON PAUL NEWTON (Josiah, Moses, Richard), son of Deacon Josiah and Elisabeth (Woods) Newton of Westborough and Hardwick, Mass., was born in Westborough, September 24, 1718, and died in Northborough, Mass., May 18, 1797, aged 78.
He married in Westborough, February 17, 1745-6, Mary Farrar, daughter of Joseph and Mary (——-) Farrar of Concord and Chenmsford, Mass., born October 7, 1723. She died in Berlin, Mass., ——, "1812, aged 80."

* FARRAR, Lancaster, Mass., was incorporated May 18, 1653. Among the original proprietors were John and Jacob Farrar, brothers. John died Nov. 3, 1669, leaving a widow and children, whose names are not mentioned in the record.

Jacob Farrar, the younger brother, was probably about thirty years old when he came to this country. His wife, Ann, with four children were left in England until he had prepared Deacon Paul Newton lived in Westborough, Mass., in that part of the town which, in 1766, became Northborough. His lands were just over the line of Berlin, in Northborough. Some of his descendants were identified with the town of Berlin. He was a tanner and a farmer. The house he built in Northborough was owned by his grandson Isaac Newton, who died unmarried; and the old homestead is now occupied by the great-great-grandchildren of Deacon Paul, through his son, Martyn Newton.

The First Census of the United States, 1790, gives the family of Paul Newton of Northborough, Mass., to consist of himself, one male under sixteen years of age, and two females.

His youngest child was born in Northborough, the others were born in Westborough—all sons.

His estate was administered at Northborough in 1797 without a will, being case No. 45,557 in the Probate Court at Worcester.

1553. SILAS NEWTON# (Josiah, Moses, Richard), son of Deacon Josiah and Elizabeth (Wood's) Newton of Westborough and Hardwick, Mass., was born in Westborough, ———, 1724, and died in Hardwick, December 7, 1769, aged 39.

He married in Hardwick, November 9, 1749, Mercy Freeman, daughter of Deacon John and Joanna (Rickett) Freeman of Rochester and Hardwick, born

A home in Lancaster, and arrived in 1658. During King Philip's War, 1675, the town was destroyed by Indians and his two sons were killed. He, with wife and remaining son, Joseph, and daughter, Mary, of John Houghton, Jr., went to Woburn, where Jacob died August 14, 1677. His wid., Ann, and son-in-law, John Houghton, administered on his estate, which was divided between the widow, the "two children now surviving," and the children of his son Jacob. The wid. married (2) Nov. 2, 1690, John Sears of Woburn (5d wife). From the several public offices and agencies in which he was employed in that town and county it may be inferred that he was a respectable and useful man in his day. Children were: Jacob#7, John, Mary—all born in England between 1640 and 1650; Joseph#, b. at Lancaster, 1650; Jonathan, b. 1652; and John# and Jacob, Jr. were killed by Indians.

JACOB FARRAR, m. 1668, HANNAH HAYWARD, dau. of George Hayward of Concord, and was killed by the Indians Aug. 22, 1675. His wid., HANNAH, took administration of his estate. Soon after, she went to Concord, where her relatives lived. There her children were brought up and settled. She married (2) Adam Holloway of Marlborough in 1681, and in 1705 G m.

(3) Jonathan Furbush. Children were: Jacob, 1669; George, b. Aug. 16, 1670; John, 1672; Betsy, 1674.

GEORGE FARRAR# (son of Jacob) was brought up by a farmer, Mr. Golde, who lived in the south part of Concord. At 21 years of age he went for himself with the proverbial twenty-five cents in his pocket. With this he entertained his associates, as he said, "with all he had, and begin the world square." He married Sept. 3, 1692, MARY HOWE, who had been brought up with him in the same family. He purchased a large tract of land near where he was brought up, where his posterity of the 4th, 5th, and 6th generations were living in 1852. He was offered one-half the township of Northborough for two coppers per acre, and went to see it, but said "it was so far off, it never would be worth anything." He was a man of great energy and thrift. He died May 15, 1769. His wife died April 12, 1763. Children were: Joseph, 1693—4 [1692-3, Concord]; Daniel, 1696; George, 1704; Mary, 1706; Samuel, 1708.

JOSEPH FARRAR# (s. George), b. Feb. 28, 1694. He was in the Indian battle called Lovell's Flight near Freyburg, Maine, May 8, 1725, and died six or eight years after, leaving the following children who were provided for by their grandfather, George Farrar# who mentions them in his will (1740). His wife was MARY—, whom he married in 1715, and they settled in Chesterfield. Children: Joseph, 1714; Isaac, 1718; Mary, b. Oct. 7, 1727; m. Paul Newton; Ruth, 1729; Benjamin, 1730.

She married (2) in Hardwick, March 13, 1766, Leonard Robinson* (87)* of Bennington, Vt., and had a son, Samuel Leonard Robinson, born March 23, 1767, in Bennington, who died in Hardwick, January 18, 1863, aged nearly 26. She found her second marriage relation unpleasant and returned to Hardwick, residing with her son Lennel. She must have obtained a divorce, since her husband married again during her lifetime.

Silas Newton was a farmer, residing near the road to Enfield, about three and one-half miles from the Common in Hardwick, Mass. He received his lands from his father out of the property Deacon Josiah purchased in Hardwick in 1767.

August 9, 1757, a company of men from Hardwick, under Capt. Joseph Warner, marched as far as Kinderhook to the relief of Fort William Henry. Silas Newton was clerk of the company.

His will was allowed and his estate settled in 1764, in Hardwick. Case in Probate No. 43,415.

Her children, born in Hardwick, were: Abra, b. 1802; d. 1809; John W., b. 1804; d. in Barre, May 29, 1874, aged 65 (m. in Hardwick, Dec. 25, 1834, Achsa Berry and had William H., b. about 1852); ——— child, b. 1810; d. 1815.

John Griffin (father of Abner) of Hardwick was a drummer with the Revolutionary Army from the beginning to the end of the war. He married Sept. 7, 1769, in Hardwick, 1565. TIMOTHY NEWTON, SR. (Josiah, Moses, Richard), son of Deacon Josiah and Elizabeth (Woods) Newton of Westborough and Hardwick, Mass., was born at Westborough, February 23, 1727-28. He died at Hardwick, July 10, 1811, aged 83 years.

He married at Hardwick, Mass., July 5, 1751, Sarah Merrick, daughter of Captain Constant and Sarah (Freeman) Merrick of Hardwick, where she was born September 30, 1732. She died at Hardwick, November 23, 1803, aged 71.

Mr. Newton was a farmer in Hardwick, on the road to Barre, his farm being part of the lands purchased by his father in 1737 in Hardwick. He probably became identified with the town about the time of his marriage. In the French war he was in the military service in 1748, and again in 1754 and 1755, in Col. Abraham Williams' Company, one of the two companies in Marlborough. But from September 20 to December 5, 1756, we find Ensign Timothy Newton in the Company of Capt. Paul Mandell, a company from Hardwick in the Crown Point expedition—forty-seven in all, and he Clerk of the Company. Samuel Steward, also in this expedition, died near Crown Point—sickness.

Mr. Newton seems to have been one of the trusted and active men of the town and was Selectman for the years 1774, 1777, 1786. In the "south company" of minutemen of Hardwick were Capt. Jonathan Warner and Ensign Timothy Newton.

August 22, 1774, Hardwick chose a "Committee of Correspondence." Among the fifteen members of it were Capt. Constant Mirrick and Ensign Timothy Newton. The same fifteen were relected in 1775. In 1777, 1778 and 1779 Timothy Newton was relected to the same committee. After 1780 no further elections were necessary. The war was nearly over.

In February, 1779, Timothy Newton was one of a committee of three "to secure Mr. Joel Foster to preach the Gospel in this town for a number of Sabbaths." They were not successful.

These men were of the “North Side.” The “North Side” and the “South Side” were separated by the County Road from the “Old Furnace” to Green- wick, Mass. No one on the “South Side” paid so much as Ezra Leonard, 15s. 7d. 3qr., and Lennel Newton, 10s. 2d. 2qr.

The First United States Census, 1790, shows Timothy Newton of Hardwick head of a family which consisted of himself and one other male over sixteen years and three females. His youngest son and youngest daughter were not then married. The other female may have been a servant.

NEWTON GENEALOGY

He married at Bridgewater, Mass., June 13, 1776, Hannah Sherman, daughter of Anthony and Silence (Ford) Sherman of Rochester and Bridgewater, Mass. She was born in Bridgewater, October 25, 1749, and died there, ——, 1839, in her 90th year. She married (2) in 1780, Cushing Mitchell, (2d wfr.) of Bridgewater, by whom she had children, and continued to reside there. He died in 1829 in his 80th year.

Josiah Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. His service in the army was, I suppose, one of the following records: "Newton, Josiah, Brookfield, Corporal. Capt. Ithamar Wright's Company of Minute men, marched April 19, 1775, served 8 days. Enlisted April 27, 1775. Also, Sergeant, Capt. John Packard's Company." Several other items of service, the last date being Dec. 27, 1775.

The records at Brookfield contain his marriage as having occurred at Bridgewater. This would indicate that he was then a resident of Brookfield, and his daughter is called "only child of Josiah Newton of Brookfield." The date and place of her birth does not appear.

The record of his death as written in the Family Bible is: "He died August 31, 1784, in his 59th year." He married at Southborough June 5, 1755, Silence Bartlett. I do not know her parentage. She may be related to Henry Bartlett of Marlborough, or to William Bartlett, who came from Cambridge and settled in Shirley, Mass.

whose wife and daughter were named Silence.] The record of her death in the Family Bible is: "She died March 4, 1796, in her 69th year." The church record of her death at Southborough is: "Widow Silence Newton, March 2, 1796." It is pleasant to reach backward in our thoughts to something tangible in regard to these ancestors, who seem, without it, to be but names only. Therefore I quote from a letter written in 1888, by a great-granddaughter of Silence Bartlett, to me—who am also her descendant. She writes: "In her day they wore short gowns and petticoats—the petticoat was very elaborately quilted in flowers. . . . I have in my possession one that was hers. It was given to Aunt Patty" [dau. of Paul], "who put it into the center of a bed quilt. The petticoat was bright crimson—the color holds well. Aunt Sophia has a pillow and a pocket-book that were hers. 'She was a dressmaker, so my mother told me,' said Aunt Sophia" [dau. of Paul]. "And the petticoat is now mine."

In the U. S. Census, 1790, Silence Newton is head of a household of two females, at Southborough. Edward and Silence Newton had two children whose births are recorded in Southborough, and we know of the daughter Lovina.

The two sisters, Martha (called by her Aunt, "Cousin Patty") and Lovina, married two brothers, as shown below.

Mr. Newton made his will not long before his death. He was a farmer in Southborough. I think he lived there all of his life.

NEWTON GENEALOGY

It seemed to be the custom in the old times for the youngest son to remain with the parents in the homestead and later to inherit it. Not always, but frequently. It was so with Ebenezer, and again with his son Solomon, who repeated the custom to his youngest son, Willard. In 1826, Solomon Newton was living, aged 92, with his son, Willard, on the old homestead and farm, which had been the home of his ancestors for more than 170 years. While always remaining in the same place, the old mansion was destined to have quite an itinerary. The lands of Richard Newton and his son Moses were in the town of Marlborough until, on the division of the township in 1727, they fell into what became Southborough; which continued to be its home town until by act of the Legislature (Chapter 89), the mansion and its lands were transferred back to Marlborough, in 1843. Thus Richard came to his own again; but his great-grandson, Solomon, did not live to see it. He did live, however, to participate in the Centennial Celebration of the incorporation of Southborough, July 17, 1827.

The First United States Census, 1790, gives the family of Solomon Newton at Southborough, Mass., as consisting of himself, one male above sixteen years, one male below sixteen years, and five females.

His will was probated at Southborough in 1839, case in Probate Court at Worcester No. 43,439, where it may be seen.

ELISHA NEWTON, JR. (Elisha¹, Moses³, Moses², Richard⁴), son of Elisha and Sarah (Tomlin) Newton of Marlborough and Shrewsbury, Mass., was born at Shrewsbury, February 7, 1729-30. He died and his son Asa Newton was appointed administrator of his estate November 3, 1801, Shrewsbury.

He married at Concord, Mass., Sarah Miles, daughter of Deacon Samuel and Keziah (———) Miles⁵ of Concord and Shrewsbury, Mass., born at Shrewsbury, January 29, 1722, died there July 27, 1766.

He married (2) at Weston, Mass., "September 1, 1757, by Mr. Samuel Woodward, minister of the gospel," Mrs. Mary Hager of Weston.

Elisha Newton, Jr., lived in Shrewsbury until after the births of seven children there recorded. No deaths of any of the family appear on the records.

I suppose he is the Elisha Newton, head of a family in Shrewsbury, enumerated in the First United States Census, 1790—the whole number in the family being two males upward of sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and three females. It is probable that the household was made up of himself, wife and family of one of his sons or daughters, probably son Asa, who gave bond

FIFTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

1720. ELISHA NEWTON, JR. (Elisha¹, Moses³, Moses², Richard⁴), son of Elisha and Sarah (Tomlin) Newton of Marlborough and Shrewsbury, Mass., was born at Shrewsbury, February 7, 1729-30. He died and his son Asa Newton was appointed administrator of his estate November 3, 1801, Shrewsbury.

It is probable that the household was made up of himself, wife and family of one of his sons or daughters, probably son Asa, who gave bond in $10,000 as administrator of his estate. John Drury and John Bragg, sureties. Case in Probate, No. 43,128. No relationships in the settling of the estate are mentioned.

They resided in Milford, Mass., where he died Jan. 5, 1831, three days after the death of his wife. "And in their death they were not divided." One child, and perhaps others.

2081. iv. Lucetta, b. Feb. 4, 1756; d. — — —; m. at Shrewsbury, Jan. 18, 1774, Stephen Wheelock, son of Nahor and Abigail (Williams) Wheelock of Shrewsbury, where he was born Feb. 22, 1756-51; d. — — —. They probably moved from Shrewsbury. Nahor Wheelock was a brother of Persis and Huliah Wheelock who married the uncles of Lucetta Newton. See note to Ezekiel (Elisha's, Mass'). One child was born to Lucetta, in Shrewsbury. They may have been others born elsewhere.

2082. 1. Eliza Wheelock, b. Nov. 29, 1775.

2093. 9. Daniel Woodward, Jr., b. Oct. 3, 1802; m. (1) Mary Newton; m. (2) Anna Newton; daughter of Nathaniel (2124).

1721. EZEKIEL NEWTON\(^3\) (Elisha\(^1\), Moses\(^2\), Moses\(^2\), Richard\(^1\)), son of Elisha, Sr., and Sarah (Tomlin) Newton of Shrewsbury, Mass., was born there, May 9, 1723, and died probably at Spencer in the early part of 1800.

He married at Shrewsbury, November 24, 1755, Persis Wheelock, daughter of Samuel and Huldah (Rice) Wheelock\(^*\) of Marlborough and Shrewsbury, Mass. She was born at Shrewsbury, September 19, 1732, and died after February 4, 1800, being then mentioned as living. Her sister married her husband's brother, Timothy Newton\(^2\).

Mr. Newton lived in Shrewsbury, where the births of three children are recorded, and no further mention of the family there. He may have moved to Spencer about 1775-8, where the daughter, Azubah, was born; and I think he did, and that he is the person referred to in the First United States Census, 1790, as Ezekiel Newton of Spencer, head of a family which consisted of one male above sixteen years (himself), one male below sixteen years, and two females. This is confirmed by his will, in which he is designated as of Spencer. I have not the exact date of his death, but it probably occurred sometime in January, 1800.

The following is an abstract of his will and the papers in the case:

1800   Ezekiel Newton,   Spencer,  1800

Gives to wife, Persis, all furniture and two thirds of income and profit of real estate.  The third other to son, Edmund.

To son Ezekiel one dollar "the having received his proportion of my estate heretofore".

To daughter, Persis Sargent a note against her husband John Sargent, also $855.95.

To son Edmund, all real estate after death of wife.

To daughter, Azubah Newton, $253.33.

Appoints son, Edmund, executor.  Executor's bond $10,000.

(\textcopyright{} a letter enclosed in the case, dated May 6, 1866, refers to the death of Persis Sargent, also to "another daughter who afterwards married with Wm. Perkins and has since died." ) was taxed there. Later his son Timothy, Jr., resided in Westminster and raised a large family there. The History of Hubbardston has a list of the aged persons who have gone from the town “to spend their last days and died elsewhere”—and one is Timothy Newton, aged 81, and his wife, Lydia, aged 86.

The following is a list of the Newtons, with families, who were in Hubbardston before 1800: Ezekiel Newton, Timothy 2 of Shrewsbury, 1769; Joel (s. of Timothy 1) (married), 1793; Timothy (s. of Timothy 2) (married), 1799; Jonas, 1785; Josiah (s. of Timothy), 1797; John E., 1789; Joseph of Northborough, 1777; Ebenezer (s. of Joseph) (married), 1798.

There were also men of other names in whom we are interested through their marriage with Newtons, namely: Ezra Pond of Wrentham, 1768. His sons Levi (married), 1785; and Joseph (married), 1778; John Woods of Marlborough, 1771; and his son Edward (married), 1795; Elisha Woodard of Newton, 1774; and his sons Daniel and Philemon, 1776.

Among the men who held the office of Selectmen of Hubbardston were Stephen Head, seven years; Ezra Pond, four years; William Muzzy, six years; Robert Murdock, nine years; Sylvanus Dunton, five years; Asa Marcan, nine years; Ezekiel Newton, four years; and he was also treasurer five years and assessor one year.

In the valuation of and tax upon property of the town of Hubbardston as taken May 1, 1767, scale $16.30 on $1,000, Timothy Newton was required to pay $3.75.

On the question whether the town should invite Mr. Samuel Gay to become their pastor, August 13, 1810, Timothy Newton was one of the seven years, and Ebenezer Newton one of the six nays.

The United States Census, 1790, shows Timothy Newton head of a household at Hubbardston, consisting of, besides himself, two males above sixteen years, three males under sixteen years, and two females.

Timothy Newton, Sr., died intestate, and his estate was administered in 1818, at Hubbardston. Case in Probate, No. 43,448.

Mr. Newton and his wife Hannah were admitted to the church at Shrewsbury in 1773. He had children by each wife, all born at Shrewsbury. He was head of a family there at the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, when it consisted of three males over sixteen years, three males under sixteen years, and four females. His name appears in the list of owners and occupants of houses there in 1798. He died intestate. His estate was settled by an administrator in 1822 at Shrewsbury. Case in Probate, No. 43,429.

1727. CHARLES NEWTONO (Elisha4, Moses3, Moses2, Richard1), son of Elisha and Sarah (Foulsh) Newton of Marlborough and Shrewsbury, Mass., was born at Shrewsbury, August 28, 1742, and died at Princeton, Mass., December 10, 1831, aged 89. G. S.

He married at —— [the marriage probably took place at Westborough, October 4, 1766, although the record gives it as "int." in both towns, that in Shrewsbury being Sept. 30]. to Tabitha Bouker, daughter of Josiah and Hannah (Eager) Bouker* of Westborough, Mass., where she was born April 18, 1749. She died at Princeton, Mass., March 5, 1827, T. R., or March 3, 1829, aged 80, G. S., probably the latter date.

Mr. Newton lived in Shrewsbury until after the births of five children; and there may have been others born elsewhere. He removed to Princeton as early as 1803, in which year his daughter, Tabitha, was married there "at the house of Charles Newton." He evidently lived the remainder of his life at Princeton, for there he and his wife died and are buried.

The First United States Census, 1790, shows the family of Charles Newton of Princeton to consist of himself, one male under sixteen years, and three females.

Charles Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. Abstract of service: "Private in Capt. John Maynard's Company, Col. Job Cushings regiment, marched August 21, 1777, discharged August 23, 1777, service six days including three (60 miles) days travel home. Company marched to Hadley on Alarm at Bennington. He married at, as I suppose, Watertown, Mass., May 25, 1780, Grace Harrington, daughter of Thomas and Grace (Warren) Harrington* of Watertown and Shrewsbury, born at Watertown, April 11, 1747. She died, the widow of Moses Newton, December 13, 1817, aged 70 years, at Shrewsbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton resided in Shrewsbury, where two children were born to them. They were admitted to the church there in 1732. The First United States Census, 1790, shows the family of Moses Newton in Shrewsbury to consist of one male above sixteen years (himself), one male below sixteen years, and two females.

Children.

1750. i. Dana, b. June 4, 1782; m. Hannah Cheney.

1776. Solomon Newton (Amos, Sr., Moses, Moses, Richard*), son of Amos, Sr., and Azubah (Newton) Newton, of Southborough, Mass., was born there October 12, 1738. He died before the death of his father in 1797, and possibly before 1790.

He married and had seven children, who are mentioned in the will of his father, who gives them a bequest of £50. Where they were born, or who their mother was, is unknown to me. He seems to have lived in some town not far away. He was not head of a household in the United States Census, 1790; for there were only three of that name, all accounted for.

Solomon Newton is mentioned in the will of his father, but is given no portion. The bequest is to “my grandchildren, heirs of my son Solomon,” naming them. This would indicate that Solomon had died before the dating of the will. To these heirs is given £50.

Robert Harrington, a proprietor in Watertown, 1642-44; freeman, 1663; m. 1618 or 49, Susanna George, b. 1632; d. 1694. He died May 7, 1707. Will dated Jan. 1, 1704-5. Inventory mentions 612 acres of land and appraised at 1717. He had thirteen children.

The fourth was

Thomas Harrington, b. 1691-2; m. (1) Abigail ——, and settled in Cambridge, where she died 1717. He m. (2) Mary ——; res. Wattham. He was an innholder 1719 to 1737. Will dated 1739, proved 1750. Four children. The eldest was

Thomas Harrington, b. 1713, in Cambridge; d. in Shrewsbury 1791, aged 78; m. in Watertown Aug. 27, 1737, Grace Warren, and settled in Shrewsbury. They had ten children. The fifth was Grace, b. April 11, 1747; m. 1780, Moses Newton (Elisha); the tenth was Daniel, who m. Relief Smith and had a son Holloway, b. 1789. See note to Adam Newton.
I suppose the brothers, Solomon and Ephraim Newton of Framingham, who were soldiers of the Revolution, were the sons mentioned as heirs of Solomon Newton, in the will of their grandfather.

Three children, born at Southborough, were:

2164. i. Joseph⁷ Woods, b. Jan. 26, 1784; m. March 6, 1807, Lucy Maynard of Westborough; had there six children.

2169. vi. Lucy¹², b. about 1766—

2170. vii. Ephraim¹³, b. about 1764; m. Abigail Chaffin.

1793. BEZALEEL NEWTON⁴ (Amos⁴, Sr., Moses⁵, Moses², Richard¹), son of Amos, Sr., and Azubah (Newton) of Southborough, Mass., was born there May 10, 1747. He died between March 15, 1798, and the time his estate was administered in 1799. Administrator appointed April 2, 1799.

He married at Southborough, Mass., December 29, 1769, Molly Ward, daughter of Absalom and Mary (Wilkinson) Ward¹⁴ of Southborough, where she was born April 20, 1746. She married (2) at Southborough, September 18, 1800, David Ramon of Ashby, Mass.

Bezaleel Newton was a farmer and a blacksmith. He probably settled in Ashby, where his older sister was living, soon after his marriage. None of his children are recorded in Southborough, nor is his death recorded there, although in the administration of his estate he is mentioned as “late of Southborough,” as though a resident of that town.

Bezaleel Newton was the head of a family in Ashby, Mass., at the taking of the First United States Census, 1790. Besides himself, the family consisted of one male above sixteen years, one male below sixteen years, and three females.

In the administration of the estate of Bezaleel Newton, Sr., there seems to have been a will, as mention is made of “legacies” going to his relatives Solomon Newton and Thankful Newton and Daniel Fay. “By will.”

February 6, 1798, he gave a note of hand to Peter Fay. On March 15, 1798, he gave another note to Peter Fay. This is the last date I have of him, living. His son was appointed administrator April 2, 1799, the widow assenting. Thus he died between those two dates.

From the account of the accrued interest on these notes, and those to and from the minor son Amos, and the citation to the widow of Bezaleel and her present husband, it would appear the settlement of the estate covered several years in time.

“There is five Heirs to this estate.” I suppose these children are set down in the order of their births. Bezaleel, Jr., “the oldest heir,” being in 1790 “above

* For Absalom Ward and preceding generations, see note to Amos Newton, Sr. (1498).
16 years," was therefore born before 1774; and Amos, then "below 16 years," and "a minor" in 1799, was born after 1778. I suppose these children were born at Ashby, Mass.

He married at Southborough, Mass., April 22, 1772, Elizabeth Horn, daughter of Robert, Jr., and Thankful (Moore) Horn of Southborough, where she was born August 28, 1750, and where she died March 19, 1780. She is descended through her father from Hannah Newton\(^3\) (100).

Mr. Newton lived in Southborough and his children were born there.

CHILDREN.

2177. ii. ALPHEUS\(^6\), b. Oct. 29, 1775. He is given 166-13-4, in the will of his grandfather, Amos Newton.

2178. iii. MOSES\(^7\), b. March 1, 1777; d. July 5, 1777.

1797. JABEZ NEWTON\(^5\) (Ezekiel\(^4\), Moses\(^3\), Moses\(^2\), Richard\(^5\)), son of Ezekiel and Heplzibah (Newton) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there January 3, 1758-59, and died there November 16, 1799. C. R.

He married at Southborough, December 21, 1789 [T. R.], Rhoda Ward, daughter of Absalom and Mary (Wilkinson) Ward of Southborough, where she was born July 29, 1745. She died there "Widow Rhoda Newton, November 4, 1827, in her 82d year, C. R." Her two sisters married other Newtons, as shown in note to Amos Newton\(^1\), Sr. (Moses\(^3\), Moses\(^2\)).

Mr. Newton resided in Southborough, where his eight children were born. At date of the First United States Census, 1790, he was the head of a household there and his family, besides himself, was three males under sixteen years, and three females.

Jabez Newton died without making a will. His estate was settled at Southborough by administrator in 1799. Case in Probate, No. 45,222.

An abstract of the settlement of his widow's estate is here given. Their son Ezekiel, appointed administrator, probably lived with her. The administration of his (the son Ezekiel) estate also is here given. He appears to have had no family. I suppose his real estate, "Homestead of 50 acres in Southborough, $1780.00," represents the home farm of Jabez and Rhoda Newton, and was given to the son Ezekiel during their lifetime.

2179. i. LADY4, b. April 2, 1770 [T. R.]; d. ———. I suppose she married at Southborough, July 4, 1798, John Stearns, son of Timothy4 (Samuel3, Samm2, Isaac1 of Watertown1) and Bethia (Adams) Stearns of Medway and Framingham, born at Framingham, June 5, 1741, and died at Southborough, where they resided, Sept. 22, 1813, aged 72. She probably married (2) at Southborough, Sept. 30, 1818, William Dowal of Framingham. I have found no children of either marriage.

1800. EZEKIEL NEWTON, 3d2 (Ezekiel1, Jr., Moses2, Moses3, Richard4), son of Ezekiel, Jr., and Hephzibah (Newton) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there, October 15, 1749, and died there May 3, 1773.
He married at Southborough, May 15, 1772 [T. R.], Lucy Ward, daughter of Absalom and Mary (Wilkinson) Ward of Southborough, where she was born October 17, 1744. She had one child that died, and she married (2), at Marlborough March 17, 1791, John Essenden. They lived in Westborough, where she died, her widow, about 1814. No children by this marriage. Two of her sisters married Newtons. See note to Amos4, Sr. (148).
Mr. Newton lived in Southborough, where his child and he were born and died.

CHILD.

1804. EZEKIEL NEWTON² (Edward¹, Edward⁰, Moses³, Richard¹), son of Edward and Elizabeth (Allen) Newton of Marlborough and Shrewsbury and Lancaster, Mass., was born at Hopkinton, Mass., October 15, 1725, and died at Lancaster [before Sept. 7], 1779.

He married at Lancaster, Mass., June 21, 1749, by Rev. John Mellon, "Dorothy Osgood, Jun., of Lancaster," daughter [perhaps, of David and Eunice (Carter) Osgood] of Lancaster, who were married there November 3, 1724. She survived her husband and was appointed administratrix of his estate, and was living June 5, 1789, when the last account was allowed.

Ezekiel Newton and his wife were admitted to communion in the Second Congregational Church in Lancaster, Mass., September 2, 1750, at which time their daughter Dorothy was baptized. The family appear to have lived in Shrewsbury, where their children were born, but to have identified themselves with the town and church at Lancaster, where all of their children were baptized, a short time after birth, in each case. His hands probably lay in the North Province of Shrewsbury, which was set off to Lancaster in 1768.

He was a farmer in Lancaster, owning his farm of fifty-one acres. He left no will and the estate was settled by the court as usual in such cases. A list of the papers and abstract of administration follows. [Perhaps his widow. Dorothy, married again, see Dorothy Newton.footnote below.]

2192. i. DOROTHY, b. March 28, 1759; m. at Lancaster, April 8, 1772, David Goodale, "first of Lancaster." He was son of Nathan and Persis (Whitney) Goodale of Marlbrough, where he was born Aug. 14.

* Notice that Dorothy Osgood above is styled "Jun." There were two others of the name, Dorothy, who m. 1757, at Lancaster, Josiah Whitecomb, and Dorothy, who m. 1766, Phineas Ward. It does not follow that her mother was Dorothy, since it was the custom to designate older and younger cousins as "Sen," and "Jun." Besides this David and Eunice Osgood living at Lancaster, there was also Joseph and Katharine (Wetherby) Osgood (m. May 12, 1726), and Aaron and Eunice (White) Osgood (m. May 15, 1729). Any one of these three couples might have been the parents of "Dorothy Osgood, Jun." The early Lancaster records were destroyed.

§ The Lincoln Genealogy, p. 41, has the following statement: Enoch Goodale of Oakham, Mass., married Dorothy Newton. They had a son, Enoch Goodale, Jr., born Nov. 6, 1786, at West Boylston, Mass., who died in Naco, Maine, March 4, 1874; m. Lucy Lincoln, who was born at Oakham, Mass., and died at Naco, Maine. I have thought this might be Dorothy, widow of Ezekiel Newton.

§ ROBERT GOOSALE, in his 31st year, embarked at Ipswich, England, with his wife, Katherine, in her 29th year, April, 1634. They brought with them three children; they settled at —— and had five more children. The first born (perhaps first) in this country was ZACHARIAS, b. 1639, who m. ELIZA BERCHAM and had in Salem, Mass., eleven children. One was NATHAN GOOSALE (s. John), b. 1709; d. at Marlborough Jan. 14, 1780; m. PERSIS WHITNEY, dau. of Benjamin. They had thirteen children. The eldest was Nathan, who m. Dinah Weeks [see note to ———], and the seventh was David, b. Aug. 14, 1749, who m. Dorothy Newton.

1749. They lived in Shrewsbury and had four children born there, namely:

1805. SAMUEL NEWTON (Edward, Edward, Moses, Richard), son of Edward and Elizabeth (Allen) Newton of Marlborough, Hopkinton, Shrewsbury and Lancaster, Mass., was born at Shrewsbury, November 5, 1727, and died at Shrewsbury, September 28, 1756.

He married at Lancaster, Mass., by Rev. John Williams, December 18 or 19, 1751, Sarah Doughs. [Perhaps she was the Sarah Newton who married in Shrewsbury, in 1762, Solomon Bigelow and had there three children: Barna, 1762; Silas, 1764; Silas, 1766.]

Samuel Newton moved to Shrewsbury and settled. His lands were set off to Lancaster in 1768; thus he died in Shrewsbury, where two children were born to him, Samuel and Elijah.

CHILDREN.

2200. i. SAMUEL, b. Aug. 2, 1752. [I am not sure of anything further in regard to this Samuel Newton. I shall give such facts as I have gathered and what I suppose about them. Some one may be able to explain if I am wrong. I suppose he married at Westborough, May 25, 1782, Abigail Warren, dau. of Thaddeus and Abigail (Whipple) Warren of Westborough, where she was born Feb. 11, 1760. They probably lived in Lancaster and had children there, then moved to Westfield, Vt., where the First United States Census in 1790 found him head of a household consisting of, besides himself, one male above sixteen years, five males under sixteen years, and four females. I suppose that one of his sons was

2201. 1. Samuel Newton, b. about 1788: who with a young man, Mr. Felton, were drowned in Sandy Pond in Lancaster, Mass., April 18, 1815, by the upsetting of a canoe—Samuel was 27 years old at the time. Another record of the event from the History of Clinton, Mass.: "Samuel Newton, in 1815, a young man of 27, married and wife living, drowned in the night while spearing fish. That his wife was the Miriam Newton who administered on his estate, would appear from the following abstract of administration."

2203. ii. ELIJAH, b. March 13, 1754. [In the same fashion as with his brother Samuel, I am sure of only the birth. I suppose he married and removed to Westfield, Vt., where he was enumerated in the same Census of 1790, his family besides himself consisting of two males under sixteen years and two females. One reason I think these two brothers are the men in Westersfield, Vt., is because it is known that their uncle, Capt. Edward Newton, removed to that town, from Lancaster, and is enumerated at Westersfield, Vt., in 1790.]

The following may be the Revolutionary service of this Elijah Newton (or of another one): "Newton. Elijah. Hubbardton. Private, Capt.
1812. CAPTAIN EDWARD NEWTON\(^2\) (Edward\(^4\), Edward\(^3\), Moses\(^2\), Richard\(^1\)), son of Edward and Elizabeth (Allen) Newton of Marlborough, Hopton, Shrewsbury and Lancaster, Mass., was born at Shrewsbury, January 18 or 23, 1738, and died probably at Weathersfield, Vt., February 28, 1819. He married at Worcester, Mass., February 7, 1769, Sarah Winch, daughter of David and Naomi (Gibbs) Winch\(^3\) of Framingham and Shrewsbury. She was born at Framingham, July 12, or 23, 1755, and died (probably at Weathersfield) July 3, 1807.

He married (2) Betty ———, who was born June 5, 1766. Mr. Newton resided in Shrewsbury, Mass., until after the birth of his fourth child. On the records there, he is styled "Edward, Jun." at the birth of the first three children. In 1767 the "Jun." is omitted. The inference is that his father had died between the two dates, which was the fact. In 1768, he and his father with their hands were set off to Lancaster, where his remaining children were born.

The Records of the Second or West Precinct Church at Lancaster open with the usual covenant. Among the eighteen subscribers is the name of Edward Newton, April 27, 1760, he is dismissed and recommended to the Second Church at Shrewsbury.

After the war was over, the family are quite sure that Capt. Edward Newton lived in Weathersfield, Vt. The First United States Census, 1790, gives his family there as consisting of two males above sixteen years, two males below sixteen years, and three females. Edward Newton was one of a "Committee of six to supply the families of those who are gone to the Continental Army." The town so voted October 26, 1778. [Military Annals of Lancaster.]

1825. EZRA NEWTON2 (Jonathan1, Jonathan2, Moses2, Richard3), son of Jonathan, Jr., and Tabitha (———) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there July 29, 1740, and died there October 16, 1803.

He married at Southborough, January 8, 1769, Elizabeth Hager. Who she was is unknown to me.

Mr. Newton was a farmer in Southborough—his lands being in the northern part of the town; he seems to have obtained by purchase at various times from different people, as the deeds show. This property remained in the possession of his descendants until 1896, when it was purchased by the Boston Water Board, to become a part of its great reservoir.

Before his death he executed a deed giving all of his real estate to his son Caleb; but the deed was not registered until after his death.

He was a soldier of the Revolution—a minuteman on the first alarm. An abstract of his service is here given: "Ezra Newton, Southborough. Corporal in Capt. Elijah Bellows' Company, marched on Alarm April 19, 1775, to Lexington, served 15 days. Also, In Capt. Seth Newton's Company, Col. Whitney's regiment, enlisted August 21, 1777, discharged August 26, or 27, 1777, served six days on Alarm at Barnetfing, Vt.; Company proceeded from Southborough to Hadley on horses; by order of the Braggadier; horse and mileage (50 miles) allowed home."

His children were born in Southborough. He was head of a household there according to the First United States Census, 1790. The other members of it were one male above sixteen years and two females.

Some ancient deeds in possession of Mrs. Sophia Newton, widow of Lincoln, are described by Mrs. E. C. Temple: "Deed given by Abraham Amsden and Hannah his wife the 26 day of August, 1769, to Ezra Newton of Southborough, Mass., conveys 49 acres, one of the bounds being stake and stone at Castle Hill [Elijah Bellows' land]. Price, $105. 9s. 4d. Witnessed by Nathaniel Newton and Elijah Newton. Registered October 25, 1769."

"Deed Given the Twentyeth day of March anno domini one thousand seven hundred & seventy and in the tenth year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord 1825. Elijah Newton* (Jonathan*, Jr., Jonathan*, Moses*, Richard*), son of Jonathan, Jr., and Tabitha (———) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there, October 13, 1743, and died there November 24, 1816, aged 73 years. C. R.

He married at Southborough, January 3, 1765 [T. R.], Relief Newton, daughter of Silas* and Lovina* (Newton) Newton of Southborough, where she was born May 22, 1783. After the death of Mr. Newton she married in succession, William Annett of Framingham, Josiah Lawrence of Lancaster, and "James Mallard, who survived her." [See her number, 2321.] Her three children were born at Southborough.

Elijah Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. I suppose the following to be an abstract of his service: "Elijah Newton, Sergeant, Capt. Adam Henry's Company of Guards. Engaged Jan. 7, 1779; discharged April 6 (also 1) 1779; Company detached from militia to guard troops of Convention at Rutland for three months from Jan. 1, 1779. Also, Elijah Newton, Spencer, in Capt. Jonathan Carried's Co., Col. Josiah Whitney's regt."

At date of the First United States Census, 1790, Elijah Newton was head of a family consisting of himself and two females in Southborough. The females may have been his widowed mother and a sister.

He married at Southborough, June 21, 1781, Sarah Brewer, daughter of Peter and Elizabeth (Pratt) Brewer2 of Southborough, where she was born December 18, 1760. I suppose the mention, "Sarah Newton, Nov. 9, 1837," at Southborough, to be a record of her death. She was living in 1832. See will below.

His estate was administered without a will, in 1827, at Southborough. Case in Probate Court. No. 43,375.

1836. DAVID NEWTON, JR. (David, Jonathan, Moses, Richard), son of David, Sr. and Sarah (Pike) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there August 29, 1751, and died. He married at Southborough, February 7, 1775, Abigail Stone, daughter of Jonathan and Judith (Newton) Stone of Southborough, where she was born June 5, 1743. She died. David Newton, Jr., married (2) at Southborough, December 7, 1779, Elizabeth Newton (1857), daughter of Gideon and Hannah (Lawrence) Newton of Southborough, where she was born April 17, 1755, his cousin. The church record at Southborough has the death of "wife of David Newton, June 5, 1793." No town record of the death.

David Newton, Jr., lived in Southborough until after 1788. Six children were born there. Later he moved to Spencer, Mass. The town record there has the birth of "Nabby, dau. of David and Elizabeth Newton, born May 30, 1794." It seems to me there is an error in the record, either of the year of birth of the child, or year of death of the mother. The child might have been born in Spencer; the mother have died there the following month, and her body taken to Southborough for burial; and the church there have the only record of the death. The First United States Census, 1790, gives David Newton head of a family at Spencer, which consists of himself, three males below sixteen years, and three females.

David Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. His name appears on the rolls as follows and is the only soldier given bearing that name in Massachusetts: "David Newton, PVT private in Capt. Thomas Whipple's Company of Guards, enlisted April 29, 1780, discharged Dec. 26, 1781, stationed at Rutland. Also, David Newton, in Capt. Timothy Ruggles' company of Guards, enlisted January 24, 1781, discharged December 26, 1781, service at Rutland."

Tyrus Newton lived, after his marriage, in Framingham, Southborough and Upton. His children by second wife were born in Southborough and he continued to reside there until after the taking of the First United States Census of 1790, when, as the head of a family consisting of two males above sixteen years and six females, he is credited to that town.

1856. GIDEON NEWTON, JR. (Gideon, Jonathan, Moses, Richard), son of Gideon and Hannah (Lawrence) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there May 21, 1752, and died at Marlborough, N. H., March 1, 1822, aged nearly 70 years.

He married at Southborough, September 5, 1776, Phoebe Temple, daughter of Thomas and Sarah (Parker) Temple of Framingham, Mass., where she was born April 1, 1750. "She died at Roxbury, Vt., January 15, 1822, aged nearly 72 years."

Gideon Newton, Jr., seems to have left his native town soon after marriage. The historian of Marlborough, N. H., states: "He settled about 1780 on the farm now known as the Guild place, in Roxbury, N. H., since owned by G. W. Xyc."

[Is there any information on the location of Roxbury in New Hampshire on Century Atlas.] During the years 1789-1794, the population of Marlborough, N. H., increased so rapidly by the arrival of new settlers that it became necessary to redistrict the town. At a meeting, April 21, 1794, a committee of nine men were chosen for that purpose, one of whom was Gideon Newton. His property fell into No. East District, now known as School District No. 1—the largest in the town, containing forty-two families.

Between the dates 1789 and 1793 he was living at Dublin, N. H. [A town a few miles East of Marlborough, N. H.], where at the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, he was head of a family consisting of himself, one male below sixteen years, and two females.

But he died at Marlborough, N. H., as above stated; his daughter and her family living with him on the Newton farm as narrated below.

John Haynes, b. 1621, came the year before his father, to Watertown. His will is dated 1652. I suppose he is the "Capt. John" who died at Sudbury in 1710. He m. at Sudbury Oct. 6, 1642, Dorothy Noyes, who d. his wid. 1715. Twelve children. The fifth was Peter Haynes, b. 1647; d. 1747. Elizabeth Rice (Cannond, Edmund) 5 res. They lived first in Natick, where seven children were born (1759 to 1772); rem. to Sudbury and had three more (1774 to 1778). The fourth was Elizabeth, b. at Natick, Feb. 28, 1766; m. Dec. Deacon Josiah Newton lived in Southborough. His children were born there. The record of his family is also given in the published records of the town of Hopkinton, where he may have resided more or less. The First United States Census, 1790, gives Josiah Newton at Southborough, head of a family which besides himself consisted of one male under sixteen years and three females.

Although so young at the time, Josiah Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. The Revolutionary rolls show the following service: “Josiah Newton, Southborough. Private in Capt. Moses Harrington’s Company, Col. Dike’s regiment, enlisted December 29, 1776.” Then there are other terms of enlistment, to serve at or about Boston until January 1, 1779, or unless sooner discharged.

Another service which I think was performed by this man was: “Josiah Newton. Private in Capt. Daniel Grant’s Company, Col. Enos Hallet’s regiment, enlisted August 9, 1780, discharged October 30, 1780.”

The estate of Deacon Josiah Newton was administered 1822, at Southborough, without a will. Case in Probate Court, No. 43,265.

Josiah Newton was head of a household in Southborough as shown in the First United States Census, 1790. The other members of it were one male under sixteen years and three females.

James Rice (son of Lot Rice by his first marriage) married Eleanor Newton. Their daughter writes: “Elizabeth (Haynes) Newton married my grandfather, Lot Rice. She was the widow of Dea. Josiah Newton. Her children were all married and settled in life, as were his, before their marriage. They owned a small farm in the southerly part of Southborough about three miles from us. When grandfather became too infirm to live alone, father persuaded them to spend a winter with us. They came, and grandfather died with us, on March 27, 1848. His wife went to live in A-hland or Hopkinton with her daughter. She had some Indian blood in her veins. She was of stalwart proportions; straight as an arrow when past 80 years. She was a very smart, active, intelligent, Christian woman. I remember her well.” “Her children were a remarkably capable and intelligent people.”

I do not know about the “Indian blood,” and doubt the statement. Her pedigree is given below.

3. Jonathan Pike and Dorothy Davenport. Jan. 17, 1742-43. [Wiltshire Parish Reg. Eng.] The date is about right for the m. of John Pike of Salisbury; but it is said wife’s name was Mary Washington.

John Pike, with wife and five children, came to New England in 1655. He sailed from Southampton, registered as “laborer” ; but he must have been a man of education and marked ability. The next year (1656) he appears as attorney for a Mr. Eson, plaintiff, versus Robert Cole, defendant, and won the suit. His two oldest sons, John Pike, Jr., and Major Robert Pike, must have received their education in England as they at once took prominent places in the colony. Collin says in his History of Newbury: “No laborer in these days had two such educated sons.” There are legal documents extant showing the intimacy of the Washington, Pike and Hayward families and probable connection between them. [Condensed from Boston Transcript Genealogical Dept., May, 1872.]

The following Pike record is from the town records of Hopkinton, Mass. I have not tried to find the connection with the above immigrant.

The following is from a letter written by the Rev. W. H. Watson of Fall River, Mass., a retired Baptist clergyman, who had been associated with Prof. Calvin Newton, A.M., M.D., was one of the most distinguished and honorable sons of Southborough.
He was a stalwart man physically and intellectually; was most kind and generous, loving and capable. He was a graduate of Union College, Schenectady, N.Y. In 1832, he was elected to the professorship of rhetoric and Hebrew in Western College (now College) Maine. After remaining there five years, he was elected President, and one of the Professors in the Theological Institute at Thomaston, Maine. After four years service there, he returned to Massachusetts and became pastor of the Baptist Church in Grafton, where he remained three years. Declining health induced him to enter the medical profession and he was graduated from the Berkshire Medical College. Later in life he practiced this profession at Worcester as a specialist in the Eclectic School. He was author of quite a valuable medical work. He was much loved and honored by his fellow citizens. At one time he was a member of the Board of Aldermen of Worcester. He died in that city at the age of 55, of typhoid fever. In 1831 he baptized my wife at Hallowell, Me.

Rev. Calvin Newton's estate was administered without a will, in 1853, at Worcester. Case in Probate Court, No. 14574. One publication of his marriage is recorded at Bellingham, Mass., showing that in 1828 he was a resident of that town.

2276. ix. Nancy, b. Nov. 16, 1803; m. at Southborough, May 4, 1825, John Williams.
Their children, born at Southborough, were:

2289. 1. Francis Wingate Williams, b. March 17, 1826.

2290. 2. Calvin Augustus Williams, b. Jan. 1, 1825.

1805. DEACON NATHANIEL NEWTON (Gideon, Jonathan, Moses, Richard), son of Gideon and Hannah (Lawrence) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there April 16, 1764.

He married at Westborough, Mass., November 16, 1790, Hannah Grant, daughter of Lieut. Jonathan and Hannah (Merriam) Grant of Westborough, where she was born January 8, 1755. She died May 8, 1850.

At date of marriage, Nathaniel Newton was "of Spencer," Mass. He continued to reside there, or in a nearby town, as his oldest child was born there and recorded on the town books, and the next two were baptized in the church at Spencer. Later he removed to Hawley, Mass., where he resided many years.

Jan. 2, 1783, above. Jonathan Gould, the immigrant, settled in Watertown in 1642; m. Mary, had John, 1641, and Sarah, 1643. Soon after he moved to Sudbury, m. (2) Sarah Cakebread, who died there his wid. in 1659, and had six children. He died in 1657. His will was proved Aug. 16, 1657. Their fourth child was Jonathan, b. 1658.
He married at Southborough, January 23, 1776, Martha Newton (2656), daughter of Edward and Silence (Bartlett) Newton of Southborough, where she was born May 15, 1756. She died at North Leverett, February 27, 1837, aged 81. G. S.

One year prior to the Revolution, Paul Newton went to live in Marlborough, Mass., where he joined a company of minutemen. On the advance of the British from Boston toward Lexington, on the 19th of April, 1775, he turned out with his company and followed them on their retreat to Boston. In this service he is credited with seven days' service on the Revolutionary Roll: "Paul Newton, Marlborough, Private, Capt. Daniel Barnes' Company." In Boston he regularly enlisted for eight months, on April 26, 1775, with Capt. Daniel Barnes, Col. Jonathan Ward's regiment, and was discharged in December, 1775. During this period his name appears on rolls dated August 1, 1775: service rolls of thirteen weeks six days; company returns, etc.

It is further recorded that very soon after his discharge in December, 1775, he reenlisted in the same company and regiment, with the same officers, for the term of twelve months, continuing at the siege of Boston until that city was evacuated, when his regiment was ordered to New York City; and from there retreated with the Army to White Plains, where he was discharged December, 1776. The battle of White Plains occurred October 28, 1776. In passing through his home town from Boston to New York, when beginning the year's enlistment (December, 1775, to December, 1776), he improved the chance to marry at Southborough, January 23, 1776, the lady to whom he was engaged. While in the army he never was engaged with the company in battle; his service being a detail to the Commissary Department. For this service as a soldier of the Revolution, the United States gave Mr. Newton a pension. His name appears on the rolls in that office: "Paul Newton, Private, State troops. Annual allowance $66.66, sum received $1099.98, placed on pension roll November 29, 1832, pension to commence March 4, 1831. Pensioned again, Act of June 7, 1832, Age, 82." His daughter writes, December 26, 1832, to my father: "We received last week, Father's pension bill from Washington. He is entitled to receive 66.66 per annum, payable semi-annually, viz., the 4th of March and the 4th of Sept. He is cut short some in the amount on account of his being in the Commissary store. The money is to be paid at the U. S. Bank at Boston."

In February, 1777, Mr. Newton was engaged in some civil employment at Springfield, Mass., with a Mr. Church—his particular duties are not mentioned. He continued in this service for some sixteen months; but whether he remained at Springfield during the whole period is unknown.—The above account of Paul Newton is largely what was sent to me from the U. S. Pension Office. Hence it is in great measure his own statement as to what occurred in his life up to this date. We, as a family, have always understood that his service in the army, and in affairs in its interest, covered the whole period of the war—seven years—intermittent of course, as all the public service then was. While his rank was always a private, yet his general knowledge was considered to be of greater service in the management of affairs than in the ranks.

After the war, Mr. Newton returned to Southborough, where he continued to reside until he was about forty years old, when he removed with his family to North Leverett—"Feb. — 1785" is the date of his removal given in the Southborough records. Be that as it may, the First United States Census, 1790, shows

*The regiment of Col. Jonathan Ward was raised out of the County of Worcester; went to Boston soon its news came of the battle at Lexington, and was at the battle of Bunker Hill. In the organization of the army, it was numbered the "32nd regiment, Continental Army," Sept. 27, 1775; they were stationed at Dorchester, in camp. At the battle of Bunker Hill, Col. Ward was Lieutenant-Colonel of Col. Artemus Ward's regiment. After Artemus Ward was commissioned as Brigadier-General, and Commander-in-Chief (May 29, 1775), Jonathan Ward was appointed Colonel of the regiment. The other officers were: Timothy Bigelow, major; Esekridge Cleveland, chaplain; and Captains—Daniel Barnes, Seth Cushing, Luke Drury, Jonas Hubbard. —— Cushing. —— Mellen.
this Paul Newton to have been head of a family at Amherst, Hampshire County, Mass., the other members being three males under sixteen years and three females. The explanation would be that he did not take his family directly from Southborough to North Leverett, but stopped awhile at Amherst, while he and his sons should go forward and erect the house, get the land in shape and the home ready before the younger ones came on. His daughter writes that Paul Newton "never owned a place until he bought in Leverett, but after his marriage lived in the south part of the town (Southborough) in a 'garrison house.'" [I suppose this to be the old "Garrison" of Jonathan Newton'.]

North Leverett is not an ideal farming country, hilly, soil poor, no large manufacturing establishments, small village of some twenty houses. Here Mr. Newton bought a farm of eighty acres, built a small house and somehow supported his family.

The children grew to be worthy men and women, as they all helped, each in the most effective way, for the best good of the whole. All of the old letters that have been preserved show this to have been a united, affectionate, Christian family.

"In person, Paul Newton was below the average height; rather slim of build, and in old age much bent over—the result of hard labor. He was neat in his habits; saving and orderly; honest and upright in his dealings; not much given to talk a great deal—and especially upon the subject of religion. He was a member in good standing of the Baptist Church. In his last years he was nearly blind."

Of Mrs. Newton we are told: "She was physically a noble woman; in build rather above the usual height, well proportioned; active and energetic. She was a pious woman, and took pains to instruct her children in religion. She was much more of a talker upon all subjects than her husband."

That the old people should surely be made comfortable as long as they lived, their daughter Lovina (who in her maidenhood had been a school teacher) and her husband remained with them on the farm until their change came. Their deaths occurred only three days apart, the illness of each being "an inflammatory fever." The funeral services were conducted by their pastor, Rev Mr. Jones, March 3, 1837. The caskets were placed in a tomb, and later buried in one grave in a small graveyard "west of the old Meeting-house" in North Leverett, together with the infant son of their daughter, Mrs. Montague. The grave is marked with a black-slate head stone, on which is the following inscription:

In Memory of

Mr. Paul Newton
(a soldier of the Revolution), who died
March 2nd 1837;
Æ 85 years.

Mrs. Martha Newton wife of
Mr. Paul Newton,
died

The first seven children were all born at Southborough, and recorded there; the others were born at North Leverett.
BRANCH OF MOSES

239. i. MARTHA, b. Dec. 9, 1754; d. Oct. 17, 1843, at Leverett; m. there, Sept. 5, 1820, as his "second wife" William Gunn of Montague, Mass.; who was, as we suppose, son of Asahel and Thankful (Marsh) Gunn of Sunderland, Mass., born there June 28, 1764, and died Oct. 4, 1827. Whether he had been twice married before the marriage in 1820, as suggested by the Historian of Sunderland, we do not know: but we do know that this was not his first marriage, and that there were no children by the wife Martha. They lived on his farm in the eastern part of Montague until his death, when she returned to her father's house for a time—"she seemed to be the house-keeper." Then she lived with her sister Eleanor, wife of James Rice, who had a woolen factory in Southborough, and she worked in it for him. In 1835, she was "with a Miss Jackson, as companion." Of their "Aunt Patty," one of her nieces exclaims: "She was just too good to live!" and a nephew replies: "Didn't I always say she was the best woman that ever lived"—and he ought to know, since she helped to bring him up.

234. iv. STEPHEN, b. June 13, 1782; m. Abigail Smith.

235. iv. WALTER, b. Nov. 15, 1784; m. (1) Sally Clark; m. (2) Mrs. Mary Tapley.

236. vi. SILENCE, b. Sept. 18, 1787; d. Oct. 29, 1851, at North Leverett. She was of feeble mind, dependent, easily overcome. While she was an active and useful member of it, she was a special care to all the family. Her son by Noah Torrey was:

237. i. Albert, b. July 3, 1811; m. Lucinda Brown.

239. vii. ELEONORA, b. May 1, 1790, at Southborough; d. there Oct. 8, 1852; m. at North Leverett, Sept. 5, 1820, James Rice, son of Lot and Elizabeth (Gallows) Rice of Southborough, born there August 21, 1793. He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Temple, October 14, 1869. He was a modest, amiable, lovable man—eminently for pity; an ardent supporter of the temperance cause, from his early manhood. He and his wife were constituent members of the Baptist Church in Southborough, of which he was for many years a deacon. Their house became known as the "Minister's Tavern," so conveniently situated as a stopping place was it on the road from Boston to Worcester. In business he was a woolen manufacturer, on a small scale; owning a water privilege on Stony Brook in the eastern part of Southborough. His sign read "Woodranger and Clother." Here he carded wool, and colored yarn; made flannel and homespun for all the region round. "He began with nothing, reared his family and left $25000—having given away more than he left." Their daughter writes thus of Mrs. Rice: "Mother was resolute, independent, energetic; rather blunt in speech. She was truly a helpmeet to father; industrious, economical but also benevolent; tired, sometimes impatient, but always looking well to the good of her household. Keeping boarders—almost always boarding schoolteachers." Their children, born in Southborough, were:

231. i. ELIZABETH RICE, b. Aug. 15, 1821; d. July 10, 1882; unm. For sixteen years she lived a helpless paralytic at the home of her wife, where she was tenderly cared for.

*WILLIAM GUNN (Asahel, Nathan, Samuel, Nathan,‡ Jasper Gunn). It is suggested that he may be the WILLIAM GUNN named in each of these three copies of record: "WILLIAM GUNN of Charlestown and Pamela Farmum of Deerfield; b. May 1, 1778." "WILLIAM GUNN of Montague and Clarissa Farmum of Sunderland, b. Nov. 19, 1791." "WILLIAM GUNN, died Oct. 4, 1827." Not knowing, I should say the first, maybe; and the last two, almost undoubtedly were.

‡ For EDMUND RICE, immigrant, and his son Edward Rice, see note to Jonathan Newton, Sr. (Moses).
2332. 2. William Redick Rice, b. Feb. 28, 1821; d. — —, 1895; m. Feb. 18, 1844, Selina Nixon, daughter of Warren and Sabine (Rice) Nixon of Framingham, where she was born July 3, 1825. She was living in 1844 at Framingham. Mr. Rice owned the same water privileges on Stony Brook that belonged to his father. He was first engaged there in the saw, shingle and blind business; but not being able to compete with the cheaper lumber from Maine, he changed the business and became a miller. After his death his widow continued the milling business for a time. In 1890 the whole stream and adjoining farms were taken and submerged in the "Great Basin" of the Boston Water Supply. Mrs. Rice then removed to Framingham. They were members of the Baptist Church. From apoplexy, and later paralysis, Mr. Rice died. His widow lived for many years at Southbridge, although her mind was clear. Children:

2334. 2. Leonette Maria Rice, b. April 9, 1855; d. Jan. 2, 1859.

2336. 4. Eliza Charlotte Rice, b. Feb. 12, 1859; d. April 22, 1869, aged 80. She married, May 12, 1889, Charles Haven Temple, son of Ira and Jerusha (Haven) Temple of Marlborough, where he was born June 26, 1856. He died July 26, 1900. Both Mr. and Mrs. Temple died at the home of their adopted daughter, Mrs. H. P. King, in Fayville, Mass., where they had lived since failing health permitted them no longer to live alone. Mr. Temple was a carpenter with a wonderfully deft hand at cabinet work. He had from his father a droll sense of humor, and in the village of Fayville (town of Southborough) where he cultivated and where he resided. He received injuries from a fall in 1887, from which he never wholly recovered, and later other dislocations to an active life, but not until age, too, had put an end to much energy. Of Mrs. Temple it is difficult to adequately speak—so much there is that ought to be said. Being physically too heavy (420 lbs.) for personal comfort or, to quote her view of it: "fastened too securely to terra firma to be quite contended, yet thankful I am not entirely useless," she has done much to make more comfortable and happy the lives of many people. Possessing a mind well informed, clear, concise, sprightly and merry, and with the kindest of hearts, she could not fail to do good. She received from her mother, too, in some of her sternest characteristics. She came with her husband to the home of his parents in their declining years. The mother, aged 87 at death, had not walked for nine years—broken hip. The father with sore leg, just able to move about with the aid of two canes, survived his wife ten months. Her sister Eliza, helpless by paralysis, was cared for by Mrs. Temple for sixteen years. Then her own father came to visit and did not want to leave her, so they made a place for him—he had curvature of the spine—and he continued with her to the end. Of all this she writes: "I can never be sufficiently thankful that God, in his providence, brought him to me to care for in his last days: with my hands full of feeble folk I could not have gone to him." Having no children of their own, Mr. and Mrs. Temple adopted three, whom they brought up. Speaking of her life and work of love, Mrs. Temple says, "I had the privilege." Both were active and ardent members of the Baptist Church—Christian people. Their adopted children were:

2337. 1. Sivia Spooner Temple, b. Feb. 11, 1854. It is only justice that I should say that no daughter could have loved and served a mother more faithfully than did this adopted daughter repay in kind all the love and care she had received from her foster parents. She simply gave all; nothing doubting or begrudging. Her Christian fortitude was wonderful. She married as his second wife, Sept. 30, 1883, Hiram P. Rice of Fayville, where they reside. Her one child, a daughter, was born Oct. 4, 1884; only to die the following December 2.

2338. 2. Leon Rice Temple, b. June 15, 1858. He enlisted in the United States Navy and served five years; enlisted in the United States Army, and

* Warren Nixon (son of Capt. Thomas b. 1762; d. 1842, aged 80) and Lydia (Rice) b. 1766; d. 1822, aged 56) Nixon of Framingham, b. 1791; d. 1844. Sabine Rice d. Jan. Edmund, a brother of Geo. above; res. Framingham and had seven children. "Mr. Nixon was for twenty-five years a teacher of the public schools, also surveyor, magistrate, selectman. A man of good property: Republican: Baptist church; the town in appreciation of his services, made him some handsome presents."
was a year in Fort Warren; then sent to the mouth of the Columbia River, Oregon—served two more years, and on account of losing the sight of an eye, was discharged. In 1855, was city marshal of LaConner, Washington Territory. Later he went as second steward on a mail steamer to China—was taken with yellow fever and left at Yokohama, Japan; returned to California after eighteen months; married at San Francisco, Calif., and removed to Tacoma, Wash., where he was living in 1905.

2329. 3. Josephine Stone Temple, b. Sept. 29, 1875; Italian by birth; m. April 28, 1891, Hadley Baxter Smith, b. 1872; d. —. They had a son:

Robert Baxter Smith, b. April 29, 1895. She m. (2d) Nelson W. Montague.

2308. viii. Lovina, b. Feb. 27, 1795, at North Leverett; d. at Northborough, May 30, 1875; m. ——, 1834, at North Leverett. Richard Montague, son of Rev. Elijah and Jerusha (Woodbury) Montague of North Leverett, where he was born April 4, 1811. He died at Northborough three weeks before his wife died, May 8, 1853. Mr. Montague had been taking care of the farm of Paul Newton for some time before the marriage. After their marriage they continued to live at her father’s until, by death, her parents had no further need of their care, when they moved to Bernardston, and later to Ashland, and finally settling in Northborough for the remainder of their lives. Mr. Montague was a deacon in the Baptist churches of Ashland and Northborough, also treasurer of the society in the latter town, and was chosen overseer of the poor two years in Northborough. “An honest man and sincere and consistent Christian.” Lovina Newton had been engaged to marry Willard Rice, a younger brother of James Rice, who married her sister; the day was set, but he died before the wedding day arrived. She was educated in the public schools, and was afterward a teacher therein—for a time teaching at North Leverett, and in 1831 at Hadley. “She was physically rather delicate—was finer looking, more beautiful, refined and literate than her sisters.” Early in life she became a member of the Baptist Church. She was constant and faithful to every trust. Her infant son and only child was born Dec. 8, and died without a name 15 weeks, 1839, and was interred with his parents. At Northborough Mr. Montague kept a clothing store, boots and shoes, etc. They made a will leaving most of their property to benevolent objects; and the avails from their household stuff to Mrs. E. C. Temple, their niece.

ix. ——, infant, who died aged two weeks, at North Leverett.

2309. x. Sarah, b. Aug. 21, 1801, at North Leverett; d. at Faysville, May 16, 1888; m. at Southborough, Dec. 1, 1829, Linus Newton (2842), who was, son of Caleb and Esther (Harvey) Newton of Southborough, where he was born Feb. 1, 1755. He died there——, 1871, aged 76. His will was administered at Southborough, 1871. Case in the Probate Court, No. 13,285. For more of him and his first family see his number.

Physically, Mrs. Newton was above the average in height and build. When young she was quite bony. At carding and spinning she was an expert in the household, in disposition, always cheerful, willing and helpful. Her attendance at the public school of her native town was the extent of her educational privileges. She early in life united with the Baptist Church and “her life exemplified the religion of Jesus.” With courage and benevolence she undertook the care of her husband’s children, and was a kind and faithful mother to them. By will, Mr. Newton provided abundant means for her declining years. She suffered much from rheumatism and her eyesight became dim, yet she lived by herself at Faysville, where she owned a house and land, until the last winter of her life, a part of which time she spent with her relatives. Her one child, born at Southborough, was:

13001. 41. Abigail Jackson Newton, b. Jan. 27, 1839; m. Caroline Ayvila Arnold.

1867. SILAS NEWTON5 (Nathan4, Jonathan3, Moses2, Richard1), son of Nathan and Experience (Stowe) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there May 24, 1753, and died there November 6, 1826, aged 73. He left a will and his estate was administered at Southborough in 1826. Case in Probate Court, No. 45,148.

Silas Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. On the Rolls his name appears in the following services: "Silas Newton, Southborough. Private in Capt. Elijah Bellows' Company, which marched on the Alarm April 19, 1775; service sixteen days. Also, Silas Newton, Private in Capt. Silas Gates Company, Dec. 1775 to Jan. 1, 1776. Also," (in other companies and terms of enlistment that I did not copy, the last being dated at Dorchester).

Silas Newton did not marry until the war was over, when he came back to Southborough and settled. His children were all born there. The First United States Census, 1790, shows Silas Newton head of a family at Southborough, consisting of himself and four females.

He married at Southborough, August 15, 1782, Lovina Newton (2038), daughter of Edward and Silence (Barthlett) Newton of Southborough, where she probably was born, though there is no record of it. She died there about December —, 1829. An abstract of her will, allowed January 7, 1840, follows:

1829. Lovina Newton, Southborough. 43282 A.
Will allowed January 7, 1840.

S200. Russell Flagg (Henry Estes | Sunietts.

I suppose the above named men to be Elijah Flagg, father of Russell Flagg, who married Mary Temple Newton, daughter of Seth (Capt. Seth). Dr. Joseph Ballard, probably father of Thankful Ballard, who married Josiah Harvey, son of Widow Patience Harvey Newton, widow of Capt. Seth Newton.

CHILDREN.

2321. i. REBECCA, b. May 22, 1781; d. —; was living in 1818; m. at Southborough, Jan. 5, 1805, Elijah Newton (18250), son of Jonathan (1) Jr., and Tabitha (—) Newton of Southborough, where he was born Oct. 31, 1773, and where he died Nov. 21, 1846, aged 73, C. R. They lived in Southborough and had there three children, who are given under his heading. She married (2) at Framingham, June 18, 1829, William Annetts, by whom she had two children. [There died at Southborough, "William Annetts, a foreigner, March 11, 1831, aged 52," who may have been the husband of Relief.] Her children, born at Southborough, were:

2322. 5. Mary Annetts, b. Sept. 21, 1827; m. at Southborough, May 20, 1840, Jonathan Works.

The widow, Relief Annetts, married (3d) at Southborough, May 20, 1840, Josiah Lawrence of Lancaster. Where they lived or when he died I have not found; but certain it is that his widow, aged 65, "Relief Lawrence of Southborough," married at Marlborough, Dec. 11, 1848, James Mallard, widower, aged 69, son of James and Elizabeth. [He had married (1) at Marlborough, April 21, 1846, Betsey Brigham (Glan), Josiah, and lived in Lancaster. She died in Marlborough, Sept. 29, 1817.] James Mallard was living when his wife Relief died. The statement is that he "survived her."

2322. ii. SETH, b. —, 1785; bapt. May 1, 1785; d. Feb. 26, 1786.

2323. iii. LOVINA, b. April 11, 1787; bapt. April 15, 1787; d. Nov. 18, 1802.

2324. iv. EXPERIENCE STOW, b. Nov. 6, 1789; was living in 1810. She married (1) at Southborough, Oct. 17, 1813, William Ockinton of Needham, Mass., who probably died there. She married (2) Elijah Hersey, perhaps he was son of Elijah, Jr, and Reubah (Waites) Hersey of Leicester and Spencer—born at Leicester Aug. 11, 1780, baptized at Spencer Oct. 15, 1786.

2225. vi. Joanna2, b. March 8, 1792; d. at Southborough, Oct. 17, 1825, aged 33. She married at Southborough, April 29, 1812, C. R., Seth Newton, Jr. (1802), son of Capt. Seth and Patience (Bent-Harvey) Newton of Southborough. They had four children, who are given under his heading.

"There were seven deaths from dysentery in their family in one week."

1870. NATHAN NEWTON3, JR. (Nathan4, Jonathan3, Moses2, Richard1), son of Nathan and Lydia (Hager) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there January 23, 1700, and died there April 18, 1708, aged 38. The estate of Nathan Newton, Jr., of Southborough was administered there in 1788. Case in Probate Court, No. 43:344.

He married at Framingham [the record of it there says "in Southborough," but no record of the marriage appears in Southborough], "November 8, 1783," and duplicate July —, 1784, Mary (called "Poly") Nichols, daughter of Lieut. Joseph and Sarah (Goddard) Nichols3 of Framingham, where she was born October 16, 1762. She died at Southborough, November 22, 1850, aged 88.

* ELLIAH HERSEY, a soldier of the Revolution, d. at Spencer, Mass., March 17, 1850, aged 109 years, 25 days.

ELLIAH HERSEY, Jr., of Leicester and ELLIAH WAITHE of Brookfield, m. in Brookfield, Dec. 31, 1780. The int. in May. The children of ELLIAH, JR., and ELLIAH HERSEY, both at Leicester and b. at Spencer and Brookfield, were: Achabah, 1782; Hersey, 1784; Elijah, b. Aug. 11, 1786; Nathaniel Store, 1788; Sarah, 1791; Heman, 1795; Balthaz (bapt. 1795-1797); — b. 1806; Nathan, 1811. I have not traced the Hersey family, father or son.

The following is from a manuscript record of the family of Joseph Nichols, Jr., in the hand writing of Capt. Martin Newton, in which every letter and figure is as clean and distinct as print. He probably copied it from the family Bible. The figures and names do not always coinhere with those of the town records (which I will here enclose in brackets):

"A RECORD OF JOSEPH AND SARAH NICHOLS FAMILY,"

Maria Nichols, first child of Joseph and Sarah born at Framingham Oct. 16, 1762.

Joseph Nichols born March 17, 1764 — 14th

Benjamin [Goddard] Nichols born August 18, 1765

How Nichols " May 27, 1765.

John Nichols " July 17, 1769

Mitty [Mitten] Nichols " January 21, 1771

Daniel Nichols " Dec 17, 1772

Sally [Sarah] Nichols " Jan 1, 1775.

Lilian W. [Beaton] Nichols " March 29, 1795

Alpheus Nichols " December 12 1780.

Patty Nichols " December 10 1782.

Ralph Nichols " June 19, 1785. Died Nov 1846.

Solomon Nichols " April 13, 1788."

There is no record in Framingham of the last two children. No death of any Nichols before 1850. All of these children are sons or daughters of "Lettie" (or "Jr." or "2nd") "Joseph and Sarah Nichols" as though there had been no change of mother. The int. of Joseph Nichols and Sarah Goddard is at Shrewsb., Nov. 20, 1761. She was the dau. of Benjamin3 (Edwa, Wm, Edwa) and Grace (Fisler) Goddard of Shrews. Lettie. Joseph Nichols was the son of Joseph and Martha4 (Howe, dau. of Samuel), Samuel, John Howe. Nichols of Framingham, who had there John, 1731; Martha, 1733; Joseph, Oct. 8, 1735; and Alpheus, 1782. There were Nichols in Barnstable, Mass., in 1759; and in Seabrook, 1888:9; some of them named Joseph. Later a Joseph was in Pembroke. Also there is a line from James3 of Malden, 1690, through James3, James3, John, Eleazer2, Joseph, b. 1751, d. 1822. I give these hints to anyone who cares to look further. I have not traced them.
She had five children by this marriage. She married (2) in Southborough, July 11, 1802, Joel Brewer, Jr., by whom she had two children. He was a widower with eight children, his first wife being Lovisa Newton, a sister of Nathan Newton, Jr., both of whom had died within less than a year and a half of each other. For children by this first wife see under the heading of her father, Nathan Newton. The children of Joel and Polly Brewer were: Polly, born February 27, 1803, married November 25, 1823, Eliah D. Whipple (they had a son Adolphus Perley Whipple, born February 27, 1825); David, born March 16, 1806; married (int. November 29, 1834) Polly B. Howe of Marlborough, and had a second and a third wife. I am told.

Mrs. Polly (Nichols-Newton) Brewer must have been a remarkable woman. Many characteristic anecdotes are told by her descendants of her mild and gentle way of reproof, and the sidelights they cast on her manner of managing three sets of children in the Brewer household—and a not always pleasant husband there.

She was a very small woman. Her son Martin was rather short in stature—probably not over five feet, five or six inches—but when he held his arm out horizontally, she could stand upright under it without touching. Her young granddaughters thought it no hardship when they might carry her in their arms. She was dearly beloved by all her family. Mr. Brewer died before she did, but the record of his death I have not obtained.

Nathan Newton, Jr., lived all his life in Southborough, Mass., and died there, according to the family records and all family knowledge of him; yet the town records do not show his death nor the births of his children, who were born there.

The First United States Census, 1790, has: "Nathan Newton, Jr., head of a household in Southborough, that consists of two males [one is himself] above sixteen years, one male below sixteen years and two females."

Like his brother Paul, Nathan Newton, Jr., was a soldier of the Revolution. An abstract of his service is: "Newton, Nathan, Private in Capt. Moses Harrington's Company, Col. Pike's regiment, muster roll Dec. 1775, to Feb., 1777, credited to the town of Southborough, Mass., Enlisted Dec. 20, 1776, regiment to serve to March 1, 1777. Also, Capt. Ephraim Lyon's Company, engaged June 29, 1778, discharged July 15, 1778, service 26 days. Company joined Col. Wade's regiment June 22, 1778, for 21 days service at Rhode Island. Roll dated at Grafton."

CHILDREN:

1. Ephraim, b. June 25, 1786; m. Susan Chamberlin.

2. Joel, b. Nov. 15, 1790; m. in Southborough, Jan. 9, 1812, Putnam Cowdin, son of Thomas, Jr., and Mary (Farrington) Cowdin, of Fitchburg, Mass., where he was born, Dec. 4, 1788. They removed to Orangeville, Wyoming County, N. Y., where he engaged in farming and made their home for life. "He was a merry, jovial man."

For Brewer pedigree see note to Nathan Newton, Jr. (1725).

Thomas Cowdin, Cowdin, b. about 1701; d. at Fitchburg, Mass., April 22, 1762, in his 71st year. He m. at Worcester, Mass., Nov. 24, 1718, Experience Gay, daughter of Robert and Sarah Gay of Worcester, where she was born Aug. 12, 1739. Her death is not recorded. She had four children: Robert, 1743; Maria, "Polly," 1751; Thomas, Jr., 1754; Experience, 1755. Capt. Thomas in 1742 at Rutland, Mass., Oct. 2, 1741, Mrs. Hannah Whipple of Rutland and after the birth of their first child in 1753 at Worcester they removed to Fitchburg and settled, where he became a prominent man in the affairs of the town. His children by Hannah were: Hannah, 1751; Joseph, 1755; Lucy, 1757; Daniel, 1760; Jonathan, 1772; Robert, 1773; William, 1780.

Thomas Cowdin, Jr., b. Feb. 7, 1754, at Worcester; m. 1777, Mary Farrington of Lunenburg; res. Fitchburg; children b. there were: Thomas, b. 1755; Frazier, 1755; Sophia, 1758; Philip Farrington (died), 1769; Hannah, 1761; John, 1765; John, 1768; Polly, 1778; Putnam, Dec. 4, 1788; Nathan, 1791; Sally, 1794."
iv. Martha, b. May 30, 1792: res. in Southborough, where she d. ——; never married. "She was scrupulously neat and nice, particularly in her dress."

v. Francis, b. Jan. 23, 1795. He was living in 1825. He went to Warsaw, Wyoming County, N. Y.; an ornamental painter. He became intemperate, and finally insane, and disappeared; is supposed to have committed suicide by drowning. The particulars of his death were never known. By reason of his mental condition he was a source of anxiety to his friends. He never married.

vi. Polly, b. March 3, 1797; probably died young.

He married at Southborough, Mass., November 21, 1782, Sally Hayden, daughter of Thomas and Mary (Ball) Hayden of Sudbury, Mass., where she was born March 28, 1758. She died at Marlborough, N. H., November 8, 1826.

Luke Newton is mentioned as the eldest son of Elnathan and Jemima and was born November 6, 1755. He is supposed to be the same as Zeneth, born the same date [or he may have been twin with Zeneth]. However that may be, the name Zeneth disappears, and the boy, Luke Newton from Braintree, Mass., was "warmed out" from Southborough, August 16, 1783. He may have been visiting his grandfather and the zealous officers thought he staid too long.

I find him next, a young man of less than twenty, as a soldier of the Revolution. An abstract of service: "Newton, Luke, Southborough, Private in Capt. Elijah Bellows' Company, marched April 19, 1775, served 16 days. Also, in Capt. Seth Newton's Company, Col. Whitney's regiment, engaged August 24, 1777, discharged August 26, 1777, alarm at Bennington, proceeded on horses."

Luke Newton apparently staid in the vicinity of Southborough for a number of years, long enough to become acquainted with the girl of Sudbury he was to marry in 1782.

Whether he went with his father in 1771 to Marlborough, N. H., and returned, does not appear. But he was there with his wife soon after marriage and their children were born there.

His father, Elnathan Newton, had settled on a farm in the southeastern part of Marlborough, N. H., and Luke resided with him and was joint owner of the property, and came into full possession, on the death of his father. This land was in District No. 6, "The East School Squadron," and then contained ten other families.

In 1800 the school had been kept in the house of Timothy Bemis, who received four shillings per week for the use of his house. This price was considered too dear. The following year the schools were kept at the house of Luke Newton, who charged thirty-three cents per week. This house was 20 x 24 feet, 10 foot posts, surmounted by a square roof, and attained great age.

The name of Luke Newton does not appear in the First United States Census, 1790, as head of a household or in any other way. It seems queer, when Elnathan, Luke and Luke, Jr., were all three living on and owning the homeestead at Marlborough, N. H., at that date.

* Thomas Hayden (Josiah), b. Meb. 1, 1725-6, in Sudbury; m. there Nov. 27, 1755. Mary Ball, and had there: Balhe, 1756; Sally, 1758; m. Luke Newton; David, 1769; d. him, aged 88; Josiah, 1763; m. 1794, Elisha Newton; Joseph, 1765; m. 1827.

Josiah Hayden (fr. of Thomas), b. —-; m. 1724, in Marlborough, Sarah Antel, who d. there 1722. They had in Sudbury, Sarah, 1722; Thomas, 1725-6; Elizabeth, 1729; Josiah, 1730; Samuel, 1733; Daniel, 1734-5; Bezalel, 1739. Joseph Hayden (fr. of Thomas). I suppose, was son of Josiah and Elizabeth of Braintree, who was the son of John Hayden of Braintree by wife Hannah Ames.
1890. ANDREW NEWTON, Jr. (Andrew, James, Moses, Richard), son of Andrew and Melibabell (Belbows) Newton of Southborough and Framingham, Mass.; was born at Southborough, October 23, 1748, and died in Framingham in 1792. No town record of it.

He married Sarah Merrett, daughter of William.

Mr. Newton "held his father's estate" in Framingham, as I understand it, together with the forge and gristmill on Hopkinton river near the Southborough line.

I have not found where he resided in his early married life nor where his children were born.

The following are his children as given by the historian of Framingham. They were probably born there and not recorded.

2349. 2. Charles Edinborough Rawson, b. Jan. 25, 1808; d. —— ; m. at Westborough, June 1, 1837, Mary Newton (4556). See her number for her children.

WILLIAM RAWSON, res. in Boston, Dorchester, and Braintree. He had twenty children. All except five died young or in infancy. The thirteenth was Nathaniel, Sr., b. 1789.

EDWARD RAWSON, for so many years Secretary of the Massachusetts Colony, was born April 16, 1815, in the village of Gillingham, County of Dorset, England. He m. RACHEL PERCE, daughter of Thomas Perce, and granddaughter of Rev. John Hoadley. They had twelve children. Only two of the sons settled in this country; WILLIAM and GRINNELL.

EDWARD RAWSON, Secretary, came to New England in 1826 or '27, and settled in Newbury, Mass., later moved to Boston. He was a man of ability and great worth to the new colony. He died Aug. 27, 1899, aged 78.
1891. JAMES newton (Andrew, James, Moses, Richard), son of Andrew and Mehitabel (Bellows) Newton of Southborough and Framingham, Mass., was born at Southborough, August 24, 1751, and died February 23, 1824, probably at Truxton, Cortland Co., N. Y.

He married at Hopkinton, Mass., November 15, 1769, Bathsheba Nurse, daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Walkup) Nurse of Hopkinton, where she was born November 9, 1752. She had nine children.

He married (2) Rachel Greely, who was born April 22, 1765, and died, possibly in Medina County, Ohio, September 24, 1841. One child.

James Newton was "of Framingham" at date of his marriage, and before that his name appears with his father's family in the history of that town. As a soldier of the Revolution, he was enrolled as of Framingham. There are no births nor deaths of this family in Framingham nor in Hopkinton; but the five children given below were all baptized in Christ Church at Hopkinton. There was no James Newton head of a family in Massachusetts at the taking of the First United States Census, 1790. After the war he went to Putney, Windham County, Vt., and is the James Newton there, head of a household that consists in all of two males above sixteen years, three males under sixteen years, and five females.

In 1775, as a man skillful in working in metals, he was given a position in the shipbuilding yards at Plymouth; later at Salem, and after the evacuation of Boston by the British, in that city. It will be remembered that his father had a forge in Framingham.

An abstract of his service in the Revolutionary War: "James Newton, Framingham. Petition addressed to Col. Samuel Ballard, dated Framingham, June 1, 1776, signed by said Newton and others belonging to Capt. Jesse Eames' Company, Col. Ballard's regiment, asking that the company be divided into two companies. Also, Private in Capt. Aaron Gardner's Company, Col. E. Brooks' regiment. Company return endorsed '1776'; service Sept. 10, 1776 on North

* Nathan Hudson and Martha Dever married in Framingham September 21, 1815. She was dau. of Thomas and Lois (Wood of Newton) Peiry of Framingham, and born May 18, 1763. G. R. 1. [bapt. Jan. 29, 1765, C. R. 1.] They had a dau., Harriet V. Hudson, born Dec. 12, 1827, G. R. 1, who m. aged 19, in Southborough, April 17, 1847, Lucien C. Woodbury, aged 21, son of Simon and Olive (Whipple) Woodbury of Southborough, born there Feb. 9, 1827.

John Nurse, Sr., last traced m. 1760 in Sherborn, Elizabeth Gale; res. Framingham, had there 5 children.
river until November 19, 1766, 62 days. Said Newton reported as having lost articles, and as sick in Camp."

When this James Newton was in "Deerfield River Valley, Mass.," as stated, seems not clear to his family. They think some of his children were born there and the others at Putney, Vt. About 1800 he moved with his family to Westward, Otsego County, N. Y.—twelve miles east of Cooperstown. About 1820 he removed to Truxton, N. Y., and probably died there, because of this fact: In 1822 he gave his property into the hands of his son, Elijah, who gave bonds to his father for the support of James and his wife, Rachel, until death. The father died in 1824 and Elijah did not leave Truxton, N.Y. until 1830.

The following is a record of the posterity of No. 2366, ELIZA EUTHER, b. Sept. 27, 1781. It came too late to be properly placed, and the several generations are bunched here and are not numbered. He was probably born at Putney, Vt., and died Jan. 27, 1851, "we think in Mollina Co., Ohio, near Spencer."

In 1829 they both moved to Truxton, where he continued to reside until 1839, when he made a last move to Medina County, Ohio, near Spencer.

1899. JOSIAH NEWTON2 (Joseph1, James5, Moses2, Richard1), son of Joseph and Experience (Drury) Newton of Southborough, Templeton and Hubbardston, Mass., was born at Southborough, August 22, 1756, and died at Heath, Mass., December 2, 1817, aged 51 years.

He married at Templeton, May 26, 1786, Phoebe Wiley, daughter of Moses and Phoebe (Fitts) Wiley2 of Templeton, Mass., where she was baptized October 13, 1756, C. R. She died at Heath, Mass., May 1, 1841.

Mr. Newton was a farmer. Born in Southborough, he went with his parents to Hubbardston, Mass., where he continued to reside for a time after his marriage. His first three children were born there. Then he appears in Phillipston, Mass., where his sons Levi and Dan were born. In the latter part of 1806 he removed to Heath, Mass., where his three youngest children were born, and where he and his wife died and are buried.

At date of his death, his youngest child was a little over two years old. His widow, left with a family of young children, must have been a strong, energetic woman, not lacking in executive ability, for she cared for them well. Both Mr. and Mrs. Newton were Congregationalists, and strong in the faith. Their children and grandchildren, while not attaining political honors, have been self-respecting, upright, God-fearing men and women, engaged, with good abilities, in a variety of useful occupations.

1901. EBENEZER NEWTON\(^2\) (Joseph\(^1\), James\(^2\), Moses\(^3\), Richard\(^4\)), son of Joseph and Experience (Drarry) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there December 8, 1770, and died at Greenfield, Mass., February 10, 1844, aged 74. He married Mary Howe, daughter of Captain Daniel, Jr., and ——— (——-) Howe.\(^5\) She was born September 24, 1781 [calculated], and died at Hubbardston, Mass., October 15, 1804, aged 23 years, 24 days. [Capt. Daniel Howe died May 12, 1810, aged 80 years.]

Mr. Newton settled in Hubbardston, probably about the time of his marriage, or not long after. Four children were born to him there, and the young mother died within two weeks after the birth of the fourth child within five years.

Mr. Newton removed to Greenfield, Mass., about 1830, or later. In 1835 he was received by letter into the Second Congregational Church there, and continued in that connection until his death.

Their children were:

* Howe. The line of descent of Mary Howe has been sent to me. It does not agree with what I find in the Vital Records at hand—and I have not enough data to surely place her. Very probably the Howe Genealogy shows her descent clearly from the immigrant John Howe, who was Freeman 1630.

† John Williams (not traced), b. abt. 1758; d. 1832, aged 74; a Revolutionary War pensioner; came from Lancaster to Hubbardston in 1782 or '83. He m. Sarah Davis of Holden, who died 1830, aged 79. Timothy and Lois (Smith) Heald of Hubbardston, where he was born Sept. 17, 1799. He moved to Barre and settled and there died Jan. 24, 1847, aged 87. Mr. Heald began the manufacture of lumber for wagons, then for a number of years he manufactured wagons and carriages; which industry he later disposed of and went into the machinist and iron foundry business, which in 1807 was carried on by his son Leander S. The village where the shops are situated is named after his father's name. Through softening of the brain Mr. Heald was insane by spells for six years before his death. Their children, born in Barre, were:

16. Charles William Heald, b. March 12, 1829; m. at Moline, Ill., August 2, 1859, Daphne L. Churchell, b. at Ellington, N. Y., Feb. 23, 1838, was living Dec., 1886, at Moline, Ill., his widow. 1834. ALVAN NEWTON5 (Paul4, Josiah3, Moses2, Richard1), son of Deacon Paul and Mary (Farrar) Newton of Westborough and Northborough, Mass., was born in Westborough, September 22, 1748, and died in Northborough, February 16, 1778, aged 29.

The estate of Alvan Newton was administered without a will at Northborough in 1778. Case in Probate, No. 43,167.

Alvan Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. He died before the end of the war. The following is an abstract of his service: "Alvin Newton, Northboro. Corporal in Capt. Samuel Wood's Company of Minute-men. Gen. Ward's regiment, marched April 19, 1775, served 22 days. Also, Sergeant of Lieut. Seth Rice's Company. Col. Job Cushing's regiment. Enlisted August 21, 1777, served 7 days including 3 days (65 miles) travel home. Company to assist Northern Army and discharged at Hadley."

Mr. Newton resided in Northborough, where his children were born. He married (intended in Weston, Mass., November 9, 1771) Rebecca Rice of Weston.

Mrs. Rebecca Newton's youngest child was born after she had been a widow for nearly five months with four other very young ones dependent on her care. We do not know what her circumstances were. The family have only the knowledge that she married again—a Mr. Goodenough, who made the after life of the family of children very miserable. This name Goodenough is spelled also Goodenow and Goodnow and Goodno—almost any way the town clerk pleased. Thomas Goodnow, and wf. Jane, were in Sudbury in 1639; had children there. They had many descendants in the towns of Marlborough-Northborough-Westborough, and Northborough, and others. I find no marriage of a Rebecca Newton to a Goodnow, Goodenough: but in Northborough appears the baptism of "Lewis Goodnow, son of Eli and Rebecca, April 14, 1782." This Eli Goodnow5 was born in Westborough, January 28, 1751, son of Thomas4 and Persis (Rice), son of Samuel3, Jr., and Sarah; son of Samuel2 and Mary; son of Thomas1 and Jane Goodenough. I find nothing further of either Eli or Rebecca.

He married in Northborough, Mass., January 30, 1785, Elizabeth Munroe. "She was born in Northboro" (no record there of birth), and died in Northborough, July 28, 1853.

Moses Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. The following is an abstract of some of his war service: "Residence, Northborough. Private in Capt. Silas Gates' Company, pay abstract for Dec. 1775 to Jan. 1776; Col. Jonathan Ward's regiment, return for mileage from Dorchester, Jan. 13, 1776. Moses Newton. Enlistment agreement July 2, 1776, to serve until December 1, 1776, unless sooner discharged, each man to furnish his own firearms and to march with utmost dispatch to New York."

"Moses Newton. Private. Of the Massachusetts Continental line and State troops (Worcester County), received a pension from the United States, which was granted January 29, 1853, to begin March 4, 1831. Age 82; per year $29.67; whole amount paid to him $189.01."

Moses Newton\(^6\) did not marry until after the war. He settled in Northborough, Mass., where his children were born. At the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, the family of Moses Newton of Northborough, Mass., consisted of himself, two males less than sixteen years of age, and three females.

He married in Northborough, April 2, 1778, Keziah Maynard, daughter of Jotham and Abigail (Allen) Maynard\(^6\) of Bolton, Mass., where she was born January 22, 1756. She died ———

Paul Newton, Jr., lived in Northborough, Mass.; his children were born there. He was a soldier of the Revolution. An abstract of his war service is: "Paul Newton (also given as Paul, Jr.). Northborough. Private in Capt. Samuel Woods' Company of Minute men, Genl. Ward's regiment, marched April 19, 1775, served 5 days, reported to have enlisted. Also in Capt. Samuel Woods' Company, Col. *JOHAN MAYNARD\(^6\) (s. of David\(^1\)), b. in Marlborough, May 29, 1714; d. ———; m. in Westborough, June 13, 1740, Abigail (also Abiah) Allen, who d. in Bolton, Dec. 18, 1753. Their first two children, born in Shrewsbury, the rest in Bolton, were: Jotham, Jr.\(^2\), 1741; Antipas\(^2\), 1743; Holland\(^2\), 1745; Barnaba\(^2\), 1747; Abia\(^2\), 1749; Abia\(^2\), 1752; Keziah\(^2\), Jan. 22, 1756; m. Paul Newton, Jr.; Davi\(d\(^2\), 1758; Israel\(^2\), 1763.

For David\(^2\) (father of Jotham\(^1\)) see footnote to Deacon Josiah Newton\(^2\) (Moses\(^2\)).
Paul Newton received from the United States Government a pension of $396.00 yearly. The whole amount that he received was $174.49. The Pension Office states that he was a private in the Massachusetts Continental line; that the pension was applied for May 18, 1818, on an Act of March 18, 1818; was granted September 17, 1819, and that the pension was suspended Act of May 1, 1820. All of which would indicate that he was living as late as 1820.

The First United States Census, 1790, states the family of Paul Newton of Northborough, Mass., consists of himself, three males under sixteen years old, and four females.

2442. ii. Flavel Newton, b. Dec. 7, 1779; Flavel Newton warned and held at Enfield, Conn., and admitted freeman of that state. [Hist. Enfield.]

1938. COTTON NEWTON, (Paul, Josiah, Moses, Richard), son of Deacon Paul and Mary (Farrar) Newton of Westborough-Northborough, Mass., was born in Westborough, November 15, 1759, and died in Marlborough, Vt., April 8, 1847, aged 87 years.

Cotton Newton, like his three older brothers, was a soldier of the Revolution. The following is an abstract of his service: "Private, Capt. Edmund Brigham's Company, Col. Job Cushing's regiment, enlisted September 12, 1777, discharged November 29, 1777, served 2 mo. 18 d. with Northern Army. Also, (to westward) company marched from Grafton. Also, Capt. Ephraim Lyon's Company, engaged June 20, 1778, discharged July 13, 1778, served 26 days—Company joined Col. Wade's regiment June 22, 1778, for 21 days, served at Rhode Island, roll dated at Grafton. Also, Account for wages dated Westborough, July 21, 1778, from record belonging to Capt. Brigham's Company, 3 months service."

His grandson takes much satisfaction in stating that Cotton Newton was present at the surrender of General Burgoyne in 1777, and that he heard the impetuous message which General Gates sent to the British commander: "If you don't surrender in fifteen minutes, I'll make your lines hot as ———.

After the war was over, Mr. Newton married and settled just over the line of Berlin, in Northborough. He seems, however, to have been identified with Berlin. Their three children are said to have been born in Berlin. They are not recorded in Northborough. The First United States Census, 1790, shows Cotton Newton at Berlin, his family consisting of himself, one male under sixteen years, and two females. October 9, 1798, he removed with his family to Marlborough, Vt., arriving there on October 14, 1798. His descendants say he died there.

* WILLIAM SAWYER, JR. (William), was, I suppose, son of WILLIAM and SARAH (Sawyer) Sawyer of Bolton, where he was born 1749; married there Jan. 18, 1764, HANNAH BARRETT, and had seven children. The eldest was Abigail, b. 1765. There are many families and generations of Sawyers in Bolton. They probably are descendants of Thomas Sawyer of Lancaster in 1647, who came to Marlborough; wife Mary, six sons and several daughters. See records of those towns.
Mr. Newton was a blacksmith, by trade. "A first class workman, so considered by his brother mechanics, who were glad to be shown their mistakes, by him."

He married in Hardwick, Mass., June 12, 1777, Chloe Hitecock, daughter of Capt. Luke and Abigail (——) Hitecock of Springfield and Greenwicb, Mass., born in one of these towns, October 9, 1751, and died in Hardwick, November 26, 1843, aged 92.

Mr. Newton was a farmer in Hardwick, on the supposed farm and homestead of his father. The record of his children is imperfect. No birth dates of them appear in Hardwick. The names of some of them have been gathered from various sources. The name of Lemuel Newton as the head of a household in Massachusetts does not appear in the United States Census of 1790.

1941. STEPHEN NEWTON\(^5\) (SiIas\(^4\), Josiah\(^3\), Moses\(^2\), Richard\(^1\)), son of Silas and Mercy (Freeman) Newton of Hardwick, Mass., was born there June 28, 1754 or 1755, and died at Monson, Mass., May 10, 1836, aged 82 years 10 months.

Stephen Newton settled in Monson, Mass. Several of his sons grouped their families about his homestead, making quite a colony of Newtons in that vicinity. His children were born in Monson. He was a soldier of the Revolution. His service was, in part, as follows: “Newton, Stephen.Hardwick, private. Capt. Samuel Billings’ Company, Col. Ebenezer Larned’s regiment, enlisted May 4, 1775, service 5 months, 4 days; other service”; the last discharge being Aug. 29, 1777, service at the northward.

S. Burial in the cemetery in the center of the town.

He married at Hardwick, January 15, 1778, Lydia Freeman, daughter of Thomas and Phebe (Hall) Freeman of Sandwich, Hardwick, Mass., and Barnard, Vt. She was born about 1754 in Sandwich, Mass., and died at Barnard, Vt., August 8, 1812, aged 59 years, G. S.

He married (2) at Barnard, Vt., Rev. Joel Davis officiating, November 25, 1813, Mrs. Hannah Kenney (widow, of Barnard, Vt.).

*Davison, Davison: the name is spelled both ways by different members of the family.
E CEISEESE DAVISON (father of Susannah) d. Jan. 20, 1825. His wife, Mary, d. Oct. 2, 1826. He was a soldier of the Revolution.
\(\text{Edmund Freeman}^\) came from New London, England, in the ship Abigail in 1635, and with his family went to Lynn, Mass.; thence to Sandwich in 1657, the beginning of that town. He rose to distinction in the town and colony. He was Assistant in 1640, and re-elected several years. He died in 1682, supposed to be aged 92. His wife, Elizabeth, died Feb. 14, 1672, aged 76. Their children were: Mary, 1618; Edmund, 1620; John, 1622; Elizabeth, 1623; Cyriel, 1621; d. y.; Mary.

Edmund (Edmund), b. Oct. 5, 1655; m. Sarah ———; res. Sandwich. He died May 18, 1720, aged 65. He had nine children. One was:

William (Edmund), who lived and died in Sandwich; d. Mar. 13, 1786; m. Dec. 6, 1750, Mary Bouett and had nine children. One was:

Thomas (William), b. Mar. 4, 1729-30; m. Oct. 9, 1752, Pelec Hall, who d. Feb. 18, 1806, aged 76. He d. May 29, 1814. He rem. 1757, to Hardwick; farmer there; removed 1776, to Barnard, Vt., where he d. He and his sons were among its most distinguished citizens. Seven children. The eldest was Lydia, b. about 1751; m. John Newton (s. Timothy, Sr.).
Thomas Freeman, whose daughter John Newton subsequently married, was the first settler in Barnard, Vt. The deed of his lands bears the date June 7, 1775. The winter previous, he with John Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Briggs, spent the winter there, they being the first white people to winter in Barnard, Vt. "Freeman was so proud of the fact that he had inscribed on his tombstone, 'the first to withstand the inclemency of a Vermont winter.'" Mrs. Briggs was Rhoda, daughter of Asa Whitecomb.

John Newton, the eldest, was also the first of his father's children to emigrate to Barnard, Vt.; and afterward came two of his brothers and two sisters. These last-mentioned settled in a little colony on Locus Creek, with farms adjoining or near each other. John Newton's lands were four miles away from them to the eastward, about half way between what are now the villages of Barnard and East Barnard, in what was called the "Cox Neighborhood," the eldest part of the town, where lived Capt. Benjamin Cox and the Freemans—all forceful men, but the "Capt." took rank, of course. From this time forward these men were identified with Vermont and not with Massachusetts. I can find nothing to show that this John Newton ever was identified with the old home place of his ancestors—Southborough, Mass.

The first town meeting at Barnard, Vt., was held January 16, 1779. The second town meeting was held March 29, 1779, when John Newton was elected one of the surveyors of highways.

As a pioneer settler, it is apparent that Mr. Newton possessed the qualities, as a man and a citizen, of a good colonist. He erected good buildings on his farm—the same ones repaired and made over are still standing. A grandson of Capt. Benjamin Cox, I am told, "used to say that John Newton was a man of rare good sense and judgment, and that his advice was often sought in difficult cases." He also states: "My grandfather bought part of his farm of John Newton. He had settled too far away to satisfy John. John offered him forty acres if he would move up where he could see the fall of his trees and look at him every morning. That forty acres was the best part of the Cox farm, better than John kept for himself. The land was paid for after many years by grandfather Cox, £30.

"John Newton owned the locally-famous bear trap that was passed round the neighborhood for years, and had 'done for' many a brain, besides the one whose hopes he shattered by a blow on the head with a flail."

When the Congregational Church at Barnard, Vt., was formally organized, April 29, 1802, the articles of agreement were signed by John Newton and his brother-in-law, Thomas Martin Wright. This church was disbanded in 1859.

John Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. His name appears on the Vermont Revolutionary Rolls as follows, and he is said "to have a long record as a soldier in Mass., before coming to Vermont," which statement is not confirmed, and since the war did not begin until the Alarm of April 19, 1775, could not very well be. [Notice his Itinerary above.]

"John Newton. On Muster roll of Capt. Benjamin Waits' Company. Enlisted September 11, 1776. Also:

"John Newton, Sergeant. Pay roll of Capt. Benjamin Cox Company for scouting done at Barnard, Vt., last year [i. e. 1779], dated August 9, 1780, two days, seventeen miles. £9. ss. 10d. [This was for chasing away the Indians who carried away captive his brother Timothy Newton, his brother-in-law, Thomas Martin Wright, and Prince Haskell, and David Stone of Bethel, Vt. The historian of Hardwick is in error in stating that it was John Newton who was taken prisoner, when it was Timothy who was so taken.] Also: John Newton, Sergeant. Pay roll of Capt. Benjamin Cox Company, scouting done in pursuit of enemy to Brookfield, Vt., October 11, 1780, three days, twenty-five miles. £9. 13s. 1d. Also: John Newton, Sergeant. On roll of Capt. Benjamin Cox, marching to Fort Fortitude at Bethel, Vt. Three days. March 9, 1781."
The First United States Census, 1790, finds John Newton at Barnard, Vt., head of a household that consisted, besides, of three males under sixteen years, and four females.

1948. TIMOTHY NEWTON, Jr. (Timothy, Josiah, Moses, Richard), son of Timothy, Sr., and Sarah (Merrick) Newton of Hardwick, Mass., was born there September 1, 1755, and died at Barnard, Vt., July 9, 1834. Burial in the cemetery in the north part of the town.

He married at Hardwick, Mass., March 4, 1779, Abigail Earle (called "Nabby"), daughter of David and Martha (Earle) Earle of Leicester, Worcester and Hardwick, Mass. She was born at Worcester, December 29, 1759, and died at Barnard, Vt., October 24, 1850. Mrs. Newton was a forceful, resourceful woman, and the mother of nine children. Both Mr. and Mrs. Newton were earnest and faithful members of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Barnard, Vt., from its organization in the town until their deaths; and all of their adult children became church members. All of their children, except the first, were born at Barnard, Vt. Mrs. Newton survived her husband, who provided liberally for her by his will. She also received his war pension. Her application for it was allowed by the United States and executed November 7, 1838.

Timothy Newton, Jr., appears to have inherited the spirit of the early colonists in a marked degree. He was patriotic, energetic, self-reliant, resourceful, ingenuous, religious. A youth of twenty years, he marched on the Alarm at Lexington, and served several enlistments during the War of the Revolution. In his old age he received a pension from the Government in recognition of his services. His application for pension was allowed August 9, 1852. The following record of service is to be found in the Pension Office, Washington, D. C., and was probably made out by Timothy Newton, Jr., himself, from memory:

1776. 2 mo. Private, Capt. Timothy Page's Company, Col. Converse.
1777. 6 weeks. Private, Capt. Edmund Hodges Company.
1777. 2 mo. Private, Capt. Edmund Hodges Company.

The last service of 17 days was in Barnard, Vt. All the previous service was performed in Massachusetts. He was credited to Hardwick. The following abstract of service is from "Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War," which is compiled from the Revolutionary rolls extant. It corresponds to his remembrance, and more in detail:

"Timothy Newton. Hardwick. Private in Capt. Samuel Billings' Company, Col. Elenezer Learned's Regiment; muster-roll dated August 1, 1775; Enlisted May 4, 1775, service 5 mo. 4 d.; Also, Company return dated October 7, 1775. Also:

"Timothy Newton, in Capt. Edmund Hodges' Company, Col. Job Cushing's regiment; enlisted July 27, 1777, discharged August 29, 1777, service 1 mo. 7 d. at the Northward including 4 d. (55 miles) travel home. Also:

"Timothy Newton, in Capt. John Crawford's Company, Col. Job Cushing's Regiment, enlisted September 7, 1777, discharged November 29, 1777, service 2 mo. 28 d. including five days (100 miles) travel home." Mr. Newton was the second member of his father's family to decide on Barnard, Vt., as the place in which to make a home. On April 30, 1777, he bought lots No. 75 and No. 76, paying for them $50. On lot number 76 he built his house and clearing the land made a home and a farm. Lot No. 75 he sold on January 6, 1785, to his brother-in-law, Asa Brigham, Jr., for $5—half of his land. Lot No. 76, the Newton homestead, lies about two miles from the mouth of Locus Creek, on the creek, and was previously owned by Lot Whetcombe of Barnard, Vt.; since the purchase in 1777 it has ever since been in the Newton family and occupied by them—his descendants.

Mr. Newton spent the summers of 1777 and 1778 clearing his land, returning to Hardwick for the winters. After his marriage in Hardwick, on March 4, 1779, the couple started on their wedding journey; which led them to their future home at Barnard, Vt. Here they lived and wrought, as only pioneer settlers know anything about. They worked at about everything that makes for the comfort, necessity, happiness and prosperity of human beings; being wonderfully well equipped both mentally and physically for the task. Mr. Newton was a man of ingenuity and versatility. He was progressive—always ready to change to something better. Thus he utilized the waterpower in the brook by his house to turn the wheel of the cider-mill and for sawing wood. He built, then enlarged, his buildings—rebuilt and added more in number, cultivated his lands and improving his property, until he was considered one of the substantial men of the town, respected and trusted.

At the second annual town meeting of Barnard, Vt., Timothy Newton was elected collector of rates, March 29, 1779.

But a great calamity came upon the people and the town of Barnard, Vt., when, on August 9, 1780, a party of twenty-one Indians from Canada fell upon the settlement. After entering houses and securing personal property to their liking, they carried away captive to Montreal, and held for ransom, Timothy Newton, Jr., Prince Haskell, Thomas Martin Wright, all of Barnard, and David Stone. of Bethel, Vt. The hardships incident to their journey were many. On nearing Montreal they were given a night's rest and then compelled to "run the gauntlet." After this each one was adopted into an Indian family and well treated. They were given the privilege of hunting, to help sustain the tribe. In the fall of 1780, Newton, Wright and Stone escaped and made their way back to their homes. Haskell was exchanged the following summer. After the capture, Mrs. Newton and Mrs. Wright, both pregnant, went on horseback to Hardwick, Mass., thus their first children were born in Massachusetts.

The spot where Timothy Newton was captured, while he was burning logs to make potash, is marked by a marble slab, placed there in 1906, by his great-grandson, Rev. William M. Newton.

The will of Timothy Newton, Jr., of Barnard, Vt., is dated April 25, 1816, and was proved September 3, 1824. He gives to:

Wife, Abigail Newton, the use of two-thirds of real estate, dwelling house and eight-day clock, "so long as she remains my widow and no longer."

Joel Davis officiating, July 1, 1818, Clark Chamberlin, son of William and Meabah (Stevens) Chamberlin of Barnard, Vt., where he was born July 3, 1785, and where he died June 14, 1887: a farmer in Barnard, Vt.; his land, lying about half a mile north of the village on the North Road, was one of the best places in the vicinity and yielding a competence. The family were all members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Mrs. Chamberlin in particular, "was an active and useful member in all respects. In the church music she was for many years a constant member of the choir than any other person: and a reliable singer, being a safe reader of notes—and one of a thousand for perseverance." She was a remarkable woman in every respect, as she assumed and carried through many projects for the good of the community, individually and collectively. She inherited much of her mother's sterling qualities, and she kept them bright with the polish that comes from use. She was "Aunt Lizzy" to all the families about. The children especially loved her, while they feared to displease her; for they knew her frowns and reprimands were always followed by a hearty laugh and something good to eat. She was universally respected and loved, while being a most picturesque personality. Now that she has gone from among them, those who knew her hold their knowledge of her in fond remembrance. They had only the one child, born at Barnard;

1950. GIDEON NEWTON\(^5\) (Timothy\(^1\), Josiah\(^2\), Moses\(^3\), Richard\(^4\)), son of Timothy, Sr., and Sarah (Merrick) Newton of Westborough and Hardwick, Mass., was born at Hardwick, June 6, 1760, and died at Barnard, Vt., January 26, 1841, aged 82 years, G. S.

He married at Barnard, Vt., Rev. Joseph Bowman officiating, October 11, 1787, Rebecca Spooner (called "Betsy"), daughter of Amaziah and Lydia (Fay) Spooner\(^8\) from Dartmouth to Hardwick, Mass. She was born at Hardwick, November 17, 1767, and died at Barnard, Vt., March 6, "1850," aged "72." Gravestone.

Gideon Newton of Hardwick, a youth of nearly seventeen years, became a soldier of the Revolution. He is described on the rolls as being of light complexion, five feet nine inches in height. Since there is nothing to show that either he or his brothers ever wore "of Southborough," and the minuteman, Gideon Newton of Capt. Fay's Company, was a resident of that town (b. 1752) and performed the service on the Alarm, April 19, 1775, it is evident that the boy at Hardwick did not. His first service as per the Rolls: "Gideon Newton, Private in Capt. Timothy Paige's Company, Col. James Converse' Regiment, enlisted April 21, 1777, discharged August 31, 1777, service ten days, company marched to Bennington on Alarm. Also:

"Gideon Newton, Private, three other enlistments of 3 m. 3 d. of 9 mo.; 3 mo. in other companies—the last three months for the town of Hardwick, which paid him. Also:

After the war was over, and some time after his brothers and sister had settled in Barnard, Vt., Gideon Newton also removed to that town. He came as a young man with the purpose of making a home. He bought lands on Locus

The first deed of his land, dated October 1, 1784, conveys 200 acres from Seth Hudson of Dunmerston, Vt., to him, for the sum of $215. Mr. Newton lived in the north part of Framingham, Mass. His two children died young, so this Ebenezer Newton left no posterity that I know of. He may have had other children before these two.

The First United States Census, 1790, shows Ebenezer Newton at Marlborough, head of a household, the other members of which were two females.

Ebenezer Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. His service as given in abstract is as follows: "Newton, Ebenezer, Southboro. Private Capt. Elijah Bellows' Company, marched on Alarm April 19, 1775, served 17 days.

He married at Southborough, August 30, 1792, Lydia Baker.*

Willard Newton was a prominent and respected citizen in both of the towns of Southborough and Marlborough. He lived on the old homestead and farm which had been the property of his ancestors for more than 200 years. The old mansion was in the town of Southborough until 1843, when it was set off to Marlborough by act of the Legislature (chapter 89).

It may not be out of place to copy again here, from an old leaflet, "A Sermon Delivered at Southborough, July 17, 1827. The day which completed a Century from the Incorporation of the Town. By Jereboom Parker, minister of Southborough. Printed by request." John Marsh Printer, State Street, Boston, 1827.

The sermon is long and tiresome. The text is Ecclesiastes 1. 4. The sermon, of course, has a little history interwoven. The part that interests us is not of great value except that it is contemporary evidence, quoting: "Notwithstanding the usual changes and revolutions in human society, and the perpetual fluctuations of property, and after the lapse of nearly one hundred and seventy years, it is evident from the great number of persons now living within the original bounds of Marlborough, who bear the names of the first proprietors, that their

* Lydia Baker. There are several of this name who were of an age to have married in 1792. Which one was the wife of Willard Newton is unknown to me. Some one will know which, if I set them all down: Lydia, dau. of Joseph and Martha, b. Oct. 50, 1774, at Westborough. Lydia, dau. Solomon and Hannah, b. April 12, 1776, at Westborough. Lydia, dau. Benjamin and Elizabeth, b. Nov. 24, 1776, at Shrewsbury. This Benjamin was grandson of Joseph of Marlborough. possessions in many instances are now in the hands of their descendants. The Descendants of Richard Newton, one of the original petitioners, have occupied the same farm, now within the bounds of Southborough, on which he lived and died, where his great-grandson, Solomon Newton, now lives (1827) aged ninety-three years, and his descendants to the seventh generation. A rare instance in the history of families in this ever-changing world!"

The leaflet also gives the names of the original proprietors; the list of Deacons from 1730 to 1822, among whom were Gideon Newton, 1756, Josiah Newton, 1809; the order of exercises; the committees for arrangement, procession, dinner, etc.

The procession was under the direction of Col. Jonas Ball, assisted by quite a number of men, among whom was Major Larkin Newton; Willard and Jeremiah Newton on the committee of arrangements; at the dinner Doctor Joseph Ballard presided, assisted by Mr. Perley Whipple and Willard Newton, Esq., as vice presidents; and after the dinner came the toasts, and the end of the grand time.

Willard Newton was for a long time justice of the peace for the county of Worcester. He represented the town of Southborough in the General Court for the civil year which began May, 1811, and the two succeeding years.

He was the first deacon in the Universalist Church at Marlborough.

2008. EZEKIEL NEWTON, Jr. (Ezekiel1, Elisha1, Moses2, Moses2, Richard2), son of Ezekiel, Sr., and Persis (Wheelock) Newton of Shrewsbury and Spencer, Mass., was born at Shrewsbury, Mass., May 22, 1757, and was living March 16, 1812.

He married at Spencer, Mass., August 30, 1780, Catherine Coggswell of Paxton.

Mr. Newton lived in Spencer, Mass. Eleven children were born to them there. At the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, the family of Ezekiel Newton of Spencer consisted of one male above sixteen years, two males below sixteen years, and four females.

From the following letter—which explains itself—from Ezekiel Newton to his brother Edmund at Spencer, and dated at "Livermore," we may assume that he had moved from Spencer to a town not far away—probably to Paxton. There is no town of Livermore in Massachusetts. A local name as here used, perhaps. This is the latest I have of this Mr. Newton.

Livermore 16th March 1812.

Brother Edmund,

I acknowledge the receipt of your two letters relative to the death of my son Ezekiel. Immediately after receiving the first letter I determined to visit Spencer, but the difficulty of procuring money prevented my journey; and at the time of receiving the second letter, the difficulty of traveling when the roads are so bad will render it impossible for me to attend to the business of settling my son's estate.
Thereof it is my earnest desire and request that you take the sole management of setting the estate according to law and the dictates of your own conscience. (Seal) I assure you I shall be perfectly satisfied with the administration, and I do by this letter, empower you to administer on the estate of my son Ezekiel deceased, and grant you all the privileges necessary for so doing. The property you mention as being lost, I wish you to sell and allow such reasonable pay day as will ensure a current price. If the stock is of such a kind as will let out to pay the interest and keeping, you will please to put it into some good hands. If otherwise, it will be better to sell it &c.

If prosperity is favourable to me, I shall call on you as soon as opportunity will permit, in the meantime wish you to consider my misfortune, and do that justice to me my circumstances require. —

I remain in usual health and have the prospect of as much work as I can attend to this spring.

Yours as usual, Ezekiel Newton.

He married (2) at Rutland, Mass., April 20, 1820, Mrs. Sarah Goodale of Rutland. She was born about 1776, and died at Spencer, July 22, 1826, aged 50, G. S. in Spencer.

He married (3) at Spencer, December 5, 1827, Amelia ("Emilia," "Molley") Pronty, daughter of Joseph and Betsey (Draper) Pronty of Spencer, where she was born January 7, 1796.

Mr. Newton was living in Spencer in 1790. The First United States Census, taken that year, gives his family there as consisting of only himself and one female, who would be his first wife. From this I am led to think she had no children, though she may have had, of course.

In 1812 he was living in Spencer and was appointed administrator to settle the estate of his nephew, Ezekiel Newton, 3d (Ezekiel® Jr.).

He died intestate and his estate was administered at Spencer in 1854. Case in Probate No. 43, 112.

Mr. Newton settled in Westminster, where all of his large family of thirteen children were born. September 24, 1794, he bought of Benjamin Richardson of Sterling, "the 3d and 4th Division Lott," and made the first improvements on it; building a house and fitting it for a home. It became the estate of his son Joel, who was the only one of his children to settle in Westminster.

In 1818, Mr. Newton and his wife Phebe were members of the Congregational Church in Westminster. Although his father was taxed there on the lands he owned at an early date, he was probably only a transient resident.

He died without making a will and his estate was administered at Westminster in 1824. Case in Probate, No. 43,449.

I do not know who the last wife of Ezra Newton was; but from the record of the following death perhaps they were somehow related, namely: Abigail Bellows, daughter of Barnabas Bellows of Boylston, died at Ezra Newton's, October 19, 1810. Another record of it, in Princeton, is, "——, child of Mr. Bellows, Oct., 1810." P. R.

2161. SOLOMON NEWTON (Solomon5, Amos4, Sr., Moses3, Moses2, Richard1), son of Solomon and ——— Newton, was born about 1750 or 1751, and died (I suppose at Framingham, Mass., September 13, 1781).

He married at Westborough, Mass., February 25, 1761, Hannah Dudley, "both of Southborough." She died at Framingham, the widow of Solomon Newton, about 1810.

Solomon Newton "from Southborough," was a citizen of Framingham, where his two children were born. He was a soldier of the Revolution from that town, and died in the service. He, with his brother Ephraim, enlisted in the Continental Army, for the town of Framingham, for the term of three years. A descriptive list, as returned December 2, 1780, gives his "age, 30 years, 5 feet 10 inches, complexion light, hair brown, eyes blue, occupation, farmer, engaged for the town of Framingham, term three years, private. Reported to have died September 13, 1781; wages payable to Ephraim Newton, dated May 24, 1781, signed by Hannah widow of Solomon, and Selectmen of the town." The men from Framingham received from the town "the sum of $100, hard money," and signed a receipt for the same, April 16, 1781.

There is a long list of items and enlistments as to his service in the army not here given. One paper containing his name is a petition addressed to Col. Samuel Bullard, dated at Framingham, June 1, 1776, asking that the Company of Captain Jesse Eames be divided into two companies. James Newton of Framingham (s. of Andrew1) also was a member of Capt. Jesse Eames' Company and petitioned for the division.

He married at Framingham, March 2, 1784, Abigail Claffin, daughter of Lieut. Cornelius and Deborah (How) Claffin of Framingham and Hopkinton, Mass. She was born at Hopkinton, July or November 9, 1760, and died ———.

Ephraim Newton "lived on the Common" in Framingham a few years after his marriage. His first two children were born in that town. "About 1800 he moved with his family to Delhi, New York, and had other children."

Mr. Newton was a farmer, "yeoman" as then styled, The First United States Census, 1790, shows Ephraim Newton head of a household at Framingham, Mass. The family besides himself were one male under sixteen years and four females.

Ephraim Newton, with his brother Solomon, was a soldier of the Revolution, from Framingham. He was one of the eight men who enlisted, after the town had voted May 11, 1778, to raise a contingent. They were attached to Capt. Caleb Moulton's East Sudbury Company in Col. Thomas Poor's regiment. He was, also, May 7, to July 1, 1779, in Capt. Lawson Buck's regiment. With his brother Solomon, he gave certificate for pay for having enlisted for three years in Continental Army, and received the sum of $800 hard money from the town of Framingham, April 16, 1781. November 12, 1781, he is quoted as 17 years old and his brother Solomon as 30 years, the same date. [History of Framingham, Mass.]

"Ephraim Newton, Private, Capt. Caleb Moulton's Company, Lieut. Eliphalet Hastings, subsequent to October 11, 1778, Col. Thomas Poor's regiment. Entered service June 13, 1778, discharged Jan. 29, 1779, served seven months, 27 days, at North River, including 11 days (290 miles) travel home. Also, other service in the same company and regiment, the last being dated Dec., 1778, at Kings Ferry."

Benjamin Heywood's Company, Lieut. Col. Calvin Smiths (6th) regiment, muster roll for May, 1781, dated at West Point, reported on command at Clarkstown.

"Also, variously dated muster rolls and sworn to in Camps at Peckskill, Bald Hill, Quartermasters."

"Also, on descriptive list dated January 1, 1782, Captain Heywood's Company, 6th Mass. regiment, age 18 years, stature 5 ft. 7 in. Complexion light, hair light, occupation (farmer) yeoman, birthplace, Framingham, residence Framingham, engaged Jan. 16 (or Feb. 16) 1781, term 3 years.

She was born in Charlestown, Mass. [October 26, 1787], and died in Woburn, Mass., of old age, April 26, 1864, aged 76 yrs., 9 mos.

Amos Newton lived in Charlestown, Woburn and Malden, Mass. In 1823 he bought of Joseph Warren Tufts, seventy-five acres of the Tufts' farm in Malden—part of the Newell grant—and it was occupied by him and his son until it became a part of the extensive purchases of the Edgeworth Company.

Mr. Newton resided in Southborough. His first three and the sixth of his children were born there. The others were born in Westborough, to which town he either removed, or was set off, about 1805. July 12, 1818, his wife, Submit Newton, was received by letter into the Evangelical Church at Westborough, and her name appears on the list of "present members" in 1842. William, John and Thomas Knowlton were in Ipswich, Mass., in 1642. John died in 1654, leaving John Jr., Abraham and Elizabeth. Thomas, brother of John Jr., was a Dea. in Ipswich in 1642, and died April 3, 1692. (Fell's Hist. of Ipswich)

This Thomas may have been the same man, or the father of Thomas Knowlton, who married in Roxbury, 24, 9, 1698, Hannah Green. [For convenience here I will call him No. 2 and the following Thomas as of the 33rd generation in America.]

Thomas Knowlton and Margery Goonere, "both of Ipswich," married at Watertown Dec. 2, 1692. She was dau. of Dea. Wm. Goodlaine, who was in Ipswich in 1675, and whose wife was Margery Watson. They were prob. from England. Joseph and () Ezekiel Knowlton of Shrewsbury are said by the descendants of the latter to have been brothers, sons of Thomas and Margery, and they had a half-brother, Ebenezer, son of Thomas.

(*) Ezekiel Knowlton (Dea.) (brother of Joseph and son of Thomas), b. about 1670; d. 1711; m. Susanna, dau. of Capt. Morgan and his wife Susanna Pitts, from England. Ezekiel and Susanna Knowlton were dismissed from the church at Manchester and admitted to the church at Shrewsbury in 1713. She died 1794, aged 86. Their children born at Shrewsbury were: Mary, 1731; m. her cousin, Joseph Knowlton, Jr.; Susanna, 1733; m. Gershom Wheelock, Jr.; Deborah, 1734; m. Jabez Wheelock; Ezekiel, 1735; m. Anna Miles; Lydia, 1738; m. (Dea.) William, 1741; m. Hannah Hastings; Sarah, 1745; m. James Symonds; Margery, 1747; m. Joshua Bigelow; Thomas, 1750; m. Elizabeth Back- eler.

Dea. William Knowlton (s. of Dea. Ezekiel), b. April 29, 1744; d. Sept. 17, 1829, at Shrewsbury, where he resided; m. 1764, Hannah Hastings, dau. of Joseph. He lived first in Templeton, where five children were born, and then to Shrewsbury, where the other births are recorded, and where he and his wife were admitted to the church from that at Templeton, and died. The children were: Asa, 1765; Jonas, 1767; Hinson, 1769; William, 1771; Arbuthnot, 1772; Susanna, 1775; William, 1777; Seth, 1781; Joseph Hastings, March 22, 1785.

Joseph Hastings Knowlton (s. of Dea. Wm.), b. 1785; d. Aug. 25, 1818; resided and died on the homestead at Shrewsbury; a deacon in the Restoration Society. He married 1806, Chloe Forbush, dau. of Ebenezer and Lucy (Honaker) Forbush of Westborough, where she was born Sept. 7, 1760. Their children were: William Hastings, 1807; m. Susan L. Brigham; Hannah Ward, 1808; Mary Ann Bachellet, May 12, 1810; m. Jabez Newton (s. of John, Jabez); Joseph Forbush, Aug. 26, 1811; m. 1825, Hulda Newton (dau. of John, Jabez); Susanna Willey, 1814; Relief Maria, 1816; Lorenzo Clark, 1818; Caroline A., 1820; Frances A., 1825.

Asa Knowlton (s. of Dea. Wm.), b. at Templeton Aug. 31, 1766; d. July 24, 1829, at Shrewsbury; resided and died at Shrewsbury; a deacon in the Restoration Society. He married 1789, Olive White, who, as his wid, m. (2) 1826, Lewis Smith. He had William, who went to Illinois; Asa, Jr., and perhaps others.

Asa Knowlton, Jr. (s. of Asa), b. m. in Shrewsbury, October 4, 1793, Damaris Howe, b. 1798, dau. of Daniel and Hannah Howe of Shrewsbury. They had there Aba- rice Rice, b. June 2, 1829; d. 1846; m. Simon Bellows Newton (s. of John, Jabez); Charles, b. July 4, 1822.

AARON NEWTON (Jabez\(^2\), Ezekiel\(^1\), Jr., Moses\(^3\), Moses\(^2\), Richard\(^1\)), son of Jabez and Rhoda (Ward) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there February 24, 1773, and died ———.

He married at Southborough, September 11, 1795, Polly Hill, whom I suppose was daughter of Silas and Jemima (Thompson) Hill\(^8\) of Westborough, Mass., where she was born February 18, 1770.

Aaron Newton resided in Southborough, where his nine children were born.

Aug. 31, 1792, who went to Maine and married there; Emison, who was killed by Indians in Wisconsin in the Black Hawk war; Luther Dexter; Lucy; Hannah; Levi; William Adams; Cherry Moira; Charles Otis. The order of these births is prob. not correct.

* Silas Hill (not traced) and Jemima Thompson were married at Westborough, Mass., Feb. 6, 1796. He died at Oakham, Mass., Feb. 19, 1796. His widow came to Westborough, June 21, 1796, "from oakham to the house of dr. James Haws" with five children.

Dr. James HAWS and Hannah Thompson were married at Westborough, Nov. 25, 1762. Hannah and Jemima were prob. sisters. Jemima Hill m. (2) Aug. 21, 1787, Benjamin Coney of Warwick. The five children of Silas Hill were born at Westborough—except one: 1. Catharine, b. Jan. 7, 1797; m. Feb. 19, 1798, Abner Warren of and in Warwick; 2. Polly, b. Feb. 18, 1799; m. H., before 1776, but left before 1780; proprietor and taxed there in 1788 and 1791; wife Mary, three children. His place, Lot 5, Range 9, was later occupied by Abel Ryan, which may indicate that they were relatives.

2182. Jabez Newton 6 [I suppose this is son of Jabez Newton (Ezekiel, Jr., Moses, Moses, Richard), born December 8, 1774, at Southborough, Mass. Whether he was this son or not the following Jabez and family will be found in the town records of St. Albans, Vt.]

He married Anna ———, who was the mother of his three children, born at St. Albans, Vt.

CHILDREN.

He married at Weathersfield, Vt., February 22, 1800, Rispah Bisby, born March 17, 1783, and died at Weathersfield, Vt., September 29, 1801, leaving one child.

He married (2) at Weathersfield, Vt., May 1, 1803, Olive L. Whitecomb, who was born September 23, 1794, and died ——18, 1880.

"I am quite certain that our grandfather Ezekiel lived in Weathersfield, Vt., that he married his first wife, Rispah, there, and there she died, leaving one daughter, whom we afterward knew as Aunt Rispah.

"Our grandmother, Olive Whitecomb, went there to live with her brother, whose name, I think, was Perez Whitecomb, who went there from Cohasset. While there she met and married the widower, Ezekiel Newton.

"I think that Minot and perhaps Cynthia were born there. Then they moved farther west into the wilderness around Lakes George and Champlain and settled at a place called Hague, very near Fort Ticonderoga. Here I think Lincoln and Henry were born.

"Of course you know the story of the Indians getting too thick around there in the 1812 war, and how they left their crops unharvested and binding themselves and their four children and everything they had in the world into an ox cart, and with a yoke of oxen for propelling power, started for somewhere and brought up in Braintree. This is the story as I have heard it from Grandmother Newton. At Braintree Grandfather Ezekiel worked many years for Major Stetson on his farm and your father was named for the Major, Amos Stetson." [Herbert A. Newton to Edward B. Newton.]

Mr. Newton was a watchmaker. The first years of his married life the family resided in Newton Corner, Mass., where at least three children were born and probably the fourth. Later he removed to Southborough, where he died, and where his estate was administered.

2232. EPHRAIM NEWTON (David1, David1, Jonathan1, Moses2, Richard1), son of David, Jr., and Elizabeth (Newton) Newton of Southborough and Spencer, Mass., was born at Southborough, August 1, 1785. The records I have found, and what I have received from the family, are confusing, and meager. There are probably many faults—though I think in the main this record is correct.

The granddaughter of "Ephraim Newton, whose wife was Polly," states that he died May 6, 1859, at Hardwick, Mass., where both he and his wife are buried.
He married at Southborough, June 30, 1808, Polly Woods (2166), daughter of John, Jr., and Levi (Newton) Woods* of Southborough, where she was born March 4, 1786. She died at Hardwick, February 1, 1865.

Their first child was born in Southborough, 1809. In November, 1809, a little more than a year after his marriage, he was in Barre, Mass., where an exchange of papers was signed for a farm and buildings he had purchased of Capt. Gideon Tenney, gentleman, and wife, Betsey (Child) Tenney. These Tenneys were from Hardwick and Northborough. After that he lived in Hardwick and removed from there about 1849 and went to live in the adjoining town of Greenwich.

He married at Worcester, Mass., October 9, 1798, Elizabeth Putnam, daughter of Amos and Sarah (Swift) Putnam of Worcester. She died at Auburn, Mass., March 26, 1849, aged 76. Burial beside her husband.

Ebenezer Newton is styled "Jr." at the intention of his marriage, also in the record of his marriage, when he was "of Southborough."

He removed from Southborough soon after marriage, going to Hawley, Mass., later to Leicester, thence to Oxford, where he resided about ten years, and last to the adjoining town of Ward (now Auburn), where he spent the rest of his life. The births of his children I have gathered from the records of those towns. The list is probably incomplete.

His estate was administered without a will at Ward in 1829. Case in Probate Court, No. 43,108.

They resided in Oxford, where their children are mentioned in its town history:

2906. 2. Anna Maria* Jennison, b. Jan. 2, 1845; m. Fred Hutchins (2d wife), Residence, Thompson, Conn.

He married, probably, at Acton, Mass., March 10, 1807, Sarah Chaffin, daughter of Robert, Jr., and Hannah (Tenney) Chaffin* of Acton, Mass., where she was born January 19, 1781; died, "widow of Silas Newton," February 25, 1868, aged 87.

Silas Newton lived in Marlborough, N. H. Nine children are given in the history of that town. It is said there were ten in all. In 1823 he moved to Westminster, Vt., where he lived about three years, thence to Sarry, three years, then to Westminster in 1829, where he was engaged in the manufacture of earthenware, and was known there as "Potter Newton." He is spoken of as being a very religious man, attached to the Congregational Church, including its views and practicing its duties. When a young man he had a strong desire to obtain a collegiate education and to fit himself for the ministry, but his parents did not see fit to second his wishes and he was obliged to give up the idea. He had a more than ordinary inquisitive and penetrating mind, holding opinions on many topics different from those around him, and probably for that reason was considered rather eccentric. [Hist. Marlborough, N. H., p. 588.]

In 1833, Silas Newton kept a hotel in Marlborough, N. H., on the site of the house later owned by Granville Morse.

CHILD.

2268. i. HORATIO GIDEON5 (M.D.), b. July 22, 1829. Dr. Horatio Gideon Newton (M.D.) was educated in the public schools and was fitted for college at the East Corinth Academy of Maine. In 1849 he entered the Medical College at Worcester, Mass., where he was under the tutelage of his uncle, Prof. Calvin Newton, A.M., M.D., and of Prof. E. Morgan Parret, M.D., and was graduated in 1853, in which year his uncle died, and he assumed the editorship of the Worcester Medical Journal.

In 1854 he began the practice of medicine in Bangor, Maine, then went to Portland, Maine, and thence to Provincetown, Mass., where he was port physician, and physician on the board of health. In 1875, Dr. Newton removed to Boston, Mass., where he resided until his death, which occurred at his residence, 292 Columbus Ave., on May 17, 1889. Malignant disease of the liver. Burial at Mount Hope Cemetery, according to the L. O. O. F. ritual.

Dr. Newton had practiced medicine thirty-eight years; he was a member of the local, state and national eclectics medical societies. He was prominent in several fraternal societies and in temperance circles. Dr. Newton for a number of years was chairman of the board of censors of the Eclectic Medical College of the City of New York. At the alumni meeting just previous to his death he presided. In response to the toast, "Our College," Dr. Newton delivered one of his crisp and encouraging speeches, which made the company enthusiastic and happy. His intellectual ability was only equalled by his moral worth; the expression of his sympathy was tenderness itself; his genial fellowship was social sunshine; his counsel was safe guidance in any doubtful way; his active brain, his kindly heart, and his helpful hand was devoted to the cause he loved and served; as physician, conscientious; as man, just and noble; as friend, faithful and sincere.

His brother Peter was in Virginia in 1624. The earliest record we have of Richard is in 1646, when he removed from Wells, Maine, to Boston, Mass., where his wife was received by letter from Wells into the Church at Boston. He m. between 1636 and 1641, Abigail Downing, dau. of Rev. Dr. Downing of Norwich, England. HON. MEDAD MONTAGUE, b. 1755; d. 1837; res. Sunderland, and later Montague; selectman; rep. Genl Court; many terms; soldier of the Revolution; m. (1) Ruth Dinsmore,
She was born at Montague, Mass., December 5, 1781, and died at Sunderland, February 29, 1819.

As a boy Mr. Newton removed with the other members of his father's family from Southborough, Mass., to North Leverett. After his marriage, in 1802, he continued to reside in that vicinity until 1810, when he moved to Charlestown, Mass., where he continued to reside until the fall of 1814, when he returned to the western part of Massachusetts and settled in Sunderland, where his wife died. He did not marry again and his family of young children was broken up and lived in the several families of relatives, while he resided in the various places his business called him.

While in Charlestown, he was employed in the blacksmith's shop at the shipyards. While he had never served the long apprenticeship in that trade that his son served, and they would not admit that he was a blacksmith, per se, yet he worked there in that shop for about five years—the heavy work of "striker" and such like falling to him; now that work is done by machine.

Mr. Newton had been in Charlestown nearly four years, and the War of 1812-1814 was on. In that war the troops of Massachusetts were not under the United States Government at Washington—"States Rights" were having a flury, and the Massachusetts militia was raised by draft and must serve within the state. Thus it was that Edward Newton was drafted into the army and became a soldier of the War of 1812. His term of service was short, from September 13, 1814, to November 7, 1814, in the Company of Capt. Knight and the regiment of Lieut.-Col. Dudley, on Castle Island, in the harbor at South Boston. After the war he became a contractor, taking jobs and contracts for heavy work. After 1819 he was a long time in Westfield, Mass., where he was engaged on his contract to build an aqueduct across Westfield river. Sometime between 1835 and 1840 he went to live with his son, Marvin Newton, at Brookfield, Vt., where he spent the remainder of his life, and where he was buried.

Marvin's daughter writes of him: "He was a very pleasant man, and always seemed happy. He was not able to do any work for many years before he died." His great age became a burden to him, and he brightened up when he spoke of the future and said he "wanted to go home."

His first three children were born at North Leverett, the fourth and fifth at Charlestown, and the last at Sunderland.

Mass., was born at Southborough, October 27, 1780, and died at Sunderland, Mass., July 20, 1850.

He married, August 1, 1804, Polly Albee, daughter of Stephen and Mary (-----) Albee of Chesterfield, Mass. She was born at Milford, Mass., -----, 1780, and died at Sunderland, November 22, 1862.

Paul Newton, Jr., learned the blacksmith’s trade, serving a seven years’ apprenticeship. When a young man he had the misfortune to sever the chord of the leg just below the kneepan, which made him a cripple all his days—but did not prevent his living an active and useful life.

Soon after his marriage he was in Belchertown, Mass., for a while. He moved thence to Marlborough, N. H., where he resided for a time in a house since owned by Mr. Jonathan Davis.

“The first blacksmith shop in Marlborough, N. H., was built by Abijah Tucker, occupying the site of David Wilkinson’s garden on Liberty Square. Joseph Wilson succeeded to it and removed the shop to another lot where the town lines of Marlborough and Keene ran through the house. Aaron Lombard succeeded and, about 1863, sold to Paul Newton. Mr. Newton added a small foundry to his establishment for casting small articles.”

Mr. Newton continued to reside in Marlborough, N. H. His three children were born there.

At the reorganization of the Universalist church at Marlborough, N. H., in 1816, Paul Newton is one whose name is allixed to the new Constitution, as a member of it. He removed from the town in 1817, going to Hadley, Mass., where he continued his business and resided many years. One says of him: “In 1842 he was living in Hadley, Mass., working at his trade, where he did honest work.” From Hadley he removed with his son to Sunderland, Mass., where they both settled for the remainder of their lives. He lived there for several years on the place later owned by William E. Dwyer, where he died. The house in which he lived was burned in 1876.

His nephew, Rev. Baxter Newton, writes thus of him: “He always struck me as being a sincere, upright man. In no one thing did he impress me so much as in family worship. He read the Scriptures so reverently and thoroughly; and his prayers were as artless and simple as a child. He asked his Heavenly Father for just what he wanted and left all there. He was not remarkable for anything unless it was his sincerity, simplicity and faith.”

2904. STEPHEN NEWTON (Paul 3, Nathaniel 2, Jonathan 1, Moses 0, Richard 0), son of Paul and Martha (Newton) Newton of Southborough and Leverett, Mass., was born at Southborough, June 13, 1782, and died at Cazenovia, New York, July 17, 1864, aged 82.

He married, January 14, 1807, Achsah Smith, daughter of Samuel and Sally (Chauncey) Smith 3 of Hadley, Mass. She was born at Montague, Mass., July 23, 1786, and died at Cazenovia, N. Y., February 20, 1862, aged 76.

Stephen Newton was a farmer. In 1807, the year of his marriage, he went with his wife to Cazenovia, Madison County, N. Y., where he bought a farm two and one-half miles from the village, which he improved, added to, and where he made a home in which he lived and died. In person, Mr. Newton was about five feet ten inches in height, with broad shoulders—strongly built. He was a hard worker, vigorous, economical. He was well informed, though with the care of so large a family he had not much time for reading. He held only the offices of school trustee, and town pathmaster; and was a trustee of the Baptist Society, of which church both he and his wife were devoted members, and with which church his children united. Mrs. A. D. Newton, in 1834, writes thus of him: "Our uncle talked intelligently and well upon subjects pertaining to this life; but when he spoke of the life to come, his face was all aglow, and you saw at once that it was the subject that lay nearest his heart. His wife was a pleasant, lovely woman. In most things a contrast to him, yet so perfectly united."

They were able to train four sons who became excellent citizens, and of their daughters Rev. Baxter Newton writes: "Without exception they were amiable, pious and useful women. Their advantages of schooling were small, the public schools being the place of their education. They were intelligent in proportion to their times and opportunities. They were thoroughly domestic women; had abundance of practice at the spinning wheel and loom before marriage, and after marriage their families were the great objects of their care. They all united with the Baptist Church in their youth and from location and surroundings their Christian work was inside of their families."

In their declining years, and at their earnest request, their son, Rev. Baxter Newton, came back to the homestead in Cazenovia, N. Y., lived with and took care of his parents until their change came—the period in their lives from 1855 to 1862 and 1864. Mrs. Newton, the first to go, retained her faculties of mind in a remarkable degree, although for several years she was physically helpless.

*SAMUEL SMITH (PAUL 4) of Hadley m. SALLY CHAUNCEY. (The Chaunceys of Hadley are descended from Rev. Israel Chauncey, graduate of Harvard College 1653, ordained over Hadley Church 1656, and Rev. Charles Chauncey, President of Harvard College.) They had Achsah, 1786, m. Stephen Newton; Roxcell, 1788; m. Esther Rice, who were parents of Hamilton J. Smith.
Mr. Newton lost some of his mental power in his old age. The farm passed into the possession of his son, Rev. Baxter Newton, who continued to reside upon it for a number of years, and sold it in 1869. The home farm was joined by the farms of the sons, Stephen, Jr., and Lewis—thus making another colony of Newtons.

CHILDREN.

2964. i. Corbella, b. July 19, 1810, at Cazenovia, N. Y.; d. ——; m. there Jan. 8, 1855, Darwin Hiram Mann, son of Dr. Joel and Sally (Merick) Mann of Saratoga County, N. Y., and Cazenovia, N. Y. He was born at Cazenovia, N. Y., Dec. 15, 1829, and died there Dec. 28, 1841. Mr. Mann was a farmer; in politics a Whig, strongly committed to the fortunes of Henry Clay. He and his wife were Baptists in their religious faith. The death of her husband left Mrs. Mann with narrow means and five small children. Her strength of character is demonstrated in her children, of whom one has said, "She reared a family, which, taken as a whole, are more than an average in point of ability." Their children, born at Cazenovia, N. Y., were:

1. Newton H.² Mann (Rev.), b. Jan. 16, 1836; m. (1) Aug. 8, 1857, Eliza J. Smith, by whom he had four children; m. (2) at Delphi, N. Y., Aug. 20, 1912, Rev. M. Rowena Morse of Chicago, III. Rev. Mr. Mann became a Unitarian clergyman. He received his early education in the public schools and Seminary of Cazenovia, N. Y. During the Civil War he was connected with the Western Sanitary Commission, stationed at Vicksburg, Miss. After the war he began preaching at Kenosha, Wis.; later was in Massaachusetts for a time; thence to Lansingburg, N. Y., where he was settled for a few years. In 1870 he became pastor of a Unitarian Church at Rochester, N. Y., and about 1880 removed to Omaha, Neb., where he was pastor of Unity Church. The headquarters of the Unitarian Ministers at this time was at Omaha, Neb., Rev. Mr. Mann being the dean. He has held responsible positions at the head of the church organization. He is considered a man of talent; is a powerful speaker; the author of several books; at one time something of an astronomer; visited Europe several times; an up-to-date man. In 1912 he accepted temporarily the pastorate of the First Unitarian Church in Delphi, Ind., and wound up his labors in the pulpit that he had vacated in January, 1911, by Rev. Dr. Morse, the lady who was to become his wife, who had become pastor of the Third Unitarian Church, South Keizie Avenue and West Monroe Street, Chicago, III.—and expects to continue in that pastorate as Mrs. Mann. Dr. Morse was the first woman who received a doctor's degree in Germany. She applied at Berlin and at Leipzig and was unsuccessful. She appeared in person before the governors of the University of Leipzig and they granted her plea. At this marriage the bride was 40 years, and the groom, 76 years of age. Their P. O. address is Chicago, III. (7) Children were:

2305. HON. WALTER NEWTON (Paul 2., Nathaniel 3., Jonathan 3., Moses 3., Richard 1.), son of Paul and Martha (Newton) Newton of Southborough and Leverett, Mass., was born at Southborough, November 13, 1785, and died at North Hadley, Mass., March 15, 1890, aged 95 years, 4 months.

He married April —, 1810, Sally Clark, daughter of Captain Nathaniel Clark, "who was a sea captain on a whaling vessel." She was born at Shutesbury, Mass., April, 1784, and died at Worcester, January 10, 1842, aged 58. "Mrs. Newton was a lovely, Christian woman; plain in her manner; not given to much 'for show'—she made her home one where people liked to visit." For about a week in the winter of 1841-42 she appeared to be out of her right mind and was taken to the Insane Asylum at Worcester for treatment, where she died within two weeks after her arrival. She had one son and brought up, from a small child, Sarah Clark, who married Lyman Albee Newton. Mrs. Newton was a member of the Congregational Church at Hadley.

He married (2) Mrs. Mary (Farrar) Tapley.

Mr. Newton was a prosperous farmer in North Hadley. He built himself a large house, arranged for the family of his son and for himself, which they occupied—the son succeeding the father as owner of the property.

For several years after his second marriage he lived in Amherst, while his son carried on the farm—but later he returned and died at his homestead.

In 1857 he was elected and represented his town in the State Legislature at Boston.

He was a member of the Congregational Church at Hadley. He lived to great age, and was nearly blind in his last years, yet he was quite well until two or three years before he died. His only child was born at North Leverett.

Child:

He married at Fitchburg, June 16, 1809, Susan Chamberlin, daughter of Elisha and Susannah (Brown) Chamberlin of Fitchburg, where she was born March 23, 1789. She died at Fitchburg, March 20, 1868. Her will, allowed 1868, administered at Fitchburg. Case in Probate, No. 13,636.

Mr. Newton resided in Fitchburg all of his married life. His children were born there. He came to the town of Fitchburg in 1804, at the age of eighteen, and was for forty years of his life actively engaged in business there. Nearly all of that period he was connected with the business of cotton manufacturing. He lived to see the territory change from its original forest to its now large and thriving village and to assist in the changes and improvements. He assisted in building the first machine for spinning cotton in the place in the factory where now (1863) the Fitchburg Woolen Mill Company carry on business. That was previous to the year 1810. In 1810 he put in operation two spinning frames in a building where the Stone Mill stands. The establishment then cost about $1,800, and the profits the first year amounted to about $1,000. Being successful in this venture he purchased the tract of land between the Stone Mill water privilege and the Fitchburg Woolen Mill, and in connection with the late Solomon Strong constructed the waterworks and factory situated on Newton's Lane. There—part of the time with Judge Strong and part of the time alone—he manufactured cotton between thirty and forty years, and erected most of the buildings on that tract of land. He experienced all the changes of prosperity and adversity incident to the government's changes in the tariff, and in the long run prospered—and then, when at the age of nearly sixty years, misfortune overtook him and he lost his property. When a young man he learned the cabinet-maker's trade. Being industrious and enterprising—and a "born" mechanic—able to turn his hand to anything, he started again in a different line, and in the next fifteen years accumulated a property of seven or eight thousand dollars. He, with Mr. Nehemiah Giles, built the large dwelling house—later mostly enclosed with stores—where he lived in 1812, when the War with England broke out. He was the commanding officer of the Military Company of the town, hence the style of "Captain."

Captain Newton was an active member and supporter in organizing the present Unitarian church and society. He took deep interest in the choir and gave personal exertions in aid of its efficient support. He was one of the persistent helpers in organizing the high school, or academy, for the town—everything for the betterment of the citizens appealed to him. He early became connected with the Masonic fraternity and for several years was the oldest member of Aurora Lodge. He was the leading man in introducing in that vicinity the construction of arched stone bridges, many of which now attest to his good judgment and foresight.

To speak of his personal characteristics seems eminently fitting in a Newton genealogy. The regret is there is not space here to tell all one desires to record. I quote from letters to me written by Mr. Garfield who knew him well, and from the obituary in the Fitchburg Sentinel:

Captain Newton was, first of all, an honorable, upright, square-dealing man, a man of most unceasing labor and great activity of life. He loved industry as a matter of honor and of conscience. He was of great kindness of heart, especially toward those with whom he was connected in business. "He was of a highly social disposition, mirthful, and full of music. All of the daughters were singers, and in their younger days sang in the church choir. They were all capable, intelligent and refined. I knew them all,—a more harmonious, affectionate and mutually helpful family I never knew. . . . Capt. Newton's delight was to join with his daughters in singing the old-fashioned tunes—for he never lost his ability to sing." A nephew, who knew this large family, writes:
“What a good generation it was and what a strong tie of affection bound the brothers and sisters together!”

Captain Newton was rather short in stature—probably not over five feet, five or six inches. “He was very fond of his mother, and I think religiously obeyed the dying injunction of his father:—‘Martin, I want you to be a good boy, and mind your’ mother.’”

A picture of Captain Newton, the only one he ever posed for, was taken when he was seventy-three years old. The face of a good man, the several features of which are repeated again and again in the old men of the Newton family.

Mrs. Newton was a woman of rare executive ability—active, self-reliant and resourceful, yet most kind hearted and sympathetic—always the same whether in prosperity or adversity, and always of uniform kindness and helpfulness. She relates the following incident of her girlhood:—she was one of a family of four daughters and four sons of Elisha Chamberlin, at Fitchburg farmer. In another part of the town lived a thrifty, well-to-do farmer, Jonas Marshall by name, who by reason of a growing family needed extra help in the house. One morning in the spring of the year 1801, he mounted his horse before breakfast, and rode to the Chamberlin home, three miles away, and told his errand—he had come for one of the girls to go and live in his family. The answer was:—‘Well, there they are,—take your choice!’ He looked first at one and then another, and said, “I will take Sukey” and without further ceremony mounted his horse, and “Sukey”—then eleven years old—mounted behind him, and rode to his home, where she lived till she married Martin Newton. She survived her husband five years. Mr. Garfield continues: “I knew Jonas Marshall in his old age; he had his peculiarities—wore a ‘queue’—was Uncle Jonas to everybody, and was considered rich. He had money to loan, at six per cent.—no more, no less. It was a disappointment to Mrs. Newton that in his will he did not remember her, though he gave to the town of Fitchburg a sum of money the income of which was to go to poor widows and unmarried women—who did not ask aid from the town.”

He was born at Langdon, N. H., Aug. 14, 1828; and died at Fitchburg, Mass., Dec. 14, 1911, aged 83. Mr. Garfield was one of Fitchburg's most prominent citizens, and was associated with the business growth and development of the city for sixty years; its business institutions, its banks, its library, its schools, as alderman, as representative to the state legislature. At the age of 17 he was apprenticed to learn the printer's trade at Abbot, N. H. He continued in that line of business for seventeen years. In 1852 he located permanently in Fitchburg and purchased a half interest in the Fitchburg Weekly Sentinel in company with his brother, Elisha Garfield, to whom he sold his interest in 1859, but continued in the newspaper business in Boston, Mass., and Pawtucket, R. I., until 1861, when he formed a partnership with John P. Sabin and entered the real business. After several changes, George Newton Proctor bought out the other partner and in 1856 was organized the Garfield & Proctor Coal Co., which has since been one of the leading firms in New England, with offices and yards at Fitchburg, Boston and New Bedford. Mr. Garfield was president of the company 1888-1893 and again in 1896 until his death. Among his other activities were: Director of the Osawell Mills, treasurer of the Brown Bag Filling Machine Co., president of the Sawyer Tool Manufacturing Co., president, vice president and trustee, at different times, of Worcester North Savings Institution, twelve years its president, director of the Safety Fund National Bank since 1882.

Mr. Garfield was a man of literary tastes and had gathered a valuable library. His helpfulness was deeply appreciated by those who availed themselves of his wide knowledge and critical skill. He was the author of many papers, pamphlets and journals upon historical and genealogical topics. He was the founder of the Fitchburg Historical Society; member of the Worcester Society of Antiquity; life member of the New England Historic, Genealogical Society; member of the Universalist (First Parish, Fitchburg) Church. He belonged to the Free Masons and was a member of other fraternal societies—a genial man who enjoyed the respect and esteem of the entire community.

"Mrs. Garfield was a devoted wife and mother—a lovable, kind-hearted, helpful woman, who spent much of her life and strength in making others happy; and it is no exaggeration to say she was beloved by everybody who came within the circle of her acquaintance." She passed away after nearly fifty years of married life. Their children, born at Fitchburg, were:

Mr. Newton, from Framingham, went with a large family of children to Shrewsbury; their births are not recorded in either town. Their names have come to me from several sources. The order of them may not be correct, but is approximately so.

NEWTON GENEALOGY

Albans for interment in the family lot. Her six children were all born in St. Albans. Lydia Ball came when a young girl to St. Albans, with her mother, who was a widow with three children: Benjamin and Lucy, twins, born October 10, 1784, and Lydia. The mother died at St. Albans.

Josiah Newton had a hard time of it in childhood. He lacked a month of being a year old when his father died. Five months after the death of his father, his little brother, Alvin, was born. Their mother married again, a Mr. Goodenough, and the children, Josiah and Alvin, "were bound out, and a sorry life they led." Writing of this second marriage, the granddaughter of Josiah says: "The man's name was Goodenough; his stepfather was so unkind the child hardly ever had enough to eat; many times at school he would pick up the 'levings' of the other children. All we know is, that he led a sad life." He did not like to talk of those times, therefore his family lost a knowledge of whence they came.

He told them how he came from Massachusetts to Vermont, "a-foot," with a young man by the name of M. A. Holoke. All he had he carried in a knapsack under his arm. He went far to the north and settled in St. Albans, Vt. There he lived until he died. He must have been a man of more than ordinary abilities and of a high standard to accomplish so much. He took up lands and became an extensive farmer. When he died he was a wealthy man for those parts. Besides the Vermont properties, the records show that he owned others in Plattsburg, N. Y.

He held many of the public offices of the city, and represented the town in the State Legislature, and he was careful to educate his children.

Josiah Newton was a soldier in the War of 1812, in Capt. Farnsworth's Company.

He died at his home near Green’s Corners, in Swanton, Vt., May 24, 1853, aged 76. G. S. He with his wife lie buried in the Old Cemetery in East Swanton, Vt.

Alvin Newton was a soldier of the War of 1812. In consideration of his services he received from the government a bounty of 160 acres of land in Michigan. His granddaughter, Mrs. Chisholm, has (1907) the blanket he used and carried in that war. She thinks his son, Alvin R., got the bounty land.

Another granddaughter, Mrs. Hungerford, writes of him in his old age, giving a pen-picture of him: “I can see him now as he looked after walking out to our home—his large cane standing up between his knees, his hands crossed on the top of it and his chin resting on his hands—he was a beautiful old man, and mother loved him... I know Mary Butler (Mrs. Chisholm) was visiting at our house [she lived with her grandparents] and a neighbor of theirs came and told us how the old man brought in an armful of wood, then sat down in a chair and died instantly.”

*JOSEPH AMIDON was descended from the immigrant ROGER AMIDNON, AMADOWNE, AMADOWNE, AMIDNOW (the name is spelled all these ways) of Rehoboth, Mass., whose name first appears at Salem, Mass., in 1637. Tradition has it that he was a French Huguenot. He was a soldier in the War of 1675. In 1675 he married (2) the same year Joanna Harmon. He had eight children. The line of JOSEPH AMIDON runs through Solomon, Roger, Roger, Philip, Roger.

2449. WILLIAM NEWTON* (Cotton, Paul, Josiah, Moses, Richard), son of Cotton and Abigail (Sawyer) Newton of Berlin, Mass., and Marlborough, Vt., was born in Berlin, Mass., August 17, 1788, and died in Marlborough, Vt., September 27, 1878, aged 90 years, 1 month, 10 days.

Mr. Newton moved early in life to Marlborough, Vt., where he resided through life, always on his farm where his three children were born. He was a Representative to the Vermont Legislature from Marlborough, during the years 1840 and 1841. He was a famous teacher, and mathematician. For ten years he taught in the district schools of Marlborough and Brattleborough, Vt. He was one of the strenuous teachers that the big boys of those times never succeeded in "carrying out"—instead, the school committee would be notified that there was a new chair needed.

He was a natural mechanic, and in his younger days did much work in the carpenter's and wheelwright's trades. Mr. Isaac Hines, a millwright for whom he worked, considered him a rare workman—he so readily comprehended the requirements of a job, and his work never had to be changed. And yet, he would not permit his sons to learn the trades they most ardently desired to learn; but made of them farmers—to their lasting regret. He was styled "Captain"—I suppose of the militia.

CHILDREN.

3231. i. Roswell Harris, b. Sept. 13, 1819; m. Eleanor Howe Sampson.

"Judge Newton" was one of the distinguished figures in southern Vermont. To the surrounding country Brattleborough, with its several banks, is the financial centre. Among his other offices he was elected a director, and in 1841, vice president of the Vermont Savings Bank. He has the honor of being the veteran town clerk in New England. He was first elected March 2, 1853, and served continuously for forty-eight years. He missed attendance at only two town meetings, illness being the cause in both instances. Failing health obliged him to decline reelection in March, 1911; but so accustomed were the citizens to seeing him there, that by a vote of the town he was requested to use the rooms of the office of the clerk whenever he was able to conduct private business. He was made justice of the peace at the town meeting following his election as town clerk, and soon attained the dignity of trial justice of the town. It was while so continuously acting in hundreds of important cases that he fairly earned the title of "Judge." It has been estimated by those in a position to know, that he officiated at more than 500 marriage ceremonies. He loved his office, and every article in it had a message for him. His long tenure of office brought him a wide acquaintance, for the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace is much more extended in Vermont than it is in other states. He was a Whig and later a Republican in politics; a member of the Congregational Church and of the Columbian Lodge of Free Masons. He married at the home of the clergymen in West Brattleborough, Vt., March 30, 1858, Mrs. Lucinda W. (Goodrich) Harris, daughter of David and Salome (Wheeler) Goodrich of Chesterfield, N. H. She was born April 5, 1818, and died Jan. 29, 1903, after an inactivity of forty-seven years. She married (1) 1838, Noyes Harris, who died Aug. 11, 1842, by whom she had a daughter, Anna Lorrain Harris, born Jan. 31, 1840, at Caledonia, N. Y.; married at Brattleborough, Vt., Jan. 10, 1871, Charles Dean Brooks of Westminster, Mass. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Brooks kept house for Mr. Newton, in his home at Brattleborough, Vt. He had no children.

1 Mr. Horace W. Newton (Selden, Stephen, Silas, of Hardwick) of Fond du Lac, Wis., writing me in 1906, says that when he was visiting the home of his ancestors in Hardwick, "There was one boy named Lemuel, and one boy—I do not know the name—have been to their home—somewhere about 1825. They lived in Hardwick." Among the list of names changed in Massachusetts, from the years 1780 to 1802, one was Lemuel Newton of Hardwick, who had his name changed in 1816, to that of Stephen Eleazer Newton. From the above statements, I conclude that it was the son of Silas Newton, 2d, who had his name thus changed, at the time he would reach his majority.

John Newton was a merchant, residing in Monson, Mass. He, with his older brothers, Lucius F. and Itham, located very near the old homestead of their father, making a little colony there of families and children, and called "Newton Corner."

"His store was a gathering place for the neighbors in that vicinity. A great deal of visiting was done among the men, by dropping in and chatting the news in Newton's store. There were eleven cousins of us in the group and we had very lively times. We held debates, discussions, edited a paper, and were quite literary in our tastes. We attended the Academy in the town and had the reputation of being good scholars, and all of us were especially good writers; but never a Dr. or a Rev. among us—good business ability. All of the men connected with these families have been good business men."

3285. v. ALFRED JOHN, b. May 11, 1838, in Monson, Mass.; a merchant; was living in 1907 in Los Angeles, Calif. He married at Palmer Depot, Mass., May 13, 1865, Elizabeth Smith, daughter of —— and Mary —— Smith. They have no children. He was a soldier in the Civil War—serving in the Army of the Potomac.

2500. EARL NEWTON, SR. (Timothy, Timothy, Josiah, Moses, Richard), son of Timothy, Jr., and Abigail (Earl) Newton of Barnard, Vt., was born there March 6, 1787, and died there October 19, 1865. P. R. Oct. 29, T. R."

He married at Barnard, Vt., February 22, 1813, Myra Dean, oldest daughter and third child of Robert and Emme (Billings) Dean of Barnard, Vt., where she was born December 23, 1789, and where she died January 30, 1861, aged 71 years. G. S.

Earl Newton, Sr., resided in Barnard, Vt., on the farm taken up by his father, and there nine children were born to him. All of his sons, except the youngest, went West at an early day; but Solomon D. has always lived on the old homestead, where he now (1912) resides. Earl Newton received the farm by will of his father, also was made executor of the will. Mr. Newton was a lifelong member of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Barnard, and for many years, like his father before him, a steward of it. His wife was also a member of the same church. He was a much respected member and citizen in the community at Barnard.

William Dean of South Chard, Somersetshire, England, did not come to America. His will, dated July 20, 1634, mentions children: William, "eldest son; John, Walter, Isaac, Thomas, Susa, Eleanor, Elizabeth; "youngest daughter." This is sufficient reason for believing that the above William was the father of the brothers John and Walter Dean of Taunton, Mass. The will makes plain that the son Walter married Eleanor Cogan or Cogin, and not Eleanor Strong as was supposed.

Walter Dean b. 1644; d. 1693; m. Eleanor Cogan, dau. of William of same town; came to America and settled in Taunton in 1650; a tanner. His son.

Ezra Dean b. 1682; d. July 23, 1752; res. in Taunton; m. Bethiah Edson, dau. of Samuel and Sarah Edson (Grundy); Edson of Bridgewater, Mass. His son.

Seth Dean b. 1687; res. Taunton; m. and had five sons and one dau. One son was Paul Dean, carpenter and farmer, res. from Taunton to Hardwick, where he died before April 8, 1764, when inventory of his estate was presented; m. Mary Whitchurch, 1745. (She m. 12) 1780, Rev. Daniel Spooner of Petersham.) She d. 1822, aged 94 yrs., 7 mos. Ten children. One was

Robert Dean, b. 1757; d. 1828; res. Hardwick; res. before marriage to Barnard, Vt., where he m. 1784, Emerey Billings, dau. of Daniel Billings of Hardwick. They had ten children. One was Mary, b. 1799; m. Earl Newton, Sr.

For Billings pedigree, see the histories of the towns of Hadley, Sunderland and Hardwick, Mass. This line runs through Emery, Daniel, Samuel, Samuel, Samuel, Richard Billings of Hartford, Conn., 1649; res. to Hatfield, Mass., where he d. 1679; w. Margery.
He was Sergeant, Lieutenant and Captain of the Artillery Company of the Second Regiment, First Brigade and Fourth Division of the State Militia. His commission as Captain is dated June 14, 1822, and signed by Richard Skinner, Governor. In his later years he was always called "Cap'n Earl."

He was a small, wiry man and had considerable local reputation as a wrestler—such was his physical strength.

The Vermont military rolls show that Earl Newton was in the expedition which marched to Plattsburgh, N. Y., in 1814—which service would make him a "Soldier of the War of 1812."

He later began work in the boot and shoe shop of Thomas Stone. In 1840 he began to manufacture boots and shoes for himself, and for twenty years he carried on an extensive business, employing, between 300 and 400 men, in the old Cross Street factory. In the name of God Amen. I Ann W. He married at Shrewsbury, September 28, 1820, Sally Dabot Brown, daughter of Gershom and Edith (Wyman) Brown of Waltham and Shrewsbury. She was born at Shrewsbury and died ———. She married (2) at Upton, Mass., May 20, 1846, as his second wife, Harvey Carpenter of Grafton, whose first wife, Nancy D. Carpenter, died there June 23, 1845, G. S.

Edward Newton resided in Shrewsbury, where he was born and died, and where two children are recorded. Whether he resided in Framingham I do not know.
The historian of that town says of him, and of his brother, who did live there, "Charles and Edward Newton were noted stone-layers."

He died intestate and his estate was administered in 1839 in Shrewsbury. Case in Probate, No. 43.116.

Mr. Newton lived in Shrewsbury. Two children are recorded there. He married a second time, his widow being Eleanor Newton, to whom he gives by will the residue of his estate. The following is an abstract of his will, with the list of papers in the administration of it.

He married Sally ————. Her gravestone in Framingham has it that she was born in 1808.

The family of Charles I have not found in one place. The record is imperfect. He probably migrated from place to place for a few years after marriage, then settled some time before 1815 in Framingham or a near-by town. The historian of Framingham says that he and his brother Edward were noted stone-layers.

He practiced in Lunenburg, Lancaster, Sterling, Holden, Worcester and several other towns in Massachusetts and died at Fitchburg.

His first two children were born at Hubbardston. The third died there. The fourth and fifth were born at Fitchburg. The sixth, seventh and eighth were born at Lunenburg. 2842. LINCOLN NEWTON, (Caleb, Ezra, Jonathan, Jonathan, Moses, Richard), son of Caleb and Esther (Harvey) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there February 1, 1795, and died there, 1871, aged 76.

He married at Southborough, March 2, 1817, Anna Newton (2807), daughter of Aaron and Polly (Hill) Newton of Southborough, where she was born March 28, 1802, and where she died August 25, 1835.

He married (2) at North Leverett, Mass., December 4, 1836, Sophia Newton (2306), youngest child of Paul and Martha (Newton) Newton of Southborough and North Leverett, Mass. She was born at North Leverett, August 24, 1801, and died at Fayville (Southborough), May 10, 1888, aged 86. She had one child. Her mother was daughter of Edward (1591).

Mr. Newton was a farmer. His land, in the northern part of Southborough, was formerly owned by his father and his grandfather and later was the property of his son, Adoniram Judson Newton. This farm, together with many others in the vicinity, was purchased by the Water Board for a reservoir to supply Boston with water.

The will of Lincoln Newton of Southborough was probated 1871. Case No. 43.256.

Eight children were born of his first marriage and one of his second—all born in Southborough. Mr. Newton was fond of music and singing. He had a good bass voice and played the bass viol—violoncello. All of the family were inclined to music. His wife Sophia was leading soprano, and all the children sang and could read music. The daughter Sophia was quite popular and in demand as a soloist in church music, and at meetings.

I think it not out of place to quote here from a letter written to me by my niece. It gives a pretty picture of the home life of these old-time, worthy people, that is good to see. She writes: “Sometimes when mother would go away, she would send me over to stay with Aunt Sophia. I can shut my eyes and see their living-room now—Aunt Sophia—her work done—knitting or sewing, and Uncle Lincoln sitting in the corner whittling out, I think, ox-handles or else shovel handles. When he was tired of sitting he would walk the floor and sing some old faggin tune. One used to be, ‘The angel of the Lord came down, and glory shone around,’ etc. He was an invalid for some years . . . and they moved to the village . . . . Aunt Sophia was the leading singer for years in the old brick meeting-house—they had a large chorus and Uncle Lincoln played the bass viol. In those days they say Aunt Sophia was a fine looking woman. She always limped when I knew her. I didn’t like Aunt Lovina as well. She was a false front and a cap, and didn’t laugh as much, but was very good. Aunt Sophia had a lot of hair, so she did not have to wear a front piece.”

after the birth of the first child, then moved to West Auburn, Mass., where the births of five other children are recorded.

3632. vi. Ella Jane, b. July 17, 1849, at West Auburn; d. at Foo Chow, China, Dec. 28, 1867; a missionary of the A. B. C. F. M., 29 years; a woman of remarkable ability to accomplish results. It is fitting that in a Newton Genealogy there should be a larger mention of her life and work than the mere facts that she was born and died. I quote from the obituary mention of her death in the Worchester, Mass., newspapers:

"Miss Newton received her early education in the Auburn schools, after which she attended the high school in Millford, Mass., graduating in 1888, and soon entered her chosen vocation of teaching, in which she engaged some years in Auburn and in Oxford. In her work in the public schools, she took high rank for teaching ability, and for the value and permanence of her work. Miss Newton united with the Congregational church, Sept. 4, 1861. A growing interest in foreign missions was maturing into a decision to devote her life to that work; but loyalty tohome ties, which were sacred to her, forbade carrying out her plans while her parents lived. After their death in 1877, she began preparation for her chosen work.

"Miss Newton left New England in Sept., 1878, going by land to San Francisco, whence she sailed in October, for Foo Chow, China, to be a missionary. Her long cherished plan was to establish a girls' school, and work among girls. In the early years she experienced both hardship and danger to reach and bring these girls to the school. She lived to see the school established upon a sure foundation and many girls were raised from the degradation of heathenism to intelligent, Christian living. The commendations and attractive building of the Girls' College is considered a monument to her wise and self-denying plans and executive ability. Miss Newton is said to have mastered the Chinese language with great rapidity, acquiring not only the classical Chinese, but the dialects of the provinces. By her ability to bring out the full meaning of the language, she frequently acted as interpreter both in diplomatic and mercantile matters. During twenty-nine years, Miss Newton never visited her native land, but three times, remaining a few months each time for the much needed rest, the last visit in May 1901. News of her critical illness and death was communicated to her friends by Rev. W. L. Beard, one of the missionaries with whom Miss Newton was associated. He says: 'A service was held in Chinese at the church she did so much to build near her college; another service in English in the foreign settlement, and then we went to the American Cemetery for the burial. Chinese were present from all parts of Foo Chow, and some 200 walked from two to four miles to the grave. No other person in Foo Chow has done so much for the higher education of Chinese girls.

"It was she who made it possible to organize the first Christian Endeavor Society in China. When I began to try to get people to become self-supporting in their church work, she put her best thought and strength into it, and her sympathy was worth more than words can ever express."

E. F. Bell, assistant secretary of the A. B. C. F. M., writes from Boston: "The mission loses a noble worker, who has given herself without stint to the Chinese people. Though never strong, she has accomplished what few missionaries are able to do. Especially is her wide and deep influence due to her own love and devotion to the betterment of that great people."

Miss Newton's will, filed for probate March 16, 1908, is an interesting document. She gives to her niece, Ella A. Newton, land in West Auburn; to the ladies in charge of the Girls' College at Foo Chow her furniture, library and pictures in Foo Chow, and says that if her property in China is more than enough to pay debts and funeral expenses, the surplus is also given to the ladies. The rest of her estate, comprising property in the United States, notes and deposits in banks, is given to the Woman's Board of Missions, incorporated in Massachusetts in 1839, in trust, for the Girls' College at Foo Chow to be used either as an endowment fund, or for new buildings, or for such other purposes of the school, in such manner as the ladies in charge of the college in consultation with the other members of the Foo Chow Mission may decide, and, quoting from the will: "In order to make this clause of my will more specific, I hereby state that this clause applies only to property in the United States, and I do not intend in this clause, to in any way vary the provisions I have made for the disposition of any surplus remaining after payment of debts derived from proceeds of property in China as provided for in Clause 1." Also the will says: "I appoint the person who may be the treasurer of the Woman's Board of Missions at the time of my decease, as executrix of this my last will and testament and request that she be exempt from giving any securities on her official bond."

The will was drawn by Attorney W. C. Mellish, and disposes of an estate of about $3,200. It was executed May 14, 1801; witnessed by Wm. C. Mellish, Emil Zander and Margaret Butler; filed March 16, 1808, by Nathan B. Day of Boston, as counsel for Sarah L. Day of Boston, who says in a petition filed with the will, that she is treasurer of the Woman's Board of Missions.

He married at Auburn, Mass., April 20, 1831, Mary Adams, daughter of Reuben and Sophia (Fitts) Adams of Ward (now Auburn), Mass., where she was born August 26, 1806. She died at Oxford, July 27, 1859, aged 42 years, 11 months. Interment at Auburn.

He married (2) Mrs. Rhoda Severy, widow of Willard Severy of Sutton and Oxford, Mass., who died July 15, 1855, and daughter of Timothy, Jr., and Prudence (Jones) Hewett of Sutton, where she was born November 20, 1801; died ———. She had by first marriage, Harriet M. Freeman, Adaline and Willard W. Severy.

Amos P. Newton settled in Ward, Mass., where the births of the first four and the sixth of his children are recorded, as also the deaths of several. About 1842 he moved to Oxford, where other children were born, and where he remained the rest of his life.

He bought land in Oxford before his marriage. Several transfers by and to him are shown on the records. The "A. P. Newton" house, as shown on the map published about 1856, was built by him in 1857. February 1, 1857, the land was conveyed by Reuben Adams (his father-in-law) to Amos P. Newton, 83 acres. The land extending across Worcester road, the house he built on Prospect Hill, April 30, 1858, he conveyed 54 acres, with the new house, to Jacob Marble, April 1, 1860, Jacob Marble conveyed it back to Amos P. Newton, who on April 1, 1867, conveyed it to Adaline (Severy) Poucher, who was a daughter of his 2d wife by her first husband. October 2, 1855, Amos P. Newton got of Jonathan P. Dana some land, 90 acres, east of Great Meadow, in Oxford, which on August 12, 1861, he conveyed to his daughter, Mary Jane, wife of Abel M. Chaffee.

Mr. Newton identified himself with the Baptist Church. In 1836, he being then a resident of North Oxford, a Baptist Society was formed for the purpose of building a new meeting-house, the cost to be $8,000, divided into 500 shares, each share to have a vote, and the cost to be averaged on the pews. Among the subscribers were Amos P. Newton, one share, and his brother Ebenezer, one-half share. The religious society was formed April 5, 1857, with twenty-five members, among whom were Amos P. Newton, Ebenezer Newton, Maverick Jenner-nison, Robert Fitts.

Mr. Newton learned the printer's trade in Lowell, Mass. In 1844, he moved to Boston, where he was printer, proof-reader, journalist for about twenty years. In 1863, he was a clerk in the War Department at Washington, D. C. He organized and superintended the colored schools at Washington for about five years; was clerk and bookkeeper of the municipal government two years, when ill health compelled him to give up employment. In 1876, he was residing in Ancora, N. J., and later at Arlington, Mass. After his marriage he lived in the towns of Portland, Maine, Boston, Cambridge, Somerville and Arlington, Mass., and Washington, D. C.

Since then he has been active as editor and contributor to magazines and journals. He has published several books of poems. Among the more recent of his many books are "My Own Story, with Recollections of Noted Persons," and "A Pair of Madcaps." He married (1) in 1860, Cornelia Warren of Lowell, Mass. The children by second wife, born at Arlington, Mass., are:

3648. i. FRANK A., b. Sept. --, 1847, in Medway, Mass.
3650. ii. HERBERT DANIEL, b. Aug. 9, 1849, in Medway, Mass.

2946. MARVIN NEWTON\(^7\) (Edward\(^6\), Paul\(^5\), Nathan\(^4\), Jonathan\(^3\), Moses\(^2\), Richard\(^1\)), son of Edward and Esther (Montague) Newton of Southborough, North Leverett, Charlestown, Sunderland, Mass., and Brookfield, Vt., was born at North Leverett, December 9, 1804, and died at Brookfield, Vt., October 14, 1856, aged 51 years, 10 months. Consumption.

He married at Brookfield, Vt., February 7, 1832, Lois G. Smith, daughter of Solomon and Eunice (Griswold) Smith of Brookfield, Vt., where she was born November 11, 1804. She died at the home of her daughter, in Brookfield, Vt., January 9, 1890, aged 85 years.

After the death of his mother in 1819, Mr. Newton lived with his uncle, Mr. Noahia Montague, attending the public schools in the winter times. Later he learned the blacksmith's trade, serving an apprenticeship with a Mr. Childs at Deerfield Meadows, Mass. After his time was out with Mr. Childs he worked at his trade here and there as a journeyman, and about 1830—more or less—he went to Brookfield, Vt., where he bought a farm, set up a shop and settled for the remainder of his life. In the winter of 1831-32 there was a great revival of religion in that region, and many people united with the churches. January 1, 1832, Mr. Newton, Miss Smith (who became his wife later), and one hundred others, united with the Congregational Church at Brookfield, Vt.

While afflicted with consumption, Mr. Newton was able to be about until the last day, when he had a hemorrhage and died suddenly. His widow was active and bright in her extreme age, and able to wait upon herself.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton had but the one child, a daughter. They took a boy, while he was an infant, whom they adopted and brought up. The child, however, retained the name of his own father, and is not known as Newton; on which account I give his record in this connection, instead of in the succeeding generation.

CHILD.

3051. i. Nancy Trice, b. Dec. 7, 1838, at Brookfield, Vt.; m. there May 2, 1858, Royal Abbott, Jr., son of Royal and Ruth (Porter) Abbott of Brookfield, Vt., where he was born May 25, 1834. Mr. Abbott was a soldier in the Civil War, being one of the nine months men. He served in Company C, 16th Vermont Volunteers. Mr. Abbott's occupation was that of a carpenter; also had a farm of 125 acres in Brookfield, Vt., where the family resided, and which he worked, and was later carried on by his son.

Mrs. Abbott was educated in the public schools at Brookfield, Vt., and while never in strong physical health, is possessed of a nervous force sufficient to supply the other lack. She may be described as a modest, generous, unostentatious woman; having the mental and physical welfare of her family in mind, and given to hospitality. Her children are two sons, born at Brookfield, Vt., viz.:

3052. 1. Irving Newton Abbott, b. May 13, 1861. While attending the Vermont State Normal School at Randolph Center, his health failed on account of too close confinement and he was obliged to discontinue his studies. He returned home and took charge of his father's farm.

3053. 2. Winthrop Porter Abbott, b. July 15, 1868. In 1880 he was taking a four years' preparatory course at the West Randolph School, with the expectation of taking the full college course.

He married Aug. 5, 1879, Emma J. Fullam, daughter of Levi N. and Julia Ann (Edson) Fullam, born Nov. 13, 1842. Their children are:

3057. 3. Flora C. Raymore, b. April 11, 1874.

2947. Abel Densmore Newton (Edward5, Paul4, Nathan3, Jonathan2, Moses1, Richard1), son of Edward and Esther (Montague) Newton of Southborough, Leverett, Sunderland, Mass., and Brookfield, Vt., was born at North Leverett, September 2, 1806, and died at DePeere, Wis., January 7, 1889, aged 82 years, 3 months.

He married at Ashfield, Mass., April 29, 1854, the Rev. Mason Grosvenor officiating, Betsy Leonard, daughter of Ziba and Chloe (Shaw) Leonard of Bridgewater, Buckland and Ashfield, Mass. She was born at Ashfield, Mass., December 6, 1859, and died at DePeere, Wis., May 11, 1900, aged 90 years, 5 months.

After the death of his mother in 1819, Mr. Newton went to live with his grandfather, Paul Newton, in North Leverett, where he remained about two years. When he was fifteen years old (in 1821) he was apprenticed to Mr. Chauncey Swan of "Bloody Brook" in Deerfield, Mass., a blacksmith, to learn the trade, where he remained until he was twenty-one years of age. During this time he devoted his spare time to study with Mr. Channing Thayer of Hadley (whose wife was his mother's sister, and in whose family his own sister, Esther, lived). His apprenticeship ended, he worked four years as a journeyman blacksmith for Capt. Thomas White of Ashfield, Mass. During this period he was converted and joined the Congregational Church at Ashfield. The records of that church show the following: "Abel D. Newton united with the church September 7, 1827, and was baptized the same day." (It will be remembered that he was brought up in Baptist families, thus was not baptized when a child.)

Mr. Newton was drawn to the Missionary work, and being of a philanthropic nature, he put aside any prospect of worldly success, passed a year in study at Ipswich (Mass.) Academy preparing himself for the missionary work that he proposed. August 9, 1830, he made application to the American Board of Foreign Missions at Boston, Mr. David Green, Secretary, for an appointment to labor among the Indians. His application and testimonials were received August 12, 1836, read and the committee voted to appoint him an assistant missionary to labor at Mackinaw, Mich., where, he says, “I taught the boys; sometimes of their books, sometimes how to live, and sometimes of my trade.”

The Board gave no compensation to any of its missionaries, except that their traveling expenses were paid and they lived in the mission family. He was directed to be in Rochester, N. Y., by the 15th of October 1836, when “It is expected that Mr. and Mrs. Loomis, formerly connected with the Sandwich Island Missions, and Miss Persis Skinner of Brooklyn, L. I. will accompany.” It does not seem unifying that I here quote from his letter of instructions: “The school there is the principal means of doing good to the Indians, and therefore all the departments of labor, and all the individuals employed in them, are to have special reference to the improvement of the scholars in knowledge and character, and the formation of industrious and good social habits; never losing sight of the great end of all, which is, with the Divine blessing, to give the Gospel entire control over their hearts and conduct.

“Your principal labor you may expect will be in the shop. When the boys are out of school morning and evening, your aid may be needed, to considerable extent, in directing their labors. When Mr. Heydenburk, who now has the principal care of the boys, is unwell or otherwise occupied so as to be unable to be with the boys, they may be under your charge for a few days. So, when any labor of special importance is to be performed, and the boys are kept from school for a few days to do it, your aid may be necessary in helping to superintend them. The Committee are specially desirous of relieving Mr. Ferry from the burden of care which is upon him, and by which his health has been much impaired. They will wish you, therefore, to contribute to this as much as you can by bearing such a portion of the care and responsibility of the secular affairs, as shall be mutually agreed upon by you and the other members of the Mission family.”

After an absence of nearly three years, in consequence of failing health from overwork and need of a change of climate, on July 13, 1833, Mr. Newton was released from further obligations to the Board and returned to Massachusetts.

Soon regaining his health, and wishing again to enter the Chippewa country, he accepted a proposal of the American Fur Company to work as blacksmith at their post at La Pointe, Lake Superior (where a mission had been established), with the understanding that he could give as much of his time to missionary work as he saw fit from time to time. Mr. Green writing him of this course: “You may probably be nearly as useful to the Mission as if directly connected with it, and at the same time have more influence over all classes of persons engaged in the Fur trade and perhaps over the Indians, too, by being associated with Mr. Warren.” Mr. Lyman Warren was one of the resident members of the Fur Company, Dr. Borup their physician and Rev. William Montague Ferry for many years in charge of the Mission.

For three weeks after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Newton visited among their friends—farewell visits, for they never again saw their native State, and then began what was “their wedding journey,” going by carriage to Troy, N. Y., thence by the Erie canal-boat to Buffalo, from there by steamboat to Detroit, where they arrived May 25, 1834. On the 27th they took a sloop—schooner—to Mackinaw, arriving May 30. After a three weeks’ stay at the Mission waiting for the traders to get ready to go on, they left Mackinaw in rowboats—thirteen boats belonging to the Fur Company laden with merchandize. Besides themselves there were Mr. Warren, Dr. Borup and wife and a young woman, Josette Pyant. Some of the voyagers were accompanied by their squaw wives and children. In letters written by both Mr. and Mrs. Newton to their friends in the East we have a very pleasant and detailed account of this trip, and the manner of travel in those early times. They traveled by day and camped on the shore in tents by night. While the portage was being made at Sault Ste. Marie, the passengers were made welcome at the Baptist Mission there, Mr. Brigham superintendent. Going on from there they skirted the southern shore of Lake Superior and arrived at La Pointe, August 23, 1834—twenty-eight days out from Mackinaw. While with the Fur Company, Mr. Newton's shop work consisted in making articles for the Indian trade, such as steel traps of all kinds, knives, axes, shovels, tomahawks, etc. Edged tools were a specialty with him, but he did something at about everything that iron or steel is used for, from repairing watches to making the irons for sailing vessels. He was able to obtain and keep the confidence of the Indians in a marked degree. In any disagreement between them and the factors of the Fur Company they must know what "Noden" thought was right and were always willing to abide by his decision. Mr. Newton was quick in his movements, especially so when walking. The Indians noticing this peculiarity gave him the name of "Noden," meaning in their language, the wind. He became proficient in the French and Indian languages as there spoken, and retained a memory of them in after years.

Mr. Newton was engaged to the Fur Company until July, 1840, but by 1837 the too constant heat from the fire of the forge began to affect his health, and especially the eyes, and he was fearful he might have to leave the trade altogether; but he was able to fill his contract—the last work on which was done at Sault Ste. Marie, where he made the irons for a sailing vessel, 1829.

After leaving the Fur Company he had intended to settle upon Grand River, Mich., and did land at Grand Haven with his family and goods. They left there within six weeks—the whole family having been attacked with ague, and came to Green Bay, Wis., arriving October 29, 1839—the ague still with them and would not be shaken off all the following winter.

In Green Bay he was for a year in charge of the blacksmith shop of Mr. Daniel Whitney. In 1841 he set up a shop for himself on Adams Street near the southeast corner of Stuart Street and built a house on Jefferson Street, where the family lived until 1854, when he removed to DePere, Wis., five miles south from Green Bay, in which town he resided the remainder of his life. The house he built at Green Bay is still (1913) occupied as a residence, in good repair.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton brought letters from the Church at La Pointe to the then Presbyterian Church at Green Bay, and during their residence there were active in its interests—Mrs. Newton having become a member of the Congregational Church at Buckland, Mass., at the age of seventeen. Both were members of the church choir. Mr. Newton playing in accompaniment the violoncello, Mrs. Newton in vocal music. Mr. Newton was one of the trustees of the church; was frequently appointed on the Grand Jury; and on school committees. In politics he was a Whig, and later a Republican, voting being the only active part he gave to it, except some activity in the "underground railroad" to procure freedom to a slave, occasionally—which was against the law.

In 1849 he purchased an unimproved tract of 120 acres of land, three and one-half miles east of the village (now city of 5,000 inhabitants) of DePere, for a farm. In 1850 he bought four lots in DePere village, where he built a house and a shop, and where the family resided until 1861, when he moved to the farm—where he also had a shop—where he died.

In person Mr. Newton was tall, of large frame, quite thin in flesh always, until three or four of his last years, when he became more fleshy; fair hair and complexion, blue eyes. Like his grandfather, uncles, brothers and several of his cousins, he became bald when quite young, retaining only a light fringe of hair at the back of the head. His manner and appearance is best described in the words of a friend: "a gentle old man." In characteristics, he was of a religious nature, firm in the essentials of the orthodox faith, but not bound by mere tradition. He ever sustained the reputation of being an honorable, upright, industrious man—a good citizen. He had a quick, practical judgment; ability to gain knowledge, good memory of events and experiences which rendered his life interesting.

His illness, lasting for years, was from a dropsical affection of the heart. His position as ruling elder of the Presbyterian Church of DePere from 1862, continued till, from failing health, he was excused from active work; but his Christian interest never departed from his heart; it never ceased its warm throbings, and age did not weaken till death quenched it, and his calm, well-balanced Christian character was helpful to all who came in contact with him.

His first and second children were born at La Pointe. All of the others were born at Green Bay, Wis.

Mrs. Newton was one of those bright minds of whom there is so much that might be said that it is difficult to judge how much to leave out. Rev. Baxter Newton wrote of her to his friends: "Cousin Abel's wife was a very remarkable specimen of a well-preserved, independent, clear-minded, old lady, with an old-fashioned faith in the Bible, untinged with any modern notions about these things." Mrs. Newton was an "up-to-date" person every day of her life. She had herself well in hand. She read a great deal and was able to form her own opinions, as she kept in touch with the outer world and a knowledge of its progress. The exercise of her mental powers was continued in a remarkable degree to the last and her recollections of past events were fresh and accurate. Her sense of humor was delightful. Her ability to discriminate was wonderful. Her intuitions were almost as though she had already heard the evidence. The last years of her life were years of cheerful, contented, quiet waiting. She had brought up her children to respect and love her, and now she trusted them with a perfect trust. She was in every way a charming personality.

Mrs. Newton very much enjoyed her membership in the Society of the D. A. R. She was admitted January 25, 1896, her eligibility coming through the services of her father, Ziba Leonard, and of her mother's father, Sergeant Isaac Shaw, minute-men of the Revolution. Being a living "Real Daughter," her membership was sought by several chapters—even those so far away as Connecticut and New York. Not Sorority girl ever enjoyed being "rushed," more than she did the contest for her favor. She finally joined the Chapter at Milwaukee, Wis., then the only one in the state, and received from the National Society the engraved gold spoon by them bestowed on "Real Daughters." Her National number is 11,824. Her daughter, Ermina E., was admitted to membership May 9, 1894, a life member, No. 5,212; her eligibility, in addition to the soldiers above, coming through her father's ancestors Paul Newton, Daniel and Medad Montague (father and son) and Captain Abel Densmore. Also, Mrs. Newton's granddaughter, Mrs. Eola Lindsay, is a member of the Plymouth (Wis.) Chapter, No. 67,372.

Mr. Newton, in making his will (on record at Green Bay, Wis.), left his property in the form of a trust deed, for the benefit of his wife, to the extent of using the whole of it if necessary, making his son, James K., and his daughter, Ermina E., trustees; or the survivor of them, sole trustee. It is a satisfaction to record that his widow was perfectly satisfied with the performance of the trust.

*William Dickinson was born in Middlebury, Vt., and came early to Wisconsin, where he took up land and was many years engaged in the manufacture of lumber. He owned one of the "Private Chums" on the Fox river, beginning in what is now the south part of the city, shunting on the river and reaching eastward two and one-half miles. The whole tract has now passed out of the family. From having been a General in the Militia in the East, he was usually called "Gen. Dickinson." He was a man of generous impulses, of business capacity, and was much respected in the community. The following copy of an old receipt written in a testing manner by him I give entire. It shows the early date of his being in this state. The receipt was found in Feb., 1821, by Mrs. W. R. Semper, among the papers left by her grandmother, the late Alex. Clermont, who carried the mail on foot from Green Bay to Chicago in 1819. The receipt reads as follows:

"Received of his Majesty, Mr. René and Renéau, the sum of Ten Dollars in full payment of a Gun sent him in the winter of 1821 which was not returned, to my great disappointment andWonder."

Wm. Dickinson.

combination many rare qualities: frank, courteous, genial, abounding in good humor, generous, noble in character, a well-balanced mind, of good bow and accuracy, he possessed most happy temper, which endeared him to their friends and associates. The beautiful "Leslie

Howard Beekens, b. Aug. 29, 1810; d. at De Pere, Wis. November 21, 1867; consumption and chronic diarrhoea. He was educated in the schools at Green Bay and De Pere, Wis., and assisted his father in preparing the farm for cultivation, with other side-work until the Civil War came on.
He enlisted Sept. 29, 1861, private in Company G, 1st regiment, Wisconsin Cavalry, volunteers, and went into camp at Rhon, Wis.,—in the college buildings. In Nov., 1861, he was elected to be first corporal of Company G. The camp was moved soon after to Kenosha, Wis., and mustered into the United States service. About this time he was offered a commission as 2d lieutenant in the 13th Wis. Inf., but refused, as he preferred the cavalry service. The complete organization of the Wis. 1st Cavalry was affected in Feb., 1862. Col. Edward Daniels, Lieut.-Col. LaGrange (a popular officer who later became colonel of the regiment) were elected captain, and Lieut. Stephen V. Shipman, 2d Lieut. Joseph E. Mosher, and Edward Newton was made
2d sergeant—that is, quartermaster sergeant. In March, 1862, the regiment went to Benton Barracks, at St. Louis, Mo., were mounted and drilled. There was also an evening school for the non-commissioned officers in army tactics. As 2d sergeant, Mr. Newton had to keep the company books, and was responsible for everything issued to the company.
From St. Louis they went, April 27, 1862, to Cape Girardeau, Mo.; later at Bloomfield, Mo., and then to Madison, Ark.; after which he was at Helena, Ark., sick, the effect of bad water, exposure and hard work, in Sept., 1862. Some of his experiences, as given in his letters, show with what fortitude he bore the terrible experiences of war. Dec. 3, 1862, he was taken with typhoid fever and with many others in like case sent to the "Sisters Hospital" at St. Louis, where he was compelled to remain until Feb., 1863. After that he was with the company and in the hospital alternately, and he simply hated to stay in the hospital. He was of heavy build when he enlisted, and the horses furnished were not equal to his weight, so he owned his own horse and the government paid him for the use of it, and its equipments. He sold the whole after the illness reduced him so. In April, 1863, he was again at Cape Girardeau, Mo., and the following May, with the regiment, had been assigned to the cavalry corps of the Army of the Cumberland, General Rosser's commanding, and arrived at Nashville, Tenn. He took part in the general movement of the army in the battle of Chickamauga, Sept. 19 and 20; and at the battle of Chattanooga, Nov. 23-25—his company being on the reserve, stationed on a height where they had a fine view of the Union charge through the clouds of the mountain. In December he was again in hospital at Bridgeport, Ala., and was sent back to Nashville, Tenn.
In writing about it he says: "I was at Chickamauga . . . at Chattanooga at that battle . . . have had some pretty gay times this summer, and some awful hard. I stood it far better than I expected for I have not been tough since that run of fever last winter . . . I am reduced to a skelton. Am able to sit up most of the time now." In March, 1864, he was given a furlough of thirty days and came home, where he had a severe return of the fever and his furlough was extended. During this time he was appointed a recruiting officer at De Pere, and served as such.
June 20, 1864, he returned to the army at St. Louis, Mo. His regiment was at Atlanta, Ga., but they would not send him there on account of his health and that his time had so nearly expired. He was sent to Louisville, Ky., where he, with others in the same conditions, was kept to do the duty of guarding rebel prisoners; patrol the city; guarding new reruits to the front and old soldiers whose time had expired, to the rear; and of this squad of eighty men Mr. Newton was placed in command. Oct. 10, 1864, he states, "I was very busy all last week, but this week I have all the company on duty in the city . . . except to make out my reports and account for all these men three times a day. It is more work than when a company is in the field. . . . I am expecting one hundred more men in my company to-day and then I shall have my hands full for a few days. There is one company that has over four hundred men—no two men from the same company and regiment; that's what makes the work. . . . Last week I led considerable at the guns, but that I very soon stopped." He continued at Louisville, Ky., until his time was out and he was discharged "by reason of expiration of service," Oct. 31, 1864., dated at Calhoun, Ga. Returning to his father's house he was spared to his friends for nearly a year.

In person Edward Newton was five feet, nine inches, a well-developed form, weight when he enlisted 190 lbs., which became 202 lbs, in April, 1862, without coat or jacket; fair complexion, brown eyes, light brown hair, black whiskers. He had great physical strength—there was only one other in his regiment 1200 men who was his equal in lifting. His fine intellectual face would attract attention anywhere. In conversation he was modest and retiring, yet impressed one with the idea that he had given thought to the subjects on which he spoke. Without effort on his part he made friends, and was liked and trusted. Many times the army boys would bring him their money to keep for them, they not being able to trust themselves with it. What seemed the promise of a man for good work in the world, was made void, when his life went out at the age of 25 years.

She was educated in the schools of DePere and Eau Claire, Wis., and a short term of study at Ripon (Wis.) College; teacher in the public schools at DePere and Fort Howard (now Green Bay), during the years 1862-1872 inclusive; with many interruptions and intervals has been engaged in compiling and arranging the "Newton Genealogy" since 1885 to the present time.

Walscott officiating, Isaac Sheldon Clifford (2d wife), son of Isaac B. and Betsey (Morrill) Clifford of Waterville, Maine, where he was born March 19, 1841. Mr. Clifford fitted for college at Waterville Academy (now "Colburn Classical Institute"), and entered Waterville College in 1868; but on account of ill health did not graduate. He enlisted as a soldier in the Civil War, private in the 21st regiment, Maine infantry, in 1864, and served through the war. After the war he engaged as superintendent of one of the receiving departments of the Bay View Country and Rolling Mill at South Milwaukee, Wis., for about twelve years, when he removed with his family to Mansfield, Minn., where he engaged in farming until 1900, when he again removed, thinking to try a warmer climate, and settled on a fruit farm at Springfield, Washington County, Ark., where they now reside. He is Republican in politics; Universalist. They had three children:

He married at Hadley, Rev. George Cook officiating, February 10, 1841, Lucinda Smith, daughter of Josiah L. and Cynthia (Bixby) Smith. She was born at Lynn, N. H. May 12, 1817, and was living in 1888. She married twice after the death of Mr. Newton, and had another son. Her third husband was Lewis W. Cleveland of Skaneateles, N. Y., where they were living in 1888.

Mr. Newton was nearly three years old when his mother died. He was brought up in the home of his uncle, Hon. Walter Newton of Hadley, Mass., where he continued to reside until about the time of his marriage. Bearing the same name as his uncle, he signed his letters "Walter Newton, 2d."

After his marriage in 1841 he was living on Middle Street, Hadley, and about that time he purchased a small place one mile south of his uncle Walter's farm, "onto which," he writes, "we expect to move October 1, 1842." His occupation was that of broomtier; although his last work was in the wire mill. "He was a man of noble character, of strong faith, of exemplary life, a kind husband and a loving father." Like so many of his family, he too was a victim of that dire disease, consumption. He speaks as early as 1842 as being fearful it had began its work. In those days people did not regard consumption contagious, and took no precaution against it, or measures for its cure, thinking it incurable.

Rev. Baxter Newton writes of him: "I visited your brother Walter in his last long sickness, and was happy to see his strong faith in Christ as his Saviour, and his composure in view of approaching death."

His children were born at North Hadley.

CHILDREN.

He married at Hadley, Mass., May 16, 1837, Sarah Clark, daughter of Nathan and Philena (Walker) Clark of Amherst, Mass. She was born January 11, 1812, at Amherst, and died at Sunderland, March 15, 1888. Although not legally adopted, she was from a young child brought up in, and treated as a member of, the family of the Hon. Walter Newton of Hadley (uncle of Lyman Albee Newton). "They called her their child." Five children.

1. Sarah Elizabeth, b. Dec. 5, 1842; d. April 9, 1843.
2. Mary, b. Aug. 29, 1843; m. Maria L. Clark.
"Lyman Newton resembles his father, both in mind and feature, and with whom he always lived—and took care of in his old age." He removed with his parents in 1817 from Marlborough, N. H., to Hadley and thence to Hawley, Mass. He worked with his father in the blacksmith's business, thus learning the trade. In 1842 he was living with his father in Hawley. Mrs. Eliza Monson, when he did much teaming to and from Greenfield. So trusted was he by the merchants that they sent by him to do their banking in Greenfield. This kind of lending made him more apprehensive of danger than all his loads of hides and leather; but he was never waylaid. About 1854 he bought a farm—small, but good crops, in "Sunderland Meadows, first Division," where he resided the remainder of his life. His parents moved with him from Hawley to Sunderland, they now living with him and his wife. All four went to their long home in Sunderland.

"Mr. Newton was naturally a quiet man, simple in his habits and manners, universally respected among his acquaintances, fond of the society of young people and enjoyed visiting, and having company. At eighty years of age he was quite deaf and almost blind. His wife, who was remarkably smart and bright for one of her years, was a great help and comfort to him always, but especially so at this time of silence and darkness; her death (from pneumonia) touched him keenly." Both had been members of the Congregational Church for many years. His letters to his friends are full of his faith in the promises of the Christ. In politics, he was Republican. He divided his farm in his lifetime between his grandchildren and their father. William N. Wiley, whose widow (2d wif.) sold her share back to the grandchildren—the family of his daughter always living with him.

Mr. Newton seemed well as usual during the winter 1889; but as spring opened, began to fail rapidly and died in May. The funeral was conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Butler, and was attended by many friends and relatives from neighboring towns.

I myself have a personal feeling for "Cousin Lyman," for he wrote me several letters, and was enthusiastic about this our "Newton Record." The last one is very pathetic. After trying to write the date—all over the page—the only other words are: "I can't see." He sent to me, as something he had treasured all these years, a piece of Continental money, with date October 16, 1778, issued by the State of Massachusetts, and good till October 18, 1784—"by act of said state." No. 3,007. Three Shillings. On one side is the picture of the "Pine tree," on the other at the top in a circle is the "great, grizzly cooed fish," we have all heard about and many have seen. The signatures are well worn. This was one of four pieces of Continental Money which Paul Newton2 saved from his pay as a soldier of the Revolution. He gave one each to his four sons. This piece was the one given to his son Paul, Jr., who gave it to his son, Lyman, and he to me [E. N. L.]. Thus it has been in possession of the family all these intervening years. I have placed it between glass, that it may be fully examined and still be free from wear.

CHILDREN.

3631. ii. Julia Elizabeth, b. Sept. 9, 1847; d. at Sunderland, Jan. 30, 1879. She married at Sunderland, Jan. 5, 1869, William N. Wiley, son of Ephraim and Adaline M. (Hall) Wiley of Sunderland, where he was born Feb. 21, 1840, and where he died ———, 1866. Republican; member of the Congregational Church. Mrs. Wiley, with her family, always lived with her parents, Mr. Wiley having charge of the farm work. They had two children. He married (2) Julia Sheldon of Leverett, by whom he had other children. The family continued to reside with Lyman Albee Newton, he making a division of the property so that no one should be defrauded. After the death of Mr. Wiley, his widow sold his share back to the grandchildren of Lyman A. Newton. [Mrs. Julia Wiley, widow; resides 1909, in Sunderland.] These children were:
1. Harriet Phoebe Wiley, b. Oct. 14, 1839; m. ———, 1859. ——— Sandusky of Lexington, Ky., and Dallas, Texas, a traveling man. They removed to Texas in 1801, where they continue to reside. Address, No. 223 Holmes St., Dallas, Texas. They have no children.

He married at North Leverett, in the Baptist Church, the Rev. Erastus Andrews officiating, July 28, 1844, Susan Maria Boutwell, daughter of Deacon Calvin S. and Sarah (Pierce) Boutwell of Montague. She was born at Sunderland, April 20, 1848, and died at North Leverett, June 24, 1850, aged 32. Three children.

He married (2) at Southborough (at Fayville, a village in Southborough where her father was pastor), Rev. Moses Curtis, Jr., officiating, March 25, 1852, Mary Louise Curtis, daughter of Rev. Moses, Jr., and Mary A. (Pottier) Curtis of Fayville. She was born at Providence, R. I., January 2, 1827, and died at Montague, April 29, 1910, aged 83. Mrs. Newton was always an efficient helper in all of his husband's work as a pastor. Her sunny disposition brought cheer to many a discouraged one. She was a loyal Baptist all her life. One child.

Mr. Newton writes thus of his education: "What little I had was picked up here and there—most of it at the Seminary at Cazenovia. I studied some in the High School at New Woodstock and some in Leroy, Genesee County, N. Y., where I was engaged in teaching for one year. Perhaps my attainments would have been equal to what is, or was, required to enter college. . . . I had neither means nor health to endure close and continued study." He was led into the ministry by such easy and gradual steps and unexpected openings, that he could not refuse to follow what seemed the plain call of Providence. In 1842 he visited his Aunt Lovina Montague at Bernardston, Mass., where he formed a pleasant acquaintance with Rev. Elijah Montague, her father-in-law, who for twenty-eight years was the minister at North Leverett. To his astonishment the next spring (of 1843) there came a call for him to visit that church. He did so and the visit resulted in his being ordained pastor there in September, 1843, a settlement that lasted twelve years. A severe run of typhoid fever in 1855 compelled his resignation and retirement from the ministry for a year or two. At the earnest request of his parents he returned to Cazenovia, lived with them and took care of them as long as they lived. He remained in Cazenovia between fifteen and sixteen years; during this time, as he was able, and at different times, he supplied the church at Delphi, N. Y., distant four miles from his home—nine consecutive years, and ten or twelve years in all. He also supplied the church in Cazenovia village, helping them to make large repairs on their house of worship.

In 1869 he sold the farm at Cazenovia and removed to Memphis, Oneida County, N. Y., acting as pastor there for two and one-half years. In the spring of 1873, just thirty years from the time of his first settlement, he received a call to return to the church at North Leverett; which he accepted and where he became pastor for another term of twelve years.

In 1885 he resigned this charge and retired to the farm he had purchased in the western part of Montague, one and one-half miles from the village, where he and his wife lived the remainder of their lives, their son Clarence and family living in another part of the house and carrying on the farm. During these last years. Mr. Newton did not wholly give up his work, but preached to a small church in the north of the adjoining town of Sunderland. Of the church at North Leverett, a newspaper article makes the following statement: “The greatest prosperity of the church was reached in 1843, early in the first pastorate of Rev. Baxter Newton, when the number of members was 214.”

Mr. Newton was never accounted a ragged man physically, but by husbanding his strength and living a temperate life, was able to do an average amount of work. In February, 1875, he fell on the ice and broke his hip—from which he recovered sufficiently to walk about quite well, although a little lame. In person Mr. Newton was tall, of large frame, spare of flesh, fair of face, with a quiet manner that was at once pleasing, observant and appreciative.

His widow placed a memorial window in the Baptist Chapel at Montague.

Mr. Newton’s children were born, the eldest in Montague, the twins in Leverett, and the youngest in Cazenovia, N. Y.

2967. DEACON CHRISTOPHER NEWTON (Stephen, Paul, Nathan, Jonathan, Moses, Richard), son of Stephen and Achsah (Smith) Newton of Southborough, Mass., and Cazenovia, N. Y., was born at Cazenovia, N. Y., March 30, 1813, and died and died January 10, 1863.

He married, March 11, 1840, Mary Chandler, adopted daughter of Luke May of Cazenovia, N. Y., where she was born, July 6, 1820. She died there December 12, 1889.

Mr. Newton was a carpenter. He served a regular apprenticeship at the trade and for many years led the trade in his town. He resided in Cazenovia, N. Y., where his children were born. He joined the Baptist Church when about fourteen years of age and continued his membership through his life. He was elected deacon for many years, and served in that capacity until excused through weight of years from active service therein. He was educated in the public schools; republican in politics. “Christopher was the still one of the family, making no unnecessary talk, and yet a man of good mind,” says his brother.

Mass., and Cazenovia, N. Y., was born at Cazenovia, N. Y., December 2, 1820, and died there December 31, 1902, aged 82.

He married at Cazenovia, N. Y., September 25, 1844, Lydia Bartlett Kellogg, daughter of Otis and Mary (Watrous) Kellogg* of Colchester, Conn., and Cazenovia, N. Y. She was born at Colchester, Conn., April 18, 1824, and died at Cazenovia, May 5, 1905—Tuesday at 4 P.M.

Mr. Newton was a successful farmer in Cazenovia, N. Y. His farm of 230 acres lies about one mile from his father's homestead. He made dairying a specialty; was owner of a creamery and cheese factory, having the milk from 230 cows. Mr. Newton was a man of good judgment in any matter with which he was acquainted. He was one to whom the neighbors come for help and sympathy when trouble or difficulty overtakes them. He has been called to settle two difficult estates; which he did to the satisfaction of all concerned. In September, 1886, he was engaged as executor in a will case, the will disposing of $85,000, having ten lawyers—some of the best talent in the state—against him, and won his case.

Of the politics of himself and his brother Lewis, he writes: "I am proud to say we hold no office; we have always been on the off-side party; have for the last thirty years (1856-1886) been firmly attached to the Democratic party, which has always been in the minority in this town; but has grown from seventeen voters, when I first joined it, to 519 at the last election. The only offices I have ever held were Commissioner of Highways for three years, and Excise Commissioner for eight years; which last I resigned on account of ill health and private business."

Mr. Newton became quite stout and fleshy as he grew older, and was much afflicted with rheumatism; but was able to get about in a carriage and attend to business.

Mrs. Newton was a pleasant lady with a bright mind. She writes me of her grandmother's wedding shoes—as described below. She was a member of the Stephen Newton, Jr.; Caroline Parsons, 1826; John Milton, 1829, soldier in Civil War; Mary Elizabeth, 1831; Charles Darwin, 1833.

Mrs. Lydia Bartlett (Kellogg) Newton writes: "My grandmother, Lydia Bartlett (after whom I was named), was married to Capt. Abner Otis Kellogg in the year 1768, and her wedding shoes are now (1880) in existence. My sister Caroline has one of them and a copy in New York City the other. They are a curious specimen of a shoe, indeed. They are made of white kid and blue satin and wooden heels covered with the kid. The toes of the shoe are as sharp as a whittled stick. The heels are very high and nearly in the middle of the foot. I do not see how she could step in them; but if it were the fashion, she must wear them, whether they were comfort in them or not." The mention of the shoes in the Kellogg Genealogy [Vol. 2, p. 173] gives them to Desire Otis (see above), mother of Lydia Bartlett.
Baptist Church; and as to Mr. Newton, he did not bind himself to any creed—was content to do God's will. Mr. and Mrs. Newton died in their home at Cazenovia. Burial in that town. Their son has succeeded to the estate and carries on the same business. He is the only one of the Newton family who occupies one of the adjoining three Newton homesteads of Stephen, Sr., Stephen, Jr., and Lewis Newton.

CHILDREN.

3704. i. MARY EMMA*, b. Oct. 17, 1855; m. June 12, 1877, Edgar A. Perkins, son of Elisha and Sarah (Jones) Perkins of Vernon, Oneida County, N. Y. He was born May 12, 1856. His sister married Charles M. Newton, cousin. Both Mr. and Mrs. Perkins were graduates of Cazenovia Seminary. They owned a place in Vine Valley, Wayne County, N. Y., where they reside—farmer, fruit-grower; grapes and peaches is their principal crop.

3705. ii. WARREN KELLOGG*, b. Feb. 17, 1857; educated at Cazenovia Seminary; unm. (1906) resides on the homestead of his father; a professional cheese maker, engaged in a large factory in Cazenovia in 1886; also engaged in buying and selling butter and cheese for the New York City market.

2970. LEWIS NEWTON* (Stephen*, Pan1*, Nathan1*, Jonathan1*, Moses2, Richard1), son of Stephen and Achsa (Smith) Newton of Southborough, Mass., and Cazenovia, N. Y., was born at Cazenovia, N. Y., September 23, 1825, and died there.

He married, November 28, 1849, Emily Bradley, daughter of Jonathan and Anna (Sabins) Bradley* of Nelson, Madison County, N. Y., where she was born October 29, 1829—which was two months after the death of her father. She died at Cazenovia, N. Y.

Mr. Newton received his education in the public schools, and became a farmer. He purchased a hundred acres of land adjoining the farm of his father, and made dairying his specialty, and was successful in putting himself in good circumstances financially. He was a Democrat in politics; and "like his brother Stephen, making profession of no creed in religion, was an esteemed, honorable, upright man." "He was quite social among his acquaintances, and loved to have his friends call upon him." In his last years he was afflicted with what seemed a premonition of paralysis of the lower limbs. After his death his farm was sold out of the family. In 1906 Mrs. Newton was living with her daughter, Mrs. Rumsey, at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mr. Newton had four daughters—and no son.

CHILDREN.

She married at Grand Rapids, Mich., April 14, 1883, William J. Holmes, son of Seymour and Atlanta (Blynn) Holmes of Cazenovia, formerly of Orleans County, N. Y., born Oct. 29, 1860, died Sept. 11, 1885. No children. She married (2) a Mr. Rumsey. They were living in 1906 at No. 492 South born St., Grand Rapids, Mich.

* JONATHAN BRADLEY (not traced) of Nelson, Madison County, N. Y., who died Dec., 1829; m. ANNA SAVES, b. ———, at Danville, N. Ys. She was left a widow while young in experience, with five small children and not ample funds to provide for them; but while she had a hard time at first to get along, she was equal to the occasion, and a mother to be proud of. All of her children grew up virtuous and industrious, and were a great blessing to her in her old age. Her three sons went to California, where one became a State Senator and, in 1884, was tendered the Democratic nomination for Governor of the State, but died the same year—worth $400,000. The sons all died before 1890, having provided well for their mother's declining years.
3005. WILLIAM NEWTON,2 (Walter1, Paul1, Nathan1, Jonathan1, Moses1, Richard1), son of Walter and Sally (Clark) Newton of North Leverett and North Hadley, Mass., was born at North Leverett, January 8, 1811, and died at North Hadley, January 6, 1892. Renal colic and pneumonia.

He married at Oakham, Mass., March 31, 1835, Susan Harrington, daughter of Levi and Eliza (Weston) Harrington of Oakham. She was born at North Brookfield, Mass., April 3, 1815, and died at South Hadley, August 22, 1895. She was a member of the Congregational Church at Hadley.

Mr. Newton received his education in the schools of North Hadley, and became a farmer; succeeding to his father's farm and homestead at North Leverett, where he resided, where his children were born and where he died. He was a man of integrity and worth, whose name and word were received without question in business circles. Being himself square and upright in his dealings, he was not suspicious of others; his too complete trust in the rectitude of his fellowmen was the cause of his own financial undoing. Having become simply, or bondsman, for a friend he was left to meet payments that another should have paid. This coming to him at a time when added years were a burden, saddened somewhat his last years. In 1886 he was in good health, able to do light work, but not strong. He was thin in flesh, and became quite deaf. Mrs. Newton was a very active, bright person; many pleasant things are remembered of her. After Mr. Newton's death, the farm was sold—in March, 1893,—and Mrs. Newton and the daughters removed to South Hadley, where they bought a house, and where the mother died and the daughters reside.

He married, March 21, 1835, Lucinda Brown, born in Leverett, Mass., December 12, 1816; died in Montague, January 1, 1883.

Mr. Newton was brought up by his grandfather, Paul Newton, whose surname he bears; educated in the public schools of Leverett; learned the jeweler's trade—repairing clocks and watches being his main business through life. He inherited his mother's infirmity of near-sightedness, which was a great calamity to him. But he was always able to comfortably provide for his large family. He was an observing man, with a logical mind. Four of his sons served their time as soldiers in the War of the Rebellion, 1861-65.
That a family of twelve children should live until the youngest was 20 years old before a single death occurred, is an unusual occurrence. He resided in Montague, where his children were born.

DEATH OF MARTIN S. NEWTON, ESQ., OF ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Died at his residence in Rochester, N. Y., on Monday, Dec. 4, 1868, Martin S. Newton, Esq., formerly of this town, aged 53 years.

At a meeting of the Bar of Monroe County the following resolutions were reported and unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That in the death of our beloved and distinguished brother, Martin S. Newton, this Bar has sustained a loss the heart appreciates, but words fail to express.

"Resolved, That in the course of practice in the city of Rochester of upward of twenty years, our lamented brother was distinguished for devotion to the highest principles; for a zeal in behalf of justice and what he believed to be the right, which never worried, and which, with self-forgetful, martyr spirit, led to consuming personal sacrifices; for perseverance, industry and fidelity to every interest he espoused; for ripe legal scholarship and refined culture which won the love as well as the respect of his brethren of the Bar. In the intensity of his fervent zeal, he could esteem and respect an earnest and honorable adversary, and never sink the gentleman and the friend in the advocate. He was remarkably sincere and honest, just and honorable; and though a formidable adversary, omitting nothing that learning, skill, unquestionable forensic courage, and enthusiasm could achieve, he never forgot the kindliest charities of the heart. It may of a truth be affirmed of him, that the burning spirit devoured the frail body, and has sent him to the grave in the full vigor of intellectual strength, and in the maturity of undiminished mental power. In addition to these shining qualities he evinced in his life singular purity of sentiment, and as a crowning beauty, he was a Christian gentleman.

"Resolved, That in his death the community is deprived of an eminent and useful citizen, true to all the relations of citizen life.

"Resolved, That the members of this Bar—one and all—tender to the stricken household of our late Brother and associate our profound and heartfelt condolences on the occasion of a bereavement which, just now, is too recent and sacred for anything on our part other than the expression of sincere and loving sympathy."

Remarks were made by several members of the Bar, among which were the following by Josiah H. Biswell, Esq., a former student in Mr. Newton's office:

"Martin Snow Newton was born at Fitchburg, Mass., Feb. 13, 1815. His father, Martin Newton, was a manufacturer in that place, and gave his children all the advantages and education which could then be obtained. After a thorough preparation at the Academy in Fitchburg, and additional studies in Latin and Greek, under a tutor in an adjoining town, Mr. Newton, at the age of sixteen, entered Harvard College at the time when Josiah Quincy was President of that institution, and Joseph Story was at the head of the department of law. Destined by his father for the profession of the law, and anxious to prepare himself thoroughly for a successful career, his earnestness, ability and zeal soon placed him among the foremost scholars, and won for him a high position and reputation at the College.

"He graduated the third in rank in the Class of 1835. From that time forward he relied entirely on his own efforts and resources. Immediately after graduation, he taught school at Templeton, Mass., until he was able to save from his earnings sufficient to carry him through a course of legal study, pursuing in the meantime such studies as he deemed best adapted to prepare him for his chosen profession.

"From Templeton he went to the city of New York and commenced the study of law in the office of Judge Peter R. Manchester. Throughout the long course of apprenticeship at that time required before applying for admission at the Bar, he applied himself assiduously to his studies, working frequently twelve and fourteen hours a day, and mastering the old English forms and pleadings so tedious and severe.

"Long before he was admitted to the Bar he had conducted most of the office work, and drawn a large portion of the papers and pleadings both in common law and chancery practice, for an office which employed a number of clerks and ranked among the highest in the metropolis. Then it was that he became grounded in the science of special pleading, and so disciplined himself that near the close of his long practice he could say that he had never had a pleading which he had drawn broken in the courts.

"He afterwards studied in the office of Marvin & Maxwell, in New York City, lawyers well known at that time as among the eldest in the State. His examination and admission to the Bar was at the city of Albany.

"Soon after he was married, and removed to the village of Lima, where he opened an office and commenced the practice of the law. But with a mind so active, and an ambition so high, and finding after about three years experience that the place did not offer the opportunities which he desired, he removed to this city and formed a partnership with Orlando Hastings, which lasted until near the close of Mr. Hastings' long and successful life. His subsequent history, his character and career are too well known to require any comment or illustration here.

"In 1858 he was elected District Attorney for this County; a position which he filled for three years with ability, integrity and an increasing distinction.

NEWTON GENEALOGY
"Mr. Newton was twice married. His first wife was Elizabeth C. Sheldon of East Rupert, in the Green Mountains of Vermont. Two children of this marriage are now living, the third died about three years since. These children were at an early age left motherless by the death of Mrs. Newton in March 1852.

"In 1859 Mr. Newton again married. His wife, a daughter of the late James Chappell of this city, lived less than four years after their marriage, and dying, left one child, a daughter and a namesake.

"As a lawyer, Mr. Newton was careful, painstaking, and laborious. He made the interests of his clients wholly his own, seldom did they suffer at his hands. For the first year of his practice he confined himself mostly to office business and seldom appeared as a pleader in Court. But when he began to study criminal law he soon distinguished himself in that department, and afterwards proved himself both in civil and criminal cases a ready, powerful and successful advocate. His business and his reputation steadily increased until he ranked among the foremost practitioners in this section of the State, and gained for himself an enviable position at the Bar and in the community."

3196. LUMAS HEMINWAY NEWTON2 (Josiah1, Alvan1, Paul1, Josiah1, Moses1, Richard1), son of Josiah and Lydia (Ball) Newton of St. Albans, Vt., was born there July 3, 1812, and died at Pontiac, Mich., July 26, 1881. Burial and monument in Oak Hill Cemetery, Pontiac, Mich.

He married at Rochester, Oakland Co., Mich., April 28, 1850, by Rev. Mr. Hill, Sarah Ann Averill, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Fowler) Averill of Rochester, N. Y., where she was born September 15, 1827. She died October 26, 1898, at Pontiac, Mich. Burial there.

Mr. Newton was educated in the public schools of St. Albans, Vt., the St. Albans Academy and the Burlington College. Becoming of age, he spent a season on Lake Erie. At the age of twenty-two years he went to New Orleans, La., and shipped on a merchant vessel to the West Indies and thence to Liverpool, England. He seems to have liked the sea, and shipped from Liverpool to the East Indies and various South American ports, after which he returned to Massachusetts. In a short time he shipped again, from New Bedford, Mass., on a whaling expedition which took him into the south seas, around Cape Horn and to the Islands of the Pacific Ocean, which he visited, being absent two years. He made a second voyage which lasted four years. He had shipped in the first place as ship carpenter. He evidently made good use of his spare time to study navigation as well as to become familiar with the duties of a seaman, for at the last of his sailing we find him Captain of the ship Massachusetts.

In 1847 he accompanied a friend to Michigan and established the first flour mills at Lakeville, Thornville and Rochester. Being pleased with the prospects in Michigan he decided to settle there. Three years after his arrival he bought a section of land in Pontiac township and became a farmer. Being an excellent manager he was a successful one. A Republican in politics, he was one of the leaders for the Union during the Civil War. As a man he was moral and upright in every respect. He gave liberally to all charitable purposes, and was ever ready to help a friend in need. Socially he was pleasing and graceful in his manners and an agreeable companion. A man of refined tastes—a father much beloved. I have seen a picture of him. He had the head and face of a typical philanthropist.

The parents and grandparents of his wife were natives of Massachusetts. Her pedigree was not given to me.

"There were twelve children born to them," ten of whom became adults. The names of eleven were sent to me; also the names of fourteen grandchildren, with no dates of any kind.

His wife died in 1879, and his youngest son, Augustus B., marrying the following year, he made his home with them. In 1903 they moved to Evergreen, Ala., ten miles east of Belleville. The churchyard is in Belleville, and they considered the two towns to be equally their home towns. He was a merchant in Evergreen after the Civil War, going back and forth from his home to his business. He was living in 1907, aged nearly 88 years, and very feeble. Thus he would have been born about 1819.

Mr. Newton has resided during his married life in Greenwich, North Dana and New Salem, Mass. His home is yet in New Salem. Of his life and work Mr. Newton writes: "I wanted a blacksmith’s trade; my father would not suffer it. I told him that was the only trade I wanted; but he would not let me go while I was a minor, and said I had no ingenuity whatever, and kept me on the farm. When I was 21 I felt discouraged. I told them, then, that if I ever had any boys and they wanted a trade they should have it. I stopped around home a few years; got married; my wife had friends in Massachusetts and we moved to Greenwich, Mass., where I worked at farming five or six years—the last year doing some carpenter work. Hearing of a shop in North Dana, Mass., where they made piano legs, employing about fifty hands, I went there and worked on the job three years. The dust affected me so that I began to cough and the doctor said I must leave the shop. I left it for a year—went back for ten months, then left it and staid out. I then bought a stage line from North Dana to Barre, a distance of twelve miles. I ran this line between nine and ten years, carried the U. S. Mail, and did well in the business; bought a small farm and left the stage business. About a mile from me a creamery was started at Millington. I took the route of gathering cream three days in the week, which business I followed for ten years; retired from that and have lived on my place ever since, sometimes alone, sometimes I have a family with me. I hope I have enough to carry me through the remaining years of my life."

His P. O. address is North Dana, Mass.

Mr. Newton left his native state as a boy of fifteen in 1854, going to Alexander, Genesee County, X. Y., where his uncle resided, and where he remained eight years, giving time for the further educating of himself. In 1842 he went to Palmyra, Jefferson County, Wis., where he became a farmer. He returned to New York to be married in 1843 and bring home his wife. Their first four children were born at Palmyra. In 1855 the gold craze took many men from that neighborhood to California and among them went Mr. Newton. He returned in 1856, the family having remained on the farm during his absence. In 1857 he removed with his family to his farm at Sullivan, Jefferson County, Wis., where his last two children were born. He was a successful farmer. In 1857 he was elected sheriff for the county for the term of two years and served as such, taking up the work of farmer after the term of sheriff expired. He built a fine two-story brick farm-house in place of the log-house of earlier days, remaining on the farm until March 1, 1894, when he sold the place and removed to the village of Sullivan, Wis., where, with his wife and youngest daughter, he spent his last years.
In politics, Mr. Newton was a staunch and faithful Democrat. While not members of any church, the family attended the Methodist Episcopal Church at Rome, Wis., as opportunity offered.

Mrs. Newton was always a bright, active woman; diligent for the best interests in the bringing up of her family and to get a home, yet leading a quiet, peaceful life. Her daughter says of her in 1908: "She was ever as she is to-day, the beautiful mother"—now grand- and great-grandmother, much beloved. The married life together of Mr. and Mrs. Newton covered 68 years.

She was born at Brooklyn, Conn., September 18, 1833, baptized at the Congregational Church there, July 29, 1834, by the name of Frances Jane Scarborough Estabrook, which name was changed, after the death of her mother, to Frances Amsden. She was graduated from Oberlin College, Ohio; married (1) March 18, 1862, Henry Woodrow, a widower with one child, by whom she had a daughter, Mary Woodrow, who died aged about six months; and he died about 1864. She was a person of literary tastes, and a teacher in Cleveland, Ohio, at Ripon College, Wis., and at Berea College, Ky.; in the last instances as Principal of the Young Ladies Department. She was living in 1905. She bore him three children.

Mr. Newton received his early education in the schools at DePere, Wis., and while very young—about 15 years—taught a few terms in the public schools in the country thereabout. After the War for the Union he prepared himself for college and entered, as narrated below.

At the age of 18½ years, Mr. Newton became a soldier of the Civil War, serving four years. He enlisted at DePere, Wis., September 13, 1861, in Company F, 14th Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry, and went into camp at Fond du Lac, Wis.; guns and accoutrements were distributed January 3, 1862, and they were mustered into the United States service about February 1, 1862. Meanwhile James had been detailed to act as Company Clerk. Joseph G. Lawton was then Captain of Company F, and Col. Wood over the regiment. March 8, 1862, the regiment left Fond du Lac for St. Louis, Mo., and were camped in Benton Barracks until March 24, when they were moved up the Tennessee river with orders to report to General Grant at Savannah, Tenn., where they arrived March 28. The battle of Shiloh was fought April 5, 6, 7, and this regiment participated in it. I am sure whoever reads these lines would like also to read the detailed account given by James in his letters to his parents of his experience in this great battle; but space will not permit. That they were efficient soldiers I will quote from the "History of Wisconsin": "This regiment was one to rely upon in any emergency. Though suffering more than any other regiment in the command, they maintained their lines and delivered their fire with all the precision and coolness which could have been maintained upon drill. They steadily held the skirmishers on our right and front at the foot of the hill where we had so long and fierce a fight at Shiloh and lost 98 men." The cannon they captured there now stands in Madison, Wis., and was presented by them to the State Historical Society. July 25, they moved to Hamburg, and Aug. 29 were marched to near Corinth, Miss., and were assigned to 2d Brigade, Col. Oliver, Sixth Division, Brig.-Gen. McArthur. [After the Battle of Shiloh Capt. J. G. Lawton was permitted to resign and was succeeded by Lieut. Samuel Harrison. Col. David E. Wood was wounded in the battle and was succeeded by Col. John Hancek.] Sept. 1, 1862, the Company were sent to rout out a band of guerrillas at Kosmunth and Chewalla; and again, at Tula, September 22 after Gen. Price, where a battle occurred. "At the 2d battle of Corinth, Oct. 3rd and 4th, 1862, the regiment under Col. Hancek displayed signal bravery, and by its unflinching courage sustained the reputation it had acquired at Shiloh where they had earned the name: 'Wisconsin Regulars.'" [At this battle Capt. Harrison was wounded and later died, and was succeeded by Capt. Ward.] At Corinth James Newton and some of the others moved too far front in the battle and were cut off by the enemy—prisoners. His account of all this is thrilling. One would not think it was only a boy writing. Boy or man, it was real to him and he was able to describe it.

child was a son who died June, 1832; the other was Frances Jane Scarborough Estabrook, b. in Brooklyn, Conn., Sept. 18, 1853, whose name was changed to Frances Amsden after the death of her mother. She m. (1) Henry Woodrow; m. (2) James K. Newton. For further, see note to Nathan Brigham Newton (Hezekiah).
As a prisoner he was first paroled and later exchanged, during which time he came home. The exchanged men left Wisconsin January 1, 1863, went down to Millikins Bend, were at Lake Providence, La., and Carthage, mostly after Cotton; then to Vicksburg, Miss., when he participated in the unsuccessful charge in May 22. The Company suffered severely—Captain hurt by a fall, both Lieutenants wounded, every sergeant wounded and all but one corporal wounded; and James Newton, private, acting orderly sergeant. June 5, 1863, he writes: "The Capt. was taken sick yesterday and was sent to the hospital; he left me in command of the Company." He hoped to lead it into the city, but an officer was on hand for that honor.

July 18, 1863, they were at Natchez, Miss., where the regiment was detailed as provost guards and Newton was promoted to be 2d sergeant. He had for a long time been acting as 1st sergeant (Orderly), while his rank up till now was only private. After this, the regiment moved about much, which I omit. In December, 1863, he reenlisted ("for the war"; his first enlistment—"for three years"—had not yet expired) and was given a furlough of thirty days. He was now a "Veteran." Returning, the Veterans were assigned to the Division of Gen. Thomas K. Smith, and participated in the Red River Expedition under Gen. N. P. Banks—"a hard campaign." Newton says, of which he gives details. His position as Company Clerk gave him opportunities of writing, which he was glad to utilize, and tell of the many battles he had been in—"by the dozen" he says.

In May, 1864, the regiment had returned and took part in the Tupelo Expedition and battle there July 14. After that they were sent through Arkansas and Missouri, returning, after a hard march after Gen. Price, 340 miles to Memphis, Tenn. By this time he was having ague more or less, but kept with the regiment and did his part. As Company Clerk he did not have to stand guard, which saved him greatly. Another march of 290 miles, again after Gen. Price, and in better health, and when the enemy was defeated several times. November, 1864, the regiment returned to St. Louis, Mo., and thence proceeded to Nashville, Tenn., to reinforce Gen. Thomas, and was placed in the 16th Army Corps, Gen. A. J. Smith's Division, and on December 2, 1864, were again in line of battle against Gen. Hood; the battle occurring December 15. They followed the enemy to Pulaski, and so on to Eastport, Miss. During this time there had been a readjustment of the officers of the Company. John Ryan was made Captain; Charles Beattie 1st Lieutenant; Reuben Wheeler, who had for long time been 2d lieutenant, was not changed as his time was soon to expire, and James Newton, 1st Sergeant. The promotion, however, did not relieve him as Company Clerk. He had both duties to perform—"sometimes I have my hands full," he writes. From Eastport they were sent out several times to Corinth and Iuka, and back, routing Gen. Ross. At Eastport he had the pleasure of seeing his brother Samuel, "found him on the other side of the river [at Waterloo] . . . he was just eating his dinner, a plate full of mush with a piece of fried pork." February 8, 1865, they left Eastport, going by way of New Orleans to Mobile, Ala., where they were used to invest Spanish Fort, being constantly engaged as skirmishers and sharpshooters until its surrender April 8, after which they went to Montgomery, Ala. May 1, 1865, he writes: "I went down to the city yesterday and attended divine service in the Capitol, where four years ago Jeff. Davis delivered his inaugural address. The room was crowded, principally with soldiers, but I noticed a few citizens and several ladies. The sermon was preached by one of our Army Chaplains and was really very good. The text was, 'and they laughed him to scorn.'" July 27, 1865, he was mustered in as a commissioned officer, 2d Lieutenant, in place of Lieutenant Wheeler. In August he was appointed Special Commissioner for Administering the Amnesty Oath and stationed at Nixburg, Ala. (about forty miles north of Montgomery), and the regiment returned to Mobile. The war was over. He was discharged October 10, 1865, "by reason of services no longer required." . . . "I start for Montgomery in half an hour."

Returning to DePere in his 23d year, Mr. Newton thought to fit himself for a business career. He went to Ripon College, taking special studies. Later he entered the preparatory course from which he was graduated in 1867, and in September of that year entered, a Freshman, Oberlin College in Ohio, taking the regular course. Finding that he possessed an unusual aptitude for the acquiring of languages, he was advised to and decided upon making that his special line of work; the last year of his course to be spent wholly upon that, and in Europe. He sailed with his wife, December 1, 1870. The next two and one-half years were spent at Brunswick, Germany, Vevey and Lausanne, Switzerland and last, Berlin, Prussia.

While still in Europe he received an invitation to accept the work of Instructor of French and German at Oberlin College, upon his return. They returned in April, 1873, and he took up the work. In July, 1873, the College conferred upon him the degree of A.M. In August, 1875, a Professorship of Modern Languages was created in the college and Mr. Newton was appointed to fill the chair. His work at Oberlin was eminently successful. From formerly being considered as one of the fancy studies these are now rated among the essentials. Some of his lectures before the students he was invited to repeat in other places, and have printed, which he did. He was brought up to be a Christian, and while at Ripon, Wis., united with the Congregational Church. At Oberlin he was elected Deacon in the Second Congregational Church, which office he filled until March, 1888, when an increasing bronchial affection, brought on by overwork and the malarial climate, compelled his retirement from both the College work and church work in that vicinity. In August, 1888, he removed with his family to California, where he bought a small fruit acreage, which he planted, and otherwise engaged in the buying and selling of nursery stock, residing at Nordhoff, Calif., where he died—the bronchial trouble having become consumption. He received a United States pension.

Mr. Newton was tall—between two and three inches above six feet, and carried himself as soldiers must; brown eyes; light complexion, fair hair, black whiskers. This is a queer combination that is many times repeated in his line of Newtons.

3664. SAMUEL NEWTON* (Abel D., Edward3, Paul2, Nathan1, Jonathan1, Moses2, Richard1), son of Abel Densmore and Betsey (Leonard) Newton of North Leverett, and Ashfield, Mass., Mackinaw, La Pointe, Green Bay and DePere, Wis., was born at Green Bay, Wis., March 25, 1844, and died at DePere, Wis., July 10, 1903.

He married at DePere, Wis., April 14, 1876, by Rev. Edward P. Salmon of the Congregational Church, Julia Ann Gage, daughter of Richard and Mary Ann (Bradford) Gage* of Plymouth, DePere and Shawano, Wis. She was born in ———, Canada, April 23, 1852. Residence, DePere, Wis.

* Richard Gage was born April 14, 1823, in Canada. He was in the meat market business, and later a farmer at Shawano, Wis., and married again. He was son of Rev. Abel Gage of the Methodist Church. ANN BRADFORD, born in Vermont, daughter of Joseph Bradford.
Samuel Newton was educated in the public and private schools at DePere, Wis., and later worked with his father on the farm and in the blacksmith's shop. He became quite proficient in the latter trade, but not to the extent of his father's ability.

In 1864, when the draft for troops was most felt, Newton was twenty years of age. There were five called for from his district, and only three men left who were eligible from whom to take them. The others had enlisted in other towns for the bounties offered. Thus, whether he would or not, he had to become a soldier. He enlisted at Green Bay, August 24, 1864, in Company G, Lieut. J. H. Barnes, First Wisconsin Cavalry Volunteers, "to serve one year or during the war," and was sent to Madison, Wis., to await transportation to the regiment, which was then a part of the Army of the Cumberland under Rosecranz, soon to be superseded by Gen. Thomas. September 29, 1864, he arrived at Nashville, Tenn. From this time on Mr. Newton kept a diary of his experiences, which, together with his letters to his parents, gives us quite an idea of what a soldier's daily life may be. For use here I regret not to be able to give more than his itinerary, as I was obliged to do in the case of his brothers. October 5 he was mounted and immediately sent out on a raid against guerrillas and was gone about two weeks. This remnant of the regiment, with others in like case, left Nashville, October 21, 1864, expecting to join the full regiment at Chattanooga. They marched via Murfreesborough, Selbyville, Tallahoina, and crossed the Cumberland mountains October 25, arriving at Stephenson, Ala., October 26; going on from there they reached Chattanooga, October 29. But the regiment had gone to Calhoun, Ga., and they followed. Arriving to within one mile of Calhoun they met the regiment on its way back to Nashville as guard to the Brigade wagon train, 400 mule wagons on train, with orders for the recruits to return with them. They returned by another road, reaching Chattanooga, November 5. On the 8th they were camped at the foot of Lookout Mountain. "Then the election came off ... and I cast my first vote for 'Old Abe,'" he writes. Both of his brothers cast their first votes for Abraham Lincoln in this election.

Reaching McMinnville, November 13, they crossed the Cumberland mountains and were again at Murfreesborough, November 13, and Nashville, November 17. He writes from Louisville, "It has rained every day for three weeks." November 24, he states, "I weigh 175 lbs." November 30, "Have done my first regular mounted drill; got along very well considering." "Dec. 1. Have done nothing of any consequence except to shoe my horse, until tonight was ordered out on picket." December 4, the regiment went out from Louisville, Ky., again and drove the enemy from Bowling Green, Hopkinsville and Elizabethtown, Ky., when the campaign closed and they went into winter quarters at Waterloo, Ala., arriving there January 30, 1865, and remaining until March 10, 1865. Of this raid through Kentucky Mr. Newton gives a graphic account as to his part in the defeat of the rebel Gen. Hood's raid into Kentucky, and the rebel Gen. Lyon's rout at Hopkinsville. At Waterloo, Ala., Mr. Newton was able to exchange visits with his brother, James, of the 14th Wisconsin Infantry, who were in camp at Eastport, Miss., across the river. The river became so swollen that on March 1, the Cavalry moved camp across to Eastport, and on March 10, under command of Gen. James H. Wilson, began a series of marches, of driving the enemy before them, of capture and of destruction of rebel property, of skirmishes and hard fighting, the results of which were far-reaching and decisive and have become historic. Mr. Newton sums up his account of this raid in the words: "We overtook them before noon, however, and then it was charge after charge, day after day—which, I want you to understand is no easy work." They went by the way of Jasper, Iron Ridge, where they destroyed iron factories; Centerville, Edgefield, Selma, Montgomery, West Point, to Macon, Ga., where they arrived April 20, 1865. The enemy in front of them was the rebel Gen. Forrest, and Gen. Jackson's cavalry. The cities were all manufacturing centers, and they left them in ruins. The last active duty of the First Wisconsin Cavalry was its association with the capture of Jefferson Davis at Irwinville, May 10, 1865, after which they returned to their camp at Macon, Ga., and on May 13, marched northward, arriving at Edinburgh, Tenn. (opposite Nashville), where they were mustered out of service, July 19, 1865, and shortly afterward paid and disbanded.

The exposure and coarse food brought on a diarrhea of which Mr. Newton writes first when at Eastport, where the fare was "corn—ground up cobs and all," he says. On the march the soldiers lived off the country and recovered from the effects of camp-fare. At Macon he was sent to the hospital for six days. In the march northward he had a serious time of it, and was in the hospital at Chattanooga five days; then was sent by rail to Louisville, Ky., where he was put on a hospital boat and taken to Keokuk, Iowa, from there by rail to Davenport, Iowa, thence by steamer to Prairie du Chien, Wis., to the General Hospital, where he was July 2, 1865, and his friends found him and took him home. At this date he weighed ninety-four pounds and was able to sit up part of the day. His discharge from the service is dated "July 29, 1865, by reason of orders from War Department dated April 29, 1865." He gained rapidly at the home of his sister, in Eau Claire, and returned to his home at DePere. He never wholly recovered from the diarrhea, which became chronic, but was in a fair state of health for several years, after which an organic heart trouble was the immediate cause of his death. Received a United States pension.

Mr. Newton returned to his father's house and farm, where he continued the work he had laid down. After his marriage he bought a house and lot in the city, where he lived the remainder of his life—at first engaged in blacksmithing, later and for the last sixteen years of his life in the employ of "Jackson & Sons Co.," a department store.

Mr. Newton in person was much like his brother James; about six feet two inches in height, spare in flesh, fair complexion and brown eyes, very light hair and black whiskers. He was a man of frank, generous, kind, obliging nature. His prudence and reserve would not admit him to contend, no matter what the cause or affront might be. Thoughtful and intelligent, he was always interesting in conversation, and his fidelity to a trust was perfect. He was a charter member of the Harrison Post, G. A. R. of DePere, six members of which acted as pallbearers at his funeral.

His children were all born at DePere, Wis.

3689. CHARLES BAXTER NEWTON (Walter, Edward, Paul, Nathan, Jonathan, Moses, Richard), son of Walter, 2d, and Lucinda (Smith) Newton of North Hadley, Mass., was born there August 29, 1843.

He married at Hadley, Mass., by Rev. Rowland Ayres (Congregationalist), November 4, 1869, Maria J. Clark, daughter of Isaac S. and Elizabeth (Berry) Clark. She was born November 22, 1843, and was living in 1905.
Mr. Newton was nearly six years old when his father died; for five years thereafter he lived with Mr. William Newton (his cousin) of North Hatley, where he attended the public schools. Later he went a few terms to school in Williamsburg, and two terms at Hartford, Conn.

In 1861, being then eighteen years of age, he enlisted to be a soldier in the Civil War, at Orford, N. H., in Company C, 5th New Hampshire Volunteer Infantry, and went into camp at Concord, N. H. From there he was sent to Washington, D. C., where he received arms and went into camp on Arlington Heights, Va., near what is called Clouds Mills. He was there for some time and was out in a few skirmishes. The regiment’s first battle was at Fair Oaks, May 31, 1862; but Mr. Newton was not engaged in it, having been sent some six weeks previous to the general hospital, where he was confined four months with inflammation of the bowels. He was then pronounced unfit for further service and sent home.

When he enlisted he weighed 165 pounds; recovering enough strength after the illness to return home, he weighed, with army overcoat on, 80 pounds. Regaining his health at home, he was not satisfied to remain there while soldiers could help his country. He returned to the army for nine months—reenlisting in 1863; in Company I, 52d Massachusetts Volunteers and was sent to New Orleans, thence to Baton Rouge, and was all through that campaign and at the surrender of Port, Hudson; the 52d Massachusetts regiment being the first to go up the Mississippi river when thus opened. He was mustered out of service August 14, 1864, at Greenfield, Mass. The effects of the hardships and exposures endured as a soldier will remain with him through life.

Of his life and work Mr. Newton writes: “It is, and has been, full of failures. My aim is to do good, but fear I have accomplished little, by letting so many opportunities pass unheeded.” He was one of the first to join the “Young People’s Society of Christian Endeavor” and was appointed its State Superintendent by the General Conference. Also held the office of President of the Hampshire County Union, being Secretary of the local society.

By occupation, Mr. Newton is a carpenter. From 1876 to 1879 was living in Portland, Maine, but has lived the greater part of his life in Hampshire County, Mass. In 1905 was living in Northampton, Mass.

I wish here to state, that for the Barnard, Vt., Newton (i. e. the posterity of Timothy Newton, Jr., and the grandchildren of Gideon Newton) I am indebted to Rev. William M. Newton, who kindly gave me the data from the family record he had then (1908) been several years at work upon. He submitted to me for insertion in its place in my copy much from his manuscript, with the understanding that I was to give him due credit for the same, should I publish. I herewith acknowledge the courtesy. Since he has recently published in pamphlet form an extended and interesting account of the Barnard pioneer settlers in much detail, with the Indian raid there on Aug. 9, 1780, and has copyrighted it. I have omitted here what I should have given, although it was extraneous to my purpose.

THIRD GENERATION AND CHILDREN

116. JOSEPH NEWTON, Jr. (Joseph, Richard), son of Deacon Joseph Newton of Marlborough and Abigail (-----), his wife, was born at Marlborough, Mass., May 24, 1673, and died there July 29, 1755.

He married Abigail (-----). She died at Marlborough, January 12, 1748-9. She was the mother of nine children and he seems to have had no other wife.

Both Joseph Newton and his son Joseph, who died before his father did, are called "Joseph Newton, Jr." The father mentions him in his will, "my fifth son, Joseph Newton, Deacon."

Joseph Newton was made executor of his father's will and residuary legatee. His son, Jazzaniah, having by bequest the lands and dwelling house of Deacon Joseph, Sr., got but ten shillings, by will from his own father. It is interesting to notice how the fathers of those days provided before death for their children, and at the last by their wills balanced up the portions.

In the deed given by himself and his sisters in settlement of his father's estate, he calls himself "yeoman" and "Jun." It is

The will of Joseph Newton, Jr., which follows, is a much-worn document and pasted together—it could not be traced. It has four pages 7½ x 32½ inches. Page 1 and part of 2 is the will. Page 3, the original superscription, was the outer one, evidently sent by messenger as no postmark appears. Page 4, the docketing. The three other documents are: 1, the will; 2, probate of will; 3 is a printed probate letter, dated 23d Aug. 1756. Micah Newton is allowed executor's letter by S. Danforth; document 4 is a printed bond. Lib. 29, p. 34.

CHILDESE.

i. BATHSHEBA, b. Sept. 13, 168- [about 1688]; m. Jonathan Foster, who I suppose, is one of the Ipswich Fosters, descendants of Reginald Foster from England 1688. She is mentioned in her father’s will, and given bequests. Without the will, I had thought she was the Bathsheba who married, Jan. 23, 1671-22, in Marlborough, John Crosby. Unless his name is an error, that could not have been: for there was an unnamed child of Jonathan Foster baptized in the church at Marlborough, April 15, 1722. No other mention of the family there.
FOURTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

JAAZANIAH NEWTON (Joseph3, Joseph2, Richard1), son of Joseph, Jr., and Abigail (---) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there May 1, 1702, and died at Paxton, Mass., between the making of his will, March 17, 1773, and the probating of it April 2, 1780.

He married at Marlborough, January 5, 1725-26, Deliverence Newton (223), daughter of John2 and Hannah (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, where she was born January 1, 1705. She died, probably, in Paxton. She was living there in 1773.

Jazzaniah Newton lived in Marlborough until after his first four children were born. The others were born in Rutland.

By the will of his grandfather, Deacon Joseph Newton3, he received the homestead and all remaining lands of his grandfather, on condition that he take care of the widow, as specified. This trust I suppose he fulfilled. From his father's will he received ten shillings.

Mr. Newton moved from Marlborough between 1736 and 1740, and was in Rutland from 1740 till 1745, and perhaps longer. In 1765 a part of Rutland was included in the new town of Paxton, and he may have been set off to Paxton. Be that as it may, he describes himself as "of Paxton" in his will. He there mentions only his four older children; the two younger may have died young. He makes careful provision for his wife and for his son Jazzaniah, who seems to have been physically, and perhaps mentally, not quite competent.

The estate of Jazzaniah Newton could not have been large at the date of his death, if we consider the small amount of the bond given by his executor. His estate consisted of farm lands, tools and stock, buildings and money; the money not available at once but to be distributed within a time limit. His second son, John,—the name is also Jonas on the records—is given everything after the death of the mother, who has a life interest, and is made sole executor of the will. The following is the list of papers in the case, and the will.

Uriah Newton, Sr., lived in Marlborough all his life, and there his children were born, all of whom, except one, were living at date of his death, and all lived to adult age.

Uriah Newton, "yeoman," seems to have been not only a prosperous farmer, but, from the mention in the inventory of his estate of implements in other lines of endeavor, he must have been much more—carpenter's tools, a right in a saw-mill and lumber, weaving apparatus, shoemaker's stuff—about everything needed to make the articles then in use are included in this inventory. He died intestate.

tate and his widow administered the estate. All of the papers of administration are so very interesting, I will be pardoned for giving them so much room.

In the assent of the heirs of Joseph Newton, father of Uriah, both Uriah and his brother Jazzaniah sign their names for themselves—both hold signatures.

Uriah Newton, Sr. had probably received his portion during the lifetime of his father, and is given in the will only a slight token of remembrance—“Item. I give to my second son Now Living Viz Uriah Newton my Little Iron kettle.”

Among the partners in the Land Bank of 1749 we find the name of Uriah Newton of Marlborough.

Uriah Newton died intestate and his estate was settled by administrators appointed by the Court. The papers in the case are many, but all will be interesting to his posterity, and are therefore given here. All of the papers were carefully written, and exact copies of the originals are given. The ten documents are:

BRANCH OF JOSEPH

4272. i. Bathsheba, b. Sept. 14, 1741; d. ———. I suppose she married at Shrewsbury, Mass., March 27, 1754, Stephen Chout. A family by the name of Chout was in Ipswich as early as 1656. Stephen Chout and wife Bathsheba had four children in Shrewsbury, namely:

4283. 2. Williams Chout, b. Feb. 15, 1757.

4284. 3. Bathshaba Chout, b. May 27, 1764.

4285. 4. Rebecca Chout, b. Nov. 29, 1765.

4273. ii. Patience, b. July 21, 1752; d. Nov. 7, 1752, N. S.

4274. iii. Hannah, b. March 29, 1754; d. at Templeton, Mass., Feb. 17, 1788, in her 65th year. G. S. I. She was present at court, June 29, 1761, at the settlement of her father's estate, and signed her satisfaction in the manner of the settlement. For some reason not shown, but probably for her satisfaction, she is given real estate, mostly, as her portion; it, however, being equal to that of the other children. She was then aged 25. She married, then of and at Athol, Mass., Dec. 13, 1774, John How, son of ———. Where they settled is unknown to me—but stayed not long in Marlborough. They had a son born at Templeton—probably other children somewhere else.

4276. iv. David, b. March 17, 1737-38; m. Miriam Smith.

vi. ———, child, b. May 30, 1740, stillborn.

4277. vii. Katherine, b. May 7, 1741; d. ———; m. at Marlborough, Nov. 29, 1764, Silas Marble, son of [prob'b Mary and ———, Marble, whom she had baptized at Marlborough, Oct. 25, 1741. C. R. After their marriage Katherine and Silas Marble lived in, or near to, Athol, Mass., where they had nine children baptized, probably soon after the birth of each. Katherine's portion of her father's estate was the same as the others, in money, "fifteen pounds seventeen Shillings and three pence & 3/5 of a penny."

Her children were:

4288. 2. Patience Marble, bapt. May 1, 1768.

4290. 3. Abijah Marble, bapt. April 1, 1770.

4290. 4. Elizabeth Marble, bapt. May 17, 1772.

4291. 5. Abigail Marble, bapt. April 9, 1775.

4278. viii. Jonas, b. April 6, 1744. As will be seen above, he chose Mr. Daniel Ward to be his guardian, and received his portion of his father's estate.

While it does not seem as if this Jonas Newton could be the one referred to, there was no other Jonas living who was a "child" in 1756. The Worcester County Warrantings has: "Warned from Southborough, Sept. 25, 1756, Jonas Newton, a poor child from Marlborough, now at We, Onthank." Warrant returned May 16, 1757.

Jonas, also given Jonas, Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. He was a minuteman, private in the company of Captain William Brigham (Marlborough), Col. Jonathan Ward's regiment, of Militia, which marched, April 19, 1775, to Cambridge, served nine days. Also his name is on a receipt given to Capt. Silas Gates for travel allowance from Albany home, dated at Marlborough, March 14, 1777. There are other accounts, and service in other companies, the last date being May 15, 1780. He was one of the first three years men—or "during the war." He probably received at least some of the bounty offered by the town. Whether he married or not I cannot say, nor when he died. He may have been the Jonas Newton in Hubbardston, in 1768, which the United States Census gives as a family of one male above sixteen years (himself), one male below sixteen years, and two females.

4279. ix. Abigail, b. June 17, 1746; d. ———. I suppose she married at Marlborough, Dec. 8, 1763, John Goodale (the int. in Rutland, Nov. 19, 1763).

2428. xi. Ruth, b. Aug. 14, 1761; d. ——. Ruth, with her sister, warned from Lancaster as above. They were probably there visiting a relative. [Perhaps she married at Salem, March 11, 1779, Isaac Hunt (Hesse, Wm., Sault, Wm.) of Concord.] Isaac Hunt, twin, baptized 1753; b. 1746.

2437. NAMN EDMOND NEWTON (Joseph, Joseph, Richard). son of Joseph, Jr., and Abigail (———) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there, November 20 [prob. 1711]; baptized there April 27, 1712. C. R. He died ——. He married (I suppose) at Leicester, Mass., “February 30” (sic) 3, 1741, Tabitha Sanderson, daughter of John and Hannah (Stratton) Sanderson of Watertown and Leicester, Mass., born at Watertown, June 22, 1721, and died ——.

Nahum Newton lived in Leicester, where five children were born, and he probably had other children.

In 1757, he, with his brother Joseph and certain other citizens, petitioned the authorities to have their minister’s tax returned to them, should they be set off as a separate town. The petition was refused. They lived then in the easterly part of Marlborough.

By his father’s will he received “All my Right in ye Cedar Swamp in Westbury.”

CHILDREN.

2437. ii. Sarah, b. July 12, 1744; d. at Marlborough, N. H., Sept. 17, 1820, “aged 75.” She married at Leicester, May 21, 1762, “Robert Converse, Jr.,” who may have been the son of John and Abigail Converse of Leicester, born there April 2, 1737. They continued in Leicester for a time after marriage. The births of two children are on record there. He moved from Leicester and it is stated that he was in the town of Marlborough, N. H., as early as 1766, settled on a farm known as the Converse Place. He probably died there. Their ten children were:

2438. 1. Daniel Converse, b. Sept. 28, 1762, at Leicester, Mass.; d. at Marlborough, N. H., Jan. 8, 1820; m. April 14, 1786, Daniel Woodward, son of Jonas and Rachel (Holmes) Woodward of Worcester and Leicester, Mass., born at Marlborough, N. H., May 3, 1757. He settled in Marlborough, N. H., on the farm known as the Joseph Woodward place. Their nine children were:

* Edward Sanderson (this name in the records is frequently written Sanders and Sanderson of Watertown in 1645. Mary Eggleston, perhaps eldest dau. of Baze and Bridget Eggleston of Dorchester, and afterwards of Windsor, Conn. His descendants are found in Watertown, Waltham and Weston. His dau., Hester, “a young person,” was bapt. March 10, 1695-6. His son, only other child, was.

Jonathan Sanderson, b. Sept. 15, 1696, in Watertown; d. 1735, aged 89; m. 1699, Abia Bartlett, b. 1651, youngest dau. of Ens. Thomas and Hannah Bartlett of Watertown. She died in 172? Graves at Waltham. Res. Watertown, Cambridge and Waltham; con

John Sanderson, b. March 25, 1677; Rep. of Watertown, 1711 and 1712; m. at Woburn, Jan. 10, 1709-10, Hannah Stratton, perhaps dau. of Samuel and Hannah (Wheat) Stratton of Watertown and Concord. He moved from Watertown to Leicester between 1759 and 1760, where he died in 1760. Of his twelve children, the tenth was Tabitha, b. June 22, 1721, who m. at Leicester, 1741, Nahum Newton.

He married at Marlborough, August 25, 1712, Elizabeth Morse, daughter of Joseph, Jr. and Abigail (Barns) Morse5 of Framingham, born at Marlborough, July 18, 1717. She was living April 21, 1777, as appears in the will of her son. She married (2) at Marlborough, June 3, 1752, Thomas Stow, Jr., son of Thomas and Hannah (Johnson) Stow6 of Marlborough, where he was born October 15, 1720. He died at Marlborough, January 11, 1810, aged 80. They had, born in Marlborough: Ephraim Stow, born November 2, 1752—married in 1780, Sarah Baker; Dorothy Stow, born August 13, 1754; married i. 1776, John Temple, Jr.; ii. Abraham Stow, born January 10, 1756; married in 1782, Elizabeth Hager.

This second marriage is clearly shown in the will of her son, Hezekiah Newton, given below. He gives to his mother; his brothers and sisters; his uncle, Micah, whom he makes executor and residuary legatee, and to Nahum, Thankful.

* JOSEPH MORE5, JR. (Joseph4, Joseph5, Joseph6). b. 1721. In Watertown; d. in Marlborough in 1756. Will 1756. Married in 1716, ABIGAIL BARNES, who d. 1741, aged 46. She had ten children. He m. Lydia Newton his consins, children of Micah Newton. This is an important will. It establishes without a doubt so many relationships.

Joseph Newton lived in Marlborough. He is mentioned in the will of his father as "my fifth son Joseph Newton, Deceast." and the will was dated 1751, where he gives "to my grandson Hezekiah Newton a Two year old Heiffer.

Joseph Newton had two children. This is shown in the will of his son Hezekiah, who mentions first his "Honored Mother," and next his "sister Lydia Rise," and next his brothers and sister by his mother's second marriage, giving to each an equal amount. That he names Lydia first, would indicate she was the eldest of all. To be so she would have to be the daughter of his father, or of his mother by a previous marriage. But as Joseph Newton clearly married Elizabeth Morse, she was not then a widow Rice.

CHILDREN.

4821. i. Lydia, b. perhaps the summer of 1743—there is no record; m. —— Rice. Mentioned in the will of her brother as, "to my Sister Lydia Rise."

4822. ii. Hezekiah, b. —— 3, 1744; d. unm., at Marlborough, June 9, 1777. The records show that he was born the year his father died and possibly a posthumous child. His mother married again when he was between six and seven years old. October 10, 1758, "having attained more than the age of 14 years," he chose his uncle, Mr. Micah Newton, to be his guardian. Micah Newton accepts the guardianship and gives bond to the Court in £1000. April 1, 1777, "Being very sick and weak of body," he made his will, as given below, making his uncle Micah Newton executor and residuary legatee. The will and papers follow:

4259. MICAH NEWTON1 (Joseph2, Joseph3, Richard4), son of Joseph, Jr., and Abigail (——) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there December 8, 1722, and baptized there April 7, 1723 [C. R. and T. R.]. Lieut. Micah Newton died at Marlborough, August 21, 1800, aged 78, G. S.

He married at Marlborough, January 2, 1744-5, Mary Howe, daughter of Peter and Grace (Bush) Howe5 of Marlborough, where she was born April 2, 1726. She died, "Widow of Lieut. Micah," at Marlborough, February 21, 1813, aged 87 years, G. S.

Micah Newton was the youngest child of his father, in whose will he is mentioned as "my fourth son now living," and "my youngest son," and is given "all my Husbandry tools, utensils for making Ropes or my chest with a Lock and key too it, and my Gun, all my Cylar Barrell and meet tubs, and a flock Bed, a pair of Stylkards, a shave, agures and chesells, a tenant Saw and handsaw, and a frying Pan." He was made residuary legatee and "soul Executor." [See will of Joseph Newton, Jr.] At this time he was about 35 years old, married and had six children.

In the French and Indian War, 1757, Sergeant Micah Newton6 was in Capt. John Weeks' Company of Marlborough men, and with him in the same Company were his brother Uriah7 and two sons of Uriah, Uriah8 and David9.

Micah Newton's name appears on the roll of Lieut. Stephen Maynard's Company, the same year, which marched to the relief of Fort William Henry.

In the list of inhabitants and number of polls in Marlborough, 1770, Micah Newton is credited with 2 polls.

In the First United States Census, 1790, Micah Newton's family consisted of himself, one male above sixteen years, one male below sixteen years, and one female.

Micah Newton was a prosperous farmer in Marlborough, where his real estate of home lot and meadow lot amounted to $2,372, and thirty-two acres in the town of Stow appraised at $128. The inventory of his estate is interesting, showing as it does the implements for the carrying on of the work both indoors and outdoors. He made his will five years before his death, when he styles himself "Gentleman," being old and infirm but of perfect mind, etc. The will he signs with his mark; but where he writes his name himself, as witness to the guardianship of his nephew, Jonas Newton, the hand is that of a ready writer. He mentions all of his then living children, as having already given to each a portion. The older son, Nahum, had removed with his family to Henniker, N. H., and settled there. The only other son of this large family, then living, was Francis, who never married, and probably had always lived with his father.

* Peter Howe, b. May 8, 1665; d. Oct. 19, 1718, aged 53; res. Marlborough; m. Dec. 24, 1718, Grace Bush, b. 1696; dau. of Abel and Grace (Barrett) of Marlborough. She d. aged 74 yrs., 7 mos., 7 dys. Nine children. He was son of John Howe, b. 1610; d. Aug. 26, 1681; res. Marlborough. Eleven children. He was son of John Howe of Sudbury; one of the petitioners for Marlborough, 1657; res. first at Watertown. His wife was Mary. Eleven children.

To this son he gives his lands and makes him executor, giving into his care the provision made for the widow.

His good standing in the First Congregational Church is evidenced in his having three deacons for appraisers of his estate.

His children were all born at Marlborough, and he seems to have always lived there. He seems to have been a trusted favorite in his family circle—his other nephew, Hezekiah Newton, also chose him to be his guardian. And later in his will, Hezekiah gives “to my uncle Micah Newton all the remainder of my estate” and makes him executor of the will. The will of Micah Newton, inventory of estate, etc.—seven documents in the settlement of his estate—are here given.

In describing this will, Mr. Brown, who made the copy, says: “This will is in fine order and on fine rag paper. Page 1 is blank and folded in. The will, No. 1, and Probate No. 4 in one instrument, the will being attached to the printed letter. Three pages are needed for the will. Caption on 4th page. While in many other legal papers he signs his name himself, in his Will Micah Newton makes “his mark”—“being old & Inferm.” Document 2, is the citation to the Widow and heirs. This small paper has been folded several ways, and is written on both sides—very fine rag paper.

“Document 3, is the Assent to probate the will—fine rag paper, single sheet, about 7 x 8½ inches.

“Document 4, is Probate and Order. To son Francis committed the execution; printed form embossed through the heavy coarse rag paper.

“Document 5, is Bond $30,000, printed. The Will and this Bond were wafered together, and came apart.

“Document 6, is printed form of Notice and posting of it, by Francis Newton.

“Document 7, is the Inventory; a single sheet of very fine, thick rag paper, and brittle, so the folds have in some places been stayed with transparent rag paper, about 8 x 13½ inches. The Inventory does not use the whole of the sheet at the bottom, but uses the other side for ¾ part of sheet and the printed Warrant of Appraisers appointment is attached.

“You will note that at this time—1800—Middlesex Probate Court was held at Concord, Mass., instead of at Cambridge.”

4332. i. GRACE,* b. June 12, 1746; d. at Marlborough, May 24, 1824, aged 78, G. S.; m. at Marlborough, June 4, 1766, John Stow, Jr., son of John and Elizabeth (Brigham) Stow* of Marlborough, where he was born Nov. 17, 1740. S., at Marlborough, where the family resided. He was a soldier of the French War; for a long period he was an assessor of Marlborough. No children by this marriage.

* John Stow,* b. March 30, 1690; d. July 2, 1761; m. April 25, 1722, ELIZABETH BRIG- ham, dau. of Nathaniel and Elizabeth (Howe) Brigham of Marlborough; was a brother of Thomas Stow, who m. See note to Richard Newton.

1 Archelaus Felton* m. (1) about 1764 or '65, ELIZABETH HUNTER, dau. of Edward and Tabitha, and sister of Dr. Edward Hunter, who m. Thankful Newton* (Micah). She had four children in Marlborough, and died there Feb. 9, 1774. Children were: Betty, b. 1766; m. 1787, John Weeks, son by first m. of Jonathan Weeks, who m. 2 Archelaus Felton* was probably son, or nephew of Samuel, son of John, son of Nathaniel Felton,* who "died at Salem, 1765, aged 91," and came from England. 1663, aged 17.

iv. Lucy, twins, b. Feb. 16, 1752; d. at Marlborough, July 1, 1817, aged 65. G. S.; m. at Marlborough, Aug. 29, 1777, Jonathan Weeks (2d wife), son of Col. John and Dinah (Keyes) Weeks of Marlborough, born there Dec. 3, 1741; died there April 5, 1805, aged 63. He is styled Captian.

Four children by his first wife: seven by second wife. These last were:

2. David Weeks, b. May 28, 1781; d. 1820; res. at Groton.
3. Mary Weeks, b. July 30, 1782; m. 1811, David P. Parker.
6. Francis Weeks, b. Nov. 1, 1790; m. (1) 1811, Sally Brown; m. (2) 1825, Hannah Brown, perhaps dau. of Samuel.

v. Lucy Weeks, b. Oct. 1, 1783; m. 1815, Ebenezer Eames.

vi. Thankful, b. Feb. 12, 1755; m. at Sudbury, Dec. 15, 1782, Doctor Edward Hunter, son of Edward and Tabitha (——) Hunter of Marlborough, Mass., where he was born Dec. 30, 1748. His sister, Elizabeth, was the first wife of Archelans Felton, above. Dr. Hunter moved to Henninger, N. Y. He became a physician and settled there on the place known as the "Hunter place," about the beginning of the Revolution; after a while moved back to Marlborough, Mass., for a short time; returned to Henninger, N. Y., where he died June 29, 1793. The records are obscure concerning his family. We can only guess who his children were—if there were any. Since others have guessed, I will take mine—that is: I think the historian of Henninger has mistaken some of the son's children for the father's children. The dates of marriage, and the dates of birth in Marlborough, Mass., would seem to make it so. I think the following may, some of them, be the children of Dr. Edward Hunter and wife Thankful, namely:

1. John Hunter (styled "jr.") at marriage, to distinguish him from his uncle John, b. 1747; m. (1) Susan Witt, April 8, 1810. ["He m. (2) Dolly Temple," was I think, a marriage of John, Sr.]

2. William Hunter.
4. Thankful Hunter, m. Israel Adams, Jan. —, 1811.
5. Patty Hunter, m. David Brown, March 10, 1815.
7. Sally Hunter, m. Patty Eastman, Feb. 4, 1816.

vii. Tabitha, b. Feb. 21, 1758; d. at Marlborough, Feb. 27, 1777, aged 19.

viii. Dina Weeks, b. Dec. 21, 1759; d. at Marlborough, Nov. 17, 1846, aged 88 yrs. 10 mos. 27 dys. Old age. She married Dr. Ames Cutting, who, on the death of Dr. Ebenezer Dexter, May 4, 1793, came from Waltham to Marlborough and established himself as a physician. They had a family of ten children, born at Marlborough. His parentage is unknown to me. He died at Marlborough, June 17, 1807. Dr. Ames Cutting was brother of Uriah Cutting of Boston. Children:

1. Sally P. Cutting, b. March 18, 1783; m. 1801, Walter Morse.
3. Roland W. Cutting, b. April 17, 1787; d. unm.

* Jonathan Weeks (John, Supply, Amie, George of Litchfield), m. (1) at Marlborough, April 22, 1757, Thankful Bigelow, dau. of Thomas and Elizabeth (Nurse) Bigelow of Marlborough, where she was b. Jan. 17, 1749, and where she d. Nov. 3, 1775, leaving four children: John, b. Oct. 1, 1768; m. Betsey or Betty Felton; Amoz, Jan. 30, 1770; d. 1775; Elizabeth, Dec 2, 1772; m. Heman Sawyer; Francis, b. and d. 1775.

Col. John Weeks, b. 1707; d. 1787, aged 79; res. Marlborough, a man of considerable note, and justice of the peace; m. 1731, Diana Keyes, dau. of Thomas (Elias of Sudbury, Robert of Watertown and Newbury) and Elizabeth (Howe) Keyes, b. 1710; d. 1784. Their children were: Josiah, b. 1732; m. 1755, Mary Goodwin; Francis, 1734; m. 1754, Thankful Stevens; Betsey, 1736; m. 1758, Stephen Bridgeham; Diana, b. Oct. 2, 1737; m. (1) Nathan Goodale, Jr.; m. (2) Jotham Sawyer of Sterling; res. Templeton; John, 1739; m. 1762, Mary Bigelow; Jonathan, b. Dec. 3, 1741; m. Thankful Bigelow; m. (2) Lucy Newton; (Michael); Susannah, b. 1742; m. 1754, Benjamin Rice.

Edward Hunter came to Marlborough before 1745. He represented the town in the General Court, 1774; was selectman 1747 and 1779. He m. Tabitha —— who died, and he m. (2) Mrs. —— Moore of Berlin. His nine children were: Elizabeth, b. April 29, 1745; d. 1774; m. Archelans Felton; John, 1747; d. 1774; Dr. Edward, b. Dec. 30, 1748; m. Thankful Newton (dau. Michael); David, 1750; d. 1754; Robert, 1752; m. Olive Moore; Jonathan, 1754; m. Hannah Winkup; James, bapt. 1755; per. David, abt. 1759; Solomon, bapt. 1759; Silas, bapt. 1765; C. R. Sarah, bapt. 1766.

4357. 5. William C. Cottin, b. Jan. 4, 1791; lost at sea.

4358. 6. Amos C. Cottin, b. Feb. 26, 1793; m. 1821, Dolly Barnard Bruce.

4360. 8. Amos C. Cottin, b. May 27, 1797; m. in Boston, Harriet Tuttle. He died at Brookline, May 14, 1857, in his 60th year. He was for a long period agent of the "Fifty Associates," of Boston.

4361. 9. John C. Cottin, b. May 1, 1799; m. 1820, Sally Clarinda Brigham.

4362. 10. Uriah C. Cottin, b. Nov. 25, 1802; moved to Boston; d. at New Orleans.

4363. ix. Elias C., b. Aug. 16, 1762; d. at Marlborough, March 4, 1777, aged 15 years.

4364. x. Phineas C., b. April 19, 1764; d. at Marlborough, Aug. 16, 1816, aged 52 yrs.

He never married. "To Francis Newton" was committed the settlement of his father's estate and the charge of his mother, whose life (he was engrossed in the father's will, which see) he was to make "as Easy & agreeable as may be During her natural Life. -" All of which no doubt he did.

4365. xi. Solomon C., b. Dec. 20, 1764; d. at Marlborough, Jan. 22, 1777, aged 11.

4366. xii. Phineas C., b. June 1, 1768; d. at Templeton, Dec. 4, 1809, C. R.; m. at Marlborough, Nov. 29, 1787, William Goodale, son of Nathan, Jr. and Dinah (Weeks) Goodale of Marlborough, and Templeton; born at Marlborough, July 9, 1757. William Goodale was in service during a great part of the Revolution. He settled at Templeton, where eleven children were born. These were:

4367. 1. Lydia C. Goodale, b. Aug. 27, 1790; m. 1815, Josiah Talbot of Athol.

4369. 3. Phineas C. Goodale, b. Dec. 4, 1792.

4371. 5. Nathan C. Goodale, b. April 18, 1797.

4373. 7. Mary Newton C. Goodale, b. April 28, 1801.

10. —— infant; d. March 11, 1808, C. R.

C. FIFTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

4262. JONAH or JONAS NEWTON, (Jazzannah, Joseph, Joseph, Richard), son of Jazzannah and Deliverence (Newton) Newton of Marlborough, Rutland and Paxton, Mass., was born at Marlborough, March 24, 1730, and died at Leicester, Mass., March 12, 1810, aged 80.

He married (1) about 1750, Rebecca ———, who probably died in Paxton. She was the mother of five daughters.

He married (2) at Worcester, Mass., May 9, 1803, Mrs. Lydia Johnson, who became his widow.

Mr. Newton, as a child, moved with his father to Rutland, where he continued to reside after his first marriage, and where his children were baptized. Later we find the family in Paxton, where he seems to be his father's right-hand man on the farm. In 1782 he was executor and residuary legatee of his father's will.

* Goodale, Goodell, Goodell, Goodell, Goodall, Nathan Goodale, Jr., and Dinah (Weeks) had two sons: William, b. 1757; m. Phoebe Newton, and Joel, b. 1760, who res. in Colrain. Dinah, the wid., m. (2) Jotham Sawyer, removed to Templeton; had there three children, and there both she and Jotham died. She d. 1822, aged 84. He d. 1857, aged 91.

Nathan Goodale (father of Nathan, Jr.), b. 1709; d. 1789; m. Persis Whitney, and had thirteen children. He was the son of John Goodale, b. 1679; d. 1752; res. Marlborough; m. 1703, Elizabeth Witt, who d. 1738, and he m. (2) Elizabeth ———, who was his wid. He had three children. He was son of Zachariah Goodale and ef. Elizabeth (Bercham), who res. in Salem and had eleven children. He was son of Robert Goodale and ef. Katherine, who came from Ipswich, England, in 1634. They had eight children.
and came into full possession of the estate after the death of his mother. When he left Paxton and took up a residence in Leicester does not appear; but at the date of second marriage—1815—he was still "of Paxton," and he died at Leicester. I suppose the following to be his service as a soldier of the Revolution: "Jonas Newton, First Lieut. in Capt. Ralph Earl's 15th (Paxton) Co., Col. Samuel Denny's (1st. Worc. Co.) Regiment, reported commissioned April 3, 1776. Other service, and discharge Aug. 8, 1777, roll at Spencer—to reinforce the Northern Army."

She married Deacon Jonah Howe of Paxton, who was born about 1746, resided in Paxton and died there Nov. 10, 1832, aged 86 G. S. He was a soldier of the Revolution. His grave has a marker of the S. A. R. He was appointed administrator of the estate of Jonah Newton, his father-in-law. They may have had other children. The one I find is:

4378. 1. Lavinia* Howe, b. June 7, 1791, "in Rutland" [no record of it there]; d. in Paxton, Nov. 16, 1868; m. at Paxton, July 2, 1812, Abraham Livermore, cardmaker, born about 1790; d. at Paxton, Feb. 15, 1814, aged 53, G. S. BRANCH OF JOSEPH

He married (2) at Princeton, April 27, 1783, Mrs. Joanna (Gleason) Gibbs, widow of William Gibbs, and daughter of Phinehas and Elizabeth Gleason of Framingham and Lancaster, born July 13, 1740. She died at Princeton, "widow of Uriah Newton," June 28, 1830, aged 90.

Uriah Newton, Jr., was twenty-three years old when his father died intestate. His mother was made administratrix. In the settlement of the estate, which amounted to £363-15-7, it appears the son Uriah, Jr., had received from his father £23-12-6, which sum was not a gift but was to be considered in the inventory. After the one-third award for the widow was apportioned, the remaining two-thirds of the real estate was portioned to Uriah, Jr., and his sister Hannah, he to pay the other heirs, and this to be accomplished and completed on or before April, 1762. It would appear that he sold the land for that purpose.

Uriah Newton, Jr., did not remain long at Marlborough after the estate of his father was closed up. He married there in 1761; but in the autumn of 1763 he was in Rutland, and Rutland District (Barre) until after 1766. In 1768 one child was born at Wilbraham, Mass., although his family may not have lived in that town. From 1772 until his death, Princeton, Mass., was his home town. During this period he spent some time at Alstead, N. H., where his sons had settled.

His name in the John White Genealogy is given "Uriah Eager Newton." I find it so nowhere else.

Notice that he signs his own name to the guardianship papers of his brother Jonas—Uriah Newton.

In the French and Indian War, 1757, in Captain John Weeks' Marlborough Company are the names of Uriah Newton Jr.; his father, Uriah Newton; brother David, and uncle Micah Newton.

The First United States Census, 1790, shows Uriah Newton head of a household at Princeton, Mass., the other members being one male above sixteen years and six females.

All of his children, except Ephraim, deceased, are mentioned in his will, an abstract of which follows:

ARCHIBALD EAGER, b. 1772; d. Jan. 9, 1796; m. 1808, Hannah Kerley, dau. of Henry and Elizabeth of Marlborough. Res. in Marlborough. He was in the Revolutionary service. Ensign. He had eight children born at Marlborough. One was Engaged for town of Marlborough, March 21, 1781. Term three years." [Mass. Sol. and Sail. of Rev. War.]

4385. iii. Joel, b. Dec. 18, 1764, at Rutland, Mass.; d. at Acworth, N. H., at the home of his niece, Mrs. Betsy (Newton) Harding, May 5, 1841, aged 79; never married. He was one of the original proprietors of Acworth, N. H., going there in 1828. With his brother Joel, he held the homestead, lot No. 5, range No. 12. The lots seem to have been large and were divided between many owners. The family impression is that this Joel and his brother Joel were twins. I find no public record of it.

4386. iv. Rebecca, b. Sept. 15, 1766, at Rutland, Mass.; d. ———. The family of this "aunt Rebecca" are sure she married, but do not know whom. Perhaps it may have been Daniel Hemenway, Jr., of Framingham, who m. in Southborough, Feb. 1787, Rebecca Newton of Southborough: the marriage recorded in Framingham as Sept. 10, 1787; this last date probably being the intention. I suppose he was son of Daniel and Thankful of Framingham, born 1764.

4387. v. Artimas, b. Jan. 25, 1768, at Wilbraham, Mass.; m. ———.

4389. vii. Hannah, b. April 19, 1773, at Princeton, Mass.; d. at ———; m. at Princeton, Jan. 17, 1803, Calvin Wilder of Sterling, Mass., born at Lancaster, Mass., May 4, 1778. I suppose this family moved to Vermont or New Hampshire. The data here given is from private records. Their children were:

4390. 1. Mary Wilder, b. ———, 1803.

4391. 2. Samuel Wilder, d. ———, 1806.

4392. 3. Hannah Wilder, b. ———, 1807.

4393. 4. Rebecca Wilder, b. ———, 1808.

4394. 5. Calvin Wilder, b. ———, 1810.

4395. 6. Lucretia Wilder, b. ———, 1812.

4396. 7. Philena Wilder, b. ———, 1813.

4397. 8. Andrew Wilder, b. ———, 1815.

4398. 9. Cornelia Wilder, b. ———, 1816.
4376. DAVID NEWTON\(^5\) (Uriah\(^4\), Joseph\(^3\), Joseph\(^2\), Richard\(^1\)), son of Uriah and Patience (Newton) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there March 17, 1737-8.

He married at Leicester, Mass., May 13, 1762, Miriam Smith, daughter of (I suppose) Abraham and Zerviah (Howe) Smith of Marlborough and Leicester, Mass. She was born at Leicester, May 4, 1745 [T. R.] or 1741. Her headstone in Paxton, Mass., bears the following inscription: “In memory of [Mrs.] Miriam Newton | wife of | Mr. David Newton | who died | Dec. 11, 1837 | aged 96 years.” The following is an abstract of her will:

1867. Miriam Newton, Paxton. No. 43529. Will. Allowed March 6, 1838. To daughter, Sally Goulding, $100 and furniture; Residence to be divided between daughter Sally Goulding and Clark Pike; She has other heirs but gives them nothing; their names not mentioned; Appoints Tyler Goddard, Executor. Bond, $3000. Nathaniel Lakin and John Partridge, Sureties.

Mr. Newton was “of Rutland,” when married. His first two children were baptized there, and the second is recorded as “dau. of David Newton of Paxton,” where the family probably resided. When he died and the number of his children are facts unknown to me.

4401. i. PATIENCE, b. ———; baptized May 20, 1763, C. R.
4402. ii. LAURENCE, b. ———; baptized Feb. 22, 1767, C. R.
4403. iii. SALLY, b. ———; prob. m. ——— Goulding; mentioned in will.

4390. JOTHAM NEWTON\(^5\) (Nahum\(^4\), Joseph\(^3\), Joseph\(^2\), Richard\(^1\)), son of Nahum and Tabitha (Sanderson) Newton of Leicester, Mass., was born there February 27, 1751. He died at Brookfield, Mass., December 8, 1817.

He married [int. at Brookfield, March 19, 1774], Sarah Howard, born about 1747. She died his widow, at Brookfield, Mass., October 28, 1824, aged 77.

Jotham Newton settled in Sturbridge, Mass., after his marriage, and lived there a few years. His first three children were born there. About 1780 he moved to Brookfield, Mass., where the births of three more children are recorded. Whether there were others is unknown to me. [I thought perhaps Tilly Newton might be his son, but have no proof of it.]

In his will (an abstract is given below), Mr. Newton mentions only four children. The oldest probably died very young, and the youngest we know died before he did. Thus he would speak of Jotham, Jr., as his oldest son, and Foster as second son.

Jotham Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. His name appears on several of the army rolls. The service is as follows: “Jotham Newton, Rutland, Private in Capt. David Bent’s Co., Col. Nathaniel Starkhawk’s regiment of Minute men, marched April 20, 1775, to Cambridge, served six days. Other service and roll returned in Camp at Winter Hill, Oct. 6, 1775. Also, Jotham Newton, Private in Capt. John Howard’s company, Col. Samuel Brewer’s regiment. Abstract of allowance from Saratoga home (188 miles). Warrant allowed March 2, 1777. Also, Jotham Newton on a list of men mustered August 38——, by Thomas Newhall—Worcester County—to serve six months in Capt. Wilson’s company, Col. Keyes regiment.”
The First United States Census, 1790, shows no Jotham Newton head of a household in all the country, although this Jotham was living, had wife and children and another child was born in 1791. The census-taker missed him. He had a farm in Brookfield, Mass., when he died, which he had improved with the assistance of his son Foster, indicating that he had resided there for some time. This land he gives by will to son Foster; the other children probably had previously received their shares.

AN ABSTRACT OF HIS WILL FOLLOWS:

1818.  Jotham Newton, Brookfield.  4228.

Bond of $10,000, of Foster Newton, appointed executor, on Apr. 14, 1818, Joshua Hyde and Benjamin Brooks, sureties.
Affidavit of Notice of appointment.

CHILDREN.

4101. XAHUM NEWTON, JR. [I suppose to be the son of Xahum (Joseph, Joseph, Richard) and Tabitha (Sanderson) Newton of Leicester, Mass.] married Anna ——. Where and when and the record of it I have not learned, nor where they lived when their four children were born. But certain it is that, in 1778, Nahum Newton, wife Anna, with four or five children from Southborough, Mass., were warned from Northborough, Mass., notice given to the selectmen by Deacon Paul Newton. The selectmen made no haste in the matter, for the warrant was not returned to the court until September 9, 1790, by which time he had evidently obtained citizenship, for we find him there again later—that is to say, I suppose him to be the same man. Neither his own death, nor the death of Anna, his wife, are recorded in Northborough or nearby towns; but we find that Nahum Newton married at Marlborough, May 6, 1778—(Notice that it is the year he came to Northborough and was "warned")—Damaris Brigham, daughter of Noah and Miriam (Allen) Brigham of Marlborough, where she was born April 24, 1759. She had one child and died his widow, January 31, 1828, aged 70 years, 9 months. Mr. Newton is styled yeoman in the warning. [See Nathan Newton (Joshua).]

4102. 1. Aaron, b. ——.
4111. 2. BRAXAM Holesworth, b. ——. (These may be names for two sons.)

*NOAH BRIGHAM (Jonathan), b. 1734; d. 1807; res. Marlborough; m. (1) MIRIAM ALLEN, 1758; b. (2) MARSHA TIBBINS, who d. 1813. Five children.
JONATHAN BRIGHAM (Thomas), b. 1674; d. 1768; a surveyor at Marlborough; m. 1733, DAMARIS RICE, b. 1714, dau. of Benjamin. Four children.
THOMAS BRIGHAM (Thomas), b. 1641; m. MARY RICE.

BRANCH OF JOSEPH

4412. iii. Polly, b.

4413. iv. Winthrop, b.

4414. iv. Anna, b. Sept. 1. 1782, at Northborough (by w. Damaris—). She married at Northborough, June 17, 1811, Sylvester Newton (5655) [as I suppose, son of Ezekiel] and Tabitha (———) Newton of Northborough, Mass., and earlier of Marlborough, Mass.). They lived in Northborough after marriage for at least eighteen years, and probably longer—may have both died there after 1830—I have not dates of their deaths. Their children, all born in Northborough, except the eldest, who died there, were:

2. George Brigham* Newton, b. Nov. 27, 1813.

3. Willie Snow* Newton, b. Feb. 15, 1816 [perhaps the Willis Newton of Southborough, who m. 1828, at Charlton, Margaret Morris].

[The mother of Damaris Brigham, above, was Damaris Rice. Compare the names of these children of Sylvester Newton and those of his sister Caty, who married Samuel Dalrymple, and see also in this connection the other Sylvester Newton who married Sally Dalrymple, stepdaughter of Caty; and Lucius F., her son, and his marriages—a wonderful intermarrying all around.]

4427. Nahum Newton* (Micah* Joseph* Joseph* Richard*), son of Micah and Mary (Howe) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there, February 12, 1752, a twin with his sister Lucy. He died at Henniker, N. H., March 20, 1816, aged 64.

It interests me to notice the many cases in which, when a man had been a soldier in the Revolutionary service, he did not settle down in the home town. His horizon had been enlarged, and he sought out new lands to conquer. Thus Nahum Newton moved with his family to Henniker, N. H., soon after his marriage and shortly after the incorporation of the town, and settled on land where his grandson, John A. Newton, was living in 1880. He was the first settler in that part of the town. His children were all born in Henniker. The First Census of the United States, 1790, gives his family there, as consisting of himself, three males under sixteen years, and four females.

Nahum had received before the death of his father, his portion. Thus Micah in his will, dated 1795: "25. My Will is as to my son Nahum Newton what I have all ready given him and half of my wearing apparel and one Dollar to be his full part and portion of my Estate both Real & Personal ——."

Nahum Newton* was a soldier of the Revolution. His name is on the rolls first, as from Marlborough. "Private Capt. Daniel Barns' Company, marched on alarm April 19, 1775. Newton marched April 27—service 12 days."

"Also. Private, list of men on picket under Loammi Baldwin, dated May 11, 1775."

*Adams. The History of Henniker, N. H., pg. 446, has the following in regard to families of this name: They were 'some of the earliest settlers and most enterprising. The families here were descended from Richard Adams, a tailor, who was at Salem, Mass., in 1638, and in Newbury, Mass., in 1649; emigrated from Devonshire, England; wife was Eleanor, who died June 12, 1677.'

Capt. Aaron Adams (son of Israel), b. at Rowley, Mass., 1739; wife Betsey; settled here soon after the town was incorporated; distiller: Rep. 1788-92; selectman, 1773-75, and 1780; commissioned Lieut. of 8th Co., 15th Regiment, regular New Hampshire Militia, March 1, 1774; died March 14, 1819. His wife died April 27, 1848. Their children, born at Rowley, Mass., were: Gideon, 1764; Moses, 1766; William, 1769; children born at Henniker, N. H., were: Stephen, 1774; James, 1774 (twins); Aaron, 1777; George, 1784; Betsey, 1786. It is very probable that Mercy Adams, who married Nahum Newton, is somehow related to these people. I suggest it.
"Also in Capt. William More's Company of Volunteers, Col. Jonathan Read's regiment, enlisted October 2, 1777, discharged Nov. 8, 1777, to assist army under Genl. Gates.

"Also, Private, Capt. Benjamin Munroe's Company, entered service Jan. 2, [prob. 1778], served 3 months.

"Also other mention—and at Rhode Island in 1778." [The above from Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of Rev. War.]

"Three Companies marched to Cambridge April 19, 1775, under Captains Howe, Paul Bringham & Edward Barnes. Absent 16 days, from Marlboro—Nahum Newton in Capt. Barns' Co." [History of Marlborough, Mass.]

"Nahum Newton in Capt. Brigham's Co. Cont'd Army, 1775. 1 turn. — Newton, in Capt. Brighams Co. Northern Army, 1776, hired; militia to New York, 3 mos. 1776, hired. 1 turn." [Roll of Marlborough Training Band. 1775-7.]

A grandson of Nahum Newton* (Nahum Newton7 Wilson) writes: "My grandfather, Nahum Newton, was a heavy, thick-built man; about 5 feet 8 inches tall; broad shouldered; fair complexion; sandy hair and nearly red beard; large blue eyes; high tempered; of English descent and a powerful worker."

The following story is told of Mary (Howe) Newton, wife of Micah1, and mother of Nahum2. Told by Delia Clark. "Three of Mrs. Mary Newton's children died near each in time from Jan. 22 to March 4, 1777. She says she can well remember of hearing her great-grandmother say, that a short time before their deaths, she saw the trap door to the cellar open and shut three times of its own accord, and thought that it was a forerunner of the deaths of her three children."

*John Shaffer, Jr., was son of John Shaffer, who was a soldier of the Revolution, private in the Vermont Militia, and member of the Committee of Safety. Thus the posterity of John and Mercy (Newton) Wilson have the following known Revolutionary sires: Serw, Micah Newton, Nahum Newton, John Shaffer, and Thomas Wilson.

1 Isaac Colby was early in Amosbury, Mass. His sons Eliphalet, Isaac and Richard set- tled at Henniker, N. H. His other children were John, the eldest, Nehemiah and dau. Elizabeth.

Eliphalet Colby went to Henniker, N. H., soon after the Revolution. His children went with him. They were: Eliphalet Colby, 1753; Nicholas Colby, 1755; Levi, 1757; Polly, 1762; m. Henry Blake.

Lewis Colby, b. 1817; m. Mercy Newton (dau. of Solomon).

Lewis Colby (1 suppose the one above, b. 1757) and David Colby enlisted July 3, 1777, to serve three months in Capt. Bagley's Company and were soldiers of the Revolution at the battle of Bennington.
SIXTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

4383. JONATHAN NEWTON6 (Uriah5, Uriah4, Joseph3, Joseph2, Richard1), son of Uriah, Jr., and Hannah (Eager) Newton of Marlborough, Rutland, Princeton, Mass., and Alstead, N. H., was born at Marlborough, April 27, 1761 [P. R. and T. R.]; was baptized at Rutland, January 14, 1762 [C. R.], and died at his home in Alstead, N. H., September 17, 1828, aged 67 years, 4 months, 20 days, P. R. Burial at East Alstead, N. H.

He married at Princeton, Mass., March 22, 1789, Betsey Brigham, daughter of Stephen and Betsey (Weeks) Brigham of Marlborough and Princeton, born at the latter town February 5, 1760; died at Alstead, N. H., February 6, 1840, aged 80.

Jonathan Newton6 was a soldier of the Revolution, entering the service at the age of sixteen years. I suppose boys of that age must follow the example of the fathers when it comes to a chance to fight and shoot. A part of his service only is here given. "Jonathan Newton, Private Capt. Mirrick's Company, Col. Ephraim Sawyer, entered service October 2, 1777, discharged October 18, 1777, company raised at Bolton and Princeton—other service—the last date being December 1779, roll dated at Albany—one month, five days at Claverack—nine days travel home (180 miles)."

Jonathan Newton moved to Alstead, N. H., not long after his marriage. He was a pioneer there, and the place was formerly called Newton. His residence was near the adjoining town of Acworth, N. H., and his children made Acworth their place of residence for a longer or shorter time; but it was at Alstead that Jonathan Newton always lived, where he died, and where his children were born. The First United States Census, 1790, records him at Alstead, N. H., with his wife—["1 female," "including heads of families"].

It is from his Family Bible Record that much of this data is taken. The Bible is now the property of his grandson Isaac Newton of Alstead, N. H.

Artemas Newton came to Acworth, N. H., about 1800. He, with his brothers Joel and Joab, became residents. In a register of Homesteads, a list of original proprietors and resident owners in Acworth, he had Lot No. 10; Range No. 11. The names of his nine children are given in Acworth; where they born does not appear. The family removed to New York.

He married Polly Butterfield, daughter of Benjamin and Polly (Haekleton) Butterfield of Acworth, N. H., an original proprietor there. He had Lot No. 15, Range No. 2, and Lots 8 and 9, Range No. 2. Her parents were married about 1803 and she is mentioned as the oldest child. I have no birthdate.

Joab Newton came to Acworth, N. H., in 1797. He had for his homestead Lot No. 3, Range No. 12. His brother Joel had the same lot. "The Lots seem to have been large and divided between many owners."

The names of his twelve children are given, but when and where they were born does not appear; though probably at Acworth, to which town he probably came soon after his marriage, and where he settled. Notice the first child was born 1798, and the United States Census of 1790 does not mention a Joab Newton as head of a household.

Foster Newton lived in Sturbridge, apparently, from the time of his first marriage until between 1810 and 1812. His first three children by second marriage were born there; the last seven were born at Brookfield, where he then resided, and continued to reside until his death. He died intestate and his estate was administered at Brookfield in 1862. Case in Probate, No. 39,166.

Brown is related but give the pedigrees of two families of Brown—brothers—in Acworth. It may be helpful:

He removed to and settled in Marlborough before his marriage, being then "of Marlborough." His children were all born there, and nearly all of them resided there permanently. July 5, 1818, he was a member of the Union Congregational Church of Marlborough.

(aged 18) 1848, Stephen Newton. received a hurt from the falling of a limb from a tree in the woods, breaking his ribs. The following spring an attack of congestion of the lungs reduced his excess of flesh somewhat; but his spirit was as firm to meet and overcome obstacles as ever.

The deaths of his two daughters from cancer was a great distress to him. And the care of the two granddaughters, orphans, he met bravely, when a man over 80 years old should have been permitted to lay down all cares.

BRANCH OF DANIEL

THIRD GENERATION AND CHILDREN

153. DANIEL NEWTON3, JR. (Daniel2, Richard1), son of Daniel, Sr., and Susanna (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., where he was born May 29, 1681. He probably died in the latter part of 1747, or the beginning of the year 1748. I have no record of his death.

He married about 1701, Sarah———, who was the mother of his eight children. I find no record of this marriage; neither a record of her death; but she probably died about 1740, or before.

He married (2) at Southborough, November 26, 1741, Mrs. Mary Mathis. [Mathis is the same as Mathews.] She died at Southborough, June 29, 1745.

"2nd wife of Daniel Newton, Sr." His father being dead, he now has become "senior," while his son is junior.

Daniel Newton, Jr., lived in Marlborough. All of his children were born there. In the record of their births he is styled "Jr."

There was no will, and his son Ezekiel was appointed administrator of his estate on February 8, 1748. An abstract of the papers of administration follows.

He owned land in Framingham, in the sale of which he calls himself a "tanner," and signs his own name, 1725-4.

He received, as a gift from his father, ten acres of land in Marlborough, which was a part of the grant to Richard Newton, his grandfather, on February 18, 1706. This I suppose was to help settle him after his marriage some two years before. In this deed he is called "husbandman."

I have not tried to gather all there might be in the Register's office. Just a paper now and then to prove a point genealogical. See the abstracts of deeds from Richard1 and Daniel2, Sr., and the one below.

1. Daniel Newton dnr of Marlborough, in Massachusetts Bay, tanner, in Consideration of the sum of £4 to James Newton of Marlborough, husbandman, Pl 1/2 of meadow, located (etc.), bounded (etc.) in Framingham, to have and to hold.

John and Elizabeth Rogers lived in Westborough, where their six children were born. He died before Jan. 6, 1757, as the record of the youngest child, Timothy, is given, "s. of Wid. Elizabeth." BENJAMIN NEWTON, (Daniel, Richard)., son of Daniel and Susanna (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there March 31, 1683, and died there November 3, 1717. [The Church record at Marlborough gives this date, 1717, as a birth.]

He married at Watertown, and the marriage is also recorded at Newton, Mass., October 3, 1712, "Abigail Knapp of Newton." [Perhaps she was the daughter of John and Sarah of Newton or Watertown, descendants of William Knapp of Watertown.] She died at Southborough, March 3, 1758.

Mr. Newton lived in Marlborough, Mass.; a farmer. He received by deed of gift from his father, lands—"a certain tract of Upland and Meadowland and Swampland bounded," etc., "and all Commodities belonging thereto," on December 9, 1714. His two children were born in Marlborough. Later his land was set off to Southborough, and there his wife died.

156. ISAAC NEWTON^, SR. (Daniel^, Richard^), son of Daniel, Sr., and Susanna (Moris) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there March 12, 1686, and died in Southborough, Mass., February 11, 1754.

He married at Boston, Mass., March 20, 1710, Sarah Belknap, daughter of Ebenezer and Hannah (Ayer) Belknap of Haverhill, Mass., born December 25, 1691. It is asserted by the family, as given in a note on page 586 of the History of Marlborough, N. H., that Capt. "Seth Newton's mother died at the age of 106, and his grandmother at the age of 112."

Isaac Newton, Sr., lived in that part of Marlborough that was set off to Southborough. The births of his first five children are recorded in the former town and the last four in the latter town—while they may all have been born in the same house.

He was among those citizens of Marlborough who petitioned for the organization of the new town of Southborough, which was incorporated in 1727, and continued to reside there.

Isaac Newton of Southborough was one of the partners in the Land Bank scheme of 1749, through which the colonists sought to protect themselves from the tyranny of Parliament, and which was suppressed after a time.

The will of Isaac Newton, Sr., is dated June 13, 1751, in which he calls himself "Southborough, husbandman." He gives to his wife, Sarah, and the following children: Hezekiah, Seth, Isaac, Simeon, Keziah, Mary, Martha. He mentions Hezekiah as his "eldest son," and Simeon as his "fourth son," Keziah as "eldest daughter," and daughters Mary Graves and Martha Gibbs, and makes his son Seth the executor of the will. The following intention from the will: "As to my eldest son, Hezekiah Newton, I have given him already a great part of his portion, but I will give, grant to him, his heirs and assigns, twenty pounds to be paid seven years after my decease." As Isaac himself did not die until three years after he made his will, poor Hezekiah had to wait ten years for his £20.

* John Amsden^ (Isaac^), b. Dec. 28, 1682; m. (1704?) Hannah How, dau. of Isaac and Frances (Wood) How of Marlborough, where she was b. 1688. She died his widow, Oct. 9, 1773; res. Marlborough. Twelve children. The ninth was John^, b. 1714.

The papers in the Probate Court in this case are numbered 4725. i. Keziah, b. Feb. 22, 1716-17; d. at Westborough, July 7, 1771; m. at Southborough, July 26, 1738, Jabez Snow, b. about 1715. He died at Westborough, Mass., June 2, 1782, in his 67th year. They lived first at Southborough. Seven children were born there. Some time between 1752 and 1755 they removed to, or were set off to, Westborough, where their last two children were born, and where the seventh died. Children were:

4735. 2. Keziah Snow, b. Jan. 19, 1740-1; m. 1772, Thimbas Hayward, Jr., of Shrewsbury.

4736. 4. Junius Snow, b. March 18, 1744; m. 1764, Stephen Brigham.

4740. 8. Martha Snow, b. April 25, 1756.

4728. iv. Isaac, b. May 29, 1723; m. Sarah Collins.

4729. v. Martha, b. July 26, 1726. She is mentioned in her father’s will as Martha Gibbs. She married at Southborough, May 28, 1759, James Gibbs, who I suppose was son of Jonathan and Lydia (—-—) Gibbs of Framingham and Hopkinton, and born at Framingham, May 28, 1726. They had one child born in Southborough and probably moved away soon, as I can find no further mention of the family. Child was:

4730. vi. Margaret, b. Aug. 30, 1729. She is not mentioned in her father’s will, and probably died young. Her birth is recorded as “dau. of Isaac Jr. and Sarah,” but there was no other Isaac and Sarah Newton whose daughter she could be except this couple.

4731. vii. Mary, b. June 8, 1731; d. in Southborough, Feb. 23, 1758; m. there, Feb. 19, 1741-5, Joseph Graves, son of Joseph and Rachel (Pratt) Graves of Framingham, where he was born Jan. 21, 1722-3. They lived in Southborough and had there five children. He married (2) at Southborough, Oct. 18, 1758, Lydia Newton (1812) and continued to reside at Southborough, and had there six more children, for whom see her number. I do not find the death of either Joseph or Lydia. Mary Graves, first wife, is mentioned in the will of her father, Isaac Newton. Her children were:

4745. 3. Mary Graves, b. May 2, 1747; m. 1777, Othniel Taylor, Jr. (181), son of Othniel and Mercy (Newton) Taylor, b. Dec. 3, 1732.

4752. viii. Seth (Capt.), b. Sept. 30, 1732; m. (1) ———; m. (2) Mrs. Patience (Bent) Harvey.

4723. ix. Simdba, b. March 25, 1735; m. Jerusha Marsh.

Sarah Belknap, b. Dec. 25, 1691; m. March 29, 1715-16, Isaac Newton, in Boston. She died (3) over 100 years old. [II. W. Belknap of Salem.]

*Jonathan Gibbs (—-—) died in Framingham Sept. 26, 1735. His wife was Lydia (—-—). They resided in Framingham and had there seven children, most of whom were baptized in the church at Hopkinton: Esther, 1725; d. same year; James, b. May 28, 1726; bapt. June 12; Jacob, b. and bapt. 1728; Lydia, 1730; Esther, 1731; Sarah, 1734; Jonathan, 1736 ("of Jonathan deceased"); d. 1740.

See the Town Records of Sudbury, Newton and Framingham, Mass., for more about the Gibbs families.
157. EPHRAIM NEWTON (Daniel, Richard), son of Daniel, Sr., and Susanna (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there February 12, 1689, and died at Leicester, Mass., about the latter part of February, 1761.

He married at Marlborough, Mass., May 29, 1710 [1711 T. R.], Christian Ripley, daughter of George and Sarah (——) Ripley* of Marlborough, where she was born February 27, 1689. She was living May 11, 1762, when as a widow from Lancaster she was warned from Rutland. The warrant was not returned to the Court. Perhaps she was the Widow Newton who died in Boylston, October 2, 1750.

Ephraim Newton lived in Marlborough, in the part that was set off to Southborough. Thus his first seven children were born at Marlborough and the next two at Southborough. It would appear that about the beginning of 1730 he moved to Leicester, where he settled and lived the remainder of his life, and where his youngest child was born. Of his large family only one son became adult.

The following documents from the Probate Court explain themselves. The old people probably lived by themselves with their unmarried daughter, Mary, whose will shows she had died a short time before her father died of smallpox. The queer spelling of Mr. William Martin in his account for service is not so bad after all, for those times—and the account is interesting.

After reading the papers in administration of his estate, it will be seen that the family of Ephraim Newton were in a bad way, with three of them down with smallpox, at the time of his death. What, with the amount of "Run and Shangor" consumed and the numerous "tending on you" by the "several persons for nursing," one can imagine the poor widow Christian was not in condition to undertake the settlement of the bills. There seems to have been no real estate.

Liester  March 5 day 1760.

I Christian Newton Desire your honor to doo for me as you think best for me for I Cant Come Down my self for I am in a very Low surnonstance I want to Live with my son if you think itt best for me no more att present from yours to Sarve

BRANCH OF DANIEL

CHILDREN.

1. Sarah, b. Feb. 15, 1711; probably died young.
2. Azubah, b. April 1, 1713; d. in Southborough, Nov. 9, 1736; m. about 1735 or 1736. Anna Newton, sc., son of Moses and Sarah (Howe) Newton of Marlborough, where he was born April 16, 1714. They lived in Southborough, where they had ten children. See his number for further account of him and their children (1494).
4. Tabitha, b. Feb. 14, 1717-18; d. ——; m. at Westborough, Dec. 6, 1745, Eleazer Ward, son of Increase and Ruth (Fay) Ward of Marlborough and Westborough. He was born at Marlborough, July 15, 1712; died ——. Their oldest child was baptized in Grafton, the other three here given were born, and two of them died, at Rutland. Both Tabitha and Eleazer Ward were living in 1761, and with their mark signed papers in the administration of her father's estate. Her mother, "widow Child" (perhaps on a visit to her daughter, when the selectmen of Rutland "warned" her out, as a part of their duty in regular course. Children:

5. Susanna*, b. Feb. 10, 1719-20; d. ——; m. (I suppose in Sunderland, Mass.), July 23, 1741, Isaac Barrett, son of Benjamin and Sarah (Graves) Barrett of Chelmsford and Hatfield, Mass. He was born at Chelmsford, about 1711. They resided in Montague, Mass. There may have been more children than the one here given. Isaac Barrett signed for himself the release of the estate of Ephraim Newton to the widow, Susanna, "Launa," signed by her mark, which shows they were both living in 1761. Child:

1. Zadoc Barrett, b. ——.
6. Bathsheba*, b. May 9, 1725; d. m. at Leicester, March 30, 1748-9, Thomas Sunderland, Mass., son of Daniel and Sarah (Graves?) Smith of Sunderland and Hunting Hills, Mass. He was born before 1714-before his father came to Sunderland. He signed the release of the estate to her mother with his own hand and she by her mark, showing that both were living in 1761. They lived in Sunderland, where they had five children, and later in Montague, where there were "probably others."

4. Patricia Smith, b. April 33, 1756.
5. Zebediah Smith, b. April 13, 1758.
6. Hannah*, b. July 28, 1725; probably died young; no further mention of her, and she did not sign the release.
7. Mary* (twin), b. July 25, 1729; d. at Leicester, probably in the autumn of 1760. An abstract of her will is here given, which shows she died unm. No record of death.

* Increase Ward (Increase* [I suppose], William*) married at Marlborough, June 28, 1706, Ruth Faw, dau. of John (b. abt. 1648, in England, came to Boston 1666) and Susanna (Shattuck Morse) Fay of Marlborough, b. 1681. They lived in Marlborough, where they had eight children. The fifth was Eleazer, b. 1712. See note to Thomas Newton* (John*).
† Benjamin Barrett ([son of Benjamin and Sarah* (Graves, b. 1671, dau. of Isaac*, s. of Thomas) Barrett of Hadley] was one of the first forty settlers of Sunderland, Mass. He was of Chelmsford, 1706-1710, where his four eldest children were born; married there June 18, 1705, Hannah Foster. He died Jan. 17, 1729. Eight children. The third was Isaac, b. about 1711, who m. Susanna Newton.
Benjamin Barrett, sr., at marriage was of Deerfield, Mass.; a soldier under Capt. Turner. He died in 1690.
§ Daniel Smith (lineage not ascertained) was one of the first forty settlers of Sunderland, Mass. After a few years he removed to Hunting Hills. His wife Anna had Bathsheba, b. 1699, before she came to Sunderland, and died. His wife Sarah* (perhaps dau. of Samuel Graves, s. of John*), dau. of Thomas* was mother of the other six children. Zebediah, the third child, m. 1749, Bathsheba Newton.
1769. Mary Newton, Leicester, 43296 A.

After reading the above and the papers in settlement of her father's estate there can no longer be a question as to who was the wife of Amos Newton, although the record of marriage is not available.

4756. ix. Ephraim (twin), b. July 25, 1729; d. the same day, Southborough.
4757. x. Mercy, b. Oct. 17, 1730, at Leicester. She probably died young, though there is no record of the death. She is not mentioned in the settlement of the father's estate.

158. ABRAHAM NEWTON3 (Daniel2, Richard1), son of Daniel and Susanna (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there, March 2, 1691, and died at Holden, Mass., before May 13, 1742.

He married at Marlborough, October 20, 1709, Rachel Newton (190), daughter of John and Hannah (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, where she was born May 17, 1694. She died, probably, in Sunderland, Mass. May 13, 1742, she was appointed administratrix of her husband's estate, at which time she would be 58 years old. You will notice that two of Mr. Newton's nieces had settled in Sunderland; also that his son had married Sarah Graves. These facts lead me to think this is the "Widow Rachel Newton," who married, April 8, 1751, as his second wife, Noah Graves1 (Samuel1, John2, Thomas3, from England), born 1695; died 1773, one of the first settlers of Sunderland.

Mr. Newton resided in, and his lands were in, that part of Marlborough that was set off to Southborough. Thus the records show the first three children to have been born at Marlborough, the fourth and sixth to have been baptized there. The fifth and last three were born at Southborough.

Mr. Newton bought land in Holden and removed to that town to reside between 1735 and 1742, the date of his death. Moses Leonard, one of the sureties in the administration of his estate, had married Mercy Newton2, cousin of Abraham3, and owned lands in Rutland.

The following abstract of the administration of his estate is interesting, showing, as it does, his then heirs.

160. SAMUEL NEWTON, son of Daniel and Susanna (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there August 10, 1695; baptized there April 13, 1707; died _____, 1771.

He married at Weston, Mass., by Rev. William Williams, November 28, 1716 [Nov. 18 = Bond], Mary Tozer of Weston, daughter of Simon and Mary (_____ = Tozer) of Weston, where she was born August 16, 1693. Her sister Abigail married Nathaniel Newton, brother of Samuel.

*RICHARD TOZER of Boston, m. there July 3, 1656, by Richard Bellingham, Deputy Governor, to JUDITH SMITH. He had one son, Thomas, there and rem. to Killery, Maine, as early as 1659, where he was killed by the Indians, Oct., 1675. His widow, Judith, died prior to June 18, 1683, as his son Richard, Jr., was then appointed her administrator. Richard, Sr., owned lands also in Berwick, Maine, which were transferred by deed, in 1733, to Samuel Lord, the children of Simon signing for it, they living in Massachusetts. The children of Richard, so far as I know, were: Thomas, b. May 5, 1657; Martha, m. 1678, Nathan Lord (who were the parents of Capt. Samuel Lord, b. 1680, m. Martha Wentworth; Simon, b. —; d. 1718; Richard, Jr., m. Elizabeth Wentworth (?). They joined in a deed, 1745, then of Berwick, Maine, of all real and personal property to Samuel Lord of Berwick, £500, as though moving away.) Elizabeth, m. Richard Randall of Dover, N. H.

Simon Tozer (Richard) of Watertown Farms (Weston now), died Dec. 30, 1718; by wife Mary, m. Mar., b. Aug. 16, 1662, m. Nov. 18 or 28, 1716, Samuel Newton of Marlborough; John, b. 1665, m. 1718, Experience Jackson of Newton; Richard, Jr., and Abigail (twins), b. July 26, 1701. She m. at Marlborough, May 18 or 23, 1720 [C. R. and T. R.], Nathaniel Newton (who was a brother of Samuel Newton) above, sons of Daniel: Susanna, m. Jan. 27, 1705, Judith, b. Jan. 4, 1705.

The Samuel Lord here mentioned is the same person and a grandson of Richard Tozer, Sr., as above noted. He gave the “Tozer place” in Maine—as at Salmon Falls—to his son Abraham; it continued in possession of his descendants until shortly before 1893.
Mr. Newton lived in Marlborough-Southborough, Mass. His sons Lemuel and Samuel, Jr., were born at Marlborough. The record of his family is imperfect, and there may have been other children.

He and his brother Nathaniel bought from their father, Daniel Newton, Sr., all the "lands I am now possessed of," interest in gristmill, personal property, etc., jointly, giving in consideration, money and bonds. See the deeds given under his heading. There is no record of the settling of Samuel Newton's estate in Probate Court.

CHILDREN.

161. NATHANIEL NEWTON\(^3\) (Daniel\(^2\), Richard\(^1\)), son of Daniel and Susanna (Morse) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there September 4, 1697, and died at Southborough, Mass., June 14, 1749.

He married at Marlborough, May 18 or 23, 1720, Abigail Tozer, twin daughter of Simon and Mary (-----) Tozer of Weston, Mass., where she was born July 26, 1701. She and their eldest son, Richard Newton, were appointed administrators of Nathaniel Newton's estate in 1749. When she died, I have not found. Her sister married Samuel Newton\(^2\), brother of her husband [which see]. Mr. Newton apparently lived in that part of Marlborough that was set off to Southborough, thus his three eldest children were born at Marlborough and all the others at Southborough.

On October 17, 1722, their father, Daniel Newton, Sr., in two deeds, conveyed to his two sons, Nathaniel and Samuel Newton, jointly, all his personal estate; cattle, horses, sheep and swine; all tools for husbandry and utensils for housekeeping; all lands and grants from the township of Marlborough; all his interest in the gristmill at Stony Brook. This, "in Consideration of a valuable sum of money," and another "Consideration of a valuable sum of money and bonds for my subsistence," See the abstract of deeds given under Daniel Newton, Sr.\(^2\). Thus it would seem that the brothers came into possession of their father's homestead. At his death, Nathaniel Newton had a one-fourth interest in the gristmill. An abstract of the administration of the estate of Nathaniel Newton of Southborough is here given:

FOURTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

4697. DANIEL NEWTON I (Daniel II, Daniel I, Richard I), son of Daniel Jr., and Sarah (——) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there April 14, 1705.

He married at Framingham, Mass., December 12, 1728, Sarah Hudson [written “Hutson” in the record, an instance of their queer spelling in those times. Also the name Daniel is given “David,” but there was no David then living who could have married in Massachusetts in 1728.]

This wife Sarah had two children that are recorded in Southborough and there may have been others.

Daniel Newton and Sarah Lawrence married in Southborough, December 25, 1745. I suppose to be a second marriage of Daniel Newton I. Where they lived or where they died is unknown to me.

Daniel Newton was a soldier in the French and Indian War, in 1758 and in 1759, from the town of Marlborough. He may have been then resident of Marlborough. He would have been 54 years old at the last date.

CHILDREN.

4806. i. MARTHA, b. June 10, 1730; d., perhaps, at Athol; m. in Southborough, April 30, 1747, Samuel Phillips, son of Ebenezer and Mary (Smith) Phillips* of Watertown. He was born at ——, June 22, 1726, and died at Athol, Jan. 2, 1810, aged 83 years. C. R. They lived in Southborough, where their ten children were born; then “removed, probably as late as 1771, or later, to Athol, where he died.” Their children were:

4808. 1. Samuel Phillips, b. May 10, 1748; d. at Athol, April 9, 1796.

4813. 6. John Phillips, b. May 3, 1754; m. April 6, 1779, Huldah Amsden, dau. of Jesse and Betsey (Ball) Amsden of Southborough, b. June 26, 1760.

4814. 7. Nathaniel Phillips, b. April 15, 1759.

4817. 10. Mary Phillips, b. March 20, 1766.

4807. ii. ZEBERIAH, b. Jan. 29, 1732-3; d. April —, 1733.

4698. EZEKIEL NEWTON I, SR. (Daniel I, Daniel II, Richard I), son of Daniel and Sarah (——) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there August 27, 1707. He died at Southborough, probably in the last part of the year 1787, as his will was filed December 22, 1787.

* Andrew Phillips of Charlestown, Mass., m. Elizabeth ——, and had Elizabeth, 1657; Ephraim, 1659; Andrew, bap. aged 25, 1686-7 = b. abt. 1642.

Andrew Phillips (Andrew), b. abt. 1612; d. 1717; m. 1683, Sarah Smith, bap. 1661, dau. of Michael of Mistle-side or Malden. They had Andrew, 1687; Ebenezer, 1695; Joanna, 1697; Samuel.

Ebenezer Phillips (Andrew), b. Aug. 17, 1695; m. Mary Smith, b. 1697-8, dau. of John, a tailor, and Ruth (Cutler) his wife. They had John, b. Sept. 11, 1722; Samuel, June 22, 1726, m. Martha Newton.
He married at Marlborough, Mass., March 31, 1730, Tirzah Newton (1507), daughter of Jonathan and Bethia (Rice) Newton of Marlborough, where she was born August 16, 1709. She died at Southborough, August 10, 1755, aged 46 years. She was the mother of six children.

He married (2) at Sherborn, Mass., May 25, 1757, Mrs. Mercy, Mary Morse, widow of Obadiah Morse of Sherborn, and daughter of William and Sarah (Goodenow) Walker of Sudbury, Mass., where she was born October 30, 1706. The date of her death is not recorded at Southborough, where she probably died about 1777, or just before.

He married (3) at Southborough, May 19, 1779, Sarah Whiteing, for she is the record, who had a daughter, Sarah Belknap, as shown by the will of Ezekiel Newton, Sr., in which he provides for both of them, and appoints his widow, Sarah, and son Ezekiel, executors.

This Ezekiel Newton of Southborough is called “Sr.” many times in the town records, to distinguish him from the Ezekiel, son of Moses, Jr., who is called “Jr.” of the same town.

The children of Ezekiel and Tirzah Newton were all born at Southborough. He was a farmer in that town. He was appointed administrator of his father’s estate in 1748.

Ezekiel, Sr., either succeeded to, or bought in, a part of the grist mill that was part of his grandfather’s estate on Stony Brook.

The following is an abstract of the will of Ezekiel Newton, Sr.

1787. Ezekiel Newton, Southborough, 435/812.
Will, filed Dec. 22, 1787. (No other records.) About 8 pages. To wife Sarah the use of the S.E. room with chamber, kitchen, and garret and cellar etc., during her life, also one third of all crops and produce of farm, and one third income of grist mill to the use of widow and her daughter, Sarah Belknap, while she remains my widow.
To wife also one beech, use of horse & chaise, furniture, certain amount of wool, flax etc. “so long as she remains my widow.” To Sarah Belknap use of a room and a chamber above and kitchen, use of horse, support by son Ezekiel, so long as she is single.
To my son Alexander 176 barrels of corn or its value
To my son Nehemiah 458 " " " " " "
TO my son Daniel 350 " " " " " "
To my daughter Elizabeth Matthews, certain household utensils
To my daughter Persis Robinson certain household utensils
All the residue, real & personal, to son, Ezekiel, Sarah, widow, and son Ezekiel appointed executors.

CHILDREN.

4818. i. ELIZABETH, b. Feb. 19, 1734-2; d. ———. I do not feel sure I am right about the marriages of this Elizabeth Newton. I give what I find on the town records. I leave it for another to prove or disprove. She married at Southborough, Dec. 12, 1750, Jonas Woods, son of David and Ruth

* OBADIAH MORSÉ (Daniel, Daniel, Samuel Morsé, from England to America in 1635), son of Daniel and Susannah (Holbrook) Morse of Sherborn, Mass., was born there Aug. 15, 1704; died there in 1753. He inherited the homestead of his father at Sherborn and continued to reside there. He married at Sudbury, Nov. 28, 1728, MARY WALKER, daughter of William, and by her had ten children. He left a large estate. Among the items of the inventory was “one negro manservant valued at $150.” His widow, Mary, was appointed administratrix. Their tenth child was MARY MORSÉ, who m. Asahel Newton (Samuel, Jr., Samuel, Daniel).

ii. WILLIAM WALKER (son of Thomas Walker of Boston and Sudbury) was born at Sudbury July 22, 1666, and died there Oct. 3, 1752. He m. there, May 6, 1686, SARAH GOODENOW, born July 2, 1666, in Sudbury, and was living in 1734. (She was dau. of Capt. John, 1633-1721, son of Edmund, 1611-1688, immigrant, 1638.)

THOMAS WALKER (of Wm., d. 1697, at Sudbury. He was an innholder at Sudbury, Was a teacher also. His widow, MARY, m. (2) Capt. John Goodenow, above. He left to her the “negro Sambo,” to whom she gave his freedom at her decease.
BRANCH OF DANIEL.

(Johnson) Woods⁸ of Marlborough, where he was baptized Jan. 9, 1729-30. C. R. He died — —. They lived in Southborough, where their four children were born:

3. Elizabeth⁹ Woods, b. Dec. 17, 1755; m. 1785, Abner Parker (3d w.).

"Elizabeth" Woods and Asahel Mathis (Matthews is the correct spelling) married in Southborough, Nov. 25, 1750. He was the son of Daniel and Emnine (Morss) Matthews of Marlborough-Southborough, born in Southborough, Sept. 9, 1752, and may be the Asahel Mathews who died there Jan. 24, 1811. C. R. In his will he gives "To my daughter, Elizabeth Mathews," so there is no doubt about her having married a Matthews. And also that she was living when he made the will, probably about 1786. She lived in Southborough. The children born there were:

5. Israele Matthews, b. Jan. 20, 1762; m. 1783, Charles Ripley Burnett.

6. Enioor Matthews, b. Sept. 6, 1763; m. 1780, Peter Fay.

7. Oliver⁷ Matthews, b. June 3, 1764; m. 1790, Olive Nurse.

8. Charlotte⁷ Matthews, b. April 7, 1767.

11. Israel⁷ Matthews, b. Nov. 18, 1774; m. 1791, Martha Mills.

1849. ii. Alexander⁸, b. Feb. 14, 1733; was living in 1748, when he was the only claimant, and by the order of the Judge the balance on account, in the administration of the estate of Ezekiel Newton of Southborough (whom I suppose to be his brother) was paid to him. He was a soldier of the Revolution. An abstract of service: "Alexander Newton. Private in Capt. Moses Harrington's Company, Col. Dike's regiment, muster roll, Dec. 1776—Feb. 1777, credited to Southborough. Enlisted Dec. 29, 1776, to serve until March 1, 1777. Also, in Capt. Ephraim Ingersbee's Co. Col. John Woods⁷, Sr., the innkeeper of Sudbury, and a petitioner for Marlborough; shared in the divisions of the land; was selected in 1665, '66 and '65; was one of the early members of the church. His wife was Mary —, probably Parmaster; for in his will, dated Nov. 26, 1677, and proved March 5, 1678-9, he mentions his wife; "father Parmaster"; son-in-law John Bellows; and sons, John, Isaae and James; who were all born at Sudbury. Wid. Mary Woods died at Marlborough, Aug. 17, 1780, aged 80. He died at Marlborough, July 10, 1788, aged 88. The dau. was Mary; "Wid. Mary Bellows," died Sept. 16, 1767.

Her children were born—the first five in Framingham, the last five in Westborough, namely:

1750. WILLIAM NEWTON1 (Daniel2, Daniel3, Richard4), son of Daniel and Sarah (———) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there, November 29, 1711. He died ——.

He married at Framingham, Mass., December 1, 1737, Elizabeth Wright, daughter of Edward and Hannah (———) Wright5 of Framingham, where she was born March 11, 1716-17. She died ——.

Mr. Newton continued to reside in Marlborough after his marriage. The births of his first six children are recorded there, the last two I do not find.

In the French and Indian War, in 1757, his name appears among the list of "Alarm men" attached to the Company of Capt. Jonathan Weeks, organized in Marlborough. The older men, or those otherwise exempt, were organized into "alarm lists," to be ready for any emergency at home while the younger men marched as occasion required. William Newton would be 46 years old at this time.

The United States Census, 1790, gives William Newton of Marlborough, head of a family consisting of himself, one male above sixteen years, one male below sixteen years, and two females.

It does not seem as though those were all one woman's children. E. S. L.

EDWARD WRIGHT (i sup. of Edw.), b. March 18, 1677, in Sudbury; m. HANNAH ———; res. in Framingham. They had there Abenham, b. 1709(?); in Sudbury: Bezaleel, 1710; William, 1711; Tabitha, 1712; Mary, 1711; Elizabeth, March 11, 1716-17; Hannah, 1710; Edward, 1720-1.
ii. CATHERINE, b. Nov. 1, 1739; d. ———. She was living at Leverett, Mass., in 1821; m. at Southborough, Aug. 8, 1758, John Stockwell, 3d, of Leverett, where they resided. He was living in 1821 and appeared for his wife in the administration of her brother’s estate. I suppose he was a half-brother of her sister’s husband, James Stockwell, and son of David and Mary (1st wife) Stockwell of Sutton, where he was baptized Nov. 18, 1727. They had one child that died in Athol; and probably other children in Leverett. Child was:

1. EMMA  Stockwell, b. ———; d. Sept. 22, 1777.

iii. TABITHA, b. May 7, 1741; d. ———; m. at Marlborough, Nov. 3, 1767, Job Burnham, then of Littleton, son of Joshua and Ann (———) Burnham of Hopkinton, where he was born Dec. 15, 1740. He died before 1821. They resided at Littleton, Mass., and had four children. He married (2d) at Hopkinton, Dec. 11, 1777, Abigail Merritt. Children of Tabitha were:

1. DAVID Burnham, b. ———; heir to his uncle’s estate, and living in 1821.
2. Mary Burnham, b. ———; heir to his uncle’s estate, and living in 1821.
3. Sally Burnham, b. ———; heir to her uncle’s estate, 1821; m. John Gallop. They were both living and signed the necessary papers in the administration of the estate.
4. Sarah Burnham, b. ———; living in 1821; m. at Hopkinton, Mass., Nov. 11, 1811, Abraham Lader, who represented her in the settlement of her uncle’s estate in 1821.

iv. ELIZABETH, b. April 3, 1743; m. at Athol, Mass., Dec. 6, 1769, James Stockwell, son of David and Rebecca (McClain) Stockwell of Sutton, where he was baptized May 14, 1750. At marriage he was ‘‘of Warwick,’’ and both had died before 1821, when their children became heirs of her brother William Newton. Their children were probably born at Warwick. Two of them were baptized at Athol. The following list of their children is meager of dates, and there may have been others. Children were:

1. Phoebe Stockwell, b. ———; bapt. Nov. 23, 1772, C. R.
3. James R. Stockwell, b. ———; living in 1821, and represented by his brother-in-law, Reuben Bridge.
4. Sally Stockwell, b. ———; m. George (or Edward) McCudden. They were living in 1821, and were represented by Attorney Jonathan Edmands. Living in New York State.
5. Rebecca Stockwell, b. ———; m. Reuben Bridge. Both were living in 1821, and he represented their interests in the settlement of her uncle William’s estate.

v. WILLIAM, b. May 13, 1745; d. at Marlborough, March 2, 1821, aged 76. He was a farmer in Marlborough, and never married. His sister lived with him and survived him twenty-one years. His estate was distributed among his sisters and their heirs, in the manner set forth in the legal documents given below. I am indebted to those papers for much in compiling a record of this family. The papers in settlement of the estate are many; but all are interesting, as illustrating the manner of those times. The many names of persons then living there, as well as the traced autographs, are well worth preserving. In the twenty-four legal papers there is much printed matter which is here left out as usual and unimportant. The size, condition, material and general appearance of the papers, as described by the copyster, is all very interesting. I make no apology for the space given to them.

David Stockwell married Mary ———; resided in Sutton, where they had two children born and five children baptized. He m. (1st) at Sutton, March 11, 1745, Rebecca McClain, and had two other children baptized the same day. The children were: Jeremiah and Joseph, 1752; Ephraim, 1753; John, May 1755; John, bapt. Nov. 15, 1757; Abigail, 1741; Lewis, 1742; and last, David and James, bapt. May 14, 1759.

There were many families of Stockwell in Sutton. The oldest of all was Capt. John Stockwell, who died ‘‘March 20, 1778, aged almost 91 years. Old age,” I suppose his wife was Mary. They had a son Abrahad, b. 1724. I suppose the John, Jr., was his son. Said John, Jr., m. (1) 1759, Margaret Smith (two children); m. (2) Lydia Elliot (five children); m. (3) Lydia King, 1748 (and per. (4) Abigail). This John, Jr., and 2d wife had a son, John, b. March 9, 1748, who may have been “John 5th” but it seems to me the son of David (above) was “John 5th,” being born first.
4849. vi. Bartholomew, b. May 4, 1749; nothing further of him. He probably died unmarried, and before 1821, as he is not mentioned in the administration of his brother William's estate, who is said to have "left no brother." He may have died in childhood.

4851. viii. Olive, b. —; was living in 1821; m. at Marlborough, March 25, 1790, Charles Edmands of Leverett, where they were living in 1821. He signs his name Charles Eames in the administration of William Newton's estate, in right of his wife.

4736. HEZEKIAH NEWTON* (Isaac3, Daniel2, Richard1), son of Isaac and Sarah (Belknap) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there July 28, 1719. He died at Paxton, Mass., February 4, 1786, in his 67th year. His gravestone in Paxton cemetery is inscribed:

"Death is a debt to Nature due
Which I have paid & so must you."

He married at Southborough, Mass., September 8, 1742, Eunice Brigham, daughter of Lieut. Nathan and Dinah (Rice) Brigham of Marlborough-Southborough. She was born at Marlborough, October 4, 1721. baptized at the church there November 19, 1721. (The baptisms of both Eunice and her sister Dinah are recorded as daughters of "Nathaniel, Jr.") She died, and an administrator was appointed for her estate January 7, 1792. See below.

Hezekiah Newton lived several years after his marriage in Southborough; the first three of his children were born there. The fourth child was born at Leicester, and he probably lived there at the time, as he is described as of Leicester in a deed dated December 27, 1748 [see Deed Book 27, pg. 287, at Worcester, Mass.], by which Nathan Brigham conveys to him a tract of land in Rutland. This land seems to have been the family home, to which he moved between 1748 and 1751, and the next six children were born in Rutland. On February 12, 1765, a part of Rutland was included in the new town of Paxton, after which date he is spoken of as "Hezekiah Newton of Paxton," where he became a man of property and influence. Two more children were born to him there and the older of the two baptized in the Rutland church, showing he still held his membership there in 1765.

The following from the will of his father shows that he did not leave his father's home at age with empty hands: "As to my eldest son Hezekiah Newton I have given him already great part of his portion, but I will give, grant to him, his heirs and assigns twenty pounds, to be paid seven years after my decease."

THOMAS BRIGHAM (Thomas, the immigrant), b. 1614; d. 1677; m. (1) MARY RICE; m. (2) MRS. SUSANNA MORSE of Watertown; res. Marlborough, a prominent man there. Eight children. The fifth was DAVID, b. 1678 (who m. wid. of Edward Newton; see note there); the second was

CAPT. NATHAN BRIGHAM, b. 1671; d. 1716; res. Marlborough, where he filled many town offices; m. (1) ELIZABETH MAYNARD, dau. of John and Mary (Gates) Maynard of Marlborough; b. April 2, 1694; d. "March 29, 1732, aged 69, living 4 days." [See the wills of John Maynard and Abraham Howe, which correct the errors of Hudson's History of Marlborough as to these marriages. Elizabeth Howe m. Samuel Brigham.] He m. (2) MERITABLE (GOULD) EATON, wid. of Jonas of Charlestown. Eight children. The first was LIEUT. NATHAN BRIGHAM, b. 1693; d. "1784 in his 91st year" at Southborough, where he resided, his hands being set off to that town. He inherited the Bible, law book, cane and sword of his father. He m. (1) 1717, DINAH RICE; m. (2) MRS. ELIZABETH (WARD) SOW. Of his thirteen children one was ERIC, b. 1721, m. HEZEKIAH NEWTON. See notes to Josiah Newton and Joseph Newton, and David Newton.

Mr. Newton's lands in Paxton were high but level and covered many acres. Wachusett Mountain, not many miles away, was in full view. Here he built his first home-house. The house has disappeared; the foundations of it are in place, now covered with grassy mounds and shrubbery. Some of the first out-buildings are still in use. A grand old elm near the site of this house bears a marker with the words, "The true central tree of Worcester Co."

Later Mr. Newton built on another part of the farm another house—more pretensions and more suitable to the numbers and needs and means of the family. This second house is still in good condition and is inhabited.

Mr. Newton owned land in Royalston; a deed for which bears the signatures of his then living children and is in possession of his descendants. This is, I suppose, the 100 acres inventoried as "real estate in Royalston" in the settlement of his estate. He left no will and his son Silas Newton was appointed administrator of his estate. The papers in the case are here listed. An appeal to the Court, giving the reasons for it, is here given in full. This is particularly interesting on account of the name of the youngest son, "Baxter Newton a minor under the age of twenty-one years." The officer of the Court who copied this for me states that the name is clearly every time "Bonter," whereas the son clearly signs his name to a deed in 1792 as Baxter. I am inclined to think Baxter is what the other is intended to spell.

This old deed is dated June 9, 1792, and conveys real estate with buildings thereon, of Hezekiah Newton of Paxton, to Silas Newton of Paxton, it being the widow's thirds of Hezekiah Newton's estate; for the consideration of £20 to each heir; is signed by the heirs. The number of acres is not given. Those signing are: Edmund Newton, Persis Estabrook, Mehitable Lamb, Ruth Steward, Nathan Brigham Newton, Emilee Davis, Elizabeth Richardson, Catherine Craige, Baxter Newton, Hezekiah Newton, Jr.

Worcester, ss. To the Honble. Joseph Dorr Esqr Judge of the Probate of Wills &c in the county of Worcester &

Thomas Craige & Katharine Craige his wife in her right and Bonter Newton a minor under the age of twenty one years By David Burns his guardian, the sd Bonter & Katharine being children & heirs of Hezekiah Newton late of Paxton deceased, claim appeal from the order & decree of your Honour, made the third day of March last on the settlement of Silas Newton's administration account on the estate of said Hezekiah Newton for the following reasons to win.

1st. Because there is allowed to the sd administrator the sum of 5¢-4-0-0 paid to Adam Prouty and the sum of 2¢-4-3-9 as paid to Adam Maynard which were not due from the said estate & also the sum of 2¢-0 as due to himself.
2d Because there is allowed to the sd administrator the sum of £25 for his own labour, as he says performed for the sd Hezekiah in his life time when in fact there was nothing due.
3rd Because there is allowed to the sd administrator the sum of £45.0-0-0 for supposed improvements of a farm of the deceased occupied for a number of years by the sd administrator in the life time of the decease when in fact no improvements were made & the whole rent of the sd farm was in arrears.

4th Because the sd acct is unjust, illegal & fraudulent.

live with her son by her first marriage, Jonah Harvey, in Southborough, where she died January 23, 1837, aged nearly 96. An abstract of her will and a list of the administration papers are given herewith. The many names given in this will are helpful in verifying the data obtained from other sources regarding this family.

Capt. Seth Newton was about nineteen years old when his father made his will in 1731, and about twenty-two years old when he presented that will in Court and was appointed executor of it, the other heirs who were present assenting, in 1751. He seems to have been a person in whom others could put trust with safety, even in his early manhood. This is instanced also in his being made an officer of the "Train Band" when about twenty-five years old.

When, where and to whom Capt. Seth Newton was married the first time, or where he spent the years of this married life, does not yet appear. He seems to have been in touch with Southborough all through his army life, and probably was married somewhere near 1760. After his second marriage he seems to have lived the remainder of his life at Southborough, and his two youngest sons were born there. He may have had other children by his first wife, but only Martha, Luther and Simeon are mentioned in his will. Notice that his second marriage did not occur until after the Revolutionary War was over.

Seth Newton was a member of the Southborough militia under Captain Timothy Brigham, in 1757, and a Corporal in the "Train Band" under the same captain in the same year.—Mass. Archives.

Seth Newton was Captain of the Eighth (Southborough) Company of the Sixth Worcester County regiment of militia, in a list of officers chosen in said regiment, as returned by John Goulding and others, field officers, dated Westborough, April 15, 1776; ordered in council April —, 1776, that said officers be commissioned; reported commissioned April 5, 1776; also

"Seth Newton, Captain in Col. John Smith's regiment, list of officers, year not given; also

"Seth Newton in a report made of enlistment committee for the County of Worcester, dated Watertown Sept. 6, 1776, of men raised to re-enforce the Con-continental Army: Said Newton with his Company of 73 men marched to Northward, or Canada Department July 29, 1776, under command of Col. Smith. Also

"Capt. Seth Newton in Col. Whitney's regiment, engaged Aug. 21, 1777, discharged Aug. 26, 1777; service six days on an alarm at Bennington; company proceeded from Southborough to Hadley on horses, by order of the Brigadier General, horse hire and milage allowed home (80 miles). Also

"Capt. Seth Newton of the Fourth Company in Col. Job Cushing's Sixth (Worcester Co.) regiment of Mass. Militia; list of officers; commissioned Aug. 7, 1777. Also

"Seth Newton, Capt. in Col. Abijah Stearns' regiment; engaged April 1, 1778, discharged July 2, 1778; service three months, two days, at and about Boston; roll endorsed, 'Guards at Roxbury.'"

An account of the Ratification of the Constitution of the United States by the Convention of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts convened at Boston on the ninth day of January, 1788, and continued until the seventh day of February, was printed in the Massachusetts Gazette of February 8th, 1788, at Boston. It gives me pleasure to note that Capt. Seth Newton of Southborough was a member of that convention and was one of the majority who voted "Yea." 187 yrs, 168 days, majority of 19. The whole account, the jubilation of the City of Boston, the next day, is pleasant reading.

In the First United States Census, 1790, occurs the name of Seth Newton, head of a family consisting of (himself counted) four males above sixteen years, two males below sixteen years, and three females. By looking closely at the dates of births and marriage of his own, and his wife's children by her previous marriage, it is not difficult to imagine who the several persons were.

In several references to him, as also in the record of his death, he is styled "Esqr." instead of "Capt." Seth Newton.

I Seth Newton of Southborough in the County of Worcester and Commonwealth of Massachusetts Esqr.—considering the uncertainty of this mortal life, but of sound and perfect mind and memory, blessed be almighty God for the same, do make and publish this my last Will & Testament, in manner and form following, (that is to say)

She died Aug. 21, 1731, aged 32 yrs. They had in Charlestown, Mary, 1719; m. Joseph Lewis, Jr.; Anne, 1725; John, 1727; Isaac, 1729; Mansfield, Jr., 1731. Widow Sarah Kidder of Cambridge took the last two children, aged respectively 2 yrs. 1 mo., and 19 mos. in 1731, their father and mother having both died about 1731. All of the children except Mansfield, Jr., changed the spelling of the name to Taplin, by which name their descendants have been known.

NEWTON GENEALOGY

Corinth, Vt., born about 1758, probably at Marlborough, Mass. They settled at Corinth, Vt., soon after their marriage, where they lived and died and where their children were born. Elisha Taplin was a soldier of the Revolution. He was a member of Capt. Josiah Fay’s Company, Col. Artemas Ward’s regiment in 1774. This Company with fifty-six men, marched to Lexington and Concord but the record does not state whether he went with them or not. [History of Worcester County, Mass.] He was a private, in Capt. Seth Newton’s Company, Col. Whittiey’s regiment in 1777. [Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in Revolutionary War.]

The “Old records of the Church of Christ” of Berlin, Vt., as published in the Genealogical Department of the Boston Transcript, state that in 1794 two children of Elisha Taplin died in Berlin, and that in 1785 Elisha Taplin himself died there. Family tradition states that he was killed by a fall from a horse, or was kicked by a horse and died as the result.

The land records of Berlin, Vt., show that in Aug. 1792, Elisha Taplin bought quite a tract of land there, his residence being given as Corinth; but before his death he had sold all of this and left no real estate.

His widow, Martha (Newton) Taplin, returned to Corinth, Vt., where the parents and a number of brothers of her husband lived, and she remained there until her death at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bond. Her children were:

1. Nathan Brightman Taplin, b. ————; was captain of a Corinth, Vt., company in the War of 1812; m. Hannah Stearns. They had:

   1. Nathan Brightman Taplin, Jr., b. ————.

   5. Lowell Greenleaf Taplin, b. Jan. 11, 1814; m. Jane Bassett.

The “Old Records of the Church of Christ, of Berlin, Vt.,” state there were thirteen families in that town in 1780, and that John Taplin from Corinth, Vt., came in 1780. Among the deaths are: 1794, Mrs. John Taplin, and two children of Elisha Taplin. 1795, Elisha Taplin and Mrs. Doctor Taplin.

Henry Robie, b. at Castle Durham, Eng., Feb. 12, 1618-19, was in Dorchester, Mass., in 1629, and removed the same year to Exeter, N. H., and in 1631 to Hampton, N. His son Ichabod, aged 11, was captured at the same time, but either escaped or was killed by her husband. Their son Capt. Ichabod Robie was b. at Haverhill, Mass., Jan. 15, 1689, and d. at Hampton Falls, N. H., Oct. 2, 1755. He m. Jan. 19, 1708, Mary Coss (dau. of Joseph and Mary (Hobbs) Coss), who survived her husband.

   8. Lucy Taplin, b. May 5, 1854; m. ——— Bond.

   10. Seth, b. ———, 1784; m. Joanna Newton.

   11. Peter Bent, b. Aug. 7, 1785; d. ———. When Capt. Seth Newton made his will, in 1798, this youngest son was about thirteen years old; when the will was probated in 1807, he was about twenty-two years old. Thus it would seem that, being brought up by so patriotic a father, he might have turned out to be a more conscientious man. The following is given me by a descendant of Capt. Seth Newton: "This Peter Bent Newton disappeared suddenly from Southborough and no one there ever knew where he went to or what became of him. It is said he was a counterfeiter, and that the government sought his apprehension, and hence he fled after burying his dies and plates." As per the will of his father, he received an equal share with his brother, Seth, of all the real estate within the town of Southborough, their mother having a life interest in one-third of it. His mother does not mention him in her will, which was allowed March 7, 1837. Whether he married or not does not appear.

4733. SIMEON NEWTON\(^4\) (Isaac\(^2\), Daniel\(^2\), Richard\(^1\)), son of Isaac, Sr., and Sarah (Belknap) Newton of Marlborough-Southborough, Mass., was born at Southborough, March 25, 1755, and died at Holliston, Mass., February 24, 1801, aged 66. Fever. C. R. Burial at the Central Cemetery, Holliston, Gravestone.

He married at Holliston, February 11, 1762, Jerusha Marsh, born about 1741, who died his widow in Holliston, September 23, 1835, aged 94. C. R. Burial beside her husband. Gravestone. I do not find her birth and parentage. How Reuben Marsh is an "heir at Law" of Simeon Newton is a mystery to me. The only one of that name I have seen is the marriage at Sturbridge, 1779, of Reuben Marsh and Tryphena Harding.

Simeon Newton seems to have lived all of his married life at Holliston, and there his six daughters were born and several of them he buried. At the taking of the United States Census, 1830, he was the head of a family consisting of, besides himself, one male below sixteen years, and six females, at Holliston.

Mr. Newton was a farmer, and from the inventory mention of "Coopers Tools and Timber," we may infer that he did something at the coopers' trade as well. He died intestate and his estate was administered by his son-in-law, who was appointed administrator. The following papers in administration of it—four in number—are interesting, and are given in full.

BRANCH OF DANIEL

April 15, 1801, administrator of the estate of Simeon Newton, his father-in-law, and released from the trust April 6, 1803, at which dates they were "of Holliston," "yeoman"; from which one would infer he was permanently settled there. No deaths of this family occur previous to 1849.

The birth of one child is recorded:

4951. I. Mary Rockwood, b. April 12, 1801.

4750. NAHUM NEWTON 4 (Ephraim3, Daniel2, Richard1), son of Ephraim and Christian (Ripley) Newton of Marlborough and Leicester, Mass., was born at Marlborough, April 15, 1715. He died at Shrewsbury, Mass., in 1751 or 1761. See below.

He married at Marlborough, Mass., January 23, 1735-6, Thankful Stow, daughter of Samuel, Jr., and Sarah (Snow) Stow 2 of Marlborough, where she was born April 30, 1711. She died, his widow, at Shrewsbury, Mass., March 18, 1769, "A. 60." [Does not reckon out right.]

Nahum Newton lived in Marlborough a few years after marriage. One son, who appears to be his only child, was born there. Later he removed to Shrewsbury, Mass., where he lived in quite the south part of the town. He was living March 6, 1761, at which date he declined to take the administration of his father's estate, and signed the release of the same to his mother.

The homestead that he founded in Shrewsbury remained in the possession of his descendants through four generations, passing down to his son, Jonathan 6, to Isaac 6, Chester V. 7, Walter T. 8, when, before 1807, it was sold.

Nahum Newton died intestate, and his widow, Thankful Newton, was appointed administratrix October 28, 1751. An abstract of administration follows. I cannot reconcile the conflicting dates in this abstract and the papers settling his father's estate. All legal papers copied for me by the Assistant Registrar at Worcester.

4952. I. JONATHAN 6, b. May 8, 1738; m. Sibbills Harrington.

4769. ABRAHAM NEWTON 4 (Abraham3, Daniel2, Richard1), son of Abraham and Rachel (Newton) Newton of Marlborough-Southborough, and Holden, Mass., was born at Marlborough, June 25, 1715, and died ——.

He married at Southborough, November 5, 1735, Sarah Graves.

Abraham Newton, as eldest son, received two shares (double portion) of his father's real estate, equal to £39-10, his mother being appointed administratrix. What became of the family is not clear. What evidence there is would indicate that they moved to the westward—Connecticut river valley. He may have been the Abraham Newton at the battle of Bennington, in the 1st company of militia, Vermont Revolutionary rolls. Old men and boys were engaged those days.

1761: "Khoold, 1763. Of him the church record states, "an eminent and respected Father in Holliston." Also, died "Wid. Mary Rockwood, mother of Timothy, Aug. 18, 1796, aged 96; [== b. 1700]."

* Stow. For early generations, see note to Paul Newton 5 (Nathan) and Joseph Newton 3 (Samuel) Stow 1 (Samuel, Thomas, John, immigrant 1634), b. 1680; d. 1768, aged 80; res. Marlborough; m. 1704, Sarah Snow. "They lived together as husband and wife 58 years, and she died 1762." They had seven children. The third was Thankful, b. 1711; m. 1736, Nahum Newton. 533
4772. JEDEDIAH NEWTON⁴ (Abraham³, Daniel², Richard¹), son of Abraham and Rachel (Newton) Newton of Marlborough and Holden, Mass., was probably born at Marlborough, though not recorded there, about 1721; died at Paxton before April 5, 1776, when his estate was probated.

He married at Leicester, Mass., March 8, 1758, Jemima Fay, daughter of—[I suppose she was the widow of David Fay of Marlborough, who "settled in that part of Leicester that became Paxton," married Jemima Newton, daughter of Daniel³ (153), and had four children recorded in Leicester,—although I have no death of David Fay, which probably occurred in Paxton, after 1754. See her number (4704)]. This Jemima (Newton) Fay was born at Marlborough March 26, 1723. She was living at Paxton April 5, 1776, and administered on her late husband's estate.

Jedediah Newton was more than of age when his father died in 1742; because, only the two youngest children are spoken of as minors, while he assumed the responsibility of paying the other heirs their shares in money: and to him was assigned the land in Holden, he giving bond in the sum of £200, with sureties, for the performance of the trust. See abstract of administration of his father's estate.

Mr. Newton lived in Paxton. The town was originally a part of Rutland and Leicester. Holden was once a portion of Leicester, and was incorporated in 1741. Jedediah and Jemima Newton had the following two children born in Leicester. There were possibly others.

The administration of his estate in the Probate Court is Case No. 43,229. Jedediah Newton of Paxton, 1776. Papers are: Bond of Jemimah Newton, widow, administratrix, appointed April 5, 1776, £200. Lemuel Rice, Eleazer Boyton, sureties.

They resided in Paxton, where the following children were born, after which, 1790, they removed to Chester, Vt., where he was living in 1834.

4776. PETER NEWTON⁴ (Abraham³, Daniel², Richard¹), son of Abraham and Rachel (Newton) Newton of Southborough and Holden, Mass., was born at Southborough, July 25, 1731, and died at Rutland, Mass., ———, 1802. There is no record of the death.

He married at Rutland, May 18, 1758, Hannah Child, daughter of Joshua and Sarah (———) Child⁸ of Watertown, Mass., where she was born October 10, 1727. She probably died before he did, which would be a reason why the "Westerly part of the dwelling house," as dower, was not set off from his estate. See below.

Peter Newton, a young man from Holden, was warned from Rutland, November 29, 1755. The warrant was returned to the Court on February 7, 1756. The Selectman evidently concluded to let him remain, for he married there the following May and settled in the town for the rest of his life. His children were born there, and in the settlement of his estate, in 1802, he is styled Peter Newton of Rutland. He left a will, and the case in Probate is No. 45,389.

He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, for a short time. Service: "Peter Newton, Rutland. Private in Capt. David Bent's Company, Col. Nathaniel Sparhawk's regiment, marched April 20, 1775 on Alarm to Cambridge, service six days."

The First United States Census, 1790, shows Peter Newton of Rutland head of a family with one other male above sixteen years, and three females.

4960. ii. ABIGAIL, b. Oct. 27, 1760; d. —; m. at Rutland, Sept. 8, 1782, Joel Read, son of Capt. Thomas, Jr., and Hannah (Nurse) Read of Rutland, where he was born Dec. 5, 1760, and where he died — "Drowned in Muscape Pond"—June 13, 1783, leaving a posthumous son. She married (2) at Rutland, June 8, 1785, David Rice, Jr., son of David and Love (Moore) commissions, and by the County Court. He d. 1853, aged 70, S. P. It is probable that Richard and John of Watertown and Benjamin of Roxbury were his nephews, whom he mentions in his will.

RICHARD CHILD, b. 1621; d. 1634; freeman, 1632; one of the heirs of DER PHILM CHILD; m. in Watertown, 1662, MARY CABBELL DIMSCHW, who died 1676, and he m. (2) 1678, HANNAH TRAINE, dau. of John and Margaret (Dix) Traine of Watertown, where she was b. 1657. He had twelve children. The ninth was

JOSEPH CHILD, b. Dec. 30, 1682, had by wife Sarah seven children. These moved from Watertown, going to Shrewsbury, Worcester, Rutland and other towns. The third child was Thomas, b. of Rutland, where he was born Feb. 18, 1757, and "where he died" Sept. 2, 1825. They resided in Rutland, where he was a Magistrate and Representative. The grave of "David Rice, died Sept. 2, 1825 aged 68," is in Princeton. There are also two persons whose deaths occurred in Princeton either of whom might have been this Abigail Rice: "Mrs. Rice, Oct. 6, 1808." "Mrs. Rice Jan. 28, 1820," or perhaps was living in October, 1822 [see her brother's will]. I think she was. Her children, all born at Rutland, were:

2. Hannah Rice, b. May 13, 1787; d. 1855; m. Preston Pond; res. Westminister.
3. John Rice, b. Sept. 21, 1789; m. Nancy Gibbs; settled in Guildford, N. Y.
5. Joel Rice, b. July 20, 1793; m. Susan Davis; res. Princeton.
7. Reuben Rice, b. March 8, 1797; m. Mary Gibbs; res. Guildford, N. Y.
9. Peter, Jr., b. Aug. 7, 1763; m. (1) Martha Browning; m. (2) Anna Wheeler.

iii. Elizabeth Rice, b. Sept. 28, 1767; d. at Templeton, May 29, 1829, aged 62, C. R.; m. at Rutland, Oct. 7, 1789, Benjamin Gates, son of Maccpease and Katherine (Smith) Gates of Barre, Mass., where he was born "Oct. 5, 1776." T. R. He died at Templeton; "farmer (married)," d. Makepeace, July 6, 1846, a. 67. Consumption. Born in Barre." T. R. They resided in Rutland, where two of their children were born and recorded. The others are not recorded there.

3. Hannah Gates, b. Jan. 25, 1794; m. her cousin, Daniel Newton (5324) and had six children. See his number for further account.

1803. iv. Hannah Rice, b. Oct. 17, 1759; "died in Templeton, Mass., about 1839, aged 69." P. R. She married at Templeton, March 18, 1824, "Benjamin Gates of Barre." This may be the same man as above, and the dates in error. She died without children. See note below.

* David Rice, Jr. (David), Daniel, Daniel, Edward, Edmund, b. 1717; d. 1801; m. Love Moore of Rutland, dau. of Paul and Hannah (Hubbardston) Moore. She d. at Templeton, Oct. 27, 1829, aged 89. Oldest child was David, b. 1757. This pedigree traces back to Daniel Rice as above whose son Daniel was a brother of Bethia Rice, who m. Jonathan Newton. See note there for early Rice generations.

Stephen Gates and wife Ann — were of Hingham, Mass., 1628, and of Lancaster, Mass., 1641; d. Cambridge, 1662. His son, Simon Gates, b. at Hingham, 1641; wife Margaret, d. 1705; had son, Jonathan, b. Cambridge, 1683; d. Worcester, 1759; wife Priscilla. They had a son John, b. 1710, d. 1710, m. Vedada Rice, and William, b. at Worcester, March 27, 1710; m. at Barre, Jane Rice, Sept. 21, 1736 (T. R.). They (Wall and Jane) resided several years in Barre; "had four children there" [not recorded]; "removed to Coventry." The one child recorded in Barre was Benjamin, born May 3, 1757 who married Elizabeth or Hannah Newton, dau. of Peter, Sr.; m. William, b. abt. 1754, was a drummer in the Revolutionary Army 4 yrs., 7 mos., and d. 1812, aged 41, at Vienna, N. Y.; Solomon, b. — ; Jacob, b. — ; Thomas, b. — . The last two also settled in New York state.

Benjamin Gates of Barre, b. in 1821, Hannah Newton.

Benjamin Gates (s. of Henry), b. Aug. 17, 1822, in Framingham. This is prob. the same person. I do not know. It seems to me that the Benjamin Gates, b. 1776, son of Maccpease, was not the one who m. Elizabeth Newton. The confusion is readily dispensed by some one who has the data.

Henry Gates (above) is of the same family and his pedigree runs through the following: he was born 1775, was a soldier of the Revolution and wounded at Bunker Hill; wid. Anne Emerson; res. Sud.; was son of Capt. Amos Gates (Amos, Simon, Stephen) of Cambridge.

The family of Elizabeth and Hannah Newton did not know about their marriages, but thought there were two men and not related.
4792. LEMUEL NEWTON (Samuel2, Daniel1, Richard0), son of Samuel and Mary (Tozer) Newton of Marlborough, Mass., was born there March 17, 1718, and died at Southborough, Mass., September 27, 1765, C. R.

He married Abigail ———.

Mr. Newton lived in Southborough, Mass. His children were born there. He was not the "head of a family" as per the United States Census, in 1790; probably was living with his children. There is no record of the settlement of his estate.

Lemuel Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. The Massachusetts archives show his name on the Revolutionary rolls in the following services. His son Winslow2, and his brother, Samuel Newton, Jr.,4, were out with him in the same company and regiment. They were so much younger than he that they served several enlistments; but at the age of fifty-eight years, Lemuel Newton could not do more than to show and to satisfy his patriotic desire. Abstract of service:

His grandson, Asahel Newton, was also a soldier of the Revolutionary War. Three generations of patriotic soldiers.

Whether they had children, or where they died, I do not find. Her sister Thankful married Amos Newton3, Sr. (1738).

He lived in Framingham, "near Mr. Temple's, on the Goddard place, and moved to Southborough in 1783." The births of their first two children are recorded in Southborough. The baptisms of the others are recorded in Framingham. It is interesting to note the intermarrying of this Newton-Mixer branch through four generations. Children were:

4992. 11. Lavinia3 Mixer, b. Feb. 11, 1766; m. Dec., 1808, Jeremiah Newton3 (Sol.'s).
4993. 2. Sarah3 Mixer, b. Sept. 28, 1767; alive 1845; m. William Stow of Southborough.

Where they lived the first years of marriage, is not known to me. The first child is said to have been born at Southborough; if so, the record of birth escaped the printed copy. All of the others here given were born at Southborough, and recorded there:

5092. 1. Elijah Remis, b. June 25, 1778; m. 1805, Sally Wilson of Framingham. They lived in Southborough and had there eleven children. One was 5098. 7. Sally Remis, b. July 26, 1793.

4794. SAMUEL NEWTON, JR. (Samuel, Daniel, Richard), son of Samuel and Mary (Tozer) Newton of Marlborough, was born there February 9, 1727, and died (I suppose) at Phillipston, Mass., February 9, 1792, C. R.

He married at Southborough, Mass., December 23, 1748, Mary Morse, daughter of Zachariah and Huldah (White) Morse of Southborough and Watertown, Mass. She was born at Southborough, December 23, 1728.

Mr. Newton resided in Southborough. His children were born there. I suppose he is the Samuel Newton, head of a family in "Gerry" (Phillipston) mentioned in the First United States Census, 1790. There was no Probate settlement of his estate in Worcester County, Mass. The whole family, head and all, the Census gives as: 2 males upward of sixteen years, 2 males under sixteen years, and 5 females.

Samuel Newton, Jr., was a soldier of the Revolution. His name appears on the Revolutionary rolls many times, and these rolls are to be seen in the Massachusetts archives. All of the service there given was not performed by this Samuel Newton, who died in 1792, while one of the others had a longer service and lived to become a Revolutionary pensioner. This Samuel Newton was forty-five years old when the Alarm at Lexington was sent out. Age made very little difference in those times; if a man could walk, he "went out" once, anyhow. What I suppose to be the service of this Samuel was:

"Samuel Newton, Southborough, Private, on A Master Roll of Capt. Elijah Bells Company in the Colony Service, marched on Alarm April 19, 1775, travelled forty-eight miles, served eleven days. Also

* For Remis pedigree see note to Window Newton (4987).

2. Zachariah Morse, son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Swett) Morse of Watertown, was born there in 1769; rem. to Southborough, where his estate was administered in 1784; m. there, Rachel, dau. of Isaac and Elizabeth (Bridges) Wurxavy. They had Benjamin, 1725; Joseph, ——; m. 1753, Joanna Newton (dau. John); Mary, 1725; m. Samuel Newton, Jr. (Samuel); Elizabeth, 1731, d. y.; Elizabeth, 1735; m. Nehemiah Newton (Ezekiel); Samuel, m. Mary Rice. Joseph Morse, son of John (Joseph, Joseph).
"Samuel Newton, Southborough. Private on A Pay Roll of Capt. Seth Newton's Company in Col. Whitney's regiment of Militia, for six days, going on an Alarm at Bennington, with Company on horses, being additional pay from the State for their further encouragement, one pound per month. Enlisted August 21, 1777, discharged August 27, 1777."

CHILDREN.

5011. i. ASAMUEL, b. June 15, 1749; m. Mary Morse.

5012. ii. ELIZABETH, b. Oct. 19, 1753.

5013. iii. JEDUTHAN, b. Aug. 10, 1754: a soldier of the Revolution. He, with his brother Asahel, joined a company of minutemen and was ready when the "Alarm" should be sounded. The Revolutionary rolls show that he served several enlistments. I now regret that I copied so little of them. What I here give is enough to show his patriotic spirit, and to indicate which Newton performed the service. The first roll on which his name appears is:
Jeduthan Newton, Southborough. Private in Capt. Josiah Fay's Company of Minute-men, in Col. Jonathan Ward's regiment, marched April 19, 1775, seventeen days service, reported returned home." Also, record of much other service from that time until November 20, 1777, when his rank was corporal.

I do not know what became of him. No Jeduthan Newton was head of a family in the U. S. Census, 1790, anywhere.

5014. iv. RHODA, b. Dec. 28, 1758.

5015. v. REBECCA, b. April 11, 1764: d. at Belchertown, Oct. 29, 1828, the "widow of Eunice Ward." She married ———, 1774, and is then called "of Southborough." Mass., Eunice Ward, born at Southborough, Mass., May 20, 1754, died at Stonhead, Lower Canada, May 27, 1822, aged 68, son of Ephraim and Hannah (———) Ward of Southborough. Mr. and Mrs. Ward resided in Southborough, Mass., where their first four children were born. They moved to Royalston, Mass., where their next two children were born; then to Fitzwilliam, N. H., where the youngest was born.

The children were:

5020. 2. Patty Ward, b. May 15, 1776; d. same day.

5021. 3. Hezekiah Ward, b. March 3, 1777; d. March 24, 1777.

5022. 4. Ezra Ward, b. Sept. 4, 1778.

5023. 5. Ichabod Ward, b. ———, 1782.

5024. 6. Isaac Ward, b. ———, 1783.

5025. 7. Mary Ward, b. ———, 1793.

5016. vi. SUSANNA, b. Aug. 21, 1765.

5017. vii. MARY, b. Dec. 5, 1768; d. same day.

5018. viii. SAMUEL, b. Dec. 4, 1775.

4795. RICHARD NEWTON4 (Nathaniel3, Daniel2, Richard1), son of Nathaniel and Abigail (Tozer) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was in Marlborough, Mass., May 27, 1722; and died (probably at Westminster, Mass., although there is no record of it there) ———, 1772.

He married (2) at Marlborough, Mass., April 20, 1768. Widow Mary Flagg of Marlborough.

Mr. Newton resided in Southborough until after the birth there of all of his children, when he removed to Westminster, Mass., where he settled. The historian of Westminster says of him: "He lived in his native town for some years, but bought, March 23, 1757, Lot 14, 2d Division, lying west of the Bigelow farm, where he built a house and made a home. He was chosen "Sealer of Leather’ at the first meeting of the District of Westminster. The date of his death is unknown, but it occurred before 1755, in which year his homestead was sold by the administrator of his estate, Daniel Hurl. He probably had no children, none being named in the distribution of his property."

In reply to my inquiry as to the practice in the Probate Court, the Register at Worcester states: “In these earlier cases, it seems to have been the practice to simply present the will and ask orally to be appointed, instead of presenting a petition in writing setting forth the names, residences and relationship of all the next of kin, which is now required.”

This being the case, the historian is excusable in judging there were no children, since the records there showed none. Richard Newton died without making a will, and his estate was settled by the Administrator appointed by the Court. The case in Court is listed: “1772. Richard Newton. Westminster. Administrator. No. 43.377.”

That Richard Newton was a patriotic spirit and transmitted the same to his children, is evidenced in the fact that four of his sons were soldiers in the Revolutionary War: three of them serving many terms of enlistment. The son Cyprian served thirty-seven months, and Shadrack, three years.

In the procession at the celebration, in 1869, of the one hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Westminster—men who turned out on the Lexington Alarm and enlisted for eight months immediately after, were, Alpheus Newton and Cyprian Newton, sons of Richard, at Westminster. [Cyprian is also written Ziphon.]

CHILDREN.

5026. i. HUBBAH, b. April 30, 1742; m. at Lancaster, and also recorded at Westminster, March 21, 1763, Jonathan Townsend.

5027. ii. PHINEAS, b. Nov. 4, 1744.

5028. iii. NATHANIEL, b. Feb. 17, 1746-7. [Perhaps he or his uncle Nathaniel also called “Hatho” may have been the Revolutionary soldier, 1776, in Capt. Gideon Brownson’s Company, on the Vermont Revolutionary rolls.]

5029. iv. ALPHEUS, b. March 21, 1749. He was living in 1789, and was in the procession at Westminster as above stated. I have not obtained data regarding his family—if he had one, nor when he died. No Alpheus Newton had an estate in the Probate Court up to 1881. There was an Alpheus Newton head of a family consisting of, besides himself, two males under sixteen years and three females, at Montgomery, Mass., as given in the First United States Census of 1790, who may be this man or another Alpheus Newton not known to me. As a child of thirteen years, and probably on a visit to his relatives, Alpheus Newton from Westminster was “warned” from Southborough, Oct. 25, 1762, and the warrant returned to the Court, Nov. 2, 1762. So jealous were the towns then of their citizenship.

As a soldier of the Revolution, his name appears on the rolls: “Alpheus Newton, Westminster; Private Capt. Noah Miles Company, marched April 19, 1775 to Cambridge and joined Col. John Whitcomb’s regiment, served six days.” Also: “Alpheus Newton in Capt. Edward Remis’ Company, Col. Asa Whitcomb’s regiment, marched August 1, 1775, enlisted August 25, 1775, the account for wages dated Aug. 1775 at Cambridge camp at Prospect Hill. Also: "Roll of the Company’s return" [prob. Oct. 1775]. At this date he would have been 26 years old. His name is not on the United States Pension Roll of the Massachusetts Pensioners.

5030. v. MARTHA, b. March 18, 1751.

5031. vi. SHADRACK, b. June 15, 1755, at Southborough, Mass.; probably d. in Warren County, N. Y., after 1818. He m. at Westminster, Mass., April —, 1784, Mary Pike, dau. of Nicholas and —— —— Pike of Westminster, Mass., and Halifax, Vt. She was born at Westminster, April 28, 1755. That they had children probably three before 1790, there seems to be little doubt. I have not the record of his family. Perhaps he had a first wife, Jane Pike. I do not know.

Shadrack Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. First and last he served three years in that war—representing many terms of enlistment.
His name appears on the Revolutionary rolls: "Shadrach Newton, Southborough. Private in Capt. Silas Gates' Company, Col. Ward's regiment, enlisted December 4, 1775; return for mileage from Dorchester, January 15, 1776 (6 miles)." Shadrach Newton, on a report from James Barrett Esq., Master Master's return of men enlisted and to whom he had paid bounty since last report, dated at Concord June 23, 1777, Capt. Cory's Company, Shadrach Newton, Westminster. Private in Capt. Elisha Jackson's Company, Eighth Worcester County regiment, term three years, Residence Westminster." Also—other services that I did not copy. The last date was May 9, 1780.

At date of his marriage, and in the publication, he is "of Manchester."

In the First United States Census, 1790, the only person of the name mentioned was Shadrach Newton of Halifax, Windham Co., Vermont, head of a family consisting of himself, two males under sixteen years, and two females.

I suppose the age refers to the date when he first made application; and that he was then living in Warren County, N. Y.

5632. viii. Henry, b. May 7, 1755; m. Rhoda —.

5633. viii. "Ziphron", also written Zeddon, Zophar, which he signed is unknown to me; but probably Zidrano, since so is the name spelled in 1789, and on the Revolutionary rolls. He was born March 29, 1758, at Southborough. I have no further data in regard to him except as a soldier of the Revolution, his name occurs on many rolls, not here mentioned. The rolls were dated at Peckskill, Highlands, N. Y., Westminster, Mass., and other places, and in various companies and regiments. The First Roll:

"Ziphron Newton, Westminster, Private, Capt. Edmund Dennis Company, Col. Asa Whitcomb's regiment, enlisted May 4, 1775, service 3 month 5 days." Also

"Ziphron Newton, in Capt. Barnes Company" in a report of James Barrett, master master, to the Massachusetts State Council of the men he had mustered and to whom he had paid bounty, dated Concord, April 23, 1777. The last discharge to Ziphron Newton was given April, 1789. At this date he would be only 22 years of age. His residence is given Westminster always. I have no further account of this man unless the name of Zaphone Newton, Halifax, Windham Co., Vt., head of a family that had no other members, as given in the First United States Census, 1790, should be he; and the fact that his brother Shadrach lived there seems to confirm the idea.

4800. SIMON NEWTON (Nathaniel, Daniel, Richard), son of Nathaniel and Abigail (Tozer) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there, September 27, 1739.

He married at Lexington, Mass., November 14, 1754, Amity Fassett, daughter of Joseph and Amity (——) Fassett of Lexington, where she was born.

* There was another Shadrach Newton, born July 19, 1733, in Framingham, son of Jane Pike, dau. of William and Susilla (Prest) Pike, she b. July 1, 1715. His name also appears on the church records at Framingham as Shadrack Pike, son of Jane, bapt. Aug. 28, 1786. This Shadrack Pike died at Framingham March 7, 1800.

‡ The Fassetts came from Scotland. There were several families of this name early in Billerica, Mass. John Fassett was freeman in 1634. Nathaniel Fassett was taxed in Concord in 1666. It is probable the Lexington Fassetts are descended from the Concord or Billerica family as they resided near the corner of these towns, their residence being in what is known as the Page place in Bedford, which was formerly a part of Lexington. (Hist. Loc. Mass., 1808, by Chas. Hazard.)

Joseph Fassett of Lexington owned land at the "Farms," 1659. (Cambridge.) His wife was Mary Munroe, dau. of Wm. Munroe. They were in Lexington in 1701, having been ad in the church at that time. In 1708 he was chosen assessor of the precinct, and in 1710 for the town. Subsequently he became quite popular. Assessor nine years; Selectman about as long; several years Representative in the General Court. Both he and his wife died at Lexington about 1753 or 1754. There is record of only one son:

Joseph Fassett, Jr., b. Dec. 8, 1701; d. Aug. 14, 1755; m. about 1726, Amity —.

In his will he mentions his wife and the then living children. His widow Amity, m. [2]
February 1, 1732. She died at Bedford, Mass., "August 28, 1756, in her 25th year. [Aug. 29 or 25, G. S.]." From the date, "August 5th, 1756," of Simon's letter to the Probate Judge given below, I think the true date of her death was August 2, but I give them as I find them. She left one child in whose interest her estate was settled in 1757. The papers in this case in the Probate Court at East Cambridge, Middlesex County, Mass., are:

The name of the child is Alice and is so given in the record of her marriage, but is here given Alberta. Ellis and Ellice.

Simon Newton married (2) at Southborough, Mass., April 7, 1769, Bridget Bruce.* Six children.

[Simeon Newton married (?) at Grafton, he then "of Sutton," April 27, 1796, Polly Fairbanks of Grafton.]

It will be noticed that this man wrote his name Simon Newton—and not Simeon as it is frequently given in the records and on the rolls. His grandfather was Simon Tozer, and the grandson was probably named for him.

I only suppose the marriage at Grafton was a third marriage of this Simon Newton. I have no proof of it, unless the fact that there seems to be no other man of the name whom it might have been. I give the item as a pointer—or a matter for discussion. When one is tracing ancestry, even a point that can be disregarded helps. It is better to speak of what one finds.

I have traced this Simon Newton to many towns. The last account is from one whose great-grandmother was his daughter, Lavina, and he says: "I remember traces of this man in Marlborough or Southborough and Royalston. A shoe-

The name Page is also spelled Paige on the records. It will be noticed that this man wrote his own name "John Page," in the above documents. Mrs. Amity Paige died Dec. 25, 1774.
The name Amity is also spelled Amittal. Perhaps it sometimes degenerates into "Mitty" and "Mitty," as does the name Smith.

Joseph Barcet and wife Eunice had, in Southborough, two children: Abigail, b. May 3, 1754: David, March 22, 1756. What became of the family is unknown to me. It will do no harm to say here, that I have thought the Bridget Bruce who married Simon Newton may have been the widow of this Joseph Bruce. maker. I think he went to Vermont.” My tracing is as follows: Southborough, born 1730; Bedford, 1754 and 1756; Lexington, 1755; Southborough, 1759 and 1760; Westborough, 1764; Royalston, 1769-1775; Sudbury, 1775-1781; Brookfield, 1790; Sutton, 1796; and perhaps, instead of going to Vermont, that he went to Westmoreland, Cheshire County, N. H., where his son Hananiah resided.

Simon Newton was a soldier in the French and Indian wars. The History of Lexington mentions him as being one of twenty-one men who went out from that town in 1755. The History of Northfield states: “Simon Newton of Southborough, in Capt. Fay’s Company, Col. Timothy Ruggles’ regiment, in the expedition to Ticonderoga and Crown Point, March 31 to December 25, 1759. Among the sick men left at No. 4 (now Charlestown, N. H.), November 1759, was Simon Newton of Southborough.

Simon Newton and his son, Hananiah Newton, were soldiers in the Revolutionary War. The name of the father is given in both spellings, Simon and Simeon. He served many enlistments not here given, and he seems to have been one of the first to go and one of the last to quit, notwithstanding his age. I am always glad to find a “description” of a man on the rolls. It is interesting to note how much alike these Newtons were as to height, complexion, hair and eyes. The following items of service as a soldier are enough to show his patriotism:

“Simon Newton. Sudbury. Marched to the Alarm at Concord, April 19, 1775, under Isaac Locker, Captain of the Sudbury troop, Col. James Barrett’s regiment, three days. Also “Simon Newton, in Capt. Maynard’s Company, Col. Ezekiel How’s (Fourth Middlesex Co.) regiment, residence Sudbury, term, during the war.” Then follows much other service, description: “age 48 years, stature 5 feet 10 inches, complexion ruddy; engaged for the town of East Sudbury, and arrived at Springfield, August 6, 1780”; (other service) the last discharge, February 8, 1781, nine days travel home from West Point, N. Y.

After the death of his wife in 1756, it would seem that Mr. Newton went back to Southborough, from which place he went out in the expedition to Ticonderoga in 1759. Returning to Southborough, he married (2) there in the spring of 1760. They moved sooner or later to Westborough, where two children (twins) were born in 1764. We next find them in Royalston in February, 1769; where they had two children baptized on the same day, the church records, also, furnishing the death of another child newly born, in 1770, and the baptism of a last one in 1773. Where these children were born is unknown to me. The family evidently removed again; this time to Sudbury, which seems to have been the residence, and is so given, all through the years of the Revolutionary War, 1775-1782.

“Simeon Newton, Brookfield, Worcester Co. Mass. 1-1-3.” is the item from the First United States Census, 1790, which indicates that Simeon Newton was head of a family there, and had, besides himself, one male under sixteen years and three females, in his family.

“Simeon Newton of Sutton,” married at Grafton, 1794, as above. There is no settlement of his estate in Massachusetts, Worcester and Middlesex Probates.

CHILDREN.

5664. i. ALICE (also Alice, Ellis), b. June 6, 1755, at Bedford, Mass.; inherited from her mother’s estate, and was left motherless when in her second year as shown in the documents given above. It is probable that she was brought up by her mother’s people, the Fassetts. John (Page or) Paige, who was appointed her guardian, having recently married her grandmother, Amy, widow of Joseph Fassett of Lexington, she would naturally live with them. She married, being then “of Bedford” and in Bedford, Sept. 16, 1775, Thomas Hadley, Jr., son of Thomas and Ruth (Livermore)
Hadley of Lexington, Mass., where he was born July 8, 1754. "He probably died about 1784." Mrs. Alice Hadley united with the church at Lexington, July 10, 1778, and in September, 1778, had three children baptized there. She married (2) at Lexington, Feb. 21, 1785, Samuel Merriman of Bedford. The record of the marriage has this addendum: "Said Alice Hadley married in a borrowed suit of clothes." [Thus Mr. Merriman could not be held for the debts of her previous husband—as the law stood.] Her children were:

The First United States Census, 1790, shows Hannahia Newton head of a family, which consisted of himself, one male under sixteen years, and three females, at Westmoreland, Cheshire County, N. H.

As a youth and a young man he enlisted as a soldier in the Revolutionary War and served many terms of enlistment. I give only a few of them. His name appears on the rolls as:

Hannahia Newton, Chelmsford. Private in Capt. Joseph Fox's Company, Col. Henry Jackson's (36th) regiment, Continental Army, pay accounts July 10, 1777 to July 10, 1780, residence Chelmsford, and credited to that town, at which date he was discharged. During this period he was in various camps and on muster rolls. Also Hannahia Newton. On list of men to serve to the credit of East Sudbury, Mass., Descriptive List. Age, 16 years; stature six feet ten inches, complexion light, hair light, eyes grey, occupation, farmer, term three years.

No date is here given, but it would be about 1781 or just before the close of the war.

v. MARY, b. about 1798; bpt. Sept., 1778.

vii. MARTHA, b. about 1773; bpt. Dec. 13, 1773, at Royalston.

4801. JOEL NEWTON (Nathaniel, Daniel, Richard, Nathaniel, Abigail (Tozer) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there October 28, 1759, and died there March 21, 1796, aged nearly 57. C. R.

* THOMAS HADLEY (prob. son of BENJAMIN and MEHINTABLE of Groton, b. Aug. 11, 1712; d. July 5, 1786, in his 75th year; m. April 15, 1748, River Livensmeph, dau. of Samuel and Elizabeth, who died at Lexington May 24, 1769, aged 94. They had twelve children. The seventh was Thomas, Jr., b. 1754.

THOMAS HADLEY, Sr., was a member of Capt. Parker's band of minutemen at the battle of Lexington.

A MARRIAGE OR A WIDOW. The following will be found in the Records of the town of Warwick, Kent County, R. I.:

"These are to signify unto all ministers of Justice that Henry Strait Jr. of East Greenwich in ye Colony of Rhode Island & Providence plantations Took Mary Webb of ye Town of Warwick in ye Colony aforesaid, Widow, in one a shift, and no other garment, in ye presence of Avis Gorton, Mary Collins and Preddiah Crandall witnesses, and was Lawfully Married in said Warwick, ye first day of August, 1725, by me John Warner, Justice.

Recorded ye 5th of November, 1725, per John Wicks, T. C."

The Salem (Mass.) Gazette of April 21, 1818, contains the following: "At St. Johns, Mr. Samuel — — — to Mrs. — — — widow. She was in a state of nudity while the ceremony was performed, which according to an old custom exonerates the new husband from any liability for the former husband's debts." The surmises are here omitted, but were given in the newspaper. (From New Enk Hist. Gen. Reg.)

The manuscript Records of Dartmouth, Mass., contains as follows: "Sept. ye 5, 1749—then did Nathan Sherman take the widowed Mary Taylor, in her shift, without headcloth, and barefoot, and led her across the highway, where two highways met, as the law directs in such cases, and was then married, according to law, by Mr. Philip Taber, minister of Dartmouth."—Extracted by J. L. 1856. (From same.)
Mr. Newton lived in Southborough all his life. His children were born there, although the birth of the son was not recorded. The First United States Census, 1790, shows him in Southborough, head of a family, the other members being one male under sixteen years and two females. He died intestate and his estate was administered by the court in 1796. Case in Probate, No. 45.235.

He married at Southborough, June 3, 1763, Lydia Beary. I cannot find her parentage. She was living in 1801 in Southborough and was given a bequest by her son's will. She died toward the end of 1816.

FIFTH GENERATION AND CHILDREN

4820. NEHEMIAH NEWTON3 (Ezekiel1, Sr., Daniel2, Daniel, Richard1), son of Ezekiel, Sr., and Tirzah (Newton) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born there, June 23, 1736.

He married, February 28, 1758, Elizabeth Morse, daughter of Zachariah and Huldah (Whitney) Morse of Watertown and Southborough, Mass. The only daughter of these parents named Elizabeth is the one in Southborough, born June 29, 1731, with no record of her death. The Morse Genealogy gives this one as having died young, and another of the same name "born in 1733." I find no record of the birth. Her sister Mary married Samuel Newton4, Jr. (Samuel3), and her brother Joseph married Joanna Newton (Jonathan2, Sr., Moses1).

I suppose Mr. Newton lived at some time in Lancaster. His son, a young man—a minor—would not be "at his own house" in 1775. I regret that I cannot find the children of this Mr. Newton. There are several who "might be" his, but I have no proof. The First United States Census, 1790, shows Nehemiah Newton head of a household at Winchenden, Mass., the other members of it being one male under sixteen years and three females.

CHILD.

5067. 1. JEREMIAH5—; the following is from the Lancaster records: "Jeremiah Newton, son of Mr. Nehemiah Newton, being dangerously sick was baptized August 21, 1775 at his own house, and died, August 23, 1775."

4822. EZEKIEL NEWTON3 (Ezekiel1, Sr., Daniel2, Daniel, Richard1), son of Ezekiel, Sr., and Tirzah (Newton) Newton of Marlborough-Southborough, Mass., was born at Southborough August 14 or 30, 1745, and, according to family private records, died "December 5, 1792 aged 47." I had supposed he died in the early part of 1788. See below.

He married Tabitha ——, born August 14, 1746. P. R.

Of this Ezekiel Newton I am not able to give a perfect record. Where he was married, the maiden name of his wife, where they lived their married life as a whole, and where all of their children were born is unknown to me. The several accounts received from as many of his descendants differ, and do not in all particulars agree with the town records obtained. Just how many children he had is uncertain. I give here all those the family can recall to mind and the four recorded in the town records of Marlborough, Mass. In the case of the daughter Caty, I have "supposed." The son Ezekiel was born in Northborough, it is said. There is no record there of the birth, but it probably did occur there, since it is so written by Ezekiel, the son, in his own Bible, now in possession of his descendants in Groton, N. Y. The following is further evidence. The birth and death dates of the daughter Betsey I take from the Brigham Genealogy.

Ezekiel Newton was surely at one period of years a resident of Marlborough. He may have lived in that part that was set off to Westborough, and from Westborough set off to Northborough. However that may be, at the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, Ezekiel Newton was head of a family in Northborough that consisted of, besides himself, one male above sixteen years, two males below sixteen years, and four females.

His grandson says in a letter to me that Ezekiel was a tailor and died of heart-failure while measuring a man for a suit of clothes.

The following abstract of administration of the estate of Ezekiel Newton seems to refer to this Ezekiel, whose youngest child was not born until the April following this administration. It would seem only natural that his brother Alexander should appear for the widow and small children. Be that as it may, tentatively I place it here.

But there is the marriage at Hubbardston, Dec. 23, 1790, of Polly Newton and Stephen Hunting, 1790, and the death of "Polly Hunting, wife of Stephen, April 1, 1808, aged 37. G. S." 5755. vili. SYLVESTER, b. ——. His relatives state that "his home was in Vermont," and that "he had seven daughters and no sons," and even that they are not sure of. It is possible that he was the Sylvester Newton who married in Northborough, June 17, 1811, Anna Newton (1411) and had six sons and two daughters. Children given under her number.

He married Mary Rice, daughter of Jonathan and Ruth (Eames) Rice* of Marlborough and Framingham, born at Framingham, February 4, 1749-50.

Daniel and Mary Newton had a daughter born in Southborough in 1772, the record of which styles him "Jr." After this there is no further mention of him. Ward says he "went to Vermont." Perhaps he is the Daniel Newton, head of a household at Putney, Windham County, Vt., mentioned in the United States Census, 1790. The household all told consisted of two males upward of sixteen years, three males under sixteen years, and five females. Of this large family I have the name of one.

He married (2) at Rutland, February 11, 1789, Mathilda Gates, I suppose the daughter of Stephen and Damaris (——) Gates of Rutland, born there January 13, 1763. She had one child.

Silas Newton is usually mentioned as "of Paxton," where he was a well-to-do farmer, a man of resources. He was about 42 years of age when he was appointed administrator to settle his father's estate and gave bond in $1,000. His name appears on several deeds and papers in connection therewith. After his mother's death he bought the interest of the other heirs in what were her "Widows thirds," for the payment of $20 to each of them.

At the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, Silas Paxton was head of a family in Paxton, the other members of it being two males above sixteen years, two males below sixteen years, and five females.

A grandniece of these daughters of Silas Newton writes, in 1907: "My mother talked of her aunts as if they were more than ordinary ladies—cultured and refined."

The will of Silas Newton of Paxton, probated March 5, 1816, an abstract of which is here given, explains itself.

Mr. Newton resided in Rutland. In 1790, the First United States Census mentions him there, head of a family, the other members of which were four males below sixteen years and two females. His children were born in Rutland. His estate was administered in 1848. No will. The number of the case in Probate Court was 43,200.

Hezekiah Newton, Jr., of Paxton, was a soldier of the Revolution. An abstract of service, in part, reads: "Resides in Paxton, engaged for that town, joined Capt. Hayne's Company, Col. Wigglesworth's regiment, term, during the war." Many other notices of him and his service in other companies and musters.

5165. 1. Sally Maria Damond, b. April 13, 1819.

4874. NATHAN BRIGHAM NEWTON (Hezekiah1, Isaac2, Daniel3, Richard4), son of Hezekiah and Eunice (Brigham) Newton of Marlborough, Leicester, Rutland and Paxton, Mass., was born at Rutland, March 28, 1766, and died at Royalston, Mass., December 18, 1843, aged 84. Old age.

He married "Mary Stewart of Paxton" (a sister of General John Stewart of Brattleborough, Vt., who married Ruth Newton, sister of Nathan Brigham Newton.) She was born about 1760, and died at Royalston, Mass., December 18, 1843, aged 84.

Mr. Newton "settled in Royalston, Mass. First on the west bank of the Lawrence near where Dea. Partridge now lives. He afterward removed and located on the high lands east of the river where now stands the goodly house and buildings of his son, Col. Elmer Newton. He married Mary Stewart and had a family of twelve children. He became one of the largest land holders. Col. (now Dea.) Elmer Newton, the only survivor of this large family, with the exception of a widowed sister, is the present proprietor of this fine estate. This early family remaining honorably represented and connected with our present population." [From Royalston Memorial, 1865.]

A granddaughter writes of Nathan B. Newton and his wife from personal knowledge of them as follows: "My Grandfather was a thoroughly English New-Englander. Our grandmother, Mary Stewart, was a stern, thrifty Scotch woman; and consequently their children had strong wills and steady habits, with good abilities. The Newton physique of our line, is a medium size, finely built, dark brown hair, large blue eyes, fair skin with good color, movements quick and decided, full round voices and many of them fine singers. "When I look at my grandfather’s flute and think how he piped on it in a battle at Long Island in 1775 when he was fifteen years old, I grow patriotic." "The Spirit of the patriotic sires does live in their descendants, as the numerous soldiers of the Newton name in the Civil War fully testifies. The old letters [their family letters] show interesting things regarding the Indian troubles; their support of the churches and schools; not evident much as politicians, but true to the party they joined."

The First United States Census, 1790, shows Nathan B. Newton head of a family at Royalston, Mass., that besides himself consisted of one male above sixteen years, four males below sixteen years, and two females.

His children were born at Royalston. His will was probated in 1844, his description of "Royalston," No. 43,345, case in Probate Court.

March 25, 1785, and where he died May 21, 1828, aged 83. Mr. and Mrs. Mirick lived in Princeton. Their children were born there. “Those cold Princeton hills where the blasts blow down from Wachusett mountain, and swept the Rutland hills too.” Quoting again from the letters before mentioned: “Aunt Lucinda committed suicide after the death of her husband, fearing her little children would suffer from poverty. But read the record, and one wonders that she did not despair sooner. Those old letters tell of sick babies and a consumptive husband. I read that grandmother was with her a part of one winter, . . . There is one letter from Uncle Phinehas to Grandfather, in beautiful penmanship and correct English, condemning in a very religious but heartless manner, his poor sister’s act. The well written letters surprise me when I consider the educational advantages of the time . . .” Their children were . . .

They resided in Princeton, where their six children were born. (He m. (2) Oct. 4, 1832, Eliza Ann French Watson and had six other children.) The children of Mary (Newton) Whitney were:

They lived in Royalston. Their children, born there, were:

4876. EDMUND NEWTON [possibly this is Edmund, son of Hezekiah (Isaac, Daniel, Richard) and Fannie (Brigham) Newton of Rutland and Paxton, Mass., who was baptized at Rutland, June 9, 1765, C. R., and whose name appears on an old deed dated June 9, 1792, with his father's other children and their consorts; and who is styled "Capt." in the Brigham Genealogy]. The following is all the family of his descendants, with whom I have communicated, know about him: That he came from Massachusetts: "I used to hear him (Clarke) and his sisters, Mary and Eliza, and other relatives, talking about relatives and the old days in Massachusetts. Recently I discovered among some old effects of my grandfather, a very interesting old account book, and book of interesting odds and ends, and that shows that Edmund and probably his father, lived in Paxton, Mass. The dates run back to about 1765 and some are as late as 1863. They seem to indicate that Edmund or his father kept an inn or general store, as there are many charges for 'grog,' 'rum,' 'tea,' 'feather,' etc., together with charges for "the use of my oxteam for one journey to Marlborough" and other places in the vicinity. There are many names in the old book I can remember hearing my grandfather mention." "My impression is that Edmund's wife was a Maynard, but I am not positive about that."

Fairly reliable records show that the oldest son was born in 1791 in Worcester, Mass., and another son was born in 1793, in New York State, thus it would seem that he removed between those two dates from Massachusetts to Oneida County, N. Y.

The First United States Census, 1790, shows an Edmund Newton head of a family at Paxton, Mass., the other members being one male upward of sixteen years and two females. These others are not necessarily children. They might have been servants or relatives living with them. He signed the deed alone in 1792—that is, no wife signed with him, as was customary, if she could be present.

But no speculation will settle any matter—facts are the court of last resort. The following children of Edmund Newton of Oneida County, N. Y., are known by the family to have been his, namely:

CHILDCRN.

5218. i. ARTEMAS LAMPS, b. Feb. 25, 1791, at Worcester, Mass.; d. Nov. 12, 1872, at Madison County; m. (1) Josephina Hubbell, who was born Feb. 26, 1799, at Washington. She had six children. He m. (2) Lewis ? and had two more children; names not given. He spent his life in Eastern New York. His descendants are still living there. Children:

5219. ii. CLARKE EARLE, b. ——, 1793, at Paris, Oneida County, N. Y.; d. ——. He served in the War of 1812, and immediately after its close, with his brother Hollis, went into Allegany County, N. Y., and purchased a section of forest land. They cut away the forests and built a log house. Then Clarke E. returned to Oneida County to bring back his bride. He married Abigail Healy—an orphan it is thought—about the year 1816-17, the marriage taking place in the vicinity of his birthplace in Oneida County. They returned to the new house in Allegany County, in what is now the township of Wirt, and made a home and a farm. Here their only child was born and died. I am not informed when they died. Child:

5252. 1. Lawrence C., b. Oct. 23, 1823, in Wirt township, Allegany County, N. Y.; d. there March —, 1901; farmer. He married Jane Scott, who was born Aug. 3, 1836, at Friendship, N. Y., and died ——, 1899. Their children, born at Wirt, were:

5253. 1. Ida, b. ——, 1859; m. 1914; res. Ashbery Park, N. J.

5254. 2. Byron K., b. ——, 1861; m. at Seward, Neb., Oct. 5, 1900, Winnifred Cattle of Seward, Neb., where she was born. They reside in Washington, D. C. Mr. Newton was born and grew up on the farm of his father and grandfather in Wirt, Allegany County, N. Y. To prepare himself for life work, he went to Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, for two years, and entered newspaper work in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1887; was war correspondent for the Associated Press in the Spanish War; left the New York Herald in 1911 to take part in Woodrow Wilson's presidential campaign; was appointed private secretary to the Secretary of the Treasury, March 4, 1913; appointed by the President as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Oct. 1, 1913. Mr. Newton has contributed what is here given of the descendants of Edmund Newton of Oneida County, N. Y., except what I have taken from the Kellogg Genealogy. His places of residence have been: Friendship, N. Y.; moved to Buffalo, N. Y., 1887, thence to New York City, 1902; Washington, D. C., 1913. Children are:

2: John Cattle\(^3\), b. Nov. 17, 1905.
3: Ellen\(^2\), March 14, 1884, at Wirt, N. Y. ; m. at Niles, N. Y., June 11, 1892, Charles Frederick Kellogg, son of Dan and Phoebe (Ostrander) Kellogg of Tully, Scott and Friendship, N. Y. He was born at Friendship, N. Y., Dec. 25, 1857: a maker of inside blinds; res. Dunkirk, N. Y.; had no children.

v. ELIZABETH\(^3\), b. 1793; d. unm.

vi. Lucretia\(^3\), called "Creth," b. ; m. ;
vii. Hollee\(^3\), b. ; spent his life in Allegany County, N. Y. He m. and had several sons and several daughters. The two sons we know were:

1: Daniel\(^4\), b. ; of Bolivar, N. Y. He m. Abigail Dorr, "who was his widow, and I think is living in Bolivar." They had four sons, all dead except one, namely:

2: Edmund\(^4\) or Eldrin; b. ; after the Civil War, settled in Missouri.

It really seems as though this family did descend from Edmund, son of Hezekiah Newton of Rutland and Paxton. Tentatively I place it there and notice the generations accordingly, yet keep them all together in one place, instead of being scattered through the several generations, as would be done were we sure.

1877. DEA. BAXTER NEWTON\(^5\) (Hezekiah, Isaac, Daniel, Richard), son of (as I suppose) Hezekiah and Emnlee (Brigban) Newton of Marlborough, Leicester, Rutland and Paxton, Mass., was born, probably, at Paxton, about 1750, and "died March 26, 1823, aged 52."

He married

Dea. Baxter Newton moved some time after his marriage to Vermont, where he was one of the pioneer settlers of Norwich. His first child here given is said to have been born in Rutland, whether Massachusetts or Vermont is not stated. His son is said to have "married his cousin, Flora Newton" [clan. David and wf. Elizabeth (Partridge)]. Perhaps Dea. Baxter's wife was a Partridge.

In the settlement of his father's estate, Baxter Newton signed deeds of conveyance along with his brothers and sisters; and with his sister Katherine Craigie, appealed from the decision of the Court; he being then (1789) a minor, was represented by his guardian, David Burns.

At its organization in 1799, the membership of the Baptist Church in Norwich, Vt., contains the name of Baxter B. Newton. This date would indicate the man who was, later, "Dea. Baxter Newton."

CHILDREN.

i. Persis\(^6\), b. Dec. 11, 1791, at Rutland.
ii. Phree Wirt\(^6\), b. June 15, 1798.
iii. Baxter R[Brigman]\(^7\), b. Sept. 4, 1799: m. (1) Flora Newton; m. (2) Elizabeth Partridge; (3) Olive Partridge Wright.
iv. Alice\(^6\), b. May 21, 1801.

1897. ISAAC NEWTON\(^8\) (Isaac, Isaac, Sr., Daniel, Richard), son of Isaac, Jr. and Sarah (Collins) Newton of Souiborough, Mass., was born there May 25, 1750 [T. R.]. There died at Southborough "Isaac Newton, September 22, 1825, in his 75th year." C. R. The correctness of those dates I leave some one else to verify.

He married at Southborough, September 20, 1781, Molle Bruce, daughter of Elisha, Jr., and Ruth (Parmenter) Bruce\(^{\text{a}}\) of Southborough, where she was born July 5, 1757. Molle, widow of Isaac Newton, died at Southborough, January 16, 1855.

This Isaac Newton appears to have lived in Southborough; although the town records do not show the birth of any child, the death of his son Hezekiah is given. The church record has the death of an infant son, and the death of Reuben 2d. There is no Probate record of any settlement of his estate.

I am inclined to think he had other children, and that the Isaac Newton of Southborough, head of a family there at the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, was this man. There seems to have been no other to whom the family of four males below sixteen years and three females could apply. At the same time, a "household," in the census meaning, was not necessarily a man's wife and children; it covered servants—every one living in the family.

CHILDREN.

5250. i. REUBEN\(^{b}\), 2d, b. about 1782; d. at Southborough, March 21, 1826, aged 44. He m. Mary —— [perhaps Fay]. The following papers are of record in the settlement of his estate.

\(^{\text{a}}\)John Bruce\(^{\text{a}}\) (not traced), b. ——; was in Sudbury in 1672 and had a grant of land in Marlborough, bounded upon Peter Bent's mill pond.

Reuben Bruce\(^{\text{b}}\), who was probably son of John Bruce of Sudbury and Marlborough, was in Marlborough early, with wife Elizabeth, and had there seven children: three more were born in Framingham. He was a miller and attended Peter Bent's mill. He resided near Stony Brook, and was included in Southborough when it was set off from Marlborough. He died in Southborough, Sept. 10, 1733. Children were: Samuel\(^{c}\), 1691; m. Elizabeth ——; Abigail, 1692; m. Mary Woods; Elisha\(^{d}\), Sept. 14, 1705; m. Silence Newton (dau. Samuel); John\(^{d}\); Reuben\(^{d}\), 1708; Sarah\(^{d}\), 1710; Isaac\(^{d}\), 1711; m. Sarah Bridgman; Daniel\(^{d}\), 1706; Deliverance\(^{d}\), 1709; Phebe\(^{d}\), 1711; m. (4) Mary Bridgman, m. (2).

June 16, 1754; Rachel\(^{d}\), b. July 5, 1757, who m. Isaac Newton, 1 had no death of wife Ruth, but Elisha Bruce\(^{d}\), Jr., m. (2) at Southborough, May 4, 1762, Esther Brick, and had six other children: Ruth\(^{d}\), 1763; Ann\(^{d}\), 1765; Eliz. 1766; Hezekiah\(^{d}\), 1767; "Elisha, Jr.," 1769; Submit, 1772. [See note to Samuel, John.]

1899. LUTHER NEWTON⁵ (Seth¹, Isaac², Daniel³, Richard⁴), son of Captain Seth and (_____) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born,
I should infer, between 1760 and 1764. He died at Marlborough, N. H., November 19, 1829.

He married Miriam Newton (2216), daughter of Ezra and Elizabeth (Hager)
Newton of Southborough, where she was born October 20, 1764. She died at Marlborough, N. H., September 22, 1852, aged nearly 88 years. Mrs. Newton kept a diary for more than sixty years, in which she recorded important events—weather, the births, marriages and deaths of the townspeople, and other matters.
The diary was used by the compiler of the history of the town of Marlborough, N. H., who considered it of great value to him. It was then in the possession of her daughter, Miss Nancy Newton, 1881.

March 24, 1831, among the subscribers to the fund for requiring the old meetinghouse at Marlborough, N. H., are Mrs. Miriam Newton and Miss Nancy Newton, each $2.00. Also, December 9, 1834, subscribers to purchase a bell for said meeting-house, Mrs. Miriam Newton $1.00, Nancy Newton fifty cents. Mrs.
Newton was a capable, energetic, industrious woman—a true helpmeet, to her husband in making a home in a new land. She worked at dressmaking and millinery, spinning and weaving, for pay; which helped to supply many needs in those early years. Her keeping of the diary through all those years shows that she had a mind that could rise above the mere drudgery of the work, and take pleasure in it. She is an ancestress to be proud of.

Luther Newton, with his family, came to Marlborough, N. H., in May, 1788.
Where he lived the first years after his marriage, and where the two oldest children were born, does not appear. Arriving in Marlborough, N. H., they lived for a short time on the farm owned in 1881 by Hon. R. S. Frost, and purchased a lot of land now known as the “Newton Meadows.” Here he erected a house built of logs, which were hewn on the inside—a much better house than most of the log houses of that day. Mr. Newton was a very industrious man, and, possessing a strong constitution and great powers of endurance, was able to perform more labor than most men. His land was poor. He was obliged to work out by the day to procure grain and other necessities to support his family, and often on his return home would make shingles until a late hour at night. He soon purchased another tract of land, where he leveled the forest and built a house, into which he moved in 1797. This house was owned by George Thatcher, in 1881. While he was making shingles and raising stock to pay for his land,
Mrs. Newton was also busy as above stated.

Mr. Newton appears as head of a family in Marlborough, N. H., at the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, the other members being one male under sixteen years, and two females. He was a voter in the town in 1794, and seems to have been an active citizen in town affairs. September 22, 1795, a number of the citizens met and formed the “Marlborough Social Library,” shares $2.00 each. At a subsequent meeting eighty-four persons became members; among them were Luther, Simeon and Calvin Newton and Luke Blodgett.

Three other children were born to them after 1788; I suppose born at Marlborough, N. H.

The following article from the will of Capt. Seth Newton: “Item.—I give to my son Luther Newton fifty-five dollars, to be paid by my said Executrix in three years after my decease, to be on interest after the expiration of the said three years if not then paid, which, with what he has already had, is his full share of my estate.”

4900. SIMEON NEWTON5, JR. (Seth4, Isaac3, Daniel2, Richard1), son of Captain Seth and his first wife, ——— (——) Newton of Southborough, Mass., was born about 1768. He died at Templeton, Mass., May 3, 1829, aged 61, C. R. He married at Holliston, Mass., February 21, 1792, "Sally" or Sarah Fiske, daughter of Ensign David and Sarah (Bullard) Fiske of Holliston, where she was born December 17, 1771. She died in Marlborough, N. H., October 18, 1854, aged 83 years. She brought up the two daughters of her own daughter, who died at the birth of the younger one, "She was a noble woman. So wonderfully kind, and thoughtful of others."

Simeon Newton is styled "Jr." probably to distinguish him from his uncle, Simeon Newton, who also was married at, and lived in, Holliston.

*JONATHAN BLODGETT (not traced), b. 1755; d. in 1854, aged 96; was a soldier of the Revolution. He entered the service when 20 years of age; was at the battle of Braddock and at Trenton. ENSLAVEN JONAS FISKE5 (John), b. April 16, 1732; d. Dec. 23, 1815; res. Holliston, Mass., his native town. The Fiske Genealogy says of him: "David Fiske, son of John and Abigail Leland Babcock..." was a noted descendant from many noted English families, viz.: Fiskes, Lelands and Babcocks; the latter name being among those old, noted and true Pilgrims who sailed from Holland in the ship, "Jane," and came to this country to worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences. Mr. Fiske was a man of great energy of character; faithful to the trusts confided to him; an active business man; a large and successful farmer; owner of large tracts of land in this vicinity. He served in the Colonial wars, through New York state, capturing forts and dispersing enemies, 1758, as recorded in a daily diary that he kept. Returning to his home he took up his farm work; and rearing and educating a large family, he gave each of his sons a farm as they became of age, except the youngest, who chose a college course and was graduated at Harvard as M.D., besides goodly sums of money to all his children at their majority. He married SARAH BULLARD of East Medway, Mass. (dau. of John), who died in 1839. Their children were: John, 1760; Nathan, 1761; Daniel, 1763; Levi, 1765; Nathaniel, 1767; Sally, b. Dec. 17, 1771; Fed, 1774; Keena, 1775; Timothy, 1778 (M.D.); Aner, 1780.

The pedigree of John Fiske5, his father, runs through John4, Nathaniel3, Nathaniel2, William1, Robert2, to Simon, the immigrant to America, and Simon, William, Simon in England.
Mr. Newton continued in Holliston for a year or so after marriage, then removed to Marlborough, N. H., where he settled. He lived "for a short time in a house that formerly stood near the residence of the late George Harvey." He afterward purchased the farm now (1881) owned by George A. Porter, where he resided until 1818 or 1819, when he sold the farm and moved to Templeton, Mass., where he died.

His oldest child was born at Holliston. All of the others were born at Marlborough, N. H.

He was one of the members of the "Marlborough Social Library at its formation in 1795."

At a meeting of the "North Westerly School Squadron," April 5, 1797, to choose officers, Jonathan Frost, Simeon Newton and Kimber Harvey were chosen School Committee.

The mention of him in his father's will is as follows: "Item.—I give and bequeath to my Son Simeon Newton one hundred dollars to be paid to him by my said Executrix in two years after my decease, if not then paid to be on Interest till paid, which with what he already has is his full Share of my Estate."

His father died in 1807.

He left no will and his son Amos Newton was appointed administrator. The following is an abstract of the papers in the case. George Newton, one of the sureties, is probably the son of Peter Newton, Jr., of Templeton.

He married at Hopkinton, Mass., September 3, 1777 (C. R.), Anna Bemis. I suppose she was daughter of Elisha 1 and Lucy (Ellton) Bemis 2 of Watertown.

* JOSEPH BEMIS 1 (immigrant), b. 1619, was in Watertown as early as 1649; selectman, 1648, 1672, 1675; and died 1684; will proved 1684; wf. Sarah administratrix. She d. about 1712. Nine children. The youngest was... and Southborough, whose brother, Elisha Bemis, Jr., married a sister of Winslow Newton.

Mr. Newton resided in Southborough, Mass. His children were born there. No death in his family is recorded at Southborough up to 1850, or other mention of his family.

Winslow Newton of Southborough is given in the First United States Census, 1790, as being the head of a family there, consisting of himself and one female. And he is the only Winslow Newton mentioned in that census, throughout the United States. Why were the children not numbered? Six of them were born prior to that year and all were minors.

There is no Probate settlement of his estate in Worcester or Middlesex counties.

Winslow Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. The Massachusetts Archives show his name on the Revolutionary rolls in the following services: "Winslow Newton of Southborough on A Muster Roll of Capt. Elijah Bellows' Company in the Colony Service marched on the Alarm April 19, 1775, travelled 48 miles, served 4 days." [His uncle Samuel, Jr., in same service.]

Mr. Newton resided in Warwick, Mass.

Asahel Newton was a soldier of the Revolution. He joined a company of minutemen at Warwick, as private in Capt. Eldad Wright’s Company, Col. Samuel Williams’ regiment. The Company marched April 20, 1775, from Northfield and Warwick to Cambridge, served fourteen days. Also, Capt. Abner Cranson’s Company, Col. Whitecomb’s regiment, camp at Prospect Hill; also served enlistments in several other companies and regiments, the last discharge was when serving in Col. William Williams’ regiment in the Northern Army, October 18, 1777 (148 miles), travel home. Also.

“Asahel Newton, and others of Capt. Josiah Fay’s Company, Col. Ward’s regiment; order for advance pay, dated June 13, 1775.”

When you remember that the “Minutemen” were not soldiers—were not enlisted men, but only local companies, there will seem no discrepancies in the above dates of service. I think the service is by the same man—which may not be the fact, however.

They resided the first two years after marriage on a small farm owned by Mr. Lawrence in Farmington, Maine; then removed to West Boylston in the spring of 1833, to remain there. CYRUS NEWTON* (s. John*), b. ———. He m. Sabra Crane.

I have not searched for this line. I think it goes back to Rev. Roger Newton* of Connecticut; for among the records of the Congregational Church at Greenfield, Mass., from Nov., 1761, there is "Cyrus (son of John Newton) and Sabra ye dau. of Isaac Newton," bapt. Dec. 26, 1779." This John Newton* Jr., is son of John*; Abner,—5. Rev. Roger Newton*. And the Isaac Newton whose dau. Sebra m. John, Jr. is also of this line.
Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence reside (1869) at No. 67 Frost St., Brattleboro, Vt. Children were:

1. Grace Edna* Lawrence, b. Aug. 26, 1865, m. March 1, 1886, Charles A. Baldwin. Children:

8. Lewis Cass* Lawrence, b. April 12, 1848, resides in Worcester, Mass. He was a soldier in the Civil War, enlisting at the age of 25 years, in the Fourth Massachusetts Regiment and served through the war. Pensioned. He married, at Worcester, Adeline Tolman and has four children.

5112. DEACON WINDSOR NEWTON* (Silas*, Hezekiah†, Isaac‡, Daniel§, Richard¶), son of Silas and Ennice (Brigham) Newton of Marlborough, Leicester, Rutland and Paxton, Mass., was born at Paxton, November 18, 1771, and died there March 8, 1823, in his 52d year. Burial at Paxton.

He married at Brattleboro, Vt., July 3, 1799, Mary (called Polly) Dickerman, daughter of Dr. Lemuel and Lucinda (Arms) Dickerman* of Brattleboro, Vt., where she was born January 4, 1781. She died at Paxton, Mass., January 29, 1823, aged 42. Burial at Paxton.

Deacon Windsor Newton lived in Paxton. His children were born there. It would seem that he always lived in the home of his birth; for, according to the statements of the family, he was living with his father in 1800, and the home became his in 1816. He was made executor of the will of his father, and was so appointed by the Court on March 5, 1816, giving bonds in $20,000. His father's will gives "To my son Winson Newton all real estate in Paxton & Rutland and all other land, and the residue of the personal." With this start he seems to have been a successful farmer. He built the large house in Paxton, which is still in good repair and bears witness to the solid carpentry in use at that time and the stone underpinning and door stones of solid masonry. He had planned to have a gay house-party before the rooms were partitioned off; but instead he invited Elder Paul, a colored pioneer Baptist preacher from Boston, to come and preach. The house was crowded, and the sermon seems to have made such an impression upon Mr. Newton and many others who heard it, that the event was the turning point in their religious lives. Later, Elder Paul baptized both

* Dr. Lemuel Dickerman (M.D.), b. Oct. 18, 1751; d. at Brattleborough, Vt., Oct. 8, 1832, aged 81; m. at Brattleborough, Vt., March 17, 1779, Lovinda Arms, who d. Oct., 1792. [She was, perhaps, dau. of Maj. John Arms of Brattleborough, Vt., who was commissioned to the regiment of foot in Col. Thomas Chandler's regiment, Jan. 20, 1766. I do not know.] Dr. Lemuel Dickerman was the first established physician in the town of Brattleborough, Vt. He had a successful career; wide practice, and at the same time carried on a large farm in the east village, situated three miles northwest from Brattleborough, Vt. His grave is in the old cemetery, Monument. His son, Dr. John L. Dickerman, was an established physician in Brattleborough about forty years, and his sons, William and Lemuel, are members of the same profession, in eastern Massachusetts.
Mr. and Mrs. Newton, and although residents of Paxton they became members of the Baptist Church in Holden, and he a deacon of that church for many years.

In the winter of 1822 an epidemic of typhus fever came into the family, nearly every member being seriously affected; while the others recovered, both he and his wife were victims of the disease.

He left no will. The Probate Court files show the administration of the estate of Windsor Newton of Paxton to be No. 43,472. 1823.

The "Dickerman Ancestry," 1891, p. 56, gives five children of Windsor Newton and Polly Dickerman, namely: "Alexis. Dickerman, Silas, William, Polly." The members of his family with whom I have had correspondence know nothing of Alexis and Polly. They may, however, appear in the Paxton records. I have no copies of those records.

5115. Larkin Newton (Silas, Hezekiah, Isaac, Daniel, Richard), son of Silas and Delia (Howe) Newton of Marlborough, Leicester, Rutland and Paxton, Mass., was born at Paxton about 1777, and died there December 13, 1805, aged 28. Burial at Paxton. His estate was administered at Paxton in 1806, without a will. Case in Probate, No. 43,271.

He married, about or more or less, 1800 (a sister of his sister Martha's husband), Deborah Hall Grosvenor, daughter of Rev. Daniel and Deborah (Hall) Grosvenor of Grafton, where she was born December 9, 1781. [See note to Silas Newton (4867) for Grosvenor and Hall.]

Mr. Newton lived in Paxton and Petersham, Mass. I have failed to get much about him or his family. The following children are given bequests in the will of their grandfather, Silas Newton. The daughters, $15.00; the son, $100.00.

5398. ii. DEBORAH HALL GROSSENON, b. about 1805; d. in 1881, aged 76. She m. [int. in Petersham, May 8, 1833], May —, 1833, Rev. Erastus Ives Curtiss, b. at Meriden, Conn., May 19, 1805, and d. at Greenwich, Mass., March 19, 1841. He was graduated from Union College, 1829; and Yale Theological Seminary, 1832; ordained 1833, at Marlborough, N. H., and held pastorates in the Congregational churches at Western Reserve, Ohio; Marlborough, N. H.; No. New Salem, Mass.; and Milton and Salem, Maine. His last labors were at Salem, Maine, 1860. Four children. His widow married (2) June 15, 1896, as his third wife, the brother of her husband, Rev. Samuel Ives Curtiss, b. at Meriden, Conn., March 5, 1806; d. at Union, Conn., March 26, 1880. He studied for the ministry at Bangor and New Haven Seminaries; and was ordained 1832, pastor of the Congregational church at East Hampton, Conn., where he continued five years. In 1835 he became pastor of the church at Union, Conn. No children by this marriage. Her children by first marriage were:

5121. HORACE NEWTON* (Silas2, Hezekiah1, Isaac3, Daniel2, Richard1), son of Silas Newton1 and his second wife, Matilda (Gates) Newton of Paxton, Mass. He was born about 1791 or thereabout. He probably died at Mt. Holly, Vt.

   He married ———. The Paxton town records will probably throw light on his birth and marriage. I have no data.

   When Silas Newton1 made his will, his son Horace seems to have been living at the homestead, and presumably not yet married. The will gives "To son Horace $1,000, also furniture that was his mother’s, also use of a room, etc. if in need of it." He moved away from Paxton and settled in Mt. Holly, Vt., where he was a farmer. In 1865 he was living there. A man past his prime then; his son Windsor managed the farm, and the father living in the house with the son—as two families. I understand. The niece who visited them in 1865 writes: "I remember the large cheeses and the delicious honey—40 hives of bees—Uncle Horace used to bring to West Boylston to sell. He was a good man—very religious. He was club-footed."

Mr. Newton's home place or places and where his children were born I do not find. Rutland and Spencer records have slight mention of the family, until the deaths. The Probate record, in list of cases, is: "1849. Charles L. Newton. Rutland. Will. 43,083."

He married at Rutland, June 4, 1815, Isabella Davis, a sister of his brother's wife, daughter of Eliakim and Dorothy (Hunt) Davis of Rutland, where she was born February 15, 1795. Widow Isabella Newton died at Rutland, August 23 or 24, 1841, aged 49. Burial with headstone at Rutland. In the administration of her estate she is designated as of Worcester. No will. 1841. No. 43,219 in Probate Court.

Mr. Newton lived part, certainly, of his married life in Rutland. The record of births of his children I do not find. He probably had others than the two here given.

He died intestate and his estate was settled by his brother, Guy S. Newton, in 1834, at Rutland. The following abstract of administration explains itself.

Declination of Thomas Newton to act as administrator.

5169. DEACON WILLARD NEWTON^ (Nathan B., Hezekiah, Isaac, Daniel, Richard), son of Nathan Brigham and Mary (Stewart) Newton of Royalston, Mass., was born there March 6, 1783, and died there March —, 1864, aged 81.

He married at Royalston, December 10, 1811, Phebe Emerson, daughter of Joseph and Rebecca (Nichols) Emerson of Reading and Royalston, Mass. She was born at Royalston, October 4, 1785, and died there ——.

At marriage Mr. Newton is mentioned as "of Reading." His descendants state that he "resided in, and never removed from, Royalston." His children were all born at Royalston. His lands, in part received from his father, and in part owned by purchase. "Before the War of 1812, Royalston had an independent organization, called the 'Royalston Grenadiers,' and during the campaign of 1814, when the British naval force were threatening the northern sea-coast, they received orders to march at once for Boston (Saturday evening, Aug. 9, 1814). They mustered the next day, attended divine service with their friends, and started for the capital of the State. They were discharged after thirty-five days service and returned home without casualty." [Royalston Memorial, 1865.]

* For Davis and Hunt pedigrees see Jaazannah Newton (4253) and Guy S. Newton (5162) and notes.

† Joseph Emerson, from Reading, Mass., settled in Royalston. He had seen service in the Revolution and was a pensioner of that war. He married before coming to Royalston, Rebecca Nichols, who died his widow, Sept. 5, 1837, aged 87. He died Jan. 30, 1837, aged 86; both at Royalston. Their children born there were: Nancy, 1780; Polly, 1783; Phebe, Oct. 4, 1785; Sally, 1788; Elias, 1791.
Among the list of officers who went with this company were Ensign Willard Newton, promoted Colonel of the Fifth Regiment, 2d Brigade, 7th Division, and Sergeant Elmer Newton, promoted Colonel of the same regiment later on. "The Royalston Brigade were all six footers." "The title of 'Col.' stuck to Willard Newton to the end, and he was every inch a Colonel. Six feet two inches in height and straight as a ramrod at 81." This short service makes both Col. Willard and Col. Elmer to have been soldiers of the War of 1812-1814. Thus does every generation have its opportunity to show its loyalty and patriotism in defense of its country.

The will of Willard Newton of Royalston was probated in 1864, No. 43,456 in the Probate Court cases.

The lands and home of Col. Willard joined the original homestead of his father [that has passed on to Dan. Elmer], and now to Phineas S. [Nathan Brigham Newton, and was willed by Col. Willard to his grandson, Ebenezer Perkins Newton, then an infant, who is still its proprietor and occupant.]

Formerly a teacher; later a dealer in real estate and executor of estates. A man of letters and mental ability. No children.

5571. Hezekiah Newton (Nathan B., Hezekiah, Isaac, Daniel, Richard), son of Nathan Brigham and Mary (Stewart) Newton of Royalston, Mass., was born there February 12, 1787, and died there, October 26, 1852.

He married at Boston, Mass., July 20, 1817, Eliza Lewis, daughter of William and Eliza (Picket) Lewis of Danvers, Mass., where she was born July 29, 1799. She died at Leominster, Mass., January 7, 1802. Her mother, Eliza Picket, was of Marblehead, Mass.

Mr. Newton left his native town when about twenty-one years old and went into the drygoods business with his brothers George and Phinehas in Boston, on Cornhill—the fashionable shopping district. The firm failed during the financial distresses of 1814-1816. Sometime afterward, about 1831 or 1832, at his father's request, he returned to Royalston and carried on the business of the home farm, where, although it is a beautiful place and he was happy and prosperous there, yet overwork brought on paralysis, and he died after long years of illness.

The patriotism that most of his name seem to have, led him to go out as a volunteer, not registered, in the War of 1812-1814, to serve one night in guarding Charlestown bridge.

The Probate Court records show the estate of Hezekiah Newton of Royalston to have been administered, without a will, in 1852. Number of case, 45,208.

The first six children were born at Boston, the last three were born at Royalston.
BRANCH OF DANIEL

5550. i. ELIZA LEWIS⁴, b. Feb. 28, 1819; d. at Leominster, Mass., April 8, 1861; unm.; educated in Boston public schools until her father moved to Roy- alston about 1822, then attended an academy at Royalston. She began teaching at the age of seventeen years, and continued it every year until her death. She had much decision of character; was dignified in manner and of fine physiognomy. It is needless to say she was a successful teacher. But more than that, she was preeminently the helper in the home and its strongest influence, owing to the long suffering of her father, and the consequent broken health of her mother.

5551. ii. HARRIET HELDLOCK⁵, b. March 51, 1821; d. at Boston, May 14, 1825.

5552. (iii. GEORGE BREHAM, b. March 17, 1823; m. Jane Stone.

5553. iv. MARY STEWART, b. May 36, 1825; d. June 25, 1877, at Brookline, Mass.; unm. Her youngest sister writes of her: "Mary took care with a light heart. She was as faithful and true as Eliza; helping when needed with her skillful needle. When the distressing illness of Eliza and mother came we grew very close together, and after they were gone we kept our home with but one pair, which our efforts kept filled."

5554. v. WILLIAM LEWIS⁵, b. Jan. 5, 1828; d. at Boston, Oct. 29, 1829.

5555. vi. WILLIAM LEWIS⁶ (210), b. June 13, 1830; d. at Boston, Sept. 23, 1830.

5556. vii. HARRIET HELDLOCK⁵ (210), b. April 13, 1832; d. Jan. 5, 1890, at Brookline, Mass.; m. at Leominster, Mass., Aug. 26, 1857, Daniel Webster Phelps, son of Summer and Dolly (Wilder) Phelps of Leominster, where he was born April 19, 1833, T. R. He d. before 1877; piano maker. Resided at Leominster and at Brookline. They had three children: the two youngest were born at Brookline.

3. Sarah Newton Phelps, b. Dec. 13, 1869; m. at Brookline, June —, 1906, Charles W. Tuckey, then of Brookline. They were living in Winchester in 1899.

5557. viii. GORHAM ARLANDY, b. June 3, 1831; d. at Royalston, May 27, 1850.

5558. ix. SARAH ELY, b. March 11, 1837; living (1914) at No. 18 Aspinwall Ave., Brookline, Mass., which has long been her home. She never married. She has been one of those family "guardian angels" without which the world would be a dreary place. A teacher. A lady of culture and refinement. She began teaching in the public school at Leominster, 1856 to 1873; in Brookline, 1875 to 1889; and since that time up to 1908, she has been just as busy in private teaching in her own home. In reply to my query, she writes of herself: "Mary died in 1877 and I wanted to go with her. But Harriet was a widow with two little girls, and I have had something worth living for. I have not done it in the way I would have chosen, but have not yielded to circumstances until I have wrong things out of them. So here I am living on borrowed time. I have not asked for it, but I want to use it well; and some day hope it will quickly and silently steal away. My mother—the little good that I have accomplished has been done in her name."*

5174. DEACON ELMER NEWTON⁵ (Nathan B., Hezekiah⁴, Isaac³, Daniel², Richard¹), son of Nathan Brigham and Mary (Stewart) Newton of Royalston, Mass., was born there April 17, 1793, and died at Royalston, March —, 1880.

He married at Holden, Mass., January 9, 1823, Adaline Estabrook, daughter of Ebenezer, Jr., and Ruth (Jones) Estabrook, of Holden, where she was born February 17, 1800. She died at Royalston, April —, 1863. She bore him six children.

* Estabrook. For the previous generations see notes to James K. Newton⁴, and Nathan B. Newton⁵.

EBENEZER EISTABROOK⁶, JR. (Ebenezer, Joseph⁴, Joseph², Rev. Joseph¹), son of Capt. Ebenezer and Ruth (How) Estabrook of Holden, was b. there Feb. 16, 1754, and d. there June 16, 1823. He m. March 26, 1785, RUTH JONES. He m. (2d) ———, His daughter, Adaline⁵, b. 1800, m. ELMER NEWTON⁵.
Mr. Newton resided in Royalston all the days of his life. As a young man he was a member of the independent military organization of the town called the "Royalston Grenadiers" with the rank of Sergeant and was promoted to be Colonel of the Fifth Regiment, Second Brigade, Seventh Division. The company was called out August 9, 1814, and marched to Boston to resist the British (as narrated under the heading of his brother Willard, who also was a member of it; which see). Mr. Newton's title of "Col," was not used in his later years. He became a deacon of the First Congregational Church at Royalston, and was called "Deacon Newton." Since all of that military organization were "six-footers," it follows that Deacon Newton was not under average size.

In due course, Deacon Newton became proprietor of his father's homestead and fine estate. The family were prominent citizens of Royalston. Col. Elmer Newton was one of the Selectmen of the town in 1841. He was chosen Representative to the General Court in 1849. In 1865 he and his widowed sister were the only surviving members of his father's large family, and at this writing (1912) only one of his own children remains alive to keep the glow of living light on the old hearthstone.

The will of Elmer Newton of Royalston was probated in 1850. It is case No. 143,140 in Probate Court.

CHILDREN

5552. i. SOPHIA FAY, b. Oct. 25, 1821; d. at Royalston, July 1, 1893.

5553. ii. CHARLES HOMER, b. May 13, 1828; m. (1) Harriet Meade; m. (2) Adelle Estabrook.

5554. iii. PHINEHAS STEWART, b. Aug. 20, 1822; unm.; was living 1914 "on the spot where Nathan B. Newton lived and died," in Royalston, Mass. The following from the list of Members of the Massachusetts Legislatures, 1899: "Worcester County. District 1. For towns of Athol, Phillipston and Royalston.—Phinehas Newton, Republican, of Royalston, was born in that town Aug. 20, 1822, educated in its public schools, including its High School, Manufacturer of palm-leaf hats, and a farmer. Assessor in 1894, 1896, 1897; Selectman in 1894 to 1898. On committee on prisons in House of 1899. Vote of district: Phinehas S. Newton, Republican, 626; all others, 4." Mr. Newton retains the spirit of his young manhood in a wonderful degree—the spirit that leads a man to be up and doing things, thus keeping the physical up to its best to resist the encroachment of years. After the death of his mother, his sister was the family housekeeper until her own death in 1863. Mr. Newton spends most of the year on the farm, making a southern trip occasionally, and in his manufacturing venture he was successful financially.

5556. v. ELMER ELMER, b. Feb. 3, 1841; m. Martha Cole.

PHINEHAS NEWTON (Nathan B.2, Hezekiah1, Isaac3, Daniel2, Richard1), son of Nathan Brigham and Mary (Stewart) Newton of Royalston, Mass., was born there February 28, 1795, and died at Pass Christian, Miss., ———, 1878.

He married, in 1833, Eliza Hughes, born in New York in 1818. They removed to the South and lived in Louisiana and Mississippi.

He married (2) at Norwich, Vt., Elizabeth Partridge, daughter of Abel and Alpha (Lewis) Partridge^7 of Norwich, Vt., where she was born September 7 or 8, 1816. She died March 4, 1850.

He married (3) probably at Norwich, Vt., Olive Partridge Wright, daughter of John and Olive (Partridge) Wright^7, a resident of Norwich, Vt.

In 1905, the historian of Norwich, Vt., states: "Mr. Joseph Emerson built for his residence the house that is now the home of Mrs. Baxter B. Newton."

* David Newton, Jr., a farmer in Hartford, Vt., son of David and Mary (Hazen) Newton of that place, was b. March 18, 1778, and d. aged 86. He m. (1) Elizabeth Partridge of Norwich, Vt., who died in 1867, and he m. (2) Samuel Tracy of Hartford, Vt. His oldest child was Flora, b. Feb. 11, 1807.

David Newton, the father, I have not been able to trace, but have given what I have found of his posterity, which see. From the statement that the pioneer settlers of Hartford, Vt., came from Connecticut, principally, he may be from the branch of Rev. Roger Newton^4 or Thomas Newton^5 of Connecticut, probably the latter.

1 Abel Partridge, a resident of Norwich, Vt., m. Nov. 25, 1815, Alpha Lewis, dau. of Dr. Joseph and Experience (Burr) Lewis. [Her brother, Lyman, graduated from Dartmouth College; was a physician of marked ability. Her brother, Eros, graduated from Dartmouth College in 1844; appointed surgeon's mate, 1808, in U. S. Navy; resigned, 1810, on account of ill health.] She was b. in 1796. Had Elizabeth, b. 1816; m. Baxter B. Newton; Lewis, Jr., 1818; d. 1885; m. Harriet Baxter.

Samuel Partridge (-----), b. Preston, Conn., 1721; d. 1796, a. 75; m. Ruth Woodward and with her and seven children (one son remaining in Connecticut to care for the "old folks") came to Norwich, Vt., and settled in 1775. He was lieutenant of militia in 1765. Four of his sons were soldiers of the Revolutionary War.* Children:

*Eliza, b. -----; m. 1765, Margaret Murdock, dau of Thomas.

Samuel, Jr., b. -----; m. 1779, Elizabeth Wright, dau. of Aaron (s. Samuel), from Preston, Conn.

 Isaac, b. -----; m. 1782, Lois Newton.
 Elia, b. -----; m. 1788, Sarah Renfrew.
 Reuben, b. -----; remained in Connecticut as aforesaid.

Ephraim, b. -----; d. unm. in Canada, a soldier in captivity.

Olive, b. -----; m. 1768, John Wright, b. 1774, son of Aaron (Samuel) from Preston, Conn.

Ruth, b. -----; m. Peter Branch.

Aaron Wright, only son of Samuel and Elizabeth (Elias) Wright, b. prob. at Hebron, Conn., 1700, came from Preston, Conn., to Norwich, Vt., about 1765, and settled on a hill farm. He had six sons and two daughters. Of these, John, b. 1774; m. 1788, Olive Partridge, dau. of Samuel, Sr.; and Elizabeth, b. -----; m. 1777, Samuel Partridge, Jr., son of Samuel, Sr.

John Wright and wife Olive had eleven children. The tenth was Olive Partridge Wright, b. -----; d. June —, 1839, widow of Baxter B. Newton.
He also speaks of her as "Widow of the late Baxter B. Newton." Windsor County, Vt. Business Directory, 1844, has: "Widow of Baxter B. Newton, North- wick, Vt. Resident. Home on Main Street." I suppose she died there, June 1, 1899.

The towns of Norwich and Hartford, Vt., are nearby towns. So Baxter B. Newton of Norwich had not far to journey when he courted "his cousin," Flora Newton, at Hartford. After their marriage in 1828 they settled in West Hartford, Vt., where he kept a store. Among the other necessary articles he also sold rum, as was the custom at general stores. Among the people who lived in West Hartford the first half of the century and were in the prime of manhood are mentioned, among others, the following men whom we are here concerned with: Baxter B. Newton, Capt. Levi Hazen, Dr. David Ingraham, Reuben Haven, Dr. Iras Tenney, David Hazen, Zaran Haven, David Wilson.

The Congregational Church Society was organized there in 1829. Among the list of members are a great many Hazens and others, and Baxter B. Newton and Truman Newton (son of David, Sr.).

A little story, and mention of Mr. Newton, may not be out of place here, namely: "In 1853 a Mr. Bullard and his daughter of Pomfret, Vt., were one night crossing the West Hartford bridge, when the horse became frightened, and all were precipitated into the river thirty feet below. Miss Bullard was killed outright. The old man had been drinking New England rum, the last glass of which he took at the store of Baxter B. Newton but a few minutes preceding the accident. This store has since been converted into a dwelling house and is now occupied by Mr. Hoyt Hazen, the present Postmaster and R. R. Agent."

Sometime between 1833 and 1839 Mr. Newton moved to Norwich, Vt., where from 1839 to 1841 he was Postmaster. From 1841 to 1845 he was "a merchant at Norwich, Vt.," and is so designated in the record of his second marriage. He probably spent the remainder of his life in Norwich, his third wife, being a native of Norwich, spent also her widowhood there. By his second wife he had several children, all of whom died young.

5251. HEZEKIAH NEWTON (Isaac, Isaac, Isaac, Daniel, Richard), son of Isaac and Molly (Bruce) Newton of Southington, Mass., was born about 1789, and died at Southington, July 17, 1846, aged 57. Inflammation of the bowels.
He married at Southington, April 11, 1819, Lucy Burnett.
Mr. Newton resided in Southington. His two children here given were born there. Whether he had other children and grandchildren is unknown to me.

5254. CALVIN NEWTON, Jr. (Luther, Seth, Isaac, Daniel, Richard), son of Luther and Miriam (Newton) Newton of Marlborough, N. H., was born there, February 1, 1791. He died at Troy, N. H., December 16, 1873.

He married five times and died a widower. He married (1) [pub. in Southborough, Mass., November 15, 1815], Sally Newton (2224), daughter of Reuben and Sarah (Brewer) Newton of Southborough, where she was born November 14, 1789. She died at Marlborough, N. H., May 25, 1832, aged nearly 57 years. Two children.

He married (2) at Marlborough, N. H., Oct. 24, 1833, Lucetia Lebourveau, daughter of Zenas and Lydia (Worsley) Lebourveau of Keene, N. H., where she was born August 14, 1798. She died at Marlborough, N. H., July 25, 1840. Two children.

He married (4) October 1, 1844, Sally Hart of Hancock, N. H. She died at Marlborough, N. H., March 28, 1849.

He married (5), either May 13 or September 20, 1857, Sabrina Worster, daughter of Reuben and Sarah (Draper) Worster of Swanzey, N. H., where she was born February 29, 1802. She died at Swanzey, N. H., October 16, 1871. Her name is also given Sabra Worster. She is said to have borne him one child—a child of their old age.

After the death of his father, in 1829, Calvin Newton came into possession of the home farm in Marlborough, N. H., where he resided many years. He was a member of the Social Library Society at its formation in 1795. March 24, 1834, he subscribed $15.25 toward repairing the old meeting house.

In the latter part of his life, his son, Martin L. Newton, took over the home farm, and Calvin Newton bought a farm in Swanzey, N. H. Soon after the death of his last wife he sold this place in Swanzey, where he had lived several years, and removed to Troy, N. H., to live with his son Martin L., who had gone there about 1870, and with whom he died.

The children are given as having been born in Marlborough, N. H., except that by the last wife, who was probably born in Swanzey, N. H.

*ZENAS LEBOURVEAU (perhaps the son of John and Martha of Keene, N. H.) and LYDIA WORSLEY, both of Keene, N. H., were married by Rev. Aaron Hall, March 31, 1785, at Keene, N. H. They continued to reside there and had: Sally, 1785; Zenas, 1787; Grace, 1788; Lewis, 1790; John, 1792; William, 1794; Esther, 1796; Lucetia, Aug. 14, 1798; Lorrey, 1801; Lydia, 1802; Aaron, 1804.

LYDIA, the mother, died, widow, in Keene, N. H., April 6, 1846, aged 83.
5255. DANA NEWTON*, (Luther†, Seth‡, Isaac§, Daniel¶, Richard∥), son of Luther and Miriam (Newton) Newton of Marlborough, N. H., was born there June 17, 1795, and died at Freeport, H., September 26, 1875.

He married (1) September 24, 1817, Nancy S. Moffett of Shefford, Canada. She was born at Middlebury, Vt.

He married (2) at Charlestown, N. H., January 1 or 3, 1831, Martha Reed. In the mention of this marriage, the historian of Charlestown, N. H., gives it "Dana Newton, Rockingham." He was probably of that town in Vermont, at that date.

I have obtained little knowledge of this family. Dana seems to have lived in Shefford, Province of Quebec, for a while, at least, after his first marriage, as his first child was born there. I have found only the one child.

April 8, 1871, he removed to Providence, R. I., where he died Feb. 9, 1880. Their children may have been more than those here given.

5501. 2. MARTHA ANN° Thurston, b. ———; m. Joseph Gilman Josselyn.

He married at Templeton, Mass., March 18, 1819, Lydia Larned, daughter of Thomas and Lydia (Treadwell) Larned* (Larnard and Learned) of Templeton, Mass., where she was born June 30, 1796, and where she died May 3, 1852.

Amos Newton was a pump manufacturer and farmer. It is said by his descendants that he lived all of his married life in Templeton, Mass., and that his children were born there. However that may be, the town records do not contain the birth record of any of them, but does contain his own death, and that of the two youngest children. The dates of their births I have taken from a copy of the Learned Genealogy printed in 1898. The dates given by the family were very much mixed.

* WILLIAM LEARNED, is the manner in which the immigrant of that family wrote his name. It later appears on the records as Learned, Larned—and other spellings, but is always the same family. WILLIAM LEARNED from Bermondsey Parish, County Surrey, England, settled in Charlestown, Mass., in 1632. He was a freeman in 1634. He and his wife "Goodeth" (Judith) were admitted to the church in 1632 (Vol. 56, p. 41) and in 1638 he was one of those "who were desired to consider some things tending toward a body of Laws." He was one who petitioned for and removed to Woburn, where he was prominent in church and state and where he died March 1, 1645-6. Six children. One was Amos Newton was appointed administrator of his father's (Simeon Newton of Templeton, 1829) estate.

He died without a will and Nathan Farnsworth of Templeton was appointed administrator. An abstract of administration follows:

Sutton, where she was born Sept. 23, 1819. T. R. [Sept. 5, 1820, P. R.]
She died at Webster, Mass., March 31, 1887. They had no children. Mr.
Newton was one of the leading men of Shrewsbury, up to the time of his removal to Webster in 1876. By occupation, a blacksmith. He entered politics and was active therein in Shrewsbury; but during his residence in Webster he took no part in politics aside from voting the straight Republican ticket at each election. He was not only known as one of the oldest residents of Webster, but also as a man of strict integrity, honest purposes and of high moral standards. The thirty years of his life in Webster were rich in the friendships he formed among a wide range of people. At the age of 75 years he joined the Congregational Church, continuing such membership to the time of his death. Mrs. Newton’s sister, Miss Sarah L. Brown, had always lived with them since the death of her mother, and remained to keep house for Mr. Newton after the death of his wife, at his home in Mechanic St., Webster.

town. Brown County, Wis., September 19, 1881, aged 95 years, 3 months, 23 days. Burial in Fairview Cemetery, in the adjoining town of Greenleaf, Wis.

He married at East Windsor, Conn., about 1818, Lucinda Loomis, who was born at East Windsor, Conn. [May 7, 1801], and died at Shrewsbury, Mass., August 12, 1847, aged 46 years, 3 months, 5 days. Serofula.

Adam Newton was a soldier in the War of 1812, serving for the town of Shrewsbury, Mass. After the war he was for a time in Connecticut, where he married; and later returned with his family to Shrewsbury, where he bought a farm and resided for many years. About 1860 he sold the farm and went west to live with his daughter, Mrs. Mayville, in Wrightstown, Wis., where he spent the remainder of his life, and at whose home he died. He was a carpenter and farmer, and was busy at both occupations all the days of his manhood. He is spoken of as a man of excellent qualities. His home farm in Shrewsbury has been repurchased, repaired and refurnished for a summer home by his grand-daughter.

His children were probably born in Connecticut: none are recorded in Shrewsbury.

He was a sailor, and called Boston his place of residence. He paid into the Sailors' Home there and had a right to enter at any time. He returned in his last years to Shrewsbury, where he died. I have no further knowledge of him.

Harrington, son of Holloway Harrington of Shrewsbury, and his wife Charlotte (Merritt) of Charlton, Mass. "He was born at Shrewsbury," Dec. 14, 1820. They lived in Shrewsbury and had children born there. My record of the family is imperfect, owing to what we know in the records. One daughter writes: "I mentioned it to my sister and she was not all in favor of it and said she hoped I wasn't." Children: 1. Harry Lucetia Harrington, b. Feb. 16, 1847; m. Frank C. iii Maria, b. Jan. 1, 1824; d. at Wrightstown, Wis., April 14, 1886, interment in Fairview Cemetery, Greenleaf, Wis.; m. at Shrewsbury, Mass., in the summer of 1852, Peter Mayville, son of John, Jr., and Susan (Reynolds) Mayville of Swinton, Vt., and Rockland, Wis. He was born at Scanton, Vt., Oct. —, 1824, and d. in Rockland, Wis., Aug. 28, 1900. Burial beside his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Mayville lived in Shrewsbury, Mass., several years after marriage; their four oldest children were born there, the others were born in Wisconsin. July, 1857, he bought land of his father, lying in Wrightstown, Wis., to which, in 1860, he removed with his family. A farmer. At the beginning of the Civil War he enlisted as a soldier in Company F, Fourteenth Wisconsin Infantry Volunteers. This, of course, took him away from his family of little children, and his wife's father became their "present help in time of need." After his return from the war he resumed his business of farming. This land lies joining the town of Rockland, where he also owned land, and where his youngest child was born. It was thought by some of the family that this land once belonged to Adam Newton, but the records show no such ownership. As I have taken the trouble to look it up in the County Register's Office, it may be interesting to those concerned to have it given here. Abstract of title is as follows:

Sec. 28, Twp. 22, Range 20, N. W. 1/4 of the N. W. 1/4,

Mr. Newton lived in Paxton for several years after his marriage. His first child was born there. In 1831 he moved with his family to German Flats, Herkimer County, N. Y. His second and third child were born there. In 1837 he returned to Massachusetts and settled in West Boylston, where he remained for thirty-one years. His last three children were born there. Mr. and Mrs. Ball have spent their lives on a farm, for one year after marriage in West Boylston, and then in Holden, where they still reside, in feeble health, to be sure, but full of years and good works. Mr. Ball carried on brickmaking in connection with farming. In 1890 he purchased the up-and-down saw mill on Ball Creek, and carried on a lumber business, until the timber in that vicinity was used up. After the death of his father in 1870 he purchased the old Manning homestead on "Manning Hill" in Holden, that had been built by his grandfather, Capt. Israel Manning, soon after the Revolutionary War, which has always been kept in good repair, and which is their home to the present time. Here Mr. Ball, with his son Granville M. Ball, engaged in the manufacture of brooms until 1885, since which time Mr. Ball has given up more strenuous labors and interested himself in the raising of poultry.

Mr. and Mrs. Ball in early life (she in 1845) became members of the Baptist Church, and have been prominent in church work and Sunday school. He served on the town school committee for sixteen years, and held the office of justice of peace for forty years. "He has been a life-long Republican." He is a member of the S. A. R., eligible through the service of his grandfather, Capt. Israel Manning. Mrs. Ball had the care of her son's four children after the death of their mother—thus rearing two families, who have the right to call her blessed. Even in advanced years she seems a person of much energy and will power, and a mind clear to grasp and discuss ideas. She writes: "I read a great deal, I have always enjoyed it, and do now, but my eyes are trembling as I read more than I should—there is so much to read in order to keep up with the

He married [about 1830 or less] Jane Ayres.

The "Dickerman Ancestry" gives Alexis as one of the children of Deacon Windsor Newton, whose grandchildren have no knowledge of him, which is not strange.

CHILDREN.

5486. EZRA L. NEWTON² (Windsor⁴, Silas⁴, Hezekiah⁴, Isaac³, Daniel², Richard¹), son of Deacon Windsor and Mary (Dickerman) Newton of Paxton, was born there June 23, 1869, G. S. in West Boylston, Oakdale Cemetery. He probably died at Oakdale.

He married Susan M. [also C.] — who was born — 1812, G. S.

Mr. Newton probably resided at Oakdale, in the town of West Boylston. The graves of himself and wife are in the Oakdale Cemetery, and others whom I suppose to be his children. Where the first six children were born I have not discovered. The one daughter to whom I wrote did not respond.

I am told Mr. Newton was an aunt member of the Methodist Church, and an excellent man.

Dr. William Newton was a skillful dentist; in which profession he took high rank at Worcester, Mass., where he had settled before marriage. Left an orphan at the age of three years, he was reared by an aunt, at Petersham, Mass. After passing through the public schools, he attended the Worcester Academy and the Literary Institute at Suffield, Conn. He was a prominent Baptist and would have followed the ministry; but failing health and a weak voice caused him to give up those studies. He did hold one or two pastorates, and later preached occasionally.

He became a student in the office of Dr. Miller, a well-known dentist of Worcester in his day, who later took him into a partnership under the firm name of “Miller and Newton,” which continued many years. When this firm was dissolved Dr. Newton continued the practice alone until 1855. In that year, on account of failing health, he went to Oxford, Mass., to recuperate, and was so pleased with the village that he removed to that town and settled there permanently, becoming closely identified with it and its institutions. He was chosen deacon of the Baptist church of North Oxford, April 3, 1868, and served as superintendent of its Sunday school; was a member of the Christian Commission during the Civil War. He was interested in educational matters and served on the school board 1862 to 1864.

His two children were born at Oxford, Mass.

SECTION II, PART I

6321. ABNER NELSON NEWTON, Sr.1 [Ancestry not traced. He may belong to either of the three branches: Isaac of East Windsor and Stafford, Conn., or Rev. Roger of Milford, Conn., or Thomas of Fairfield, Conn. The name Abner occurs in all the branches of Newton]. He was born in Connecticut, it is supposed, and surely lived there, with his family, at East Windsor, and at Monson, Mass., and died at Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1839 or 1840.

He married Zaviah Skinner (date and place not known), who was a Scotch lady, the mother of six of his children: born about 1732, or before, and died at Monson, Mass. (?) in July (about the 13th), 1837. "She is buried at Stafford, Conn., in the Nelson family lot with the Nelsons who are our relatives, but has no marked headstone." Her son writes of her: "She was a Christian and so were my brothers and sisters." This son saw her last when he was about eleven years old, and she sang the hymn "Loving kindness" for him. He could not forget it. Her husband left her about the year 1817, going West "to seek employment"—ostensibly so—and never returned. The family was left in destitute circumstances, the mother's health gave way and she found asylum with her father, while her children were cared for by sympathizing friends.

Just what was the itinerary of Mr. Newton in his search for work is not known, but after an absence of eighteen years, there was a rumor that he was living in Cincinnati, Ohio. His son went in search of him. His comment and heart-breaking cry is: "Why did my mother die a broken-hearted woman? Can you not guess? . . . nothing less than that baneful, wilting, blighting, blighting curse of Rum."

He married again in the West. By the last union he left a daughter Gabriella, born ———-; married a man by the name of Humicut.

They had a daughter, Lida Humicut, and others whose names are not known. Mr. M. J. Newton writes: "About 1894, uncle introduced me to a young man who was descended from this marriage. "Uncle had been in touch with this second family. I think, from the time he went in search of his father. The children were:

Two whose names are not known [prob. died young].

6322. i. ABNER NELSON3, Jr., b. June 27, 1812; m. (1) Margaret J. Hope; m. (2) Sarah H. Layton.

6323. iii. JOSHUA HISSELL, b. April 10, 1814; m. Susan Goddard Smith.

6324. iii. LOUISA MARIA4 (twin), b. Dec. 25, 1816, at Monson, Mass.; d. there Jan. 13, 1875, aged 58 years. She m. there, April 16, 1837, Chauncey Wood, a successful farmer of Monson, where he was born Sept. 21, 1814, and where he died March 30, 1887, aged 72 years. Their children, born at Monson, were:

6327. 2. Jane Zaviah6 Wood, b. Oct. 9, 1840; m. at Monson, by Rev. H. P. Satchwell, Henry Harrison Underwood, farmer, also horse-car driver and conductor. They had no children. He d. at Springfield, Mass., April 21, 1886. She d. at Monson, June 19, 1896.

6328. 3. Francis Nelson7 Wood, b. Dec. 31, 1842; a successful farmer at Monson; m. at Palmer, Mass., by Rev. Dr. Vaile, Oct. 28, 1867, Ellen Maria Stacy, who was born at Monson, Jan. 26, 1850, and d. there Dec. 22, 1908. Their one child:

6330. 1. Dora Emma Jane8 Wood, b. Aug. 28, 1876, at Monson; d. there March 27, 1882.

6225. iv. Maria Louisa1 (twin), b. Dec. 25, 1816; d. May 7, 1883, without children. She m. as his second wife, Ralph Clough, a farmer, who d. ———.

6222. 1. Dr. Abner Nelson Newton2, Jr. (Abner1), born at East Windsor, Conn., June 27, 1812, "the eldest of six children"; died at Richmond, Ind., aged about 86 years. He married there August 14, 1844, Margaret J. Hope, who died June 26, 1879, aged 56 years. 13 dys. She had four children.

He married (2) Feb. 11, 1883, Mrs. Sarah H. Layton, who died Oct. 15, 1897, aged 57 years. No children by this marriage.

Mr. Newton wrote what he designated, "Sketch of my Life. Let these few lines my funeral sermon be: Devote of all attempts at eulogy." It indicates also the hymns and order of his funeral services. The paper is cherished by the family, and from it the following is taken: A mere child, six years old, he found a home with Captain Samuel Peters, a farmer, who also kept a tavern near the town of Hebron, Conn., where he remained until he was seventeen years old.

"It proved a good home to me." Then he went to Providence, R. I., and learned the baker's trade. He worked at the trade there for eight years. Meanwhile he had united with the First Baptist Church at Providence, R. I., in 1831—his employers being members—and had signed a total abstinence pledge, "and have kept it inviolate to the present time." He states. He also went to school and prepared himself for college; entered Brown University in the fall of 1836, intending to take a thorough collegiate course of study; but a rumor reached him that his father was living in Cincinnati, Ohio. This report revived in him a strong desire to see his father. He left college before the term expired; worked at his trade about three months; earned $55, and with this money, on June 1, 1837, left for the West, traveling night and day, and arriving at Cincinnati on June 13, 1837—"a stranger in a strange city, young and inexperienced." He found a man whom he had known in Providence, who took him to his home "and was indeed a friend to me—My Guardian Angel."

On November 1, 1837, he began the study of "dentistry under Dr. Melanthon Rogers, and remained with him three years, less one month." October, 1840, he opened an office in Cincinnati, but not meeting the success anticipated, he left the city and opened an office in Richmond, Ind., April 1, 1841. Here he became a successful dentist and made that city his permanent home. His children, born there, were:

6231. i. Eugene M.2, b. ———; d. March 3, 1898, aged 54 years. He left a wife and daughter, living, and had a son, who died.

6232. ii. Ida Z[avia?]3, b. ———; m. a man by name of Lemon. Her last known address was: Mrs. Ida Z. Lemon, 19 Lincoln Ave., Fort Wayne. Ind.

6233. 2. Josiah Bissell Newton2 (Abner1), born April 10, 1814, at Monson, Mass.; died at Rochdale [in the town of Leicester], Mass., Oct. 29, 1847. His estate was administered, without a will, that year at Leicester.

He married at Monson, April 4, 1839, by Rev. Ames Snell, Susan Goddard Smith, daughter of Jonathan and Hannah (Taylor) Smith, of Orange, Mass., where she was born August 10, 1817. She died at Greeneville [Leicester], Mass., March 6, 1864. She married (2), June 18, 1849, Thurlow Stimpson, who was born in Hopkinton, Mass., June 12, 1796, and died at New Hartford, Conn., March 19, 1871. They had two children: Emily Henrietta Stimpson, born April 16, 1850, and George Emory Stimpson, born Feb. 22, 1853. Both of whom have families in Greenville [Leicester].

Mr. Newton was brought up by Mr. Philip Gage, farmer, on a farm in the south part of Monson. When he became of age he learned the trade of woodsorter. He probably had lived but two years in Leicester when he died there—his sons being born at Monson, Mass., Stafford, Conn., and Enfield, Mass., respectively, the last date in the latter town 1845.

Children:

6334. i. Myron Josiah, b. Feb. 27, 1810, at Monson, Mass.; m. at Talcott, Pa., June 9, 1870, Eliza Amanda McAnley, b. there Oct. 20, 1851, daughter of George McAnley, a Protestant, from Ireland. After the death of his father, and when he was eight years old, he was sent to live with Mr. Jarvis Smith, a farmer, on a farm in the south part of Monson, near the Connecticut line, where he stayed six years. Afterward he says he was "no baby, just grew up." Becoming of age he learned the trade of wire-drawer, at Worcester, Mass., and became a member of the Worcester City Guards. He was a soldier of the Civil War, as a member of the Sixth Massachusetts regiment, which became famous by being mobilized in its march through Baltimore, Md., April 19, 1861. He served in Companies G and J, enlisting at Worcester with the three months men. He enlisted for a term of three years at Providence R. I., in the Third Rhode Island Heavy Artillery, and was discharged at Providence, March 31, 1865. After the war he drifted to the oil region of Pennsylvania and began work for the Standard Oil Company. Has been employed by that company for over forty years. At present (1911) is division superintendent of the United Transit Company—pipe lines. Mr. and Mrs. Newton reside at Enfield, Pa. He was one of the survivors of the Sixth Massachusetts regiment who attended the reunion of the regiment at Boston in April, 1911. His children are:

6336. 2. Sarah Georgia, b. May 2, 1880, at Tyrann Center, Pa.; m. Sept. 4, 1909, Edgar E. Shamar; resides at Sharon, Pa.

6337. 3. Harriet Isabel, b. Nov. 23, 1884, at St. Petersburg, Pa.; living with her parents; unm.

6338. ii. Rufus Henry, b. May 12, 1812, at Stafford, Conn.; m. at South Williamam, Mass., by Rev. William Reed, May 14, 1867, Mary Janette Day, who was born at Monson, Mass., Nov. 11, 1841, and died at Greenville [Leicester], June 8, 1900. They had two children. Mr. Newton was five and one-half years old when his father died. He lived partly with his mother and some of the time with his uncles and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Wood. He was a soldier in the Civil War, in Company H, 34th regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. He has retired from business and is living in Rock-dale [Leicester], Mass. Mr. Newton, with much diligence, has gathered this data and contributed it for this family record—almost complete account of the posterity of his grandfather. He writes: "The foregoing genealogy explains why I do not know more about our ancestors." His children were:

6339. 1. Myron Epaphroditus, b. June 27, 1868, at Greenville (Leicester), Mass.; d.
there Feb. 11, 1905; unm.

641. iii. Lewis Byron, b. Jan. 10, 1885, at Enfield, Mass.; d. there April 1, 1885.
[A doctor's record of this death appears on the records of Leicester, as of Leicester.]

642. Jabez NEWTON 1 [ancestry not traced, may belong to either of the three branches: Isaac of Stafford; Rev. Roger of Milford; Thomas of Fairfield; all three in Connecticut. However that may be, I am inclined to think he was a brother of Almer Nelson Newton, Sr. (6321), of East Windsor, Conn.; as there certainly was a reason for the names of each of their oldest sons. I have no proof, but give it as a proposition to be discussed] was born March 7, 1790, and died probably in Herkimer, N. Y. He married Hannah Lester, who was born April 3, 1799. They had twelve children, only two of whom were living in 1807.
Mr. Newton removed with his family, wife and one son, in an ox-cart, from Connecticut to Herkimer, N. Y., in 1816, where he settled, and where his children were born. They were:

6243. i. NELSON A. b. June 11, 1811, in Connecticut.
6244. ii. ALEXANDER HAMILTON®, b. Aug. 8 or 11, 1816; m. Fannie Coolidge.
6245. iii. CHARLES® b. Nov. 19, 1818; m. and had children. One was —-—, a dam, who was Mrs. J. J. Lurvey, living 1907, in Oakfield, Wis.
6246. iv. LOUISA® b. Sept. 27, 1820.
6248. vi. FANNIE® b. April 14, 1824.
6251. ix. AMOS F® b. Aug. 13, 1830. His oldest daughter, Mrs. W. Stubbs, was living (1907) at No. 2518 South Seventh St., Sheboygan, Wis.
6252. x. ESTHER® b. Aug. 30, 1832; m. Floyd Huntington. She was living (1907) at No. 1232 Miner St., Chicago, Ill.
6253. xi. GEORGE L® b. Dec. 14, 1834; was living (1907) in Oakfield, Wis.
6254. xii. HARRET D® b. Aug. 9, 1837.

6244. ALEXANDER HAMILTON NEWTON® (Jabez!), born at Frankfort Hill, Herkimer County, N. Y., August 8 or 11, 1816; died there at the home of his daughter Ellen, November 8, 1904, aged 88. He married (1) September 20, 1846, Fannie Coolidge, born July 8, 1828, at Frankfort Hill, N. Y.; died March 13, 1856. Four children. He married (2) ———, 1868, Cynthia Manning Sergeant, daughter of John Manning Sergeant and his wife Elmina Fox, by whom he had one child. She was living in 1906.

Mr. Newton resided at Frankfort Hill, where he was a farmer, owning his farm. His children were:

6255. i. PORTER HAMILTON®, b. Aug. 14, 1817, at Jerusalem, Herkimer County, N. Y.; d. at Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 8, 1906. He married at DePere, Wis., by Rev. Edward F. Salmon, Oct. 27, 1853, Mrs. Sarah Melissa (Stearns) Reynolds, daughter of Harrison and Angeline (Tenny) Stearns of Ohio, born at Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 19, 1819, and widow of John Madison Reynolds,® by whom she had five children. Mr. Newton had no children. Educated in the public schools, and the College at Herkimer, N. Y., he went west to Green Bay when about seventeen years old, and found employment in the lumber mills. Later he became an expert flier and was employed by various firms—in Marshfield, Wis., and other towns, but his home was at Green Bay, Wis. He is spoken of as being “an intelligent man, amiable and good.” He was fond of reading and of writing and of entertaining children. He wrote in his Bible the family record from which much of this data is taken. He and his wife were active supporters of the near-by Baptist Church, although not members of it.

His death came unexpectedly. Being at the time head flier at the Green Bay Paper and Fiber Company’s Mill, he was caught in the belt shortly before seven o’clock, A. M., and carried by a cross belt until his head came in contact with a large beam, killing him instantly. His widow resides at the residence, No. 948 Shawano Ave., West Green Bay.

6256. ii. ELLA®, b. Jan. 11, 1818, at Herkimer County, N. Y.; was living in Herkimer in 1866. She m. at Lithfield, Herkimer County, N. Y., April 11, 1865, George F. Johnson, b. Feb. 22, 1840; d. at Herkimer, N. Y., Aug. 18, 1886, son of David and Sarah (Pittcock) Johnson, who were both born in England. She m. (2) at Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 26, 1898, Orange Turnell, b. in 1858; d. at Van Hornesville, Herkimer County, N. Y., July 18, 1899. Children by first marriage, were:

6360. 1. Cora Levan3 Johnson, b. May 27, 1867, at Denison Corners, Herkimer County, N. Y.; m. Oct. 18, 1884, at Utica, Oneida County, N. Y., Frank Spohn, b. at Columbia, Herkimer County, N. Y., Nov. 3, 1859. They reside in Herkimer, N. Y., and have one son:

6384a. 1. Daing6 Barger, b. ———, at Denison Corners, Herkimer County, N. Y.

6353. 11. GEORGE I. NEWTON2 (Jabez1), born December 14, 1824; married Oct. 17, 1844, Mary Summer, who was born May 10, 1844. Mr. Newton was a soldier in the Civil War, culminating October 19, 1864, in Company G, First Wisconsin regiment of Heavy Artillery and was discharged June 26, 1865. In 1867 he was living in Oakfield, Wis., so afflicted with rheumatism that he could scarcely move about. He had one son:

6365. i. CHARLES J., b. July 10, 1867; m. March 25, 1894, Mary Greget, b. Nov. 6, 1869. Children:

6366. 1. Floyd V., b. March 18, 1895.

6367. 2. Ruth E., b. Aug. 15, 1897.

6368. 3. Wallace6, b. Nov. 27, 1899.

6369. EBENEZER NUTON [NEWTON] and wife, Mary, had been born at Falmouth (now Portland), Maine, a son, John, March 25, 1725, as appears on the records of that town. "October ye 26th 1741. A lift tax of Fifteen Shillings a man to be paid on every wright by the petitioners in the Expedition to Canada in 1690—who are as follows—(viz.)." Then follows 124 names among which are the names of Ebenezer Newton, Abner Newton, James Taylor, Peter Bent and many more names of the pioneer settlers of Sudbury. The above refers to "the proprietors of the Sudbury-Canada Grant, ultimately located in Maine, embracing the present towns of Jay and Canton." [Hist Gen. Reg., Vol. 30.]

[I do not know who the above Ebenezer Newton was. He would need to have been born as early as the first decade of 1700. His name occurring among other "proprietors of the Sudbury-Canada Grant" would indicate that he, too, was from Sudbury—and, by inference a descendant of Richard Newton1, the immigrant, whose birth failed to be recorded. I do not know. The grants of land in Maine to the Sudbury people would account for Ebenezer Newton being in that vicinity. Also, it seems not impossible that his son John, born March 25, 1725, might be the John Newton1 of Gosport, Isle of Shoals, N. H. I place him next with that idea, and for convenience. After this John Newton, I shall place Ebenezer Newton of Keene, N. H., who may have been of this family, perhaps a younger brother of John of Isle of Shoals. This is all conjecture, of course. Only facts are proof.]
6370. JOHN NEWTON of Gosport, Isle of Shoals, X. H. [This record is taken from an article contributed by Joseph W. Warren, M.D., of Bryn Mawr, Pa., to the N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg. If I have failed to comprehend the relationships, the article can be seen.]

John Newton and Sarah Currier joined in marriage at the church in Gosport, by Rev. Mr. John Tucke (who wrote the record of it) on November 30, 1747. October 26, 1749, Mrs. Sarah Newton renewed her covenant with the church, with many others. Six children were born to them and baptized in the church at Gosport. On August 23, 1752, was placed against her name the mark (+) of those who had “Removed from Hence.” On August 19, 1771, “Samuel Webber, Widower, & Sarah Newton, Widow, were Joyned in Marriage”—which would indicate that John Newton had died not long before that date. His children were:

6371. i. JOHN II, bapt. Dec. 10, 1749.
6373. iii. ABIGAIL, bapt. Nov. 7, 1756.
6375. v. JOHN III, bapt. March 20, 1763.
6376. vi. JAMES, bapt. April 29, 1766.

His wife was Sally.—“Sally Newton, the Wife of John Newton Died June the —, 1804,” is the record. August 6, 1800, Rev. Jedediah Morse of Charlestown, Mass., was sent as a sort of missionary to inquire into the state of these islands, to distribute books and otherwise assist them. Among the persons baptized on August 10, 1800, were the children of this John and Sarah Newton, namely:

6378. i. JOHN, Jr. [prob. born about 1804, was not then baptized], who died in 1810, as above. He is supposed to be the John Newton noted in the History of Rye as marrying Mary Hale of the Shoals, on July 23, 1804, probably at Rye. She was probably daughter of John and Mary (Difrang) Hale of Kittery and the Shoals. There is no record of the children of this couple.

Oct. 29, 1800, the new stone meetinghouse was completed—to be used both for public worship and for school purposes. The pew, by purchase, belonged to the several individuals mentioned, the number 6 pew to Mr. John Newton, whom I suppose to be this man. As was also the John Newton elected selectman in 1803 and 1804. Whether he also served those years as constable, too, as was voted, or perhaps a son of his, is unknown to me.

6379. ii. NANCY, bapt. Aug. 10, 1800 [prob. b. about 1786].

and Mary (Macx) Caswell of Gosport, where she was b. Oct. 19, 1792. After his death she m. his brother Isaac, as below. Six children of Mark and Mary Newton, b. at Gosport, were:

6384. 2. Joseph H., b. April 4, 1819. "Joseph C." and "William C." Newton were two of the committee of thirteen "To dispose of the Surplus Revenue of the town", as above Recorded. I suppose, this Joseph.

6387. 5. Clarissa D., b. April 6, 1825; d. at Portsmouth, N. H., Dec. 14, 1842, aged 19.

6388. 6. Mark William Cutter, b. Nov. 8, 1824. I suppose this is the "Mark C. Newton", who was one of the constables in the years 1846 and 1847. After that I suppose he is the person called "William C. Newton" (since there is no other William mentioned) who became an active and trusted citizen in the affairs of the town as police officer and on school committee; constable and town clerk 1848; moderator of the town meeting 1859; and agent to repair the town boat and to use the surplus town funds, 1849-1850; selectman and moderator in 1852 and 1853; tax gatherer, 1854; representative, 1854.

6382. vi. Isaac K., b. June 2, 1798; bapt. Aug. 10, 1800; m. March 6, 1827, Mrs. Mary (Caswell) Newton, widow of his brother Mark Newton. He was elected one of the selectmen for 1846, and one of the constables for 1847. His children were:

6390. 2. Sarah Elizabeth, b. Oct. 28, 1829; m. by Rev. S. Phanton, at Portsmouth, Nov. 7, 1855, Samuel H. Robinson, Jr., "both of Gosport." They had a daughter:

6392. 3. Harriet Augustus, b. July 6, 1833.

6393. 4. Isaac Elwin, b. Sept. 18, 1836. I suppose he is the "Elvin Newton" of Gosport, who m. at Newburyport, N. H., by Rev. Willard Smith, Oct. 27, 1855, Mary J. Robinson, "both of Gosport." A daughter:

6394. 1. Ida, b. Sept. 24, 1856.

6395. EBENEZER NEWTON of Keene, N. H. [ancestry not known, but probably descended from Richard] was born about 1740, and died at Rochester, Vt. His grave, in the cemetery in Rochester village, is marked by a headstone inscribed:

"Ebenezer Newton
Died May 14, 1814
Aged 74 years."

He married at Keene, N. H., both being residents of Keene, by Rev. Clement Sumner, on June 2, 1768. Susannah Hubert, [also written Hobert and Hubbard.] She is supposed to have come from Milton or Braintree, Mass. Whose daughter she was I have not learned; but would suggest that she is probably descended from the immigrant Edmund Hubbard who settled at Hingham, Mass. She was born about 1750 and died at Rochester, Vt., at the home of her son David, where she had spent her last years. She is buried in the North Hollow Cemetery, where her headstone is inscribed:

"Susannah Newton, wife of Ebenezer Newton, Died June 2, 1838.
Aged 88 years."

Mr. Newton came, from somewhere unknown to me, to Keene, N. H., when quite a young man—a youth, in fact, for he was there in 1754, and it is recorded of him that he was a soldier during the French and Indian wars of 1754-1757 from Keene. His service was in connection with General Amherst's
Army, which captured Ticonderoga. The tradition in the family is that he was one of the scouts or pioneers across the Green Mountains from Charlestown, N. H.—No. 4, it was then designated—to Ticonderoga. He was young for such service, if the dates on his headstone are correct. But at that time both young and old were out to defend their homes.

The next date on the records is his marriage in 1768.

In 1770, Ebenezer Newton, with others, was given liberty by the town to build pews in the meetinghouse at Keene, and to divide them among themselves as they should agree. This would indicate that Ebenezer was something of a carpenter, by this time.

About 1775 we find Ebenezer Newton on a muster roll of Keene in a company of 117 officers and men, with an “Alarm List” of 45 men. “A list of the foot Company of Keene.” The alarm list was made up of older and not fully able-bodied men. They were not expected to go far from their homes, but to protect them, while the younger men followed the enemy.

April 12, 1776, Ebenezer Newton signed the “Association Test” of loyalty. November 22, 1776, Ebenezer Newton signed a petition for a post-house for Keene.

In 1776 Ebenezer Newton was connected with the New Hampshire militia as a soldier of the Revolution. He was enrolled in Col. Ashley’s regiment, which participated in the battle of Bennington on August 16, 1777.

June 29, 1777, Col. Ashley marched against Burgoyne. Among the enlisted men was Ebenezer Newton of Keene, N. H.

In 1790, the First United States Census gives our Ebenezer Newton still at Keene, N. H., where his family consists of himself—i.e., one male and six females. This would prove that he was still a citizen of Keene and did not move to Rochester, Vt., so early as 1780, as the family supposed. The war was well over and the country settled down before he changed his residence. Thus his children were all born at Keene, N. H., and are recorded on the town books. Mrs. Hester (Page) Dunham, now living on what was supposed to be his home place in Rochester, Vt., writes: “Ebenezer Newton was my great-grandfather, but this place was never his. It was settled by his son, David Newton, in 1800, and if he ever made his home here it was not a permanent one.”

It is said by one branch of this family that Eben Newton lived in Moretown, Vt., and that his children were born there. Mr. Newton held many public offices; was Representative to the General Court in 1858-9; was always esteemed as a citizen and as a man. He had a wide reputation as a skillful physician. When fourteen years of age, he moved with his parents from Truro to Chatham, Mass., where he was graduated from the high school; 1876 graduated from State Normal School at Bridgewater; teacher in the grammar school at Essex; principal of the high school at Westport; master of the grammar schools at Marlborough, Provincetown, Taunton, Somerville: sub-master of Lyman and Emerson schools at East Boston, and lastly master of the Franklin School of Boston, which position he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Newton had especially prepared himself in music and art, and gave much attention to those branches in connection with his teaching. He studied history under Professor Hart of Harvard University, and psychology with Dr. Larkin Dunton of Boston Normal School. He was a member of several teachers' clubs and associations and musical societies, which often led to his filling positions as choirmaster and soloist in several churches. Mr. Newton* is an active and useful citizen of his town and state. Few men are better equipped by experience and adaptability to the public service. It is stated: "Hon. H. Huestis Newton of Everett is a man of note in our Legislature" [Mass. General Court, in the State House at Boston]. He was a representative to the Legislature continuously 1898-1904, holding the important committee assignments: 1898, on judiciary; 1899, chairman committee on taxation; second member on committee on election laws; 1900, chairman committee on cities; member committee on rules; 1901-2, chairman committee on judiciary; chairman committee on rules; committee on revision of public statutes (1901); 1904, chairman committee on metropolitan affairs and on rules.

In 1915 he ran as a "progressive" for the office of attorney-general and was defeated. It is written, of him that his "well-known position on every moral question; unimpeachable character; sterling integrity, legal and executive ability are recognized and highly appreciated by our citizens." *The following from the Boston Transcript, 1914, is relative and interesting: "Ex-Representative Newton of Everett, who ranks as one of the substantial men of the Republican party, took three letters in shorthand the other day, though he had not tried it for fifteen years. He also read back his notes. He was in a group discussing the case with which such arts are lost through lack of practice, when he ventured the suggestion he could call it back. When he had finished he explained that when just out of college he followed Governor Robinson in the famous Butler campaign around the State and reported him for the Boston Journal. He thought that experience helped to fix it firmly in his mind."
6401. RUFUS NEWTON,2 (Ebenezer1 of Keene), son of Ebenezer and Susannah (Hubbard) Newton of Keene, N. H., and Rochester, Vt., was born at Keene, N. H., March 1, 1780, and died at Brandon, Vt., September 8, 1857, aged 78 years, 6 months; cause of death, consumption. Burial with his wife at Brandon, Vt. Headstones inscribed.

He married at Keene, N. H., Rev. Aaron Hall officiating, August 19, 1802, Sally Brown, daughter of Joseph and Keziah (Day) Brown5 of Keene, N. H., where she was born [October 29], 1781. She died at Brandon, Vt., July 29, 1863, aged 81 years, 9 months. G. S. "Ten children, of whom eight became adults."

Mr. Newton was a farmer. When he removed from Keene, N. H., we do not know, but we do know that he settled in Brandon, Vt., where he lived many years.

He was a soldier in the War of 1812, and was gone with the army for several years; was given up as dead, so long was the time he was not heard from, but finally returned. Eight children were living before his war service and two were born after his return. [That is the family report. We regret we have the birth dates of but two of the ten children and we cannot be sure when they were born.] The family was poor and the children had to get out and work soon, as farmer's children always do. His capable wife was taken care of in her last years in the home of their son Alexander S. Newton.

Mr. Newton was educated in the public schools until fourteen years old, when he learned the cabinet-maker's trade. Later he invented the first automatic machine for novelty wood turning, which proved to be the foundation of an enterprise business known as the "Newton & Thompson Manufacturing Company," established in 1856, in Brandon, Vt.; and at the present time (1912) a successful establishment, furnishing employment to a large number of people.

* Louisa Flanders was the dau. of Moses and Sarah (George) Flanders of Antrim, N. H.
Sarah George of Weare, N. H., was the dau. of Simeon George, who is thought to have come from Newburyport, Mass.
Simeon George and his five sons were in the Revolutionary War. Although I have been able to find where most of the sons enlisted, I have not been able to find his enlistment. [Mrs. Lelia Field.]

Stillman Austin was of Scotch descent—the name originally being McAslin, from that to Astin and hence Austin. There are a great many of them buried in Rochester, Vt. [Same.] in the village of Forestdale. Forestdale is in the town of Brandon, but a village by itself about three miles from Brandon proper. There is no one of the Newton name now in the business; but the family is represented in the business in the person of the president of the company, Mr. Lewis Bump, who married a granddaughter of its founder, Almira E. Newton, daughter of Eugene Alexander, son of Alexander S. Newton. The family have reason to be justly proud of the achievements of their ancestor, and this is the proper and exact place to mention his good works.

5700. EPHRAIM NEWTON [I have not sufficient data to place this man; but he is probably of the branch of Richard Newton of Sudbury]. He was born in Marlborough, Mass., October 9, 1782 (P. R.), and died in Charlton, Mass., May 6, 1846, aged 64: lung fever.

He married in Marlborough, Mass., October 29, 1800, Kate [Caty] Russell. She was daughter of Oliver and Elizabeth (How) Russell of Marlborough and Northborough, and born in Northborough, October 18, 1782. She died in Northborough, Mass., in 1822 or 1823. Twelve children.

He married (2) in Worcester, Mass., February 7, 1838, Mrs. Vina Robbins. I am told that this Ephraim Newton had a brother Sylvester, who lived in Paxton, and another brother whose name was Brigham.

Ephraim Newton was a farmer. He had farms in Northborough, Millbury, Westborough and Charlton, Mass. "Many of his children were born in Northboro', and may be all of them," says his son. But the records there do not have them. The two oldest children were born in Marlborough, Mass.

He died without a will, and his estate was administered by his son-in-law, Artemas Goddard, at Charlton, in 1846. An abstract of administration and list of papers follows:

1846. Ephraim Newton, Charlton. 43349.

(See note to Ezekiel Newton at Ezek. 9.)

Mr. Newton removed not long after marriage to Chester, Vt., and had children born there. With the exception of one of them, I can give little more than their names, which were:

He married, age 23 years, being then "of Chester, Vt., June 5, 1845, Almira Eunice Newton (5862), age 18, daughter of Ezra Beaman and Sarah (Turner) Newton of West Boylston, Mass., born 1826, or 1827, and died 1859. Hiram Newton, Jr., was a victim of the drink habit. He left his family about 1836 or 1837; came home once or twice; then was said to have died in Massachusetts. His family was broken up while the children were small, and each was put out, or took care of himself as best he could. None of the children followed the habit of their father, but were bitter against it. The children, six in number, were:

"No rum or tobacco ever came to my lips." He married Betsey A. Tírill, b. July 21, 1834, in Stewarts town, N. H., daughter of Enoch and Ornancinda (Ske) Tírill of Stewarts town, N. H. NATHANIEL NEWTON[2] [pedigree untraceable. It seems to me as though he may have been a son of Jason[3] (293), whose sons, Jason[4] and Samuel[5], removed to Lanesborough, in Berkshire County, Mass., and later to Vermont. Lanesborough is directly south of New Ashford, which was settled in 1762, by emigrants from the eastern part of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. One of them was Samuel P. Tyler]. "He married in New Ashford, Mass., we think," writes his grandson, "Elizabeth Tyler, who was born about 1714, and died in Georgia, Vt., July 15, 1834, where she was buried (no stone)." "She died when my father (Wm. T.) was ten years old and she was 90 at the time she died."
"She left her husband, taking her three sons, Frederick and Harry and John, coming from New Ashford, Mass., to Georgia, Vt., in 1798, where they afterward lived—and where she died at Frederick's house, when she was quite old. She may have left other children in Massachusetts, I do not know." Frederick's father, I never saw nor heard much about, except that he came once to Georgia to see his son Frederick. "He was a drinking man; that was the reason his wife left him and brought her boys with her. We do not know what kind of men Harry and John turned out to be; but Frederick was strictly temperate, as were all his sons and grandsons. So she accomplished what she set out to do—to bring up her children in the good way." I do not know the order of these children, except that Frederick was youngest.

On Dec. 31, 1809, William Tyler Newton, youngest son of Frederick, had printed a copy of the names of the descendants of Frederick—the then Newton family of Georgia, consisting of his ten children, forty-three grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren. It is to be regretted that he did not include dates in this record, and other family records of his knowledge that would have enhanced its value in great measure. His son, Mr. Henry S. Newton, has not only contributed the data printed by his father, but has supplied the lack of the dates; and also given abundant new matter to our record of this family. To him we are indebted for it all.

Frederick Newton was eighteen years old when he came with his mother and two brothers from Massachusetts to Vermont and with them established a home there, the youngest of the three brothers. The family on

* LIFE AND SKETCH OF STEPHEN DAVIS AND HIS DESCENDANTS,
BY WILLIAM TYLER NEWTON, 1899."

STEPHEN DAVIS came from Massachusetts to Georgia, Vt., in 1780. He purchased a mile of government land on the east side of what is now the main road of that village, also the main road from Montreal to Burlington, Vt. He gave $1,000 an acre for said land. which consisted principally of forests, the road being shown by marked trees. He was a good citizen, upholding the freedom and the principles of the United States Government of to-day.

He married a lady named ——— Young, and they had a family of twelve children, three sons and nine daughters. He lived in Georgia, Vt., thirteen years, dying in 1802, at the age of 66 years (born about 1736). He left to each son 260 acres of land property, and to each daughter 150 acres = 1,650 acres. His children and grandchildren were:

William Y. Davis, d. 1802, having buried three children.

Moses Davis, d. Sept. 30, 1827, aged 54 (= b. 1773), leaving sons: Harry, Young, and Jackson.

Betsy Davis, m. Luther Taylor and had children: Absalom, Young, Betsy (wife of C. V. Bliss).

Polly Davis, d. in 1829, aged 76 (= b. 1753), m. Hon. Frederick Bliss.

Stephen Davis, d. in 1845, aged 71 ( = b. 1771). His children were: Stephen, Warner, Ransel, Harmon, Alvira and Loveth.

Becky Davis, m. Edman Loom. Their children were Edman, Osborn, Manly, Heman, Lautha and Samantha.

Patty Davis, m. Robert Wrightman. Their children were: John, Mary, Young, Adam, Moses, Alexander, Anna, and Patty Weightsman.

Eleta Davis, m. Solomon Bliss. Their children were: Sidney, Steven, Solomon, Jr., Olin, Becky, Betsy Bliss.

A daughter, ——— Davis, who m. Elijah Herrick. Their children were: Moses, Elijah and Lather Herrick.

A daughter, ——— Davis, who m. Timothy Sibley. They had several children, the writer does not know their names.

A daughter, ——— Davis, who m. Mr. ——— Johnson. No children.

Anna Davis, the youngest daughter, m. in 1802 Frederick Newton of Massachusetts, son of Nathaniel and his wife Elizabeth (Tyler) Newton of Massachusetts [prob. New Ashford].

The order of the above children is not correct. That is evident. A few more dates would straighten matters. But as a whole the matter is of value, coming as it does from a member of the family, whose family record it is. [E. N. L.] arrival in Georgia, Vt., moved into one of Mr. Stephen Davis' houses, and later Mr. Newton married the daughter of Mr. Davis, and that property was given by her father to her—139 acres. Thus the Newton homestead in Georgia came to them through Anna Davis, wife of Frederick Newton. It was good property and a productive farm. Frederick Newton built a substantial frame house—one and one half stories—that is still in a good state of preservation, now owned and inhabited by his grandson, Irving Newton, who received it from his father, William, buying out the shares of his brothers and sisters in the property. Here Mr. and Mrs. Newton made a home that was to see the birth of eleven children; the death of six of them while under the age of 30 years, principally of consumption, two dying within the same year more than once. After the birth of their grandson, Heman Newton, there had been sixteen deaths in the old Newton home, against twenty-six births.

Frederick Newton was a powerfully built man. Although he was a farmer, he cut the timber, framed and built for himself the house he lived in, and two barns, without a mistake. He had a mechanical turn of mind. All the schooling he had was included in twenty-one days—and studying at home in the evenings. The education of many was acquired in the same manner in those days. One can but admire the persistence, and the high standard. His posterity show the same mechanical skill. They are all at carpenter, cabinet and mason work, as the results of their labors show, although most of them live on farms. They are all fond of music, and are good singers—boys and girls, men and women. William Tyler Newton had an exceptionally sweet tenor voice. The men were lovers of good horses—therefore excellent teamsters. Of Mr. Newton's eleven children, only four lived to marry. Children were:

1. Isaac Young, b. Aug. 14, 1803; d. at Georgia, Vt., Aug. 25, 1847; burial there. Grave stone. He married there, Eliza Merritt. They had eight children, some of whom removed to Wisconsin. Children were:

6751. WILLIAM TYLER NEWTON (Frederick²), born September 16, 1823; a farmer in Georgia, Vt.; resided on the homestead of his parents, and had born to him there, fourteen children. He died April 19, 1902, in the hospital at St. Albans, Vt. He married in Georgia, Vt., May —, 1845, Charlotte Caldwell, daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Pattee) Caldwell of Georgia, Vt., where she was born March 31, 1825, and where she died March 21, 1893. Cancer.

Mr. Newton was a tall man, spare built. He had dark, curly hair and black eyes. He was not a man of great physical strength, but possessed a slightness of hand that could turn off more work in less time, and easier than many a stronger man. He was of a nervous temperament, loved music and had an exquisite voice. He taught all his children to read music and to sing, and sang with them a great deal. All the four parts were carried by the family, and there was "Music in the Air," when they all took up the strain.

He was a lover of horses and oxen, and always kept good ones of both. He counted it a favor to him, if he were permitted to break in steers for his neighbors—doing it all by voice and kindness, never using the whip. He had the same gentle control over his children, whom he taught to obey, and to work, and to become self-respecting men and women. "None of them drank, smoked or chewed tobacco, danced, played cards or read dime novels."

He lived on the old home place, which later his son owned, all of his life. One day he was chopping kindling wood under the kitchen stove and got a splinter in his right hand. It did not heal; developed into a cancer. He went to the hospital at St. Albans, Vt., where the arm was taken off above the elbow. That healed and he was well for about a year, when the cancer broke out under the arm. He went again to the hospital, and had another operation. It did not heal. He lived several weeks at the hospital, and then died there. His body was brought home and the funeral was from the residence where so many of his family had died. [Henry S. Newton.] His children were:

They were married right away and he continued at the same work—running the dynamo that lights the City of Sparta, runs the flour mill, etc., until 1903, when he returned to Vermont, and settled at Albany. 6839. 2. Stella Charlotte, b. Dec. 9, 1891.
6841. 4. Anna Power, b. May 26, 1898.

Then he had a fall from a mowing machine that hurt his lung and he d. in twelve days of pneumonia. Died at the home of his brother, Henry S. Newton, in Georgia, Vt., Aug. 9, 1898.

6834. NATHANIEL K. NEWTON, currier, of Lynn, Mass., and wife Elizabeth F. ———, had a son.

6835. i. Nathaniel Newton, b. Jan. 16, 1847, at Lynn, Mass. I do not know who these are.

6837. NATHANIEL NEWTON2 (son of Anthony R. Newton (6836), whose pedigree is unknown) was born at Rutland, Vt., February 21, 1782, and died of cholera at Wheeling, W. Va., June 17, 1851, aged 69.

He married in Pennsylvania, town and date not known, Mrs. Anna (Batterson) Slaterly, daughter of Leonard and ——— (Dodd) Batterson of Phillipsburg, Warren County, N. J., where she was born Sept. 5, 1786. She died in Beverly, Ohio, November 14, 1857. Her first husband, Mr. Slaterly, died in Iowa a short time after their marriage. By him she had a son, Leonard Slaterly, born Feb. 17, 1813, who was brought up by his grandfather, Batterson, and took his name, Leonard Slaterly Batterson. He married, and died. His widow, Mrs. C. Batterson was living in 1907 in Rochester, Iowa, aged 90 years. The father of Leonard Batterson, Sr., "was born in England, I think," is the statement. As to the wife. —— Dodd, "Father [Mark A.] said he had an uncle by the name of Dodd."

Anthony R. Newton's wife had sisters Jane (m. David VanZile), and Rebecca (m. Jacob Rowley). The above is all the knowledge the now living descendants have of the old people.

Nathaniel Newton was five years old when his father died [=1877]. He was brought up by his aunts, Mrs. VanZile and Mrs. Rowley, sisters of his mother, in Vermont, and came with them from Vermont to Tioga County, N. Y., where they settled. After his marriage he settled for a time in Durgy, Bradford County, Pa., where four of his children were born. His trade was shoemaker, but he was also a farmer.

"A man by the name of Durgy kept a country store there which gave name to the place, where the mail came once a week. About three miles up the river a man by the name of Ridgeway started a like store—at either place the farmers could trade and the boys sell their coon skins."

Between 1830 and 1852, Mr. Newton moved from Durgy to Akron, Summit Co., Ohio, where he took up land by the "Squatter's Claim" method. Later he removed to Sandusky, Ohio, and from there went to Columbus, Ohio; thence to Moscow Mills, Ohio, and last to Wheeling, W. Va., where he died. Being a shoemaker, he went where work was most abundant. Mr. Newton was a medium-sized, athletic man. His wife was of larger frame. Their children were:

6838. i. Lewis, b. Jan. 18, 1819, at Ridgeway, Pa.; d. at Poinette, Wis., Jan. 14, 1902; m. at Farmington, Tioga County, Pa., Jan. 7, 1841, Emily Edabert, daughter of John D. and Mary (Soule) Edgbert of Farmington, Pa., where she was born. She d. at Poinette, Wis., April 14, 1891. Mr. Newton was a farmer—three miles from Keeseville, Pa.; then four miles from Middleburg, Pa., until 1854, when he removed to Wisconsin, arriving April 15, 1854, and settling at Arlington, in Columbia County. The family still own the land there and have a cottage, to which they "go home" every summer. His children are:

6841. 1. Eliza, b. Feb. 21, 1842; m. (1) Jacob Chaffant; m. (2) Francis Whisler. In 1850 she was living in Indiana.

6846. 2. Jery, b. March 1, 1844; m. at Poinette, Wis., in 1863, Harlow J. Youmans. In 1910 they were living in Platteville, Wis.

He married at Centerville, Morgan County, Ohio, May 4, 1848, Margaret Keever, dau. of William Keever (born in Pennsylvania) and his wife Anna Smith (born in Ireland, came to America when twelve years old). She was b. Jan. 10, 1831, in Morgan County, near Moscow Mills, Ohio, and d. at her home in Coalrun, Ohio, March 2, 1884. Mr. Newton was a blacksmith and farmer. In 1830 he moved with his parents from Durgy to Akron, Ohio. After marriage he soon settled at Coalrun, Ohio, where all of his children were born. He spent the last fifteen years of his life, and died, at the home of his son, Edward Boyd Newton, on the farm a short distance from Sherman, Ohio. Mr. Newton united with the Baptist church at the age of 18. He subsequently joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. For more than sixty years, religion was with him a personal every-day matter. During the last years he was totally blind. “A man of character, industrious, punctual, stainless.” Children were:

1. John William*, b. June 29, 1819; a carpenter and farmer; m. at Keith,
Noble County, Ohio, Sarah Margaret Farson, b. at Salem, Columbia

City, Mo., March 23, 1900. Mr. Newton was living there in 1910.

6. William Arthur*, b. Aug. 28, 1880; m. at Belgrade, Gallatin County, Mont., May 22, 1904, Plesa Rease, dau. of Rev. Grosvenor and Ann 1910, in Belgrade, Mont. Architect and contractor.

7. Sadie Bell*, b. Nov. 3, 1881; m. at Bute, Mo., Feb. 28, 1903, John Howard Payne, son of George and Sarah (Lambert) Payne of Ohio.
He was b. Oct. 22, 1881. A farmer in North Salem, Mo., where they were living in 1910 and where their children were born:

8. Charles Willard*, b. Oct. 18, 1890, at Bute, Mo.; unm. in 1910, was living on the farm at Cora, Mo., with his parents.

1. Edward Boyd*, b. Jan. 3, 1851; m. at Shawnee, Ohio, May 2, 1886, Mrs.
Anne (Irvin) Turner, widow of William Turner, who d. Nov. 29, 1877.
She was the daughter of Alexander Irvin (b. near Newark, Licking County, Ohio) and his wife Priscilla Hazleton (b. on a farm near Old Straightville, Perry County, Ohio). Mrs. Newton was b. on a farm near McCuneville, Perry County, Ohio, April 29, 1852. Mr. Newton and his family were living in 1910 at No. 252 East Pleasant St., Springfield, Ohio. He is a blacksmith and was still working at his trade. In 1902 and before, he was living on a farm a short distance from Shawnee, Ohio. He is a citizen much esteemed in the community.
Of his progenitors he writes me: “We are of a respectable family, and are still holding the record good.” No one can honor his forebears in a better way. They have an only child:

1. Irvin Boyd*, b. May 22, 1881, at Shawnee, Ohio.

2. Wesley Clark*, b. Jan. 3, 1883; m. April 14, 1892, Hattie M. Sprague, dughter of Edwin W. and Mary (Lamb) Sprague of Washington County, Ohio. She was b. March 31, 1880. Both are living (1914) and reside at No. 306 Wooster St., Marietta, Ohio. Mr. Newton was educated in the public schools of Washington County, Ohio, and Beaver College, and taught schools in West Virginia, Illinois and Missouri.
In 1879 he left Missouri, making an overland trip by wagon to Montana, and settled at Pezzeman, where he taught school for a number of years.
He purchased a farm of 200 acres, married and settled upon it, and reared there a family of five children.
The following, from "Progressive Men of Montana," is the mention of Mr. Newton. He is so constituted by nature that public affairs in which the general welfare of his section is concerned have for him an abiding and commanding interest, and his well-established capacity for safely and successfully administering them has made him the choice of his people for offices of great trust and responsibility. He was treasurer of his county from 1885 to 1890, and was elected to the State Legislature in 1900. In politics, Mr. Newton has always been a Republican, but he has the unqualified esteem of all his fellow citizens without regard to party predilections, having always faithfully administered any trust with which he was charged, for the general good. In the Legislature he introduced and presented for passage a bill transferring to the school fund the unclaimed $39,000 which figured in recent legislative history.

In 1907 Mr. Newton sold his holdings in Montana and returned to Ohio, purchasing a home in Marietta, where his children are being educated in high school and college. He also has a fine farm in the Muskingum Valley, Ohio, thus combining the advantages of city and country life. His children are:

iii. Caroline, b. Feb. 6, 1822; d. at Arlington, Wis., March 12, 1871; m. (1) in Ohio, Harvey Langle; by whom she had children; m. (2) in Wisconsin, James West. "Aunt Caroline moved to Wisconsin when I was quite young." [Edw. B. N.] There is mention of "Caroline West's family"—were there children by second husband? Children:

1. Harvey Langle, Jr., b. ———.
2. Nicholas Birk Langle, b. ———; was living in 1910 in Wisconsin.

iv. John Linn Wenzel; b. Jan. 5, 1824, or 1825; was living January, 1910, with his daughter in North Milwaukee, Wis.; m. Catherine Woods, daughter of William and Ann (Slater) Woods of Center Township, Guernsey County, Ohio, where she was b. March 23, 1828. She d. at Madison, Wis., April 6, 1900. Mr. Newton lived at Beverly, Ohio, "four miles up the river." April 16, 1865, he moved from Ohio and settled in Wisconsin. In 1869 his home was in Madison, Wis., which place continued to be his residence until about 1899, when he went to live with his daughter, Mrs. Brown, in Milwaukee, then aged about 85. "In good health and memory, but somewhat deaf." Mr. Newton was a captain and colonel in the Ohio Militia, and was out in the Civil War—assisted to drive the rebel Morgan out of the state. His children all died before becoming of age, except the three here given:

1. Martha J. | 1845; m. January, 1867, Daniel S. Slater. He was a soldier in the Civil War, enlisting 1861 in the three months service, and when mustered out, his, guardian made him stay out and complete his trade. The next year, May, 1862, he started to go to Nashville, Tenn., to enlist in the same company with his brother. They were captured by General Morgan's men, paroled, and sent home with a number of soldiers on furlough. There joining the militia, he helped capture some of Morgan's men in their retreat through Ohio, November, 1862, he enlisted in the 18th Ohio Volunteer Infantry, and was mustered out at the close of the war. Mr. and Mrs. Slater were living in 1910, at No. 650 North Kalamoso Ave., Marshall, Mich. Children not sent me, but one is Mrs. W. W. Cook.

2. Amanda | b. ———.
3. Florence | b. ———.

[This record of Mr. Newton's children leaves much to be desired. From the data given, I suppose one of these daughters is the wife of Dr. L. S. Brown. She "has always lived in Madison, Wis., until Nov. 24, 1909, her husband died, and she is now here [January, 1910, Milwaukee] at her daughter's, Mrs. G. E. Morton, No. 274 Twenty-fourth St., Milwaukee. The other daughter must be "Mrs. A. T. Brown, at North Milwaukee."
with whom Mr. Newton was living. Which is which is unknown to me. I think it desirable to set down the names; however. Mrs. W. W. Cook is a member of the D. A. R.

Moses Hunting (Stephen, Stephen, John, John Hunting of Dedham, Mass., 1638), son of Stephen, Jr., and his second wife Hannah (Converse) Hunting of Hubbardston, Mass., was born there September 8, 1758, and died in 1818 at Westminster, Mass. P. R. He married at Hubbardston, Mass., January 12, 1792.

6900. ELIZABETH WOOD NEWTON, whose parentage I have failed to find. That she was not a widow is evidenced in the declaration of her son that he wished to have his name changed from Hunting to his mother's maiden name of Newton. In the record of the births of her children she is designated as "Elizabeth W." Hunting. Some one will know her parentage. The brother of Moses Hunting, Stephen Hunting, married Polly Newton, whom I suppose, from the agreement of birth date and age at death, to be the daughter of Ezekiel Newton (1822). How nearly related were Elizabeth W. and Polly Newton does not appear. Because the posterity of Moses Hunting, Jr., bear the name of Newton it is well to show when the change of name was accomplished.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunting lived in Hubbardston, Mass., where their children were born, and where she died May 1, 1814, and later he moved to Westminster, where he died—the death is not recorded in either town. He had been a soldier of the Revolution, and was a pensioner of that war. Their children were:

6901. i. MOSES HUNTING, b. Oct. 23, 1792; m. Olive Kemp.
ii. ——, a dau., b. ———; d. Nov. 24, 1794.
6902. iii. POLLY HUNTING, b. Nov. 24, 1794; d. July 25, 1800.
6903. iv. JONAS NEWTON HUNTING, b. Feb. 3, 1797. [Was his grandfather a Jonas Newton?]
6904. v. SIDNEY FOSTER HUNTING, b. Sept. 6, 1799.
6905. vi. KATHERINE HUNTING, b. Feb. 15, 1802.
6906. vii. THOMAS SUMMER HUNTING, b. March 12, 1804; d. Sept. 25, 1804.
6907. viii. SARAH WOOD HUNTING, b. Aug. 17, 1805.
6908. ix. RELIEF ELIZA HUNTING, b. March 2, 1810; m. 1825, George Maudell.

6901. MOSES HUNTING—NEWTON, son of Moses and Elizabeth Wood (Newton) Hunting of Hubbardston, Mass., was born there October 23, 1792, and died at Francestown, N. H., January 31, 1877, aged 84. The historian of Francestown writes of him: "When 19 or 20 years of age he came to Francestown, N. H., and petitioned the Legislature of that State to have his name changed to Moses Newton, his mother's maiden name. His early home was in Hubbardston, Mass., and he had resided awhile in Westminster, Mass., also in Alexandria, N. H., but he came to Francestown, N. H., from Bennington, N. H., in 1818. He lived several years on the Asa Kemp property in Francestown, and on the Billings property on "Ballard Hill." He afterward crossed the town line into Bennington, N. H., but returned and spent his last days in Francestown, his home being the present (18—) residence of Miss Almira Kemp.

In 1809, a lady writes me: "The vacant house of Moses Newton stands there still—a pretty cottage home, with its fields going to waste, and the woodland growing up around it"—and, before 1877, "He was then living with his daughter, but died a few months later." He married Olive Kemp, daughter of Asa and Alice (Nutting) Kemp of Francestown, N. H., where she was born about 1796, and where she died May 11, 1869, aged 76. Of the children, the first two died young, the others became adults, and with their posterity have continued to hold the surname of Newton.

Elizabeth Wood Newton was probably in the sixth generation from Richard Newton of Sudbury. And since her husband surely was in the sixth generation from the immigrant Hunting, I will for convenience number their children in the seventh generation. The children were:
6200. 1. Mary, and ii. Harvey, d. y.: no dates given.

6211. iii. Samuel F., b. June 29, 1812, by trade a mason; m. Dec. 10, 1846, Mary E. True, daughter of Mark and Laura A. (Fisk) True of Francestown, N. H., where she was born Oct. 5, 1825. She d. June 6, 1890. Mr. Newton lived all his married life at the home in Francestown, later occupied by his son-in-law, Sewell Brown. As a neighbor and a citizen his reputation was the best. His excellent memory was helpful to the compiler, and the preparation of the history of Francestown. His five children were all born at Francestown, N. H., namely:

6216. 1. Harriet A., b. Dec. 7, 1847; was living in 1906 at Chelmsford, Mass.; m. June 1, 1871, Ephraim Fuller of Deering, N. H. For a time they lived in Globe, Ariz.

6217. 2. Eliza S., b. May 19, 1850: d. without children; m. (1) Jan. 19, 1883, Harrison H. Hardy of Francestown, N. H.; m. (2) June 17, 1891, Sewell S. Brown of Francestown, and resided in the home place of her father in Francestown.

6218. 3. George A., b. Sept. 9, 1852; a jeweller; removed to Globe, Ariz.—one of its first settlers, where he established himself in the jewellery business. He also purchased a ranch and became a successful ranchman. "One morning he went out on his pony to go some distance and never returned. It was never known whether he was killed by the Indians or if he and his pony sank in a bog." He married Oct. 12, 1881, Alice Wilson of Globe, Ariz., and had children, who after the death of their mother were living with their aunt in Cambridge, Mass., in 1886.

6221. iv. Henry B., b. Dec. 1, 1821: d. July 6, 1900, at Bennington, N. H., where he had spent his married life. He m. April 1842, Emily Blanchard, daughter of Alber and Emiain (Kenniston) Blanchard of Greenfield, N. H., where she was b. Jan. 11, 1821. She d. at Bennington, N. H., Feb. 26, 1902. Their children were:

6224. 4. Samuel H., b. Aug. 19, 1850; m. Nov. —, 1887, Mary L. Harris, who d. Aug. 28, 1901. Their children were:

6226. 2. Wilfred J., b. March 18, 1888.

6227. 5. Francis J., b. Jan. 5, 1852; m. Dec. —, 1885, Alice M. Boughton, who d. Jan. 29, 1914. They had three children, two of whom d. in infancy. The other was:

6228. 1. Lillian F., b. Sept. 11, 1886.

6229. 6. Edward Albert, b. Nov. 9, 1890, in Bennington, N. H.; m. May 25, 1885, Alice M. Keyes, who was b. in Alexandria, N. H., July 22, 1868. Soon after marriage they moved to Francestown, N. H., where they lived on what was the "John Collins place"—buying it, I understand. In the summer of 1887, the house burned and he built the present house during the autumn of 1887. They have one son:

6230. 1. Maurice C., b. May 3, 1890.

6231. vi. Asenath S., b. Dec. 27, 1825; was living in 1906 in Francestown; m. in 1840, Horace R. Belcher of Francestown, N. H. Their three children were:

6231. 1. Henry A. Belcher, b. June 27, 1841; a soldier of the Civil War, died in Virginia in 1863.

The following is a list of Newtons who were soldiers of the Revolutionary War, whose names are on the rolls, and an abstract of whose service is given in the printed book, "Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War." Boston. 1906. I shall not here reprint the service of each man. The book is to be found in all libraries of considerable size, and can easily be consulted. The service of the men I know about is given under his name.

PART II. REV. ROGER NEWTON

WITH ITS INDEX

1. REV. ROGER NEWTON came early to America. In 1640 he was in the Senior class at Harvard University. He studied theology with Rev. Thomas Hooker of Cambridge, Mass., and Hartford, Conn., and married his daughter. He founded the church at Farmington, Conn.; was its first minister; was ordained October 13, 1652, the day the church was organized. "About a month after, Mrs. Newton, ... also joined with them." He remained there until 1657, when he was dismissed, went to Boston in October of that year to embark for England. "The Ship in which he had taken passage, with another for the same destination, was detained several days by head winds, and he was invited by letter to town on a special service. A lamentable superstition, encouraged by the Shipmaster and some others, as in Hall's diary, page 185, is told, to consent to his leaving the voyage, 'as thinking his presence some cause of the cross-wind.' I hope he got passage, without contrary winds on a later ship." After returning, he went to Milford, Conn., over which church he was installed August 22, 1660, its second pastor. He died there June 7, 1683. His will was dated in March, 1683. In it he mentions eight children. [The sisters Hannah and Joan are not mentioned—may be of the other branch in Connecticut.]

He married at Hartford, Conn., sometime between 1643 and 1645, Mary Hooker, eldest daughter of Rev. Thomas Hooker* of Hartford, Conn., and his wife Mrs. Susan Hooker (who was I suppose a sister of Edward Hopkins, Governor of Connecticut).

The will of Gov. Edward Hopkins of Connecticut, dated at his house in London, March 7, 1657, gives "To eldest child of Mrs. Mary Newton, wife of Mr. Roger Newton of Farmington, and daughter of Mr. Thomas Hooker, deceased, thirty pounds." also "To Mrs. Susan Hooker, the relief of Mr. Thomas Hooker, all such debts as are due to me from her upon the Account I left in New England." [For the will of Gov. Edward Hopkins, see N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg. Vol. 38.] Mrs. Newton died June 7, 1683. Her children, mentioned in the will of their father were:

3. iii. ROGER, b. ——. 7. v. SARAH, bapt. 1662.
5. iv. JOHN, bapt. 1656. 8a. viii. MARY, b. ——.

* Rev. Thomas Hooker arrived in New England Sept. 3, 1633, and settled at Cambridge, Mass. He removed to Hartford, Conn., July, 1635, and died there July 7, 1647, aged 61. Mr. Hooker had been the pastor of the people who were settled at Newtown (Cambridge) in old England; to escape fines and imprisonment he had fled to Holland; the people at Cambridge sent for him to come to them, which he did, bringing with him a large company of colonists. The conditions at Cambridge not being to their liking, "Early in the Summer of 1636, Mr. Hooker and Mr. Stone, and about one hundred men, women and children, composing the whole of Mr. Hooker's congregation," migrated overland to Connecticut, where "they arrived safe, and laid the foundations of Hartford." Mr. Stone was assistant minister, "teacher," so styled. Rev. Thomas Hooker "was considered one of the most able theologians of his day," and the writer of many books. His wife, SUSANNA, survived him. Six of their children became adults and married. Their names were: 1. JOHN, b. in England; m. there; was a clergyman there of the Established Church. 2. This family record is from data as given by M. Ray Sanborn, Yale University Library, New Haven, in Hist. Gen. Reg., 1905. The First United States Census, 1790, shows this John Newton at Milford, Conn., head of a family, the other members being one male under sixteen years, and eight females.

8. 7. ALICE NEWTON$^2$ (dau. of Rev. Roger$^1$), baptized 1664 at Milford.

112. JOSEPH NEWTON$^2$ "of Milford, Conn." [whom I suppose to be son of John$^2$ (Rev. Roger$^1$) and Lydia Newton of Farmington, Conn.; and who was two years old at the death of his father in 1699, therefore born about 1697 or 1698], had a daughter

140. i. Phereis, b. ———, 1748; d. Nov. 13, 1793; m. Oliver Sanford.

150. ABNER NEWTON\(^3\) (——2. Rev. Roger\(^1\)) lived in Durham, Conn., coming there from Milford, Conn. In 1734 his name appears in Durham on ministers' tax list; June 19, 1750, as witness on bill of sale of a negro by Mary Merwin. He married Mary Burwell. “He had five sons,” three of whom removed to Greenfield, Mass., and I have the names of only these three. There may be other children.

151. i. BURWELL\(^1\). 152. ii. JOHN\(^1\). 153. iii. ROGER\(^1\).

151. 1. BURWELL\(^1\) (Abner\(^2\)), born about and between 1725 and 1729; married; had children, the names of two are here given; removed from Durham, Conn., to Greenfield, Mass., but after his brothers had settled there in 1660, The United States Census, 1790, shows “Burwell Newton” head of a family in Durham, Conn. the other members being three males upward of sixteen years and two females. Children:

154. i. ABNER\(^2\) (Dec.), b. Dec. 27, 1764; d. Sept. 9, 1852; resided in Durham, Conn. He was a soldier of the Revolution, serving in Capt. Charles Norton's Company at the Battle of Bennington, Connecticut Militia. He was reconstructed deacon September, 1863. He was a member of the first temperance society in Durham, June 30, 1828. The name of his wife is not known to me. The order of his children here given is probably not correct. The children were:

155. 1. Elizba, h. ———; m. in Connecticut before 1769; was one of the clerks of the Ecclesiastical Society in Durham, Conn. [His homestead in Durham is mentioned in 1863.] He removed to Greenfield, Mass., taking with him his son.

156. 1. ISRAEL C., b. ———.

157. 2. Abner, Jr., b. ———; lived in Durham, Conn., where he was a member of a cavalry troop in 1812, and a member of the first temperance society, June 30, 1828.

162. 6. CONWERT, b. ———.

163. 7. PARSELL, b. ———.

164. ii. SAMUEL (Dec.), b. about 1767, and d. April 24, 1864, aged 97. His name occurs on the town records of Durham, Conn., as one of the clerks of the Ecclesiastical Society; as a member of the troop of cavalry there in the War of 1812; as a member of the first temperance society, 1828, and his house occupied by his widow and daughter in 1866. His children 165-166. 1. John and 2. Mary are all that are known to me.

152. 2. JOHN NEWTON\(^1\) (Abner\(^2\)), born ———; married [Elizabeth or Mary] and had children. He removed from Durham, Conn. in 1761, to Greenfield, Mass., taking with him his three sons, who became prominent men there. They were:

166. i. ISAAC. 168. ii. JOHN, Jr. 169. iii. SAMUEL.
167. 1. ISAAC NEWTON^5 (Capt.)^6 (John^1, Abner^2), born about 1745; died September 23, 1826, aged 81; married Hester Grennell. He with his brother John^2 purchased from Simon Burt land in Greenfield, which remained in the family for more than 100 years. His name occurs on the tax lists in 1775. The U. S. Census, 1790, shows "Capt. Isaac Newton" at Greenfield, Mass., head of a family, the other members being one male upward of sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and two females. He was a soldier of the Revolution. Service: "(Capt.) 1. Isaac Newton Sergeant, Capt. Timothy Child's Company, Col. David Leonard's regiment. Service 1 month 17 days. Company raised Feb. 24, 1777 for service at Ticonderoga—other service and Also. Captain of 3rd Company, Lient. Col. Wells (5th Hampshire County) regiment of Mass. Militia, commissioned June 19, 1780. Also. Capt. in Col. S. Murray's regiment.—other service—last discharge Oct. 10, 1780." Two of his children were:

170. i. ISAAC^6, Jr., b. _____; was selectman of Greenfield six years, the first year 1821, the last 1834. In May, 1825, he became proprietor of the Mansion House Hotel in Greenfield.

171. ii. REBECCA^6 (Box%), b. Oct. 18, 1782, at Greenfield; d. at Worcester, Mass., Feb. 4, 1858, aged 85; m. at Worcester, April 21, 1817, Rebecca Lincoln, daughter of Levi and Martha (Wadley) Lincoln of Worcester, where she was b. Jan. 11, 1792. He was a graduate, 1807, of Dartmouth College; studied law with Judge Newcomb and E. H. Wills; admitted to the bar 1810, and began practice with F. Blake in Worcester. He was county attorney several years; representative three years; senator two years; president of Worcester Mutual Fire Company, 1824; director of the Worcester Bank (established 1819), first appointed 1817, and had been continuously in that office up to "present time" (1862). He was continually called upon by his fellow citizens for service on committees of all kinds, so satisfied were they with his services. He was of the Unitarian Church of Worcester. Children:

173. 2. Levi Lincoln^7, b. Aug. 20, 1820, at Worcester; d. there Oct. 21, 1847; colonel of militia; cashier of Worcester Bank; unm.

174. 3. Hester^7, b. June 1, 1823, at Worcester; m. John Wollcott Wetherell.

168. 2. JOHN NEWTON^5, JR. (John^1, Abner^2), born about 1750 (?); came from Durham, Conn., with his father and brothers about 1761. His name with theirs appears on the tax lists in 1775, of Greenfield, Mass. He settled about two miles north of the village. As a soldier of the Revolution, he was out with his brother against Burgoyne in 1777, and is probably the Revolutionary pensioner of Greenfield who died September 22, 1834, aged 84 years. He married ——.

From the diary of Rev. Roger Newton^6 (brother of John^3, Jr.) I have taken the following baptism—children of John, Jr. I may be wrong about them, but stand ready to be corrected. Children:

175. i. Cyrus^7, bapt. Dec. 20, 1779.

176. ii. John^8, bapt. July 15, 1780; "died June 12, 1871, aged 91."

178. iv. Jesse^8, bapt. March 19, 1792. [This is prob. "another descendant of Rev. Roger of Farmington and Milford, Conn., migrated from Durham, entered Yale University and died while a member of the Sophomore class, not far from the year 1820."

179. v. Oliver^8, bapt. April 12, 1793.

180. vi. Persis^8, bapt. May 19, 1788.

* The following marriages may be a first, second or third of Capt. Isaac Newton^5, or there may be three other men of the name; but I do not know who of the name in Greenfield was old enough at that date: Isaac Newton married, 1773, Sebrah Denis. (Rev. Roger Newton, bapt., Dec. 26, 1779, "Nahira ye D. of Isaac Newton"). Isaac Newton m. Hester Lord.

177. 3. CURTIS NEWTON⁶ (John², John¹), Deacon of the First Congregational Church of Greenfield, Mass., for many years, was a man of integrity and worth. He married and had two sons—there may be other children. The sons were:

181. 1. Harvey C.⁷, b. about 1800; d. at Greenfield, Mass., April 13, 1883, aged 74. He lived in Greenfield—"an able man." He m. Sarah C. ——, and had two children here given:

182. 1. Christopher⁸, b. May 31, 1840; m. Mary J. Frary, and had one child. He was a soldier in the Civil War, enlisting Oct. 2, 1862, in Company A, 52d Massachusetts Regiment, and d. of intermittent fever, at Port Hudson, La., July 20, 1862.

183. 2. S. P.⁹ (a daughter); mnr., was living in 1907.

184. ii. John Sawtelle¹⁰, b. ——; d. at Omaha, Neb., Nov. 6, 1897. "He was an honest, intelligent, hardworking farmer; a man of sterling worth."

179. 5. OBED NEWTON⁶ of Greenfield, baptized 1795, married and had a daughter:

185. i. Sophia A¹, b. ——; d. April 23, 1893; m. Sept. 5, 1861, Avery W. Sprague.

189. 3. SAMUEL NEWTON⁶ (John⁴, Abner³), born about or between 1752 and 1760, at Durham, Conn.; came with his father, Abner, to Greenfield. In 1775 his name appears on the tax lists, along with those of his brothers and uncle. [Their taxes ranged much the same—each had an 80-rood lot: houses and out buildings 375, 350, 300 (the Rev. uncle not taxed).] John³, Jr.'s, other real estate was 2,100 (acres I suppose). Capt. Isaac's 3,500.] He married and had four children who were baptized in Greenfield as set down in their uncle's diary, namely:

186. i. Sarah¹, bapt. Aug. —, 1794.
187. ii. Burwell¹, bapt. Aug. 27, 1796.
188. iii. Priestly¹, bapt. May 6, 1799. In 1823 he was ensign—militia officer.

153. 3. REV. ROGER NEWTON⁴ (Abner³), the youngest of Abner Newton¹'s⁵ five sons, was born in Durham, Conn., May 12, 1737, and died at Greenfield, Mass., December 10, 1816, in his 80th year. He married in Connecticut, in 1762, Abigail Hall of Milford, Conn. She was received into the Greenfield Church, in January, 1764, and was the mother of eight children—"five sons and three daughters." I have not the date of her death.

Extract from "A Sermon delivered at the dedication of the South Congregational Church in Durham, Conn., December 29, 1847. By William C. Fowler," contains the following in regard to Rev. Roger Newton¹ and his forebears: "He was a descendant of the Rev. Roger Newton, minister of the First Church of Farmington and afterwards of Milton, and he inherited the virtues of that excellent man. His parents were Mr. Abner and Mrs. Mary Newton. They were respected for their prudence and piety, and their discreet management of their domestic concerns, and the virtuous education of their children."

Rev. Roger Newton, D.D., was educated at Yale College, Class of 1758; was called to the pastorate of the First Congregational Church at Greenfield, Mass., where he was ordained and settled November 18, 1761. His salary was fixed at £133-6s-8d, and sixty loads of wood, a house lot of eighty rods, and was to be exempt from taxes. He continued in this pastorate until he died in 1816—fifty-six years. He kept a diary during these years, part of which was rescued from a dumping barrel, and is to be seen in print in the N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg. of 1808. From this diary I have taken the baptisms of his children given below.

He received the degree of D.D. from Dartmouth College in 1804.

"He was a man of uncommon strength of mind and of a pacific disposition, and was much employed as counselor in cases of difficulty in churches." Some of his peculiar characteristics are given in the history of the town. It is stated he was inclined to the loyalist side in the great Revolution—1776. The diary has among the baptisms, "Sept. 20, 1767. Isaac, my son, & Tinner, my negro Girl." The children were all baptized by himself. Their birth-dates probably are on the town records of Greenfield.

190. i. ROGER, the oldest son, bapt. July 3, 1703; "fell a victim of the consumption and died at the age of 26." He was a graduate of Yale College in the Class of 1785, and was a tutor in that institution when he died. "He was a gentleman of great excellence of character and of great promise in the profession which he had chosen."

191. ii. ISAAC, 1st, bapt. April 4, 1755; prob. d. soon.

192. iii. ISAAC, 2d, bapt. Sept. 29, 1757.

193. iv. ———, son, b. ———.

194. v. ABIGAIL, bapt. June 15, 1771; m. Rev. Mr. Lambert.

197. viii. SUSANNA; bapt. April 25, 1779. "Named after Susanna deceased." She d. in Cambridge, Mass., in 1855; m. Proctor Pierce, b. in New Salem, Mass., 1768; graduate of Dartmouth College, 1796; d. Boston, 1821. Their son:

ISAAC NEWTON emigrated from Durham, Conn., to Greenfield, Mass., and later removed to Lenox, Mass. [Hist of Durham, Conn.]

ISAAC NEWTON, a married man, died in Becket, Mass., June 25, 1844, aged 75. [Becket town records.]

199. i. DWIGHT, b. ———; kept a hotel in Westfield, Mass., and it is thought by his family to have d. there.

200. ii. Hiram, b. ———; m. Mary A. Turner. "He was a Doctor and lived until his death in Lenox." He had a son:

201. 1. Hiram, b. ———; who was living in 1911 in Brooklyn, N. Y., aged about 75 yrs.

202. iii. Abner, b. ———.

203. iv. ISAAC, b. ———; m. Mary A. Root. I suppose his sons were:

204. 1. William F., b. ———; and 2, ISAAC J., who says his father died when he was seven years old. This son:

205. 2. ISAAC J., b. ———; m.; was living in business, 1911, in Lenox, on Clifford St. They had children, the oldest daughter being:

206. 1. Lucy P., b. ———; m. June 17, 1908, John A. Sharp of Brooklyn, N. Y.
206. vi. CHAUNCY, b. ——, 1797 [who may be the eldest of the family, lack of birthdates, and convenience places him here, as I know not the order of their coming]. "He was either born or lived in his younger days in Medrose, Mass." He married in Stockbridge, Mass., in 1820, Almira P. Clark, and then moved to Lenox, where his father had been living for some time. Soon after his marriage he moved with his family to Ohio, and took up land. Not being contented there they returned to Lenox, and later joined a New York colony, and settled at Fulton, Oswego County, N. Y. He had six sons, two of whom, Samuel and James, died in infancy and four who were living in 1911. Namely:

213. 4. CASSIUS'S WEBSTER NEWTON (s. of Chauncey), the youngest son, has a daughter.

214. i. EDITH LUNETTE, b. ——: living in 1911 at No. 190 Broadway, New York.

438. JOSEPH NEWTON1 (Thomas2, John3, Rev. Roger4) of Cheshire and Wallingford, Conn., appears on the Church records at Cheshire and on the town records of Wallingford, Conn. (See pp. 724 and 725.) Mrs. E. L. Roberts of Buffalo, N. Y., contributes what little information we have regarding his family. The following from her letter of recent date I have given in full. She sent me no dates by which to verify; but since Joseph1 could not have been born the same year with his father (1734 or thereabout) I have not placed him as the son of Thomas, Jr.: "To-day came a letter in answer to one of mine which has solved my Newton query—for his ancestor, Jared, was a brother of my Joseph, and they were sons of Thomas, Jr., and Sarah (Lect) Newton. Thomas Newton married Mary Baldwin, dau. of Zacharia. He was the son of John and Lydia (Ford), and John was son of Rev. Roger—born in Farmington 1656." His name appears in the United States Census, 1790, the head of a family at Cheshire, Conn., the other members being three females. He married August 22, 1755, Sarah Hull, who had four children and died. He married (2) June 13, 1770, Mrs. Esther Sperry and had one daughter. His wife died April 28, 1797. He died August 28, 1797. Children:

216. 1. CAPT. JOEL NEWTON2 (probably son of Joseph1 above), from Cheshire, Conn., moved to Salisbury, Vt., in 1784, and settled in West Salisbury, Vt. "All of his descendants are said to have emigrated to the West." The First United States Census, 1790, shows him there head of a family, the other members being one male upward of sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and two females. He married Mrs. Ruth (Nichols) Manning of Manchester, Vt., widow of Billy Manning of that town, who died 1814. "She was born, it is said, in 1756," and died at Salisbury, Vt., in 1833. He had been a soldier of the Revolution, in the Connecticut troops, private in Capt. Bunnell's Company of Wallingford, Col. Douglas regiment. His title of "Capt." probably came from being in command, later, of Vermont Militia.
Capt. Joel Newton died at Salisbury, Vt., in 1842. The children, I have no knowledge of unless one of his sons was:

221. i. Rufus Newton of Salisbury, Vt., who m. 1799, Marilla Thurston, b. at Milton, N. Y., in 1778; d. July 4, 1816.

217. 2. AARON NEWTON (s. of Joseph, of Cheshire above), born there February 22, 1762; lived in 1820, or thereabout. He married January 24, 1788, Aseneth Morse, daughter of Nathaniel Morse of Cheshire, Conn. (whose Morse pedigree runs through Israel, John, John Morse, the immigrant). She was born August 2, 1765, had four children and died ——. He married (2) Esther ——. They had no children. She married (2) in 1824, Solomon Morris of Warsaw, N. Y., and had children. Alfred J. Newton (grs. of Aaron) remembers her well. A great-grandson of Solomon Morris, Edward Morris, was living in 1911 in Warsaw, N. Y. Mrs. Esther Morris went to Buffalo, N. Y., after her husband's death, to be with her children there.

Aaron Newton appears in the United States Census, 1790, as head of a family in Willingford, New Haven County, Conn., the other members being one male under sixteen years and one female. (There was probably one child born before 1790—"one male under 16.") Children:

222. i. Aaron 3, Jr., b. July 30, 1794, in Cheshire, Conn.; d. in Rochester, N. Y.; m. March 2, 1817, Nance Millard, daughter of Jason and Ann (Smith) Millard of Pittsfield, Mass., where she was b. July 24, 1798. [Jason Millard b. May 17, 1768; Ann Smith, b. May 22, 1765, were married at Pittsfield, Mass., May 7, 1786, and had eight children.] Soon after marriage Mr. Newton moved from Cheshire, Conn., and settled in Rochester, N. Y. His first and last two children were born there, the other three in Brighton, N. Y., both in Monroe County. His children were:

225. 3. Jennette, b. Feb. 7, 1823.
226. 4. Truman, b. Sept. 1, 1824.
227. 5. Alfred, b. May 31, 1825.

229. ii. Elizabeth Ann 3, b. ——, 1795; in Cheshire, Conn.; m. there about 1814, Jesse Morse, son of Obadiah and Sarah (Bunnell) Morse of Cheshire, Conn. [His Morse, Morse, pedigree runs through Joseph (wife Esther Lewis), Benjamin, John, John Morse.] They lived in Perry, N. Y., and had five children, namely:

230. 1. Esther 4, Morse, b. ——; m. John Roberts and resides at No. 47 Norwood Ave., Buffalo, N. Y. (1823).
231. 2. Alfred Johnson Morse, b. April 4, 1823, at Perry, N. Y.; was living Jan. 6, 1911; m. at Perry, Aug. 22, 1841, Louise J., Olin, daughter of John and Maria D. (Smith) Olin of Perry, where she was born June 12, 1825. They had a daughter.

232. i. Esther 4, Morse, b. ——; m. John T. Roberts and resides at No. 47 Norwood Ave., Buffalo, N. Y. (1823).
233. ii. Alfred Johnson Morse, b. ——; m. Susan Silver; lived in Moscow, Livingston County, N. Y.; had two daughters, who were living in 1911, viz.: 1, Mrs. Henry R. Higgins at Moscow, N. Y., and 2, Mrs. William Dwight at Batavia, N. Y. The son was

234. 1. Wiley Newton, who d. in Andersonville prison during the Civil War.
235. iv. Susan, b. ——; lived in Rochester, N. Y., and died there.

239. JOSEPH NEWTON of Randolph, Vt. [not traced, but possibly might be a brother of Capt. Joel Newton (216) of Salisbury, Vt.,] married at Randolph, Vt., March —, 1795. Olive ——, and had there the following children (recorded in Book A, p. 138):
246. OLIVE NEWTON of Brattleboro, Vt. [perhaps the same with 242 above, I put them together for comparison], married George Washington Lane, who was born September 29, 1788, and had married (1) Sallie Osterhout, who died in 1818, leaving two children. After his second marriage the family moved to Montrose, Susquehanna County, Pa., “and had seven or eight children.”

247. CALVIN NEWTON of Enfield, Conn., was “admitted to be one of the electors of this state, April 2, 1834,” at Enfield, Hartford County, Conn. His name thereafter appears frequently on the records of that town. Selectman, 1839: abatement of taxes 1840, 1843, 1844. The church records there show the death of the following children:

218. i. LINNETTA G., d. 1844, aged 8 yrs.
219. ii. FRANCIS II., d. 1844, aged 2 yrs.
220. iii. CHARLES S., d. 1844, aged 6 weeks.

251. MR. NEWTON1 (not traced) had the following children, who probably all came from Chemung County, N. Y., to Tioga County, Pa., and settled on Long Run, a tributary of Pine Creek, in Tioga County, Pa. The place was on the boundary line between the two states. The descendants of this Mr. Newton know nothing of him and but little of the children except their names, and that one was a half brother, whether Newton or by second marriage of the mother is not known. The children were:

252. i. CALVIN NEWTON3, b. —— ; m. (1) —— ; m. (2) “perhaps about 1830,” Hannah Bacon, daughter of Daniel Harvey Bacon (by his first wife) of Farmington, Conn. A very old uncle of the descendants—name not given, writes all he knows of the family as follows: “Calvin Newton introduced himself by giving his name, adding he was brother-in-law of—— Phillips, who lived on Pine Creek. Soon after he married Hannah Bacon, and in about a year he settled on Long Run, a tributary of Pine Creek in Tioga County, Pa., where I found them in the fall of 1842. I found them on my return from a 2½ years residence in Canard, N. Y. At this time he had a son 8 to 11 years old, and also a daughter had come from somewhere and had married Russell Hewitt [the old man’s unsteady hand seems to make the name Hewitt]. In the meantime Newton had a brother, 253. ii. MOSES4, with a son 10 to 11 years old, who settled near him, in the woods. There came with Moses, a sister whose mind was not quite right. Her name was ——.

*As perhaps giving a clue to the nativity of Calvin Newton and his brother Moses Newton the pedigree of Hannah Bacon is not without point, namely: the first of the line known is WILLIAM BACON5, Stretton, England, 1608.

NATHANIEL BACON6, b. Rotland, England, 1601-2; emigrated to Connecticut, 1648, and with others founded Middletown, Conn., in 1650.
ANDREW BACON7, b. June 4, 1666, in Middletown, Conn.
JOSIAH BACON5, b. April 20, 1666, in Middletown, Conn.
DANIEL BACON8, b. Dec. 1, 1729, in Middletown, Conn. ; d. on the prison ship Jersey in New York Harbor, 1777.

DANIEL HARVEY BACON9, b. Oct. 30, 1766, in Farmington, Conn.; m. twice, and by first wife had, Hannah10, b. in Canard, N. Y., Aug. 16, 1809; m. Calvin Newton about 1830, and moved to Wisconsin about 1850 to 1855. By second wife he had Homer Bacon11, who is father of Mr. J. F. Bacon12, in the real estate business at White City, Kans., who contributes this family of Newtons.
254. iii. Nancy—and a half brother, 21 or 22, named.
255. iv. David George Newton. [am not sure of the Newton]. These made their home with Moses, and I believe all came from Chenango Co., N. Y. After Moses settled on Long Run he married Jerusha”—[we cannot make out the nature].

Thus it would appear that Calvin Newton, m. (1) and had two children: m. (2) Hannah Bacon and had seven children, whose names, without dates, were copied from a record made more than 50 years ago. I understand that Calvin Newton, his wife Hannah and the five younger children removed to Wisconsin between the years 1850 and 1855. As a family they seem to be lost to their other relatives. Perhaps the above may serve to help find them. The children were:

256-257. 1. Charlotte; 2. Nancy (both remained in the east and died there).

263. JOHN T. NEWTON “of Woodbridge” [not traced, but probably comes from Rev. Roger Newton of Milford, Conn.] married Catherine Dickerman, daughter of Samuel Dickerman (of the sixth generation in America), and a sister of Isaac Dickerman, below. Children:

265. i. Elam, b. ——-; d. Nov. →, 1884.
266. ii. Florence, b. Nov. 27, 1890; m. Henry W. Johnson, and had a daughter,
   1. Mary Johnson, b. ——-.
267. iii. Isa, b. ——-; m. Frank Hill, and had two children:
   1. Abiah Hill, b. ——-; 2. Mark A. Hill, b. ——-.

264. SARAH NEWTON (sister of John T. of Woodbridge, above) married Isaac Dickerman (brother of Catherine, above). Their children were:

268. SARAH NEWTON (not traced), born about 1780; died at East Granby, Hartford County, Conn., January or June 30, 1867, aged 87; married Benajah Phelps, son of Aaron and Ruth (Loomis) Phelps of East Granby, where he was born April 8, 1773. A farmer in East Granby, where their children here given were born.

326. ISAAC NEWTON* of Goshen, Conn., has not been traced. [Without further data, it would seem that he might have been (No. 20) the son of "Samuel Newton* of Milford," Conn., and a brother of Samuel* and Enoch* of Woodbridge," Conn. I do not know.] He was born about 1750 and died in 1812.

He married, January 10, 1779, Rebecca Minot,* daughter of Capt. James and Rebecca (Stow) Minot of Concord, Mass., born about 1752, and died at Canfield, Mahoning County, Ohio, of a cancer, in 1840. Interment at Canfield. She was admitted to the church in Goshen, Conn., in 1799.

At date of his marriage, Isaac Newton is called "of Amity." He came into possession of his father’s property, but lost it all and died in poverty. He was a helpless paralytic for fourteen years prior to his death—could not even speak intelligibly. His patient wife, by economy and saving, had at the time of his death fifty acres of land in Goshen, Conn. (which was their home town), that was sold in 1816 or 1817 by the selectmen of the town for ten dollars per acre.

She was a brave woman—of great fortitude; industrious, energetic; of a sweet and amiable temper; a remarkable patience and a firm trust in God. In 1820 she was living with her sister in Woodbridge, Conn., when her son Eben came for her, and she went with him to his home in Ohio, where she died.

Isaac Newton of Litchfield County (all of the twelve towns in that county are given under the head of Litchfield), Conn., at the taking of the First United States Census, 1790, was head of a family consisting of one other male above sixteen years, two males below 16 years, and three females.

Mr. Newton acquired a large tract of land in Richfield, Ohio, and became a successful farmer and a dealer in fine cattle and other stock. He possessed good business talent and superior judgment. He had indomitable energy and perseverance, with great physical strength. He was moral and temperate in his habits; upright in his dealings; public spirited; a kind neighbor; generous to the poor.

Of a social temperament, he greatly enjoyed his friends. He was esteemed while he lived and mourned by the community in which he lived when he died. It is interesting to notice that all of his sons and many of his grandchildren became farmers—showing that he made life on the farm pleasant to them. His oldest child was born in Brecksville, Ohio, the second at Royalton, Ohio, and the others at Richfield, Ohio. The children were five, namely:

410. i. JOHN TRUSCt, b. Feb. 17, 1839, at Brecksville, Cuyahoga County, Ohio; farmer and dealer in fancy stock, at Hudson, Ohio, until October 30, 1907, when he moved to Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, where he was living in 1911. 380. 6. JOHN THOMPSON NEWTON (s. of John and Laura T.), born at Richland, Ohio, January 4, 1823; died at Toledo, Ohio, July 6, 1908. He married at Goshen, Conn., October 5, 1853, Mary Virginia Baldwin, daughter of Norman C. and Mary H. (Palmer) Baldwin of Goshen, Conn., and Hudson and Cleveland, Ohio. She was born at Cleveland, December 23, 1832, and died in the autumn of 1906. She was sixth in descent from Samuel Baldwin, the immigrant of Guilford, Conn., who died in 1696.

Mr. Newton, at marriage, was a lawyer in Cleveland, Ohio, Harvard Law School, 1848. In 1880 he was an able and leading lawyer of Toledo, Ohio, and president of one of the National Banks.

Mr. Newton left nearly a quarter of a million dollars to charitable institutions of all sorts, and directed that $50,000 he used to build and support a humanitarian institution for the care of poor and needy children. According to the terms of his will, Rev. Dr. Gunsaulus of Chicago, a dear friend, was made a legatee in the sum of $5,000. Mr. Newton had no children.

335. 9. EBEN NEWTON (s. of Isaac of Goshen, Conn.) was born there October 16, 1755, and died at Canfield, Mahoning County, Ohio, November 5, 1885. He married May 2, 1826, Mary Sophia Church, daughter of “Ensign” —— and Jerushia (Wright) Church of Mansfield and Salisbury, Conn. She was born February 20, 1807, and was living at Canfield, Ohio, in 1872. Four children.

“Judge Ebenezer Newton” wrote his name “Eben Newton.” He was the youngest of five sons of his parents, and in his youth and young manhood lived with and assisted his mother as he could. He taught school several terms and did other work, all the time studying for self-improvement, as he desired to become a lawyer. In 1814 he left Connecticut for Hudson, Ohio, going to the homes of his brothers and sister there. They gave him employment in their stores, in the intervals of his teaching. In 1820 he returned to Connecticut and brought back with him to Ohio his mother, who remained the rest of her life in his home.

The last six months of Mr. Newton's law studies were spent with Mr. Jonathan Shone of Ravenna, Ohio, where he met Mr. Elisha Whittlesay, lawyer, Congressman-elect. Mr. Whittlesay invited Mr. Newton to an equal partnership in his law business. He accepted the offer and went to Canfield, July 4, 1823, and was admitted to the bar in August, 1823. Mr. Whittlesay went to Washington, D. C., leaving his large law practice in Mr. Newton's hands. In 1843 Mr. Newton was elected President Judge of the Circuit Court (six counties). In 1841 he was elected to the Ohio State Senate, serving two terms. In 1850 he was elected to Congress. In 1863 he was again State Senator. He was a Whig in politics, a patriot during the Civil War, a Presbyterian. He had always the confidence of his co-laborers and of the community. His home was in Canfield, where he died aged 90 years. Burial at Canfield. Children:

434. i. LOUISE?, b. ———: "eldest daughter"; m. Mr. Meers, a merchant, later in

I have nothing further of the posterity of Judge Eben Newton, except the name,
"Mrs. Henrietta Smith, his granddaughter," who was living in 1912 at No. 3803
Clinton Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

102. THOMAS NEWTONO (John?, Rev. Roger!) of Cheshire, Conn., son of John and Lydia (Ford) Newton, born about 1862; died and is buried at Cheshire,
New Haven County, Conn. "He married Mary Baldwin, daughter of Zachariah, the statement. Perhaps Sarah ——— was his second wife. The following note by Judge Howard T. Moss of Cheshire, Conn., contains all I so far know of this.
He writes: "I inclose herewith the list of names copied from the Newton monument. There are two headstones, one on each side of the monument, the names from which, were evidently put on the monument, with the exception of the name of Chloe Newton wife of Thomas. She died March 17, 1828, aged 80."

The names on the monument are as follows, and appear to be a record of four generations of the family, namely:

Thomas Newton 1st. Died April 28, 1783.
Sarah, his wife, died Sept. 19, 1782.

Thomas Newton 2nd. Died March 20, 1779, ae. 45.
Chloe A., his wife. Died March 17, 1823, aged 77.

Silas Newton. Died Sept. 23, 1828, aged 58.
Lucinda, his wife died April 3rd 1808 aged 36.
Isabel, 2nd wife, ——— aged 76.

Augustus Newton. Died May 23, 1846, aged 41
Erastus Newton. Died May 1, 1868, ae. 67.
Lucinda Newton, Died Nov. 17, 1878, aged 76.
NEWTON GENEALOGY

The town records at Wallingford (which is about eleven miles southeast of Cheshire) show the death of the second Thomas Newton as "March 20, 1779 aged 45," and of "Chloe, wife of Thomas Newton," died "March 17, 1823, aged 80," probably the same person and someone's error as to her age.

The church records of Cheshire contain, besides: the marriage of Jared Newton and Mary Bunnell, January 15, 1778; Samuel Newton and Hannah Rice, November 5, 1782; Cyrus Newton and Anna Willcocks, June 4, 1777; Capt. James Newton and widow Mary Barnard, January —, 1734 (Town Rec.); Rev. Roger Newton and "Mrs." Abigail Hall. —— (Town Rec.); and the birth of Lyman, son of Moses and Eunice Newton, April 8, 1759 (Town Rec.).

Mr. Orlando L. Newton, Jr., of Westkill, N. Y., in 1907 writes that his great-grandfather was Thomas Newton, Jr., and his grandfather was John Newton, and says "they were a large family." He did not send the data he offered to send. The widow of his brother, 1907, at Albany, N. Y., states further: "My husband's great-grandfather lived in Cheshire town, Conn. He had two sons, Amos and John, who married sisters. John (who was grandfather Newton)." etc.

The United States Census, 1790, shows as heads of families in Cheshire, Conn., Joseph, Jared, Abner, and Chloe Newton. And Aaron Newton in Wallingford, Conn. The only children known to me as such were:

438. ii. Joseph (probably), h. ——; m. 1755, Sarah Hull; m. (2) Mrs. Esther Sperry. For his descendants, see pages 711, 712. 3. vi. (9.)

439. ii. Thomas, 2d, also "Jr." h. about 1781; d. 1779, aged 45.

439. 1. THOMAS NEWTON, 2d (Thomas3 of Cheshire), born about 1734; died at Wallingford, Conn., March 20, 1779, aged 45; married Chloe A. ——, born about or between 1742 and 1746; died at Wallingford, Conn., March 17, 1823, aged 77 or 80. Burials and monument at Cheshire, Conn. Mrs. Newton survived him 44 years, and was the head of her family in the Census of 1790 at Cheshire, the whole family being one male upward of sixteen years, two males under sixteen years, and three females. His "was a large family according to report," is the statement of his great-grandson. Only the sons, Amos and John, are we sure of, and very probably of Silas.

440. i. Silas?, h. about 1760; d. Sept. 23, 1828, aged 58; m. Lucinda ——, b. about 1772; d. April 9, 1808, aged 36. He m. (2) Isabel ——, who d. aged 76. They lived in and are buried in Cheshire. The following are probably some of their children:

Thomas 4, b. Feb. 9, 1707; d. April 28, 1773; m. 1730 Sarah Leete.
Mary, d. ; Sarah 5; Betsey 6; Ann 6; Susanna 6.

Thomas Newton 4 (Thomas, John, Rev. Roger 2) b. 1705 and wife Sarah Leete, had children:

*438. Joseph 5, b. ; m. (2) 1770, Mrs. Esther Sperry.

*439. Thomas 6 (2-1) b. about 1734; m. 1743 Eloe Atwood.
Jared 5, b. ; m. 1778 Mary Bunnell.

Thus the generation numbers in the book are wrong on pages 711 and 726.
5. Harriet, b. ——; was living in 1807; m. Dr. Allibon in Margaretville, Delaware County, and had four sons and one daughter. "He died several years ago," i. e., before 1807.

6. West Chase, b. ——; d. July 21, 1886; m. Myra B. ——. They had a daughter, who died Oct. 7, 1882, aged 21. Mrs. Newton was living in 1807 in Kingston, N. Y., to which place she removed the year following the death of her husband, to educate her daughter. Has since made it her home. She contributed these items of Mr. Newton’s family.

7. Orlando L2, b. ——, "youngest of six sons"; was living in 1807 in West Kill, N. Y.; m. Ruth Winter. They had a son who died young.

455. JONAS NEWTON1 of Doylestown, Bucks County, Pa. (not traced), was born in Addison County, Vt., town not given, May 3, or 23, 1787, and died at Philadelphia, Pa., February 3, 1827, aged 40.

He married Sarah Vanderveer, daughter of Petrus Van der Veer and wife—name unknown—who lived near Princeton, N. J. She was born at Doylestown, Pa. (also “in Somerset Co., N. J.” is given), March 9, 1788, and died June 25, 1836, aged 48.

The descendants of this Jonas Newton have no knowledge of his parentage, nor whence they came. There were living in 1790, in Addison County, Vt., five Newtons who were heads of families as enumerated in the First United States Census. The town of Addison had John (family 1-0-1), John, Jr. (family 1-1-1), Lemuel (family 2-0-3); at Salisbury, Capt. Joel (family 2-2-2); Shoreham had Liberty (family 2-0-3), who is accounted for. Jonas Newton being born 1787, would be under sixteen years in 1790, and his parents must have been one of those men above who had such a son, namely either John Newton, Jr., or Capt. Joel Newton. Inasmuch as the name “Joel” is not repeated in his descendants and the name “John” runs through every generation of them, I should infer that the father of Jonas was John, Jr., son of John, and it is quite possible they came from Connecticut, and were related to Capt. Joel Newton. I make the proposition—one must have a premise from which to start—“even an error is better than nothing.”

Jonas Newton1 was settled in Doylestown, Pa., for as long ago as any of the family now living have knowledge of. “That town being regarded as the family home in his day and generation.” He was a storekeeper near Doylestown, Penn.” The family think his children were all born there. For the correct list of his children we are indebted to the family Bible that belonged to his son, Rev. John Newton, Sr., missionary to India. It is now in the family of his son, Rev. Edward Payson Newton. There was also a Birthday text-book with the Bible, which furnished data. It comes, as it were, from the uttermost parts of the world.

457. 2. REV. JOHN NEWTON, son of Jonas and Sarah (Vanderveer) Newton of Doylestown, Pa., was born October 1, 1810, and died at Murree, Punjab, India, July 2, 1881, aged 50 years, 9 months.

He married at Hartsville. ————, October 16, 1834, Elizabeth Popham Janvier, daughter of Francis Janvier of Princeton, N. J. She was born October 11, 1812, presumably at Princeton, X. J., and died at Sabath, Punjab, India, September 2, 1857.

He married (2) at Lahore, India, March 22, 1846, Eliza Hornbuckle.

Rev. John Newton, D.D., was one of the pioneers of the mission work of the Presbyterian Church in India. He went out in 1835, and died in 1891, after fifty-six years of missionary service. His six children were born in India; the four sons returned to India as missionaries after being educated in the United States, and the two daughters married missionaries. Only one of these is now living (1912).

I quote the following from "The Encyclopedia of Missions." 2d edition, 1904, p. 556—a short sketch of the life and work of this good man:

"Dr. Newton went to India as a missionary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A., in 1835, arriving at Calcutta in June of that year, accompanied by Rev. James Wilson and his wife. Setting out from Calcutta in a native boat on the Ganges they began their long journey of 1,200 miles to their chosen field at Ludhiana."

*Ludhiana: A town in the Ludhiana District of the Punjab, India, situated about three miles south of Sutlej River, and seventy-three miles southeast by east of Amritar. Altitude, 812 feet. Population in 1891, 46,200, of whom 30,300 are Muslims and 15,900 Hindus. Station of the Presbyterian North India Mission (1834), with (1903) four missionaries and their wives, six missionary women, fifty-four native workers, nine out-stations, nine places of worship, forty Sunday schools, four day schools, two boarding schools, one industrial school,
His labors were various. Always foremost with him was the direct preaching of the Word, and that hand-to-hand effort by conversation with individuals, which he felt to be one of the missionary's most effective methods. He was a powerful and attractive preacher, both in English and in the vernaculars.

Dr. Newton took with him when he first went to India an old-fashioned wooden printing-press, which he set up in a little house secured for the purpose, and thus laid the foundation for that publishing establishment which, during the next fifty years, was destined to issue about two hundred and sixty-seven million pages in ten different languages.

In this literary work, Dr. Newton throughout his missionary career was eminent. The Punjabi language is indebted to him for the foundation of its religious literature.

Besides the translation of the New Testament into Punjabi and numerous tracts in that language, his literary labors, with those of his associate, Rev. L. Janvier, included a Punjabi grammar and dictionary, a commentary on Ephesians in Urdu, and important tracts in both Urdu and Hindi.

From the Ludhiana Mission, of which Dr. Newton was then the senior missionary, was issued in 1858 that call to the observance of the week of prayer, which has since become so widespread and so fixed a custom throughout the Christian world."

"Punjabi or Sikh Version. The Punjabi belongs to the Indic branch of the Aryan family of languages, and is spoken in the Province of Punjab, North India. A translation of the Bible into this language was undertaken by Scarampiore missionaries at a very early period, and was published in 1811. In 1832 a second edition was undertaken. Of the Old Testament only Genesis to Ezekiel was translated and published since 1820.

A new translation was undertaken by Rev. J. Newton in connection with American missionaries, and in 1850 Genesis, Exodus, the Psalms, and the New Testament were published by the British and Foreign Bible Society at Lodiana, India." [Same, p. 263.]

It is a pleasure to record an abstract of the life and work of this excellent family. The children of Rev. John Newton \(^2\) (Jonas?) were born in India. Their names are:

498. vi. MARGARET JANVIER, b. 1836.
499. vii. JOHN \(^3\), Jr., b. 1838.
500. viii. EMILY MOORE, b. 1839.
501. iv. CHARLES BEATTY, b. 1841.
502. v. FRANCIS JANVIER, b. 1847.
503. vi. EDWARD PAYSON, b. 1850.

498. 1. MARGARET JANVIER: NEWTON (dan. of John\(^2\)), born March 26, 1836, at Ludhiana, India; died May 12, 1878, at Lahore, India; married July 3, 1855, at Ludhiana. Rev. Charles W. Forman, D.D., born March 3, 1821, a missionary in India, whose life work is really a story of the two missions in Northern India. Their son

504. i. HENRY FORMAN ("Dr."), b. ———; a missionary in India, stationed at Jhansi—Gwalior—a strategic point, which the mission, after a lapse of years has again taken over, in one of the strong native states not directly under the British rule. He m. his cousin, Caroline Sophia Newton (5001), daughter of John Newton\(^2\), Jr., who was associated with him in the work of the mission. When the time came for their furlough, Mrs. Newton had gone to Lausanne, Switzerland, taking with her their only son, John, aged 10 years, and Dr. Forman was to come as soon as someone could be sent to occupy his post during his absence. Mrs. Newton contracted pneumonia in Lausanne, and d. there Dec. 1, 1912, her husband arriving two weeks before her death. It is stated of her: "Mrs. Forman was one of those rare spirits to have known whom was a pleasant recollection. She came of a family with a great missionary history, for she was a Newton." Dr. Henry Forman arrived in New York with his son, after an absence of eight years in India, Dec. 29, 1912, his intention being to spend part of his leisure in writing a biography of his father, Charles W. Forman, D.D. The son, "aged 10 years," is:

499. 2. REV. JOHN NEWTON?, Jr., M.D. (s. of John?), born March 4, 1838, in India; died at Sabathn, India, July 29, 1880. He married at Calcutta, India, October 11, 1861, Sarah Estelle Wigfall.

Mr. Newton was the oldest of the four sons of Rev. John Newton. All of the sons were born in India and educated in America. Mr. Newton was sent to the preparatory school at Mt. Holly, N. J., then entered Princeton College, from which he was graduated in 1856. He took his medical course in the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, and was graduated; after which he went to India independently of the Board of Missions; became a member of the Mission in 1860, and was afterward ordained to the ministry, in the Presbyte-ry at Lodiana, India; but from 1866-1880, he was stationed at Sabathn, where he had a dispensary.

After Dr. Newton was stationed there, the Poor-house at Sabathn—established forty years before—became the Leper Asylum. As a physician he took special interest in the lepers and experimented with the view of discovering some medicine that might arrest the progress of the disease. He built several houses near the mission-house that he might the more effectively minister to the patients, considering them not as medical patients only, but as the poor who needed the gospel; he had a small building erected, which served the double purpose of a dispensary and a chapel, where the lepers assembled daily for worship.

Dr. Newton was an earnest preacher, skillful physician, and an excellent writer. Though of a scholarly turn, he was much engaged in itineration, bazaar preaching, and labor among the soldiers of the local garrison. His most responsible charge was the Leper Asylum, having eighty-nine inmates. A missionary associate thus speaks of him after his death: "No love in the dark world has ever seemed to me so much like the Saviour's as that of Dr. Newton for his lepers."

Dr. Newton died of cancer of the stomach, after a period of great suffering. The funeral was numerously attended by Europeans and natives. Soldiers who loved him carried the casket from the house to the cemetery. His father read a part of the Episcopal service, closing with an address. The Mission say of him: "His fine endowments, thorough knowledge of the language, great devotion to the work, make his removal a severe loss to the missionary cause.

His four children were:

506. 1. HEFFRT, b. ——; d. in childhood.

507. 2. MARY, b. ——; d. in childhood.

508. 3. CHARLES BERTRAM, b. ——; in 1912 was living in Minneapolis, Minn.; m. and had five children.

509. 4. CAROLINE SOPHIA!, b. ——: m. her cousin, Rev. Henry Forman (504) as above, and d. Dec. 1, 1912, at Lausanne, Switzerland.
500. 3. EMILY MOORE NEWTON\(^2\) (dau. of John\(^2\)), born July 2, 1839, at Sabarth, India; died January 24, 1862, at Sialkot, India. She married April 4, 1861, at Lahore, India. William Ferguson, a Scotch missionary in India, and died soon after. She was a volunteer missionary.

501. 4. REV. CHARLES BEATTY NEWTON\(^3\), D.D. (s. of John\(^2\)), born February 3, 1841, at Lodiama, India, is living, 1915.

He married (1) at Aimbala, India. ———, 1871. Margaret Thompson, who bore him six children, and died June 20, 1897, at Mussoorie, India. He married (2) at Saharanpore, India, Jessie Dunlap, who died August 2, 1905, at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Dr. Newton, like the other members of his father's family, became a missionary to India. For his preparatory course, he went through the "Classical and Commercial High School" at Lawrenceville, N. J.; then entered Washington College, at Washington, Pa.; lost a year by entering the army (Civil War) and returning was graduated in 1864. From college he entered the Theological Seminary at Allegheny, Pa., "The Western Theological Seminary"—and was graduated in the spring of 1867. He went to India as a missionary in October of the same year—1867. He received the degree of D.D. from his college.

At the beginning of the Civil War, being then in college and about twenty years old, Mr. Newton enlisted for three years in the Fifteenth regiment of the Pennsylvania Volunteer Cavalry. The regiment went to Harrisburg, Pa., and thence to Carlisle to be drilled, in August, 1862. While there, Gen. R. E. Lee invaded Maryland, and the regiment was hurried to the front and took part in the battle of Antietam. After Lee was driven back into Virginia, the regiment was sent to join Rosecrans' army of the Cumberland at Nashville, Tenn. At Nashville, Mr. Newton was taken ill with typhoid fever, and through the aid of Rev. Mr. Scott of the Christian Commission, was discharged and taken home to Steubenville, Ohio. After a long and nearly fatal illness of two months he regained his health, taught school in West Virginia, and in the fall (of 1862) again entered the college from which he had enlisted, having served about six months.

Returning to his native India in 1868, a missionary, he has now been in that service over forty-five years.

He married, and for a time was stationed at Lahore; four of his children were born there. Later, he has been stationed at Jullundur (Jalandhar), India, where he now, 1915, resides. This is a town in the Punjab, with a population in 1901 of 67,795; a Presbyterian mission station of 1849; with (in 1906), one missionary and his wife; two women missionaries; forty-one native workers; six day schools; and one boarding school. Of his seven children, all except one were born in India. They are:

510. i. BENJAMIN THOMPSON\(^*\), b. Jan. 9, 1872, at Lahore, India; d. there Nov. 9, 1872, aged 9 months.

511. ii. JOHN CHARLES\(^*\), b. June 21, 1874, at Lahore, India; a missionary at Jullundur City, India; unm.; living in 1912.

512. iii. FREDERICK JANVIER, b. May 27, 1875 or 61, at Lahore, India; a missionary living in Jullundur City, Punjab, in 1912; not married.

514. v. FRANCIS HERBERT (REV.), b. Oct. 22, 1881, at Lahore, India; unm.; in 1912; resides at Thornton, Washington,—is pastor of a church there.

515. vi. CAROLINE LOUISE\(^*\), b. June 14, 1883, at Mussoorie, Himalaya Mountains, Punjab, India; unm.; resides at Jullundur City, India,—a missionary.

516. vii. GEORGE VANDERVET\(^*\), b. Oct. 27, 1884, at Mussoorie, Himalaya Mountains; d. at Mussoorie, Aug. 15, 1898.
502. 5. REV. FRANCIS JANVIER NEWTON, M.D. (s. of John), born July 24, 1847, at Sahalin, India; died April 28, 1911, aged nearly 64, at Jullundur City, India. He married at Ludhiana, India, November 28, 1879, Helen Reed, or Frances Reed of Chambersburg, Pa.

Mr. Newton, a clergyman, a physician and a missionary, had his preparatory education in Taunton, England, and entered Washington College, at Washington, Pa., in the fall of 1863, with his brother (who was reentering after his six months war service). He left Washington College and went to Jefferson College, finally going back, and was graduated from "Washington and Jefferson," when the two colleges were united into one. He went to the "Western Theological Seminary," at Allegheny, Pa., and thence went to India as a missionary. After ten years there, he returned to America and studied medicine in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, Pa., receiving the degree of M.D. (as had also his brother, John, the same).

Going to India in 1879, he had completed at the time of his death more than forty years of missionary service. Speaking the language like the natives, knowing the mind and heart of the people thoroughly, loving India as his own land, Dr. F. J. Newton was a missionary of the truest type. To bring sufferers to his own house and care for them with his own hands by day and by night, was such service as it was his delight to render.

Firozpur (Ferozepore), India, is a city in the Punjab, situated on the old high bank of the Sutlej River, three and one-half miles from its present bed, and forty-seven miles S.S.E. of Lahore. The capital of a populous district, the climate is regarded as exceptionally healthful. The population in 1891 was 50,000. A missionary station of the Presbyterian Church, 1882, had in 1902 four missionaries men and women, one of them a physician; two dispensaries and two hospitals. In this city he was doing the work that he loved when he was obliged to lay it down forever.

Dr. Newton returned to the United States much broken in health in the spring of 1910, and recovered sufficiently to go back to India in the fall. He was counselled to lay aside all active work, but he thought he felt better when busy. During the winter he had violent attacks of fever and ague and collapsed, and went to his brother in Jullundur only to lie down and die. He was taken to Ferozepore and buried there the same day. An immense concourse of the city people attended the funeral, both Hindus and Mohammedans. It is said "There is not and never has been a man in our Mission who has been so enshrined in the hearts of the natives as he was."

His four children were:

517. 1. WILLIAM, b. ----; d. when about to enter Princeton College.
518. ii. HELEN, b. ----; living in 1912; m. Aylmer R. Gould, a missionary at Jullundur, India. They had five children.
519. iii. EMMA, b. ----; m. Judge Harcourt of the Civil Service, India; went to England and d. there, leaving four children.
520. iv. MARY, b. ----; m. Major Halloran, a physician of the Indian Army. They have four children.

503. 6. REV. EDWARD PAYSON NEWTON, (s. of John), born July 8, 1850, at Lahore, India; died May 14, 1912, aged 62, at Kasauli, India.

He married November 20, 1875, at Ludhiana, India, Sarah Ann Halliges.

Mr. Newton, a clergyman of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., was a missionary of the Board of Foreign Missions of that church, stationed at Khamna, India. In addition to the regular work of the mission, he translated the Bible into Punjabi (the Gurhukhi character), 1894-1899. His son,
The following from "The Encyclopedia of Missions," 1904, 2d edition, p. 535, I set down here, not that the gentleman was one of the family of the foregoing, to my knowledge, but that he is a Newton and a missionary.

522. REV. C. C. NEWTON (not traced). Missionary of the Southern Baptist Missionary Convention to the Tombas, Africa; born 1844; died July 29, 1894. His body was buried in the ocean about 240 miles from Lagos. He was a laborious, deeply pious, and successful missionary. His wife preceded him to her heavenly home only by a few months. Both died from exposure to the terrible climate. These two have a special claim to remembrance by the church to which they belonged, in that they helped greatly in the reestablishment of Southern Baptist Missions in Africa, after the interruption caused by the Civil War in America.

PART III. THOMAS OF FAIRFIELD

WITH ITS INDEX

1. "THOMAS NEWTON" of Fairfield, Conn., came from England during the summer or early autumn of 1639 and settled at Fairfield, Conn., in New Haven County. He was a carpenter. The date of his birth has not been discovered. He died prior to May 28, 1683.

The late Mr. Newton Lull of Chicago, III., gathered (and had printed) from the early archives of Connecticut many facts in regard to this Thomas Newton, who was his ancestor, giving the authority for each statement. It is a valuable compilation and is easily accessible. I shall quote from it here only enough for "a setting of the stage," as it were, and to show the descent from him of those I have gathered.

"The tract of land purchased by Roger Ludlow for the town of Fairfield embraced within its boundaries the Uncoway and Susquen rivers, the fine harbors of Pequonnock and Black Rock, and a good harbor at Susqua."—From History of Fairfield.

John Green testified November 29, 1652, "that about the first settling of the town of Fairfield, Thomas Staples, Thomas Newton, Edward Jessop, and Edmund Strickland, having home-lots in ye rear of ye lots that Mr. Ludlow's lot lay in." The Town Book of Deeds would indicate that Thomas Newton was one of the four men who came with Ludlow to Fairfield in the autumn of 1639.

In 1644 Newton was elected deputy for the town. In 1645 he was elected deputy of the General Court. "Thomas Newton, Widower of Dorothea Newton," married March 31, 1648, Joan Smith, by William Hark (or Hart), then sheriff of Flushing, "against the consent of the woman's parents, and without being legally authorized to do so by the Supreme Authority," and because of this "the indecent marriage" was declared null and void, and to prevent other daughters marrying without the consent of their parents, everybody concerned was fined and the marriage again solemnized after three publications of the bans, and the culprit Sheriff dismissed from office. Joan Smith was the daughter of Richard Smith, Sr., who was a prominent man in his day, a friend and neighbor of Roger Williams, who has left quite a testimony to his merits. Richard

*The following testimony of Roger Williams is of historical value and every way of interest, especially to the descendants of Thomas Newton and wife Joan Smith:

"Providence, 2nd July, 1679 (at will)."

"[Roger Williams of Providence, in Nantigonsett Bay, in New England, being (by God's mercy) the first beginner of the Mother Towne of Providence, and of the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, being now more to lower score years of age, yet (by God's mercy) of sound understanding and memory, doe humbly and faithfully declare, that Mr. Richard Smith Senr., deceased, who for his conscience toward God, left a fair possession in Gloucestershire, and adventurers with his relations and estate to New England, and was a most acceptable and prime leading man in Taunton, in Plymouth Colony, for his conscience sake (many differences arising) he left Taunton and came to the Nantighonsick Country, where (by the mercy of God and) the favour of Nantighonsick Sachims, he broke the ice (at his great charges and hazards), and put up in the thickest of the barbarians, the first English house amongst them."

"2. I humbly testifie that about forty-two years from this date, he kept possession (comning and going), himselfe, children and servants, and he had quiet possession of his howsings, land and meadows, and there in his own house, with much serenity of soule and comfort, he yielded up his spirit to God (the father of spirits) in peace."

"3. I doe humbly and faithfully testifie (as aforesaid), that since his departure, his honored son, Captain Richard Smith, hath kept possession (with much acceptation with English and Pagan) of his father's howsings, lands and meadows, with great improvement; also by his great cost and industries. And in the late bloody pagan war, I knowingly testifie, that it pleased the Most High to make use of himselfe in person, his howsing, goods, corn, provision and cattle for a garrison and supply to the whole army of New England, under Smith was first a leading man in Taunton, Plymouth Colony, but left there for "conscience sake" and came to Connecticut, where he put up the first house "in the thickest of the barbarians." He had considerable real estate, of which by will, recorded August 22, 1666, he left one-quarter to the "children of deceased daughter Joan, sometime wife of Thomas Newton."

Mr. Newton was evidently a man who could assert himself, and was not disposed to be imposed upon. Several interesting instances are recorded of him, where he became the subject of negotiations between the Commissioners of the United English Colonies and Governor Stuyvesant, which extended over several years, about land in Long Island. In 1655 he was Sheriff of Middleburg, L. I. I like to read the following passage about the sturdy pioneer, and quote it that others may enjoy the picture, namely, Thomas Jeffreys and Thomas Stanton testified as follows: "That they being at Jacob Woolversons house att the Monhatoes the 11-24 May, 1655 betwixt 8 and 9 of the clock att supper in company with Tho. Newton the Said Thomas expressed that the house was beset; and withall draws his Sword and said that Peter Stuyvesant had betrayed him and given him up to the Commissioners weee persuaded to the contrary; then hee replied hee was certaine of the thing for capt Newton told him see; then having his sword drawen hee said, hath Stuyvesant putt mee in Authoritie and now betrayed mee; whosoever comes first I will run him throw." ["Capt. Newton" was Brian Newton, Captain-Lieutenant under Governor Stuyvesant and a member of his council.] Mr. Newton's wife, Joan, died in 1661. Of their children, the following four we know something about. The order may be incorrect and there may have been others.

3. ii. Israel, b. ——; July 29, 1679, "Frolly" Newton, probably this Israel, signed petition of the Inhabitants of the Narragansett County, King's Province, Sept. 19, 1686, for poll of poll money of Rochester (in Kingston, R. I.). April 22, 1700, found guilty with others of riot. His will, proved June 3, 1729, gives to his brother James and his son about everything; mum., very probably. His nephew, Richard Upilkie, executor of his will, was given a farm on Boston Neck.

4. i. Thomas, Jr., also called "Smith" Newton, "mariner," in a deed given Dec. 29, 1674, by which he deed lands had of his grandfather, Richard Smith, the command of the ever to be honored Genl Winthrop, for the service of his Majesty's honor and country in New England.

"I doe also humbly declare, that the aforesaid Capt'n Richard Smith, June ought by all rules of justice, equity and gratitude to his Honoured Father and himselfe, be fairly treated with, considered, recruited, honoured, and by his Majesty's authority confirmed and established in a peacefull possession of his Father's and his own possessions in this pagan wilderness and Nahlomack country."

"The promises I humbly testify, as leaving this country and this world."

(Signed) Roger Williams.

"Taken up with this twenty-one day of July, 1679, before me, John Whipple, Assistant of this his Majesty's Colony of Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations in New England in America" (p. 57, Vol. II, Record of the Colony of R. I.).

Richard Smith, Sr., was "admitted at the Towne of New-Port since the 29th of the 3rd, 1639" (p. 29, Vol. I, R. I. Colonial Records), and settled at Wicksford, in Narragansett, about 1639, and later on Long Island and in Amsterdam. His will was recorded Aug. 22, 1666 (p. 185, Genealogical Dictionary of R. I.).

"Norwich, July 29, 1819.

A Short Sketch of the Author's Life.

My great-grandfather came over from England with the first settlers. His name was Wint. My grandfather's name was Newton and was born in Narragansett. My father's name was James Newton. He married Hannah Dowm, my mother. My father was 21 when he married my mother. She was 18. Both of Old Colchester.

"I was born in that town in 1700 and lived there till the age of seven years, then my father moved to Nova Scotia, where we lived one year and a half, then swapped farms for one 'Darow,' which had a lot of wild land in Tolland, thirty miles north of Colchester, and moved back to New England. We sailed from Hinton, the town we lived in, and went to Spencer's Island and there dropped anchor and had to lie there eight days for a fair wind. Then we sailed out into the ocean. The next land we made was Kemehoe where we were detained seven days, then sailed to Newburyport."

This gives us knowledge of James Newton's movements. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin were: 1. Ezra, b. 1781; 2. Lois, b. 1788; 3. Dennis, b. 1791; 4. John, b. 1797.

In 1856 Mr. Newton engaged in the milling business with his uncle at Albany, N. Y., until 1857, when he moved to Wisconsin and engaged in the milling and merchandising business at Prairie du Chien, where he settled. His children were:

102. 1. WILLIAM, b. Sept. 5, 1859; m. at Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 1, 1898, Mary Elizabeth Brooks. They reside at Omaha, Neb. Mr. Newton is in possession of the Family Bible of his great-grandfather, Deacon John Newton of Middlefield, Mass. Children:

23. JAMES NEWTON 3 (2d son of John 1, James 2, Jr.), born October 4, 1759 (or 1760); died in the town of Hartwick, Otsego County, N. Y., in his 84th year. He married in Connecticut, Elizabeth Lee. They lived at least sixteen years after marriage in Colchester, Conn., where their first five children were born, and in 1804 he was in Peru, Mass., with his family, where four more children were born and where all of them are recorded. The last two are credited to "James Newton and wife." [There is also in Peru the record of the death of "Mary Newton widow of James," died in Peru, January 5, 1817. It seems to me it should have been recorded widow of John, and that this is the death of Mary (Holbrook) Newton, the mother of the James Newton 3, whom we are considering. The statement concerning her is that "she died in 1818."] Mr. James Newton 3 was for many years a member of the Presbyterian Church. He is probably the James Newton in New London County, Conn., enumerated in the U. S. Census, 1790, 1-24. Children:

118. i. DANIEL 4, b. June 10, 1780; d. before 1836.
119. ii. MARY 4, b. Sept. 29, 1792 [perhaps the one who m. in Peru, Mass., March 15, 1810, Henry Emmens].

James L., perhaps.
126. ix. LUCY 4, b. June 11, 1813.

25. ABEL NEWTON 3 (son of John 1 and Mary), born June 9, 1763, at Colchester, Conn.; died July 15, 1838. "on the Sabbath day," at Otsego, N. Y. Buried there, in Metcalf Hill Cemetery, the public burying ground which was on the farm then owned by the family. He married about 1789, "at the age of 24." Also Loomis (also written Elsie), daughter of John and Rachel (Harris) Loomis of Salem, Conn. She was born January 19, 1763, and died August 22, 1850 (also given "Sept., 1850"), "at Cooperstown, N. Y.," or Otsego, N. Y. Buried beside her husband. The First United States Census, 1790, shows Abel Newton and his wife and one son in New London County, Conn. In 1794 he removed with his family from Colchester, Conn., to Warren, Herkimer County,
N. Y. "The families of Mr. Israel Loomis, Walter Warren and Bond Bigelow removed at the same time with him," writes his son, making the journey of about two hundred miles with teams of oxen and carts, in eighteen days. They bought lands and made homes from the forests. Mr. Newton and his wife united with the Baptist Church at Warren. In March, 1857, with the family of their son Amasa, they removed from Warren to the town and county of Otsego, N. Y., where they died. His children, with the exception of the oldest, were born at Warren, N. Y. Children were:

127. AMASA, b. Dec. 14, 1789; m. (1) Elizabeth Douglas; m. (2) Mrs. Mary Hutchins.
128. ii. ELISABETH (also given Elise), b. March 5, 1792; d. Aug. 10, 1846, aged 54; unm.
130. iv. ELIAS, b. Dec. 7, 1796; d. at North East, Pa., May 12, 1850, aged 53; m. in 1820, Laura Gay, dau. of Rudolphus and Anna (Loomis) Gay of North East, Pa. She was b. in 1806, and d. in 1875. Mr. Newton moved soon after marriage to Velney, Otsego County, N. Y., where he bought a farm and resided ten or twelve years. Then he sold out and removed to the town of North East, Pa., which was a more desirable section, where he became a successful farmer. He left a large family of children, some of whom went West, and some were living on the paternal estate in 1856. The oldest daughter married and died a year or two after, at the age of 22 years. I only know the names of the four following children:

131. 1. Warren, b. --- 1828; d. --- 1844.
132. 2. Juley, b. --- 1830; m. --- Cole.
133. 3. Julia, b. --- 1832; m. in North East, Pa.
134. 4. Eliza, b. --- 1831; m. and went West.
135. v. Israel, b. May 2, 1831; d. Sept. 21, 1853: "aged 22 y. 4 m."
136. vi. Lyman, b. Sept. 8, 1837; d. Oct. --- 1854, at Sycamore, Ill. He m. in 1826, Catherine Emerson, dau. of Jacob Emerson of German Flats, Herkimer County, N. Y. and lived seven years after the marriage with his father, during which time he and his wife united with the Baptist Church there. Later he removed to German Flats for a few years, then bought a place in Athion, Orleans County, N. Y. which proved to be an unhealthy, undesirable place, which he sold, and bought another in Elbe, Genesee County, N. Y., where he prospered. About 1844 he sold this farm at a high price and bought in the town of Newstead, Erie County, N. Y., where he remained eight years, then once more sold out and removed with his family to Illinois, where he died leaving an estate worth over $10,000, and four sons and five daughters. I regret not to be able to record these children.

Mr. Newton was a man with a love of reading—a thirst for knowledge. The necessity to toil could not prevent him, and being possessed of good memory and persistence, he obtained a knowledge of good literature only possessed by lovers of it. He united with the Baptist Church, as did his four oldest children. Four of his sons and three of his daughters have been school teachers. After his marriage he continued to reside on his farm in Warren, N. Y., where all of his children were born. In 1837 he sold this farm and bought 150 acres at Motcraff Hill, Otsego, N. Y., to which the family (consisting of himself, wife, ten children, his father, mother and sister) removed. Here several of the family died, and the venture was not a success. In 1852 he sold this farm, and later bought one in Burlington, N. Y., to which the family removed in 1853. In 1856 his two youngest sons were with him on this farm. In that year he wrote a "Biographical Notice of Deacon John Newton of Middlefield, Mass.," etc., his ancestry and descendants, for the benefit of his children. From this much of this sketch is taken. The Loomis Genealogy states that he died the next year at Afton, Wis., and that he lived there—error possibly. His children were:

157. i. CHARLES, b. Feb. 10, 1818; was a soldier of the Civil War and d. a prisoner at Andersonville, Ga., Sept. —, 1863. He m. Feb. —, 1818, Laura Antisdell, daughter of Rev. Lyman Antisdell of Springfield, N. Y. They removed to Wisconsin. Their three children were born at Afton, Wis.

In his young manhood he was a school teacher. Later he went to Beloit, Wis., and engaged in mercantile business, and still later was a traveling salesman. His children, b. at Beloit, were:

170. 2. Charles Dwight, b. March 1, 1868.

10. MAJOR ISRAEL NEWTON (son of James and Mary), born March 5, 1694; died at Cape Breton, May 24, 1745; married Hannah Butler of Hartford, Conn. She was born about 1692, and died May 28, 1780, in her 88th year. The house in which they lived in Colchester was still standing in 1911 and was occupied by a Jewish family. A picture of it shows a large two-story building with kitchen ell and attic, in old Colonial style.

Major Newton was a prominent man in his day and generation. He held many offices of trust and honor in the town of Colchester, Conn., and in the Colony: Deputy to the General Assembly for many terms, Justice of the Peace, Captain of the train-band, appointed Major of the forces sent to Cape Breton, March 14, 1745. "This Assembly grants to Israel Newton, Esq., Major of the regiment to be raised for the expedition to Cape Breton, the sum of sixty pounds, old tenor bills, or equivalent in other bills, to provide his tent, bedding, table and other necessaries." "The 24th of April was kept through New England as a public fast, for the success of the enterprise. On the 19th of June the mournful tidings arrived that our forces had been defeated in an attack on the Island Battery, with a loss of 170 men. Major Newton of Colchester was among those who had fallen victims to disease." The will of Major Israel Newton, "being about to go against his Majesty's Enemies at Cape Breton," was dated April 1, 1745, and proved August 2, 1745. His children as mentioned in will were:

162. i. ANNE, b. Jan. 1, 1716; m. Jan. 6, 1737, John Johnson, Jr.
163. ii. MARY, b. March 1, 1719; d. July 2, 1741; m. April 2, 1738, John Kellogg, (son of Lieut. Nathaniel), b. about 1717; d. Jan. 22, 1752. Both died in Colchester, Conn., where they lived. Their children born there were:
2. Elisha, 1741.
3. John, 1742.
4. Israel, 1743.
5. Mary, 1745.
6. Hannah, 1748.
7. Elisha Kellogg, 1755. See Kellogg Genealogy for further notice.
164. iii. HANNAH, b. June 28, 1721; d. Feb. 19, 1808, at Lyme, Conn.; m. Stephen Beckwith, b. at Lyme, Aug. 10, 1709; d. at Hartford, Conn., 1788. Their children were:
165. iv. ABIGAIL, b. Oct. 17, 1723; m. Pierrout Bacon, founder of Bacon Academy, Colchester, Conn.
166. v. ISRAEL, JR., b. (prob. oldest child); m. Jerusha Wells.
167. vi. MIRIAM, b. about 1730; d. mm. Jan. 12, 1751, in her 22d year. In the settlement of her estate her brother Asahel was a minor and had guardians, James and Israel Newton.
168. vii. ASAHEL, bap. Oct. 15, 1722; m. [prob. — — Reshe].

169. ISRAEL NEWTON, JR. (son of Maj. Israel), born — — — — , probably the oldest child, as he was the oldest son of Major Israel Newton and his wife Hannah (Butler) Newton of Colchester, Conn., is mentioned in his father's will, who bequeaths to him lands, cattle and "my silver hilted sword and to Asahel my other sword." He married April 13, 1754, Jerusha Wells, daughter of Lieut. Noah Wells (who was an Ensign with Maj. Israel Newton at Cape Breton, and who died in 1753). She had ten children, and died April 14, 1816. Israel Newton, Jr., died June 19, 1808. He is probably one of the name mentioned in the United States Census, 1790. His will, dated June 4, 1808, gives to his wife what is later to go to the daughters Jerusha and Lucy, and mentions the other children to say they already had their portions, and makes son Noah sole executor. He calls himself "of Colchester."

Mr. Edward S. Newton of Milwaukee, Wis., states: "My great-grandfather's name was Israel Newton. The only record I have of this is a bill of sale of two negro slaves to 'Israel Newton of Colchester his heirs,' etc., etc., for $50 ($750), dated at Hartford, Conn., Nov. 24, 1761. I think I have heard my father speak of him as grandfather."

Perhaps these were the two slaves of Asa Newton mentioned in the United States Census, 1790. This is one of the men, "Israel Newton, Jr.," mentioned in the First United States Census, 1790, or the "Jr.", may have been his son Israel, who died prior to 1808, but had a family.
All of the men of this name in that census were undoubtedly of this branch of Newtons. The order of birth of his children as here given is not correct, but appears to be nearest so, supposing them not to have married under twenty years, and mindful of their order in the father's will. Children:

169. i. ISAIAH, b. June 6, 1756; d. before June 4, 1808; m. and had children.
170. ii. JERSIAH, b. April 9, 1758.
171. iii. MIRIAM, b. ——; d. May 18, 1789; Townsend.
172. iv. CAROLINE, b. ——; d. May 6, 1779; John Coverley.
173. v. SARAH, b. ——; mentioned in her father's will.
174. vi. AUBREY (also Orril or Anrel), b. Sept. 17, 1757; m. Oct. 9, 1788, Amos Jones.
175. vii. AUBREY, b. ——; m. 1790 or 1791, Daniel Jones.
176. viii. LUCY, b. July 29, 1779.
177. ix. CONSTANT, b. ——; d. May 10, 1791, Samuel Bridges.
178. x. NOAH, b. July 2, 1778; d. at Rome, Ashbathun County, Ohio, between 1853 and 1856. He received his portion of his father's estate during the lifetime of his parents and was made sole executor of his father's will in 1808, the witnesses of that will being Elias Worthington, Asa Newton and Samuel Reade. He m. in Connecticut, Oct. 21, 1802, Olive Cheney. I suppose she is the Olive mentioned in the Cheney Genealogy, daughter of Silas and Sarah (Ely) Cheney of East Hartford, Conn. "born March 15, 1771; married Newton." From some old notes, dated 1808 and 1809, made payable to Noah Newton at New London and Colchester, Conn., in possession of this family, and the latest dated 1828, it would appear that he still lived in Colchester at the latter date. He moved to Ashbathun County, Ohio, about 1830, and died there. His children, b. in Colchester, Conn., were:
   1. Alfred C., b. Nov. 11, 1805; d. at Norwalk, Ohio, Dec. 31, 1878. He was a graduate from Yale University. Soon after graduation he moved to Norwalk, Ohio, where he lived the rest of his life, a clergyman (I suppose Congregational Church). He m. "probably at New Preston," Conn., Aug. 11, 1837, Dolly Whittlesey of New Preston, Conn., d. at Norwalk, Ohio, about 1888. Of their five children, the first died an infant; the others were:
      1. Henry M., b. ——; d. at Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 9, 1902.
      2. Alfred W., b. ——; d. at Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 5, 1902. He m. and his widow was living in 1907. Their three children are:
         1. Alfred S., b. ——; was living in 1907 in Milwaukee, Wis.; engaged with the "Newton Engraving Company," P. O. Box 1909.
         2. Edith W., b. ——; was living in 1907 in Saginaw, Mich.
         3. Fred W., b. ——; was living in 1907 in Saginaw, Mich.
      3. Edward S., b. ——; was living in 1907 in Milwaukee, Wis.; rate clerk and mechanical engraver; business address, 1317 Chestnut St.; residence, 104 Farwell Ave.
   2. Martha, b. ——; d. before 1807.
   3. Sophiah, b. April 1, 1805; d. without children.
   4. Noah, b. Sept. 21, 1808; moved to Norwalk, Ohio, where he was a lawyer in practice. He was a soldier in the Mexican War—a captain. He remained in the army after that war and was stationed in Oregon and in Texas. He d. in 1853, without children, at Fort Elwell.
      168. ASAIEL NEWTON (Maj. Israel), baptized October 15, 1732, was the youngest son of his father, and a minor, when his sister's estate was settled in April, 1751. He probably died about 1800. He married April 6, 1761, ——; the record shows the date but not the name of the bride. His grand-daughter Orril affirms that she was a Beece, Sarah or Jerusha Beece, daughter of Samuel Beece, a descendant of Thomas Beece of New London, an early settler of Colchester, Conn. He resided in Colchester, where the births of the following children are recorded. He was a sailor some part of his life, as were most of his sons. Children:

* Silas Cheney, b. 1734; d. 1797. Sarah Ely, b. 1746; d. 1817, dau. of Capt. Richard Ely of Lyme, Conn. Both adm. to church at East Hartford, 1768.

Leaving Colchester, Conn., he lived for a time in Palmyra, N. Y. In 1820 he moved to Allen, Allegany County, N. Y., and bought a farm, where he died. He was converted in 1845 and felt called to preach. He entered the Genese Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1854, and was ordained Elder in 1858, by Bishops Baker and Jones; was twelve years in that Conference. In 1866 he moved to Michigan, where he remained the rest of his life. He held pastorates at Weathersfield, Belfast, Collins Center, Homeoye, Saratonia, Java, Wales, Holland, Marilla and Eagle, in New York; Dixboroough, Lima, Unadilla, Brooklyn, Franklin, Milan, New Boston, Sheldon, Freid, Sheboygan, Iseo, Southfield in Michigan; after which he was superannuated and went to farming. In October, 1883, he entered the law school at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., took the degree of LL.B. In June, 1887, and was admitted to the Michigan bar. 295. AURORA DUDLEY NEWTON (Dudley 5, Asa 4, Maj. Israel 3), born March 12, 1828, in the town of York, Livingston County, N. Y., on the farm where in 1908 he had lived the eighty years of his life, when he was in perfect health of mind and body. He married (1) October 7, 1851, Elizabeth Fraser of York, N. Y., who died August 31, 1853, leaving a son. He married (2) March 17, 1864, Henrietta Clark of Caledonia, N. Y., who died September 22, 1868, leaving a daughter.

Mr. Newton was educated in the public schools of his district, and at the age of 18 taught in the town of Caledonia. It seemed to him a duty to remain on his father's farm, and he purchased his brother's interest in it and it became his permanent home. A Republican in politics, he was elected to various town offices: Assessor, 1866-1870; Commissioner of Highways, 1870-1879; Supervisor, 1881-1887; Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Livingston County two years, and member of it five years. His townsmen wished to send him to the State Legislature, but he refused the honor. At the age of 15 years he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and had held all of the offices therein as layman, and in 1889 was Recording Steward of the Fowlerville charge, Genesee Conference. He was a grand old man, who made a success of his life by being ready and willing to do whatever came next to hand. His children are:

374. i. WALTON AURORA1, b. July 19, 1852; m. Dec. 3, 1879, Delia Gillette of Lansing, Mich. At the age of 14 years he entered the mercantile department of B. F. Dow & Co., merchants and manufacturers of engines, threshing machines, agricultural implements, etc., at Fowlerville, Mich., learning the business and later becoming manager of the business, and traveling for it all through the West. In 1879 he located in Lansing, Mich., and entered the business for himself. Since 1882 he has confined his business relations almost wholly to Lansing and its tributaries. Republican; Methodist Church; and right dealing represents what he stands for.

375. ii. STELLA HENRIETTA1, b. ———, 1854; m. March 17, 1887, George McKnight. They were living in 1911 in Caledonia, N. Y. No children.

376. ASAHEL NEWTON3 (descendant of Thomas1 of Fairfield), born June 1, 1758, at Colchester, Conn.; died May 30, 1834. His great-grandson, Mr. Jervis O. Newton, writes: “The earliest history which we have been able to obtain concerning the Newton family is, that they took a prominent part in the settlement of Colchester, Conn., in the early part of the eighteenth century. It is said they were descended from Thomas Newton, at one time of Fairfield, Conn. Asahel Newton is the first of whom we have any authentic record.” He was a soldier of the Revolution. The “Connecticut Men in the War of the Revolution” 1880, pg. 176, contains the name of Asahel Newton, in the Company of Capt. Eells, enlisted May 5, 1777, term three years, discharged May 5, 1780. The family history of his service, more in detail, states that he was at the storming of Stony Point by “Mad Anthony Wayne”; one of the picked men who led the way. Also, he was one of Washington’s body guards and was present at the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. He married February 19, 1784, Versalle Booth. I suppose they lived in Colchester. They had ten children; the fifth was:

377. v. ERASTUS3, b. Feb. 22, 1795, at Colchester, Conn. About 1830 he went to Sherburne, N. Y., and there m. on March 28, 1820, Julia Hatch. They had four children. He d. March 25, 1867. His second child was:

380. 2. Jervis O. b. ———; is m. and wife living (1896); is cashier of the State Bank of Chicago, Ill., corner of LaSalle and Washington Sts.

382. ISRAEL NEWTON1 (probably descendant of Thomas of Fairfield) was born ———, 1788; died ———, 1864. He came from Voluntown, Conn., to West Greenwich, R. I., where he and his wife are buried. He married Nancy Saunders, before the removal. [There were living in Voluntown, Conn., in 1790, only four heads of families, one of whom was probably his father or mother, namely: Desire, Isaac, Jabez or Matthew.] He may have had more than the one son here given: viz:
THOMAS OF FAIRFIELD

383. i. Henry Saunders, b. Dec. 29, 1815, at Voluntown, Conn., and d. at Plainfield, Conn., May 31, 1900. He m. April 26, 1837, Susan M. Morris, daughter of William and Annie (Coats) Morris of Exeter, R. I., where she was b. April 26, 1822. She d. at Plainfield, Conn., Dec. 25, 1882. Mr. Newton was a farmer in Plainfield, Conn. His children were:

395. CHRISTOPHER NEWTON (——), born February 26, 1738, at Groton, New London County, Conn.; died at Newport, N. II., February 19, 1834. I have made no effort to trace either Christopher Newton or his cousin Isaac of Newport, N. II., because they seemed so surely to spring from the original Connecticut Newtons. It should not be difficult for those most interested to trace them, having the few facts I am able to give here. Being born in Groton, Conn., the town records should show the names of his parents, and at that early day there could have been hardly more than three generations in America behind him. Very probably the first of them was Thomas Newton of Fairfield,” whose posterity was quite numerous in Colchester, and New London County, Conn., generally. The name, Christopher, I have not found earlier than this one. In 1790, the First United States Census shows this Christopher Newton at Newport, N. II.,—family, “1-2-5,” another at Woodbridge, New Haven County, Conn.,—family, “1-3-3,” another in New London County, Conn., the county he came from,—family, “1-0-1.”

He removed with his family of wife and five children in 1739, from Groton, New London County, Conn., to Newport, N. II., Another son, Hubbard, was born at Newport, N. II. He became one of the early settlers of that town. He took up land on the “Unity Road,” where he established a homestead-farm—which afterward came into possession of his son Erastus—and where he died. He was moderator of the town meetings for nine years, and one of the selectmen two terms.

He married in Connecticut, February 26, 1766, Mary Giles, daughter of Hon. Benjamin Giles of Groton, Conn., where she was born November 12, 1745, and died at Newport, N. II., May 14, 1821. Their children were:

396. i. Martha, b. April 9, 1788; m. at Hebron, Conn., Dec. 29, 1785, Aaron Mack, who was b. Jan. 11, 1761. Their one child I know of was

ERASTUS NEWTON (Maj.) (son of Christopher), born in 1777; died at Newport, N. H., January 4, 1852; married, November 22, 1801, Betsey Beckwith (daughter of Jabez and Elizabeth Beckwith). She lived to be 91 years old. Six children.

Mr. Newton had the homestead of his father, where he lived. The farm is on the "Unity Road"—Unity being a town south of Newport. He was Major in the militia. He gave three of his sons college educations and they became professional men. His children were:

1. Christopher Giles, b. Jan. 15, 1806; d. at Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 3, 1871. He was a graduate from Middlebury College; studied law at Newport and Washington, N. H.; removed to Lawrence, Mass., having practiced in all three places. He m. June 9, 1835, Harriet Hubbard of Washington, N. H. Their three children were:

   1. George A. b. ——
   2. Erastus N. b. ——
   3. Elihu b. ——

2. Harvey II., b. Oct. 9, 1804; m. Angeline M. Beckwith, his cousin, daughter of Jabez Beckwith. At date of marriage she was "of Lowell, Mass." The names of their children were:

   1. Erastus b. ——
   2. Austin b. ——

4. Erastus, Jr., b. Nov. 10, 1810; and d. at Lockport, N. Y. Lawyer. Mr. Newton was graduated from the college at Schenectady, N. Y.; studied law at Geneva, N. Y., with Judge Gardner. After being admitted to the bar, he spent two years at Burlington, N. Y., then removed to Lockport, N. Y., where he settled and became prominent in the profession—had a wide practice, and where he died. He m. Caroline Zeley. Their children were:

   2. Erastus, b. ——; was graduated from Yale College, 1851.
   3. Eliza, b. ——; m. Louis H. Martino.

HUBBARD NEWTON (son of Christopher) born January, 1780, at Newport, N. H.; died there February 15, 1847, aged 67. Lawyer. He was graduated from Dartmouth College, 1804; read law with Samuel Bell at Franconia, N. H.; began practice in Newport, N. H., in 1806; removed to Amherst, N. H., in 1836, succeeding to the practice of Edward Parker, Esq.; returned after five years in Amherst to Newport, N. H., where he died. In Amherst, he appears to have taken a prominent part in town affairs—as moderator of the Annual Town Meetings, Justice of the Peace, on committee to apportion pews in the Meetinghouse, gave address at a political banquet in a Whig victory, etc. He was one of the organizers, and a trustee of the Newport Academy.

He married, November 25, 1802, Abigail Lyon, daughter of David and Abigail (Belcher) Lyon, who came from Stoughton, Mass., to Newport, N. H., in 1790. She was born July 4, 1779, and died January 21, 1843. Children:

241. i. HENRIETTA, b. April 7, 1806; d. Sept. 3, 1850; "was finely educated.”
242. ii. CHARLES H. E. (REV.), b. April 10, 1808: was in early life a printer by trade. He had an office in Newport, N. H., where he printed the Farmer’s Advocate and Political Advertiser (1830 and 1831) and afterward (1832 and 1833) the Northern Farmer and Horticulturalist, both periodicals being edited by his father. He went to Mobile, Ala., and engaged in his profession and thence to California. Afterward in Oregon he became a clergyman (presumably of the Methodist Episcopal Church), and was there a presiding elder. Whether or not he had a family is unknown to me.
244. iv. MARY GILES, b. Nov. 14, 1813; d. April 12, 1808; "was a fine singer.”
246. vi. WILLIAM F., b. Nov. 23, 1818: in early youth he learned the trade of printing, in the office of his father and brother, which he followed for a few years. After a preparatory course he entered the profession of the law in his father’s office and was admitted to the Sullivan County, N. H., bar in 1843, and continued there to practice. Was clerk of court for the county several years, and held other offices. He m. March 23, 1855, Julia (McQuesten) Newton, widow of his cousin, Austin Newton (412).
248. viii. ARTHUR W., b. May 10, 1823; d. May 16, 1824.

SAMUEL NEWTON of Groton, Conn., married Deborah ——. [The following information is contributed by Mr. Charles Allyn Williams of Iowa City, Iowa, December, 1907. It was furnished him from her memory by his great aunt, Mrs. Mabel (Williams) Hewitt of Norwich, Conn., in 1903. Few dates could be given—probably between 1775 and 1850. Even without dates the matter is important and should be preserved. I have no doubt that this is the father of Isaac Newton of Newport, N. H., who was probably descended from Thomas Newton of Fairfield, Conn.] They had ten children. The order of births here given may not be correct. Children:

ISAAC NEWTON (son of Samuel (429) of Groton, Conn., by wife Deborah ———), a cousin of Christopher Newton (392) and like him from Groton, Conn., among the early settlers of Newport, N. H.; lived on the M. Hurd farm on the road from Newport going south to Unity, N. H. He was sheriff of the county. His birth is not given, but probably occurred in New London County, Conn., if not in the town of Norwich, Conn. Although his death is not given, he probably died in Newport, N. H. He married Hannah Giles, a daughter of Hon. Benjamin Giles of Groton, Conn., and Newport, N. H., and sister of Mary Giles, who was wife of his cousin Christopher Newton, which see. I have nothing further regarding her except that she was the mother of his seven children.

Isaac Newton was among those who took the “Association Test Oath” of loyalty June 20, 1776, at Newport, N. H., which would indicate that he was there before Christopher came. All of his children, except the first, were born at Newport, N. H. The First United States Census, 1790, shows him at Newport, N. H., head of a family, the other members being one male above sixteen years, one male under sixteen years, and six females. The children were seven in number:

Giles, b. ———; probably at Norwich, Conn.; m. Naomi Duncan. He resided in Francestown, N. H., and seems to have been an active and important citizen. In 1795 he built what is called the “Old Dane Store,” and occupied it for a time. About 1798, the firm of “Kingsbury & Newton” [Nathaniel Kingsbury and Giles Newton] erected the “Parker Hotel” in Francestown, N. H. (which burned in 1853), January he took out a license as “Taverner,” and on June 17, 1799, the large and commodious house was occupied by him for a short time. In 1819, he was appointed postmaster for Francestown. Oct. 15, 1828, he went with five others to delegates to a great political meeting in Francestown, N. H. Other mention of him. His son was:

1. Giles, Jr., b. Jan. 25, 1728, at Francestown, N. H.; d. there July 11, 1806; m. there Aug. 25, 1825, Sally Ball. Mr. Newton was a farmer in Antrim, N. H. “He bought of Daniel Ruswell, the farm next east of Mr. Greeley’s,” where he lived until his sudden death. He dropped dead while engaged in loading hay, “He was a good and pious man. His five children were born at Antrim.

He settled later in Ashburnham, Mass., where he in 1878 and for some time previous he had been justice of the peace. His children were:

436. 1. Mary Giles, b. July 2, 1873.

438. 3. Helen, b. Nov. 8, 1876.

439. ii. Deborah, b. May 16, 1778.

441. vi. Samuel, b. Sept. 13, 1782; m. (1) Polly Bill; m. (2) Ennise Bill; m. (3) Mrs. Laura Remington.

444. SAMUEL NEWTON (fourth child of Isaac, above), born September 13, 1782, at Newport, N. H.; died at Akron, Ohio, August 5, 1871, aged 88 years. 10 months, 22 days. Mr. Newton's parents were from Groton, Conn., to Newport, N. H. He married and moved to Ohio, settling in Middlebury Township on October 14, 1815. He was for many years one of the leading hotel keepers of northern Ohio, his house standing at what is now the intersection of East Market, North Arlington and Kent streets, Akron, Sixth Ward. In March, 1849, although then 67 years of age, Mr. Newton went with the "Middlebury Mining Company," overland to California, returning by way of the Isthmus of Panama in January, 1850. His first and second wives were daughters of Benajah Bill of Lyne, Conn. He married (1) Polly Bill, who died September —, 1855; married (2) Ennise Bill; m. (3) November —, 1856, Mrs. Laura Remington. He had three children:

He d. of apoplexy, Jan. 26, 1859, Mrs. Johnson d. his widow, at the home of her daughter. She had ten children of whom eight were living in 1892.

448. CALEB NEWTON, not traced, but very probably is a descendant of Thomas Newton of Fairfield, who was a land holder in Middleburg, L. I.; according to the "Annals of Newtown, Long Island," Riker, in 1656 he paid fifteen shilings, "the Indian Rate" of a shilling an acre, in Middleburg. He also lived in Long Island for some time, in the years following 1656, when he became involved with the Commissioners, who would have imprisoned him, and he escaped to Long Island—New York State—where they could not touch him. It would naturally follow that some of his posterity would be found thereabout during the next hundred years. However, the following are the only facts available to me now.] An old burying ground at or near Lake Ronkonkoma, in Suffolk County, L. I., contains graves with headstones of Caleb Newton, who died August 11, 1787, aged 57, and of Anna, his wife, who died June 7, 1832, aged 97, and of their son, Caleb Newton, who died February 21, 1844, aged 81.

The descendants of these people recognize them as their family, and state that Caleb Newton, born about 1750, died in 1787, aged 57; married Anna Blydenburgh of Haupauge, L. I., born about 1735; died in 1832, aged 97. Their son:

Whether he lived at Lake Ronkonkoma or not, the First United States Census, 1790, shows him as head of a family at Brookhaven, same county, in Long Island, the other members being two males under sixteen years and two females. There were two other Newton families at Brookhaven, namely, those of Isaac Newton, 2-0-1; John Newton, 2-2-2. These could have been brothers of Caleb Newton, Jr. (I suggest it merely; have no authority). The children of Caleb Newton, Jr., were:

450. 1. Nathaniel, b. — , a blacksmith.

DAVID NEWTON of Hartford, Vt. (possibly from Thomas of Fairfield). [There have been many inquiries, and thus far no answers, as to the ancestry of this man. I, myself, have made no search. I have separated his posterity from the posterity of Richard Newton as soon as I recognized them as such; since it seemed useless for me to give time to them, my feeling being that they did not belong to my branch. But so many have I gathered of his line, that as a sort of introduction to their record, I will here quote somewhat from the histories of Hartford and Norwich, Vt. This will prevent much repetition in stating the facts—facts that each separate family will wish to know, and can apply for itself. That he may belong to the branch of Richard Newton, perhaps through Isaac of Stafford, is not unreasonable to suppose. The names of his children are those many times repeated in all the branches—Rev. Roger Newton's of Milford, Conn., and Thomas Newton's of Fairfield, Conn., but perhaps more frequently in the Richard Newton branch. Someone will doubtless sometime find the solution of the problem.]

The towns of Hartford and Norwich in Vermont were not far apart and the families of each were more or less connected as well as being so with the people across the river in New Hampshire. "On both sides of the river, nearly all were emigrants from Connecticut, and from that portion of Connecticut lying east of the great river." "Hartford has four principal villages: Hartford, otherwise known as "White River Village"; Quechee; West Hartford; White River Junction—all are postoffice villages." In the Christian Street Cemetery at Hartford are the graves of the following Newtons:

Mrs. Polly (Gibbs) Newton-Dudley; Elizabeth Newton, aged 35, 1815; Mrs. Laurena Newton, aged 39, 1823; David Newton, aged 87, 1859; Mr. Sheldon Newton, aged 75, 1849; Mrs. Catherine Newton, aged 68, 1854; Mr. Abner Newton, aged 69, 1856; David Newton, 70d, aged 87, 1865; Mrs. Sabriel Newton, aged 75, 1867; Andrew Newton, aged 88, 1868; Lucy Newton, aged 79, 1870; Elizabeth Newton, aged 82, 1872.

In the cemetery at Quechee Village are the graves of Francis Newton, aged 89, 1864; Lois P. Newton, aged 87, 1864; Hannah Newton, aged 81, 1878.

In the Private Cemetery at West Hartford is the grave of Mrs. Ermina Newton, aged 27, 1837. (The Ingrahams are buried there.)

In the "New Portion" of the cemetery of White River are graves of Daniel Newton, aged 38, 1831; Flora Newton, aged 29, 1835; Truman Newton, aged 69, 1848; Mrs. Emnice Newton, aged 86, 1871; Edward N. Newton, aged 39, 1885.

In the list of those who are buried elsewhere, or whose graves here not marked, who were upward of 70 years, are Solon Newton, aged 76, 1876; Matilda B. Newton, aged 76, 1877; Mary Newton, aged 90, 1888.

Among the names other than Newtons—and otherwise, who lived 50 years in West Hartford [50 years prior to 1889], were: Dr. David Ingraham, Col. Levi Hazen, Reuben Hazen, David Hazen, Dr. Ira Tenney, Eliplaz Hunt, Zavan Hazen, Abel Camp, Abel Howard, Thomas and Dea. Solomon Crandall, Dea. Burfree Prenty, Dea. Samuel Dutton, S. A. In the list of men who had registered earmarks for cattle and sheep are the names of David Newton and several of the Hazen, about 1778. Later, David Newton and others are appointed to condemn or repair a bridge, as should seem best to them.

"January 4, 1790. To all whom it may concern: It is hereby certified that Messrs. Hezekiah Hazen, Thomas Hazen, Solomon Hazen. David Newton and Erastus Chapman are members of the Church of Christ at Dartmouth College, which church is Presbyterian in persuasion and discipline, that they and each of them are in full communion and regular and good standing with us. By John Smith, Pastor of said church at Dartmouth College." Hanover, N. H., January 4, 1790.

It was in accordance with the law that voters—"freemen" should possess some church connection—one of the then requirements of citizenship.

Mary Hazen, wife of David Newton, was the daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Durkee) Hazen. Her father was son of Thomas (Thomas, Edward), and was born June 30, 1717; married December 8, 1740, Elizabeth Durkee of Norwich, Vt. He removed about 1780, with his sons, to Grand Isle, Vt., where they were among the first settlers, and where the family has been

He was a man of substance and influence in the town; Selectman seven years, and judge of delinquents in 1666. In the record of surveys, 1661, he appears entitled to "Seven gates." These related to cattle rights in the town Commons. The average was three, and no one could have more than seven. He was buried at Rowley, July 22, 1683. Inventory of his estate £104 7s. 8d. He m. In 1774 he moved to Hartford, Vt., where most of his sixteen children married and settled. His land, or that of the family, extended across the town along its north boundary six miles, and included 1,000 acres around the present village of West Hartford. In 1775 he built the first two-story house there. In 1789 it was still occupied, as it always had been, by his descendants. Asa, Abiel and Charles Dana, was then the owner. His posterity has been numerous—as also forestall men and women for good in the world—pastors, missionaries, editors and writers (to one, Henry Allen Hazen, A.M., am indebted for this reprinted accounts, and not least, Gen. William B. Hazen of the U. S. Army, whom we all honor for his service in the Civil War, particular the brilliant capture of Fort McAllester, near Savannah, Ga., in Sherman's March to the Sea. PART IV. MATTHEW NEWTON

DESCENDANTS OF

MATTHEW NEWTON, FIRST.

Compiled by

SAMUEL NEWTON of Ooltewah, TNE.

October, 1911.

In compiling the history of this Newton family, the records of Matthew Newton, 3d (3), are chief authority for matters occurring before his death in 1814. Other data are chiefly from his descendants, and some are from his son-in-law, Arba Lankton (13).

1. MATTHEW NEWTON1, 1st, was born in England, probably about 1690; emigrated to America, and settled in 1720, in Stonington, New London County, Conn. In the State Library at Hartford, Conn., in Ecclesiastical Documents, Vol. 2, document 210, there is an “Account Specifying North Society Church, to be built on ‘gravely nole,’” Stonington, dated September 27, 1721, on which the signature of “Matthew Newton” occurs. Of his wife, no name has been discovered. Of his children, the name of one only, namely:

2. i. MATTHEW Newton2, 2d, b. in 1722; d. —. Nothing further of him is known, except that he had two sons, namely:

3. ii. MATTHEW Newton3, b. Dec. 8, 1747; m. Elizabeth West.

4. 2. ——-3d, son, who is said to have settled in northern Ohio.

There may have been other children, but no names are given.

PART V. ANTHONY NEWTON, ET AL.

6935. JOHN NEWTON of Dorchester, Mass., 1632; freeman, 1633; removed to Dedham. He had lands in Dorchester set off to him "Next to Roxbury," in 1633, and in 1637 other lands in Dorchester were granted to him. He was kinsman of Edward Alleyn of Dedham, who, dying suddenly at Boston, where he was a representative to the General Court, 1642, by munificent will gave his estate to John Newton and another relative. He married and had a son:

6935a. i. Henry, bapt. —, 1643.

6936. JOHN NEWTON of Colliton, Devonshire, England, Chirurgeon [i. e. surgeon], in his will, dated April 3, 1646, and proved April 24, 1647, mentions and provides for "My wife Alice," gives to his "daughter Mary," "my son Anthony and my daughter Joane, or their children," and his "daughter Mary die childless," etc., then to Edward Newton, son of William Newton of Waddon in the Parish of Southley. "Also I give unto Anthony, my said son, and Joane my said daughter, which are now in New England, six pounds a piece, to be paid by Mary my said daughter, within a year after my death. The residue to my said daughter Mary, whom I make mine executrix." The will was proved "by the oath of Mary Stocker abd Newton, natural and lawful daughter of the deceased."

It is supposed the son Anthony, in New England, was the same person as the one mentioned by Savage, in the following fashion: "Newton, Anthony, Dorchester, of Braintree 1640, engaged 1652, in sett. of Lancaster, was freeman 1671." And by Farmer: "Newton, Anthony, Lancaster 1652, freeman 1671." I have little news of this immigrant Newton. I record what I suppose to be his descendants—have not tried to gather them, merely to eliminate them from the record of those of Richard Newton of Sudbury.

6937. ANTHONY NEWTON was an original member of the church at Milton, Mass., when it was gathered April 24, 1678. He signed the covenant with eleven others from the church at Dorchester. His wife, "Sister Newton," was admitted by letter from Dorchester, Oct. 2, 1681. It is stated by Hon. Newton Talbot of Boston: "I am a descendant of Anthony Newton of Milton. He must have been in that town for many years, as he was voted land from the 'new grant' not as an original settler, but as one who had claims as an early townsman." I have no authority as to his children except the son:

6938. i. John, b. ——, 16—; d. ——, 1678. Abstract of settlement of his estate:

Administration.

Vol. 12: p. 20 23°: May: 1678
Power of Administratrix of ... the ... Estate ... of John Newton late of Boston deceased is granted unto his father Anthony Newton ...

Administration.

Vol. 12: p. 31 14° Sept: 1678
Power of Administratrix of ... the goods ... of John Newton late of Boston glazier deed is granted unto Sarah his Relict....
The following Newtons appear on the Milton church records. I suppose they are related to Anthony Newton of that town, but do not know:

6939. EPHRAIM NEWTON, m. Ruth ———, who was admitted to the church at Milton, March 10, 1689. Their daughter, 6940. i. ABIGAIL, "Ian of Ephraim of Milton," m. at Boston, Dec. 17, 1693, James Puffer. They had four children, and he died before Nov. 18, 1718, when his widow was appointed to administer on his estate.

6941. JOHN NEWTON, born about 1688; died at Milton, February 16, 1774, aged 86 years. It would seem that he had no immediate family, or had outlived them, when he made his will in 1707. Pompey, his negro man, died at Milton, August 3, 1780. An abstract of the will of "Mr. John Newton," and guardianship of his negro man, Pompey, follows:

6942. THOMAS NEWTON, "the Attorney" at Boston, came there in 1688 from New Hampshire. He was Secretary of that province until 1690; was Controller of the Customs at Boston; Judge of the Admiralty, and Attorney-General for the Province of Massachusetts Bay. He occupied this last position during and after the witchcraft prosecutions. "His opinion must have led to the cure of the infernal delusion, for in January, 1693, he wrote to Sir William Phips, the Governor, that of the fifty-two charged at Salem, at that court, the three convicted should have been acquitted like the rest." [Savage.] He was born in England, gentleman, "June 10, 1660, being Whitsunday," and died at Newton, Mass.," on the Lord's day being also Whit Sunday," June 18, 1721. He was one of the original founders of the King's Chapel, Boston; was a member of its vestry 1698 and 1699, and warden in 1704 and afterwards. A mural monument was erected to his memory, in that church, by his great-grandson, Edward A. Newton. The library of Thomas Newton, advertised for sale soon after his death, is said to have been the greatest and best collection of law books which had ever been offered for sale in the country. The Boston News-Letter, in the mention of his death, says in part: "He was educated there, [Eng.] and entirely beloved there and here by all who knew him. One who carried himself handsomely to all, and just . . . affable and courteous . . . inoffensive conversation, of strict devotion toward God. . . . The funeral was attended by His Excellency the Governor, Gentlemen of His Majesty's Council, with other principal gentlemen, merchants, and others." In a descriptive list of seals attached to the correspondence of David Jeffries, Esq., treasurer of Boston for many years during that period, that of Thomas Newton, Attorney-General, appears on a letter dated Boston, January 28, 1689, to the Hon. John Usher, Esq., with shield badly broken: "Crest, an arm vambraced and embowed, grasping a ——? [It is hard to say what this was meant for; perhaps a wand, or perhaps a shin bone.] Newton of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, bears, two shin bones in saltire. Crest, an arm vambraced and embowed, grasping a shin-bone."

Mr. Newton married. [It seems to me in England, but may be not.] His wife, and widow, Christian Newton, mentions in her will, "my part of an Estate in Old England at my Father's Death belonged to me," and "my Estate at Plastow in Old England." [There are two towns Plastow in England, one in Sussex County and one now a part of larger London. Her mention of and bequest to "my daughter Thompson," not mentioned in the will of her husband, would lead one to think she might be her daughter by a previous marriage. I do not know.] Their children as given in the two wills were:

6943-6946. 1. Hibbert; 2. Elizabeth; 3. Christian; 4. Hannah; and "daughter Thompson"—which was probably her married name. The daughter Christian, only, was married at that date, 1728. Abstracts of the wills of Thomas Newton, Esq., and of his widow, Christian Newton, follow:

Will.

Vol. 22: p. 176

In the Name of God Amen I Thomas Newton of Boston . . . Esq, being weak and infirm in body but of sound and disposing mind . . . Decease . . . this my last Will . . . I . . . bequeath unto my son Hibbert Newton and to my three Daughters Elizabeth Christian and Hannah Newton Twenty shillings each . . . I . . . bequeath unto my well-beloved wife and dear Companion Christian Newton . . . all the . . . remainder of all my real and personal Estate . . . and . . . Appoint . . . my . . . Wife . . . sole Executrix. . . . In Witness whereof . . . I have . . . Set my hand and Seal the Sixth day of March . . . one Thousand Seven hundred and Twenty . . . in the presence of Samuel Lynde Jos: Marion Samuel Prigg. The will of Thomas Newton . . . approved and allowed . . . Dated at Boston the fifth day of June Anna Domini 1721.

presented for Probate ... proved ... Boston ... 6th February 1730.

6943. Hibbert Newton² (s. of Thomas¹ "the Attorney"), born probably sometime during the decade prior to 1700. It is stated of him, there being little traffic with Nova Scotia in winter, "That season was always spent by Hibbert Newton in Boston, his native place." He was appointed Collector of Customs in Nova Scotia in 1711, and held his office at Annapolis, on the Bay of Fundy, where he died in 1754, having made his will the year before. He married Hannah Adams, daughter of John Adams of Boston, where she was baptized, September 17, 1699, and was living in 1750, when she was made executrix of her husband's will. Her father, John Adams (s. of John and Avis), was at one time lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, but subsequently (1740) returned to Boston, where he died. He was a brother of the celebrated Matthew Adams, the friend and patron of Dr. Benjamin Franklin. The children of Hibbert² and Hannah Newton are mentioned in the will of their father, an abstract of which follows:

Probated ... fifth ... June ... 1752

The children of Hibbert and Hannah Newton I give in the order mentioned in the will, which is probably not the order of their births; it being customary in wills to name all sons first.

6947. ii. Thomas³, b. ——; see below (?)

6948. ii. Phillips³, b. ——; commissioned July 29, 1751, first lieutenant in Reg. 49; commissioned again April 8, 1752, captain lieutenant in Reg. 48.

6949. iii. Hibbert³, b. ——; commissioned Oct. 15, 1754, first lieutenant in Reg. 40. These are on a list of British officers serving in America 1754-1774.

6950. iv. William³, b. ——.

6951. v. John³, b. ——.

6952. vi. Henry³, b. ——, 1752.

6953. vii. Christian³, b. ——.

6954. viii. Hannah³, b. ——.

6955. ix. Mary³, b. ——.

6956. Henry Newton³ (Hibbert³), born in 1752, at Boston; died in 1802, at Halifax, N. S. He succeeded his father in 1751 as Collector of Customs in Nova Scotia and resided there until his decease. "Thus the father and son held possession of the same office, successively, for 90 years."
He married Ann Stuart, daughter of Gilbert Stuart [a Scotchman, who came to this country in 1736, settled first at Narragansett, afterwards at Newport, R. I., where he married. About 1786 or so they moved to Nova Scotia. He was also the father of the celebrated painter, Gilbert Stuart]. After the death of her husband in 1802, Mrs. Newton came, in 1803, to Massachusetts and opened a school for young ladies at Medford, and afterwards in Boston. She died in 1822. The one child I know of is:

6955. I. EDWARD AUGUSTUS, b. May 1, 1785, at Halifax, N. S.; d. at Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 18, 1862, aged 77. He m. 1815, Sarah Tileston Williams, daughter of John Chandler Williams of Pittsfield. She d. 1836, at Rouen, France. He m. (2d) at Newburyport, Mass., 1837, Susanna Cleveland Tyng, daughter of Dudley A. and Sarah Tyng. Mr. Newton came to Boston late in 1803 and engaged with the mercantile house of Stephen Higginson & Company, on Foster's wharf. In 1805 he was sent on business for them to India. He continued exclusively in the India trade till 1825, when, having acquired a competency, he retired from business and resided permanently in Pittsfield. He was a member of the governor's council in Massachusetts with Governors Davis and Briggs; for a long time president of the Agricultural Bank at Pittsfield; a member of the Episcopal Church, and of the N. E. Hist. Gen. Society. Of his children, I know only of his daughter, b. at Pittsfield:

6957. I. ELIZABETH STUART, b. Sept. 9, 1828; d. June 24, 1891, at sea while making her second trip to Europe. Never married.

The following Pittsfield Newtons I place here, not knowing whether they belong to this family or not, namely:

6958. EDWARD E. NEWTON, born in 1828; “a man of independent spirit”; a trustee of Williams College.

6959. MISS LUCRETIA NEWTON, who gave an organ to the church before 1876.

6960. GILBERT STUART NEWTON [see No. 6952], “nephew of Gilbert Stuart, the painter,” died September 3, 1855; married August 22, 1832, Sally W. Swan, daughter of William Sullivan and Sally (Webb) Swan. She was born November 19, 1819. She bore him one child. She married (2d) June 25, 1849, William F. Oakley of New York and had eleven children. The child of Gilbert S. was:

6961. I. ANNE STUART, b. 1832; d. 1863.

In an article giving some of the descendants of Percival and Ellen Green of Cambridge, 1936, is the statement that Benjamin Green, born 1713, married 1737, Margaret Pierce. He was in mercantile business with Asia until the expedition against Cape Breton. He acted as secretary, with military rank, to Sir William Pepperell. He remained at Louisburg after its capture, filling several offices until 1749, when he removed to Halifax, N. S., where he continued in the public service, and died in 1772. His widow died in 1778. His daughter Margaret, married John Newton (6962). She died 1763, without children. “Charlotte [sister of Margaret], married Henry Newton (6963), collector of customs for Nova Scotia. She died in 1782, and left a large family.” [Was this a first marriage of Henry Newton? (Hibbert?), and was the John Newton his brother?]
6947. THOMAS NEWTON (Hibbert). I have nothing whatever that I surely know relates to him. The following administration of the estate of Thomas Newton (see No. 6966), late of Billerica—the date and the account—"for stockings, butter, etc., sent to Cape Breton for the Dec'd," particularly, lead me to think this might be the son of Hibbert, collector of customs at that period, 1711-1751.

6948. THOMAS NEWTON (grandson of Thomas the Attorney), to whom his grandmother bequeaths her "wedding ring, and the two books of Doctor Hammond," would need to have been born by 1712, or before, if he were not sixteen years old in 1728. In 1746 he would have been about 34 years more or less. Perhaps he was the Thomas Newton of Billerica, below (No. 6969).

6949. CHRISTIAN NEWTON (son of Thomas the Attorney) is given a bequest in both her father's and in her mother's will. She married, then of Boston, February 11, 1723; John Wainwright, son of John and Elizabeth Wainwright. He was born June 19, 1691, and died September 1, 1739, aged 48. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1709 or 1711. Merchant. He was long examining clerk and held other offices of trust in the town of Ipswich, Mass., where they resided. He was a member of the Artillery Company, 1714; colonel of regiment: Representative, 1720-1730; Justice of General Sessions of Court, 1723. A man of worth. He was survived by his wife and two children. The names of the children were:

6950. i. JOHN WAINWRIGHT.
6951. ii. FRANCIS WAINWRIGHT.

6952. 1. JOHN NEWTON of Boston, by wife Mehitable, had a son,

6953a. i. SAMUEL, b. Jan. 23, 1678. [Savage]

6954. 1. GEORGE NEWTON of Ipswich, Mass., about 1676, 1677.

6955. THOMAS NEWTON of Billerica. [See No. 6947 and No. 6964.]

6970. JOSEPH NEWTON1 of Hull, England, was from a family of Newtons that lived in Hull, Yorkshire, England, for several generations and before that came from the adjoining County of Lincolnshire. Since our Richard Newton of Sudbury, Mass., probably originated in or near the home town of Sudbury, England, it is not impossible that these two clans may have been nearly related.
This man, Joseph Newton, was born about 1809, at Hull, England, and died there about 1850. He married there about 1831, Elizabeth ———, who was born about 1811, and died about 1895. They lived all of their lives in Hull. Their ten children, born there, were:

6971-6975. 1. CHARLES; 2. GEORGE; 3. ISAAC (m. Miss Glenn); 4. JOSEPH; 5. ALFRED.

6976-6978. 6. JOHN; 7. SEPTIMUS; 8. HENRY (d. 1871, d. Oct. 2, 1912, at Los Angeles, Calif.; burial at Chicago, III. He came to America when 17 years old. He began work with the J. K. Arnush Company of Chicago and worked up—becoming its president. He m. (1) Miss Jones; m. (2) Miss Steen; no children.

6979-6980. 9. CAROLINE (m. Mr. Clemenger); 10. AMY (m. Mr. Garthorne).

6981. 5. ALFRED NEWTON (son of Joseph1), born August 27, 1839, at Hull, England; died at London, England, August 30, 1910; married there January 31, 1866, Mary Maclin, daughter of Thomas and Charlotte Maclin of London, England, where she was born July 12, 1831. Their children were:

6982. i. JOSEPH GILBERT, b. ———, 1856, at London, England; came to America, and in 1911 was living in Los Angeles, Calif. He m. in 1889, Grace D. Goodwillie of Chicago, Ill.

6983. ii. ARTHUR WILLIAMS, b. ———, 1858, at London, England; came to America; m. at Chicago, Ill., June 1, 1886, Miss Clare O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard O'Neill of No. 1657 Sheridan Road, Chicago, III. They reside (1911) at No. 3018 Sheridan Road, Chicago, III. He is a banker—vice president of the First National Bank in 1913.

6984. iii. EXD MARY, b. ———, 1862; m. (1911); res. Ipswich, England.

6985. iv. CAROLINE FRANCES, b. ———, 1870; m. 1885, William Saunders. They were living in 1911 in London, England.

6986. vi. MARGARET AIMIEE, b. ———, 1873; m. in 1911; residing in Chicago, III., in 1912; a broker there.

6987. CHARLES E. NEWTON of Chicago, Ill., of the firm of “Newton & Catlin, wholesale and retail furs,” states in 1907, of his ancestry, “I think they originally came from Norway.”

6988. JOHN NEWTON (son of Sir John Newton of East Harptree, Somerset, Eng.) had a daughter who was his sole heir, namely, 6989. i. FRANCES, b. ———; m. in 1901, George Upton of Wells, son of Geoffrey and Mary Upton. They had a daughter.

6990. i. FRANCES NEWTON UPTON, b. ———; sole heir, who d. s. p.

6991. JOHN NEWTON of Fairfield, Vt., had a cousin Benjamin Upton. [I do not know if there is any connection between the two statements. They occur in the Upton Family Records, 1893.]

6992. ISAAC NEWTON and WILLIAM NEWTON, brothers, of Lancashire, England, emigrated to Canada, and their descendants to the United States. It is a pleasure to give here a record of their posterity, that those who shall come after them may be able to trace with some knowledge of whence they came. Mrs. Julia M. Raynor has kindly contributed the data. She does not state when they came to America.
Isaac Newton of Lancashire, England, as a young man, sang in Lincoln Cathedral. He married and had a son to whom he gave the name of the great philosopher, and had him baptized, namely:

6293. i. Sir Isaac Newton, b. ——, 1806, in Lancashire, England; d. at Montreal, Canada; m. Elizabeth Vickers, daughter of Woodward and Mary Elizabeth Vickers of Lincolnsire, England, where she was b. May 12, 1808. They emigrated to Canada about 1825 or 1827—(their first child was b. here—and settled near and in Montreal. They had twelve children, six of whom became adults. Their second, third, seventh, ninth, eleventh and twelfth died young; the others were:

6294. 1. George, b. March ——, 1827, at Montreal, Canada; m. Mary Crawford, who died, leaving a son. They lived in Central City, Colo.; Chicago, Ill., and LaPorte, Ind. Child was:

6295. 1. Alexander, b. ——, at Montreal, Canada; d. in 1908, in Colorado; unm.

6299. 8. Rebecca, b. Feb. 23, 1844, at LaPrairie, Canada; was living in 1910. She m. Charles Henry Hazard, and had a daughter.

7000. 1. Julia Maria Hazard, b. Feb. 18, 1861, at Montreal, Canada; m. June 21, 1901, Rev. Charles Peft Raynor, rector of Grace Church at Waverly, N. Y., where they were living in 1910. Their children are:

6298. FREDERICK NEWTON (son of Sir Isaac), born in 1837, and his wife Isabella Leggett had four children, namely:

7004. i. George, b. ——; m. Mary Mann. No children.

7005. ii. Margaret, b. ——; m. William McNab. One son.

7006. iii. James, b. ——; d. before 1910; unm.

7007. iv. Frederick, b. ——; m. Maud Naylor. One son.

7008. v. Minnie, b. ——; m. Frank Ames. No children.

7009. WILLIAM NEWTON (brother of Isaac, No. 6292) of Lancashire, England; emigrated from England after his brother Isaac did; came to America; lived awhile in Montreal, then went to Kingston, Canada, where he died and was buried. He had no children.

7010. S. B. NEWTON, M.D., a physician at Aumpersand, N. Y., in 1907, states: "My father came from England and I have no relatives in America, save a brother, by the name of Newton."

7011. GEORGE NEWTON, born ——, 1818, in Sheffield, England. His daughter thinks his parents died when he was young. He married in Sheffield, England, Sarah Oakes, who was born there ——, 1816, and died at Sterling, Ill., in 1880, after a long period of suffering from a fever-sore. Their children were all born in England. Mr. Newton had a brother, who came to America, "who was a well-known Methodist minister in Toledo, Ohio"; married; died before 1911. "They had two daughters, one of whom is a professor in some college out West—I cannot say where."
George Newton came to America —. He came West in 1855 and settled in Sterling, Ill., where he engaged in the manufacture of wagons, carriages, sleighs, etc. He was successful in business and left a few hundred dollars apiece for his children. In 1861 he enlisted as a soldier in the Civil War, for the town of Sterling, Ill., for a term of three years, in Company D, Seventy-fifth Illinois regiment, and was discharged in 1865. During the last years of his life he joined his comrades in the Soldiers' Home at Quincy, Ill., where he died in 1901.

He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church—a minister in that church—officiating as a local supply, but without a regular charge. His children were:

7912. i. MARY, b. ———, 1811; m. at Morrison, Ill. Edward Vennum. They were living in 1811 in Morrison, Ill.

7913. ii. WILLIAM, b. ———, 1816; d. at Missouri Valley, Iowa, in 1910; m. at Sterling, Ill., Frances Barnes. Their children are:

7914. i. Children are:

7917. 1. Adelin, b. ———; m. a Mr. Shore. They were living in 1911 in Washington, D. C., and had "a daughter four years of age.

7918. 1. Dorothy Shore, b. ———, 1907.

7919. iv. Eliza, b. ———, 1817; d. at Tacoma, Wash., in 1890; m. at Sterling, Ill., Henry Slouhding of Tacoma, Wash. Their daughter.

7920. i. Martha Spalding, b. ———; m. ——— Miller; living in 1911 in Tacoma, Wash.

7921. v. Sarah, called "Jennie," b. ———, 1852; m. at Sterling, Ill., Richard Granville. They lived in Elko Creek, Neb., and at Grand Island, Neb. Their children are:

7922. 1. Edith Granville, b. ———; was living in 1911 at Grand Island, Neb.

7923. 2. Reuben Granville, b. ———; was living in 1911 at Elko Creek, Neb.

7924. 3. Gordon Granville, b. ———; was living in 1911 at Tacoma, Wash.

7925. vi. Emma, b. March 25, 1854; m. at Sterling, Ill., ———, 1877. Myron William Humphrey, son of George B. and Susan Mitchell (Hawley) Humphrey, a farmer in Morrison, Ill., where they were living in 1811. Mrs. Humphrey has contributed the data for this family record. It is well to have it recorded here, that there may be less confusion in future tracing.

Children are:

7929. RICHARD NEWTON1, "from near Liverpool, England," came to America and settled in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1822. His wife was Elizabeth, who came with him "and the rest of the family"; of whom I have knowledge of none except the son Richard, said to have then been ten years of age. This son, 7930. i. Richard2 (D.D.), b. ———, 1812; d. ———, 1882, at Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Pa. He was a noted clergyman of the Episcopal Church, in charge of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, on Third St., Philadelphia. Jay Cooke and wife belonged to this church. He m. Lydia Greatorex, daughter of Lawrence and Elizabeth Greatorex. Greatorex was owner of paper mills on the Brandywine, near Wilmington, Del., said to be the first paper mills in America. He must have lived toward the latter part of 1700 and the first of 1800. The order of the children here given is probably not correct.

Children were:

7931. 1. Richard Richel (Rev. and Dr.), b. about 1816, at Philadelphia, Pa.; d. at his home at Searlborough, N. Y., Dec., 1911, in his seventy-fifth year. Dr. Newton was an Episcopal clergyman, and one of the most noted of the country. He was graduated from the University of Philadelphia in 1832; from the Episcopal Divinity School of Philadelphia in 1835, and made deacon in St. Paul's Church by Bishop Alonzo Potter; was ordained priest in 1853. While deacon he served four years as assistant to his father in Philadelphia; for two years had charge of Trinity Church in Sharon Springs, N. Y.; for a time was rector of St. Paul’s Church in Philadelphia, where his energy and eloquence soon made him prominent. In the spring of 1829 he was called to take charge of All Soul’s (the Anthony Memorial) Church in New York City, where he continued until 1902. His liberality of thought made him widely known and brought upon him the severe criticism of other clergymen of his church that in 1891 he was charged by them with entertaining liberal religious views, and violating Canon XIII, in admitting other denominations to his pulpit,” and a board of inquiry to investigate the charges was appointed by Bishop Potter. The matter became of wide interest and shortly after Dr. Newton resigned his charge. In 1903 he was appointed rector of Memorial Church and select preacher to Leland Stanford Jr. University, in Berkeley, Calif., but resigned the charge in April of the same year. He was active in his efforts to harmonize the differences in creeds and bring more unity to the churches of California. Dr. Newton was the author of a number of sermons, and studies of the Bible and religion.

7032. 2. William Wilburforce1 (Rev.), b. Nov. 1, 1813, at St. Paul’s Rectory, Philadelphia, Pa.; graduate of the University of Pennsylvania 1833; was class poet; spent one year in Europe; entered Philadelphia Divinity School in 1869, and was graduated in 1868; ordained priest 1872; held charges in Philadelphia, Birdkite, Newark, N. J., Boston and Pittsfield, Mass. In Pittsfield, where he was in 1890, he was a member of the school committee; member of the World’s Red Cross Society; of the G. A. R.—having been in Landis’ Battery of Artillery in Philadelphia in 1863. He visited Europe again in 1888-1889, and received the degree of D.D. from the University of Pennsylvania on his return. He is the author of many books. He m. at Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 16, 1870, Emily Stevenson Cooke, daughter of Rev. James W. and Emily (Stevenson) Cooke. Their children were:

7033. 1. Alice.
7034. 2. Emily Stevenson, b. April 19, 1874.
7035. 3. John2, b. — —, 18 —.
7036. 4. Elizabeth3, b. — —, 18 —.
7037. 5. Hartha4, b. — —, 18 —.

7038. WILLIAM NEWTON1 (unknown), born in England, July 15, 1840; was living in 1901, at Bloomer, Chippewa County, Wis. He married October 9, 1867, Amelia Harriet LeBaron, born November 2, 1843. Their children were:

7039. 1. Alice.
7040. 2. Frank LeBaron.
7041. 3. William.
7042. 4. Kenneth.

7043. THOMAS NEWTON1 of Kingston-upon-Hull had two sons who came to America in 1662, John2 and Thomas3.

7045. ii. Thomas3, b. about 1620; settled in Norfolk County, Va., near the present city of Norfolk. The records of Aacoomac County, Va., show that “Thomas Newton aged 36,” testified, May 22, 1622, as to a deed of bargain and sale from Joseph Newton (see above) to Henry Pickett, and that Joseph Newton united in a deed in Aacoomac County, Nov. 16, 1677. The Virginia land records also show land grants to George Newton (presumably son of Thomas?) in Lower Norfolk County, Va., April 26, 1684.
The Newtons of Virginia, heads of families in the First United States Census, 1790, are probably descended from the four men, John, Joseph, Benjamin, and George Newton, above.

At Wilmington, Va., "the family homestead of Newtons," is the following inscription: "Beneath this stone are deposited the remains of Mrs. Sarah Newton, daughter of George Eskridge, and late wife of Capt. Willoughby Newton of Westmoreland Co., who after justly established the character of dutiful child, a faithful friend, an affectionate mother and sincere Christian, departed this life on the 2nd of December 1753, in the 46th year of her age."

The name of Willoughby, Willoughby, was an early one in the Colony of Virginia. A Thomas Willoughby, was a settler there, a prominent man of the Colony and a large landholder. The Willoughbys and Newtons intermarried. The widow, Sarah Willoughby, whose will is mentioned above, is either widow of this Thomas or his son. Mead, in his "Old Churches of Virginia, 1861," quotes: "from an old document of Mr. Willoughby Newton, father of the present Willoughby, and grandson of a Willoughby Newton, I learn that at an early period four brothers" [the proverbial four] "migrated to Virginia. One settled in Norfolk, another in Alexandria, one in Westmoreland and one in Stafford."
7655. 1. Capt. Willowby Newton of Westmoreland County may have been a descendant of any one of the above Newtons and of the fourth or fifth generation to have a wife born about 1725, as was Sarah Eskridge, whom he married, and who died in 1772, aged 46. He is spoken of as the "First Willowby Newton." He had a son.

7656. i. John, b. —— ; m. ——, in Virginia, who was a vestryman of the church there. He m. and had a son.

7657. 1. Willowby, b. —— ; who was a vestryman in the same church and m. the widow of Richard Lee of Lee Hall, in Westmoreland County, Virginia. She was a Miss Poythress. I suppose it was his son who is mentioned above as "the present Willowby," and that he was the 7668. iii. Rebecca Payton, b. March 7, 1808.

7672. Jared Newton, from England, near Hull. The following from a letter of August 13, 1807, written by his descendant, Mr. Thomas W. Newton, Little Maumee P. O., Ark. (Little Rock, Ark.), is the extent of my knowledge of this immigrant. "My father, who was born at Alexandria, Va., many years ago, made a chart of our branch of the Newton family, which begins. I think, about the year 1500 with a Jared Newton, who came from England—somewhere near Hull—and left two sons, John and William. Our side branches, I think, from William, and whose descendants are located both north and south throughout the United States. This chart has been copied several times for different branches of the family and I am of the opinion the original is with my nephew, Robert C. Newton, in business with "Swift & Company," Chicago, Ill. "I have a cousin, Miss Emma Clark of Delaware City, Del., who interests herself and knows much about the Virginia branch of the family."

The following from "Historical Families of Kentucky," by Green, 1889, and an article by Professor Shinn, historian of the state of Virginia, gives all I know of the posterity of this immigrant.

7673. 1. Thomas Willowby Newton, Sr. (styled "General"), born in 1808, in Alexandria, Va., died in New York City, 1853, aged 50 years. In 1820, aged 17 years, he went to Arkansas—Little Rock, where he evidently studied law. In 1829 he went to Shelbyville, Ky., and married Mary Kelsey Allen, fourth daughter of Col. John and Jane (Logan) Allen of Shelbyville, Ky. He remained at Shelbyville and practiced law until 1837, when he returned to Arkansas, and is mentioned as "of Little Rock." He was a member of the Twenty-ninth Congress from Arkansas. "His sons were gallant officers in the Confederate service, and not less accomplished in civil life." The sons were:

7074. i. ROBERT CRITTENDEN, b. —; d. before 1907; had a son.
7075. ii. Robert C., b. —; d. before 1907; res. Chicago, Ill., in 1914.
7076. ii. THOMAS WILLOUGHBY, Jr., b. —; living in 1914 at the "Newton Farm, Little Munsee P. O.," near Little Rock, Ark.; a man of ability; was speaker of the state house of representatives of Arkansas for several terms; postmaster during Cleveland's first term; m. ——; wife living in 1914, at Little Rock, Ark. "They had a large family of boys who are all dead except the youngest," 1907, and a daughter, who was graduated June, 1907, at Washington.

Colonel, and later General, John Allen (above) of Shelbyville, Ky., was a hero of the War of 1812. Another of his daughters, Anna, married Col. Richard Johnson, an editor and lawyer of Little Rock.

It seems to me that the above family of Newtons must in some way be related to Thomas i. of Norfolk, immigrant. I have not tried to trace any of the Virginia Newtons—just to recognize them.

7077. THOMAS NEWTON, who seems to be the earliest immigrant of all Newtons in Virginia, was in the Colony in 1627; had wife Mary in 1629; and was living in February, 1643-4.

7078. JOHN NEWTON [whether descended from the Virginia Newtons or the Massachusetts Newtons is unknown to me] was living in Pulaski County, Ark., on the north side of the Arkansas river—(that is across from Little Rock)—before 1820. He was a man of family and had an estate. He died at his home in Pulaski County, December, 1822; on November 11, 1822, his wife, Jane, died at the same place.

7079. FENWICK NEWTON of Pulaski, Ark., appointed cadet, 1828, to West Point Military Academy.

7080. BASIL NEWTON and LARKIN NEWTON of Crawford County, Ark. (descent unknown to me). The "first Court of Crawford County, 1820, was held in the storehouse of Basil Newton & Larkin Newton." In July, 1825, Basil Newton administered on the estate of John and Mary Newton.

7081. LARKIN NEWTON married in Hampstead County, Ark., September, 1829, Mary Ann Wilson, daughter of John Wilson of that place.

7082. JESSE NEWTON of Drew County, Ark., "came there at a later period."

7083. JAMES NEWTON of Calhoun County, Ark., in 1850.
7084. MR. N. C. NEWTON. July 23, 1881, was accepted a member of Virginia Historical Society.

7085. ALLERTON NEWTON of Westmoreland County, Va., was a connecting link between the immigrants of the north and south colonies. He "was doubtless akin to Capt. Willoughby Newton of Westmoreland Co, whose wife Sarah, dau. of George Eskridge," etc. He is mentioned in the will of his grandfather. Hon. Isaac Allerton, dated October 25, 1702, in this wise: "to grandson, Allerton Newton, 1000 lbs. of tobacco when 21 years of age." Also, "to daughter Sarah Lee, and grandson, Allerton Newton, two tracts of land in Stafford County." He makes his son, Willoughby Allerton, residuary legatee and executor.

This Isaac Allerton² (s. of Isaac¹ of the Mayflower), born 1630, at Plymouth, Mass.; graduated from Harvard College 1659, settled in Westmoreland County, Va.; wife Elizabeth; six children, of whom the fourth, m. Newton and had son Allerton.

7086. JOHN NEWTON born in Norfolk, Va., August 24, 1823; died in New York City, May 1, 1895.

The most brilliant achievement of Gen. John Newton's career as an engineer was the removal of the dangerous rocks at Hell Gate in the East River channel in New York.

He was a graduate of the West Point Military Academy, and ranked second in a class of fifty-six, which contained a number of men who afterward became distinguished as generals in the Civil War. His high standing enabled him to choose an assignment in the engineer corps of the army, and he was commissioned second lieutenant of engineers and appointed assistant professor of engineering in the military academy. Until the opening of the Civil War he was engaged in various engineering enterprises in the army, serving in the construction of fortifications and other works along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, and in 1858 acting as chief engineer of the Utah expedition. He was the chief engineer of the Department of Pennsylvania when the war began, and in August, 1861, he was engaged in constructing the defences of Washington.

He received the rank of Brigadier General of Volunteers and served in the Army of the Potomac in the Peninsula Campaign. At Fredericksburg he led a division, and when Gen. John F. Reynolds was killed before Gettysburg, General Newton succeeded to the command of the first corps. In command of the second division of the fourth corps of the army of the Cumberland he participated in the invasion of Georgia, and took part in the engagements that culminated in the capture of Atlanta.

During the war he received the brevets of major general of volunteers, and brigadier general and major general in the regular army and after the war became lieutenant-colonel of engineers. He was made superintending engineer of the construction of the defenses on the Long Island side of the Narrows entrance to New York harbor, and was appointed to direct the improvements of the Hudson River and of the fort at Sandy Hook.

The East River forms a large portion of the water front of New York and Brooklyn, and is the most important avenue of coastwise trade in the United States. Its channel is secured by strong tides which keep it permanently free from shoals of sand and mud, but in the strait called Hell Gate there were immense obstructions in the form of numerous reefs encroaching on the channel and giving rise to violent currents which made navigation extremely hazardous. In 1851 a French engineer named Mailléfert was engaged to remove these obstructions. He applied a process of surface-blasting which succeeded in removing from the rocks the projecting prominences of small area, but were of little effect on the main rocky structure.

Soon after the war General Newton was instructed to make an examination of Hell Gate and present a plan to remove the obstructions. His plan was submitted in 1867 and thereafter for nearly twenty years he was engaged on the problem of the destruction of the reefs of Hell Gate. His plan was to sink a shaft upon the rocky surface and from it excavate tunnels in the rock in a radiating direction under the river and connect them with concentric galleries; then, after removing from the interior as much of the rock as possible without danger of letting in the water, to blow up the rock and supporting columns.
These plans involved the solution of novel engineering problems and the invention of new apparatus, but they were carried out with complete success.

Hallet’s Point was blown up in 1876 and Flood rock in 1885, the explosions producing no great noise or disturbance and causing only the slightest damage in adjacent buildings.
